TO THE ELECTORS OF THE TOWN OF NAPANEE

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

I am a candidate for re-election as Reeve for the year 1925.

There are a number of very important matters to be dealt with by the County Council during the coming year, and the Town is vitally interested in these questions. As I have gained considerable experience during the number of years I have served the town in the County Council, I feel that I am in a position to properly safeguard the town's interests in dealing with these matters.

I am prepared to give the Town my very best services, and if my past record meets with your approval, I would respectfully solicit your support.

Yours sincerely,
MARK GRAHAM.
1a

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE TOWN OF NAPANEE

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

I have been nominated as Councillor for 1925, and many friends have induced me to allow my name to go before the electors. I will be pleased to receive a measure of your support, promising to work for the best interests of the town in all questions coming before the Council.

Respectfully yours,
WM. M. HOWITT.
1a

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE TOWN OF NAPANEE

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Having been solicited by a number of ratepayers to offer my services to the town as Councillor for 1925, I hereby respectfully solicit your vote and influence. If elected I promise to fulfil the duties imposed upon me in a strictly business manner having in view solely the welfare of our town. Wishing you all the compliments of the season I remain,

Yours faithfully,
WM. J. JEWELL.

For 1925

NOTICE TO THE ELECTORS FOR THE TOWN OF NAPANEE

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

With two years' experience in your Town Council, which I hope has met with your approval, I would ask your support and influence for the office of Reeve for 1925.

Faithfully yours,
WILLIAM GEORGE PAUL.
1a

I HAVE PROMISED

the 1924 Council that I would allow my name to stand as Councillor for 1925.

I have served as your Mayor for the past two years, and if my services meet with your approval, I solicit your vote and influence.

1925 should be a very important year in the history of Napanee. Our Chamber of Commerce are a very active body and have already interviewed some industries, interested in Napanee. Personally, I am deeply interested and will do my level best to encourage industries to locate here, which will supply work for our boys and girls.

Wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year,

Yours sincerely,
A. MacGREGOR.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE TOWNSHIP OF RICHMOND

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Having been solicited by a number of the ratepayers of the Township of Richmond to stand as a candidate for Reeve for the year 1925, and after considering the proposition have decided to do so, for which office I respectfully solicit your vote and influence. If elected will do my very best to give the ratepayers efficient service. Having served on the Council board for the past year and also in 1922, and on both occasions having been defeated at the polls for Reeve, with this experience I feel that I am in a position to give the people satisfactory service. It is impossible for me to make a personal canvas, and respect you to accept this as the same.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year,

I remain sincerely,
SCHUYLER FRENCH.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Mr. Editor:

A report has been circulated throughout the Village of Tamworth and the surrounding country that at a recent meeting of some of the officials of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches at Tamworth, I referred to one of the speakers at that meeting in language that should not be used either in public or in private. To this charge I wish to give a most emphatic denial, and if any such report should come to the ears of any of your readers I respectfully refer them to the Chairman and Secretary of the meeting who will bear me out in my statement that no such improper language was used by me. I regret exceedingly that the impression should go abroad that the efforts of the two congregations to effect a harmonious union should be marred by any such incident as this report implies.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your kindness in publishing this letter, I am

Yours sincerely,
G. H. RICHARDSON.

NEW YEAR'S BALL

The members of the Napanee Golf Club entertained their friends on New Years Eve at the Masonic Hall. Very elaborate preparations were made for the amusement of the guests and everyone had a hilariously happy time.

The hall was in gala dress, the walls draped with large flags and red and Japanese lanterns cast a soft light over the pretty scene. Mrs. W. A. Daly, Mrs. Herbert Daly and Mrs. J. W. Robinson received, and a number of busy stewards saw that every one was made welcome. A wonderful dinner in Harrowsmith's new addition at Napanee, and the broadcasting was immensely popular all the evening.

During the third dance the President, Mr. W. A. Daly, presented every lady with a favor, and thereafter the ball room looked like an animated flower garden with the pretty colored flowers bobbing about the room. Supper was served at eleven and everyone was given a cap to suit his or her costume, to that when Father Time led in the little New Year they were greeted by a gaily attired mob of revellers, who followed them about the hall in a grand march until midnight arrived, when the Old Year left his own death knell, and "1925" took up the lusty crying note and turned it into a merry chime. After this a "New Years Frolic" was joined in by every one present and the room echoed with the good old Auld Lang Syne schlarch. "A Happy New Year".

There followed a scramble for calf bells, and more interesting "radio talks" and the dance was finally brought to an end by a good natured Orchestra who never refused an encore no matter how many had been demanded before. A word of praise for Mr. and Mrs. Walters. Mr. Alan Walters and Mr. Harold McGregor, is not out of place here, as the holiday season is drawing to a close, and it is their untiring energy and pleasant, smiling manner that much of the Xmas fun has been due, to say nothing of their excellent music.

BETHEL

Christmas has gone, leaving its merry chants, with winter in reality, the ponds piled full of snow and the weather below zero.—The creamery patrons are shipping cream by express since the recent snow storm.—Mr. Edgar Sallsbury is compelled to discontinue his daily route through here for milk now for the Farmers' Dairy Co.—The Christmas entertainment under the management of the Sunday School Superintendent and teachers was a decided success and well attended from this vicinity.—Our deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. John O'Mara and family in their bereavement, in the death of a loving husband and father. He was a highly respected resident, and will be greatly missed by his many friends. —Mr. George Lewis, from near Bafalo, N.Y., spent the holiday at home. —Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hamilton and family entertained on Christmas. Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hamilton and family, Yarker.—Mr. Harry Jackson, Kingston.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson are spending the holiday week in Toronto, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. Sutton. —Mr. Jas. Jackson is at home. —Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sampson, of Flint, Mich., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Simmons, Bickrell's Corners, at Mr. W. Jackson's, for tea, on Tuesday.—Mr. and Mrs. John W. Galbraith entertained Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rodgers and family, of Hinch, for Xmas.—Mr. Patrick Dwyer is on the sick list, being unable to leave the house.—Miss Alice Macdonald is holidaying at her home in Camden East. —Mr. Clarence Manion left for Toronto to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Manion, before leaving for Buffalo, N.Y.

TAMWORTH

We wish "The Beaver" a Happy New Year.—Christmas is gone once more, and everyone seemed to enjoy the merry sleigh rides.—A number went to Maribank Xmas night to hear the annual Xmas Tree in the Presbyterian Church.—Mrs. Kennedy, who have been ill, are improving.—Mr. and Mrs. Whaley spent Xmas holidays with Mr. A. B. Carscallen and family.—Mrs. Wheeler, of Kingston, is visiting friends in town. —Major and Mrs. Amey spent Xmas with Mr. James Wheeler and family. —Mr. John Irving was with his parents for Xmas.—The Anglican annual concert, on Tuesday evening, was well attended, and a good programme given.

PUBLIC UTILITIES.

T. B. Wallace—Nominated by Roy C. Root and Wilfred S. Wilson.

Mark P. Graham—Nominated by H. W. Huffman and W. H. Milsap.

This year's Nomination Meeting was largely attended by a representative body of the electors, with plenty of enthusiasm, as seen from the above list of nominations. The usual public meeting was held afterwards. Mr. W. A. Grange was chosen as Chairman, and opened the proceedings by calling upon Mayor MacGregor to render an account of his stewardship.

The Mayor reviewed the situation in municipal affairs for the past year, prefacing his remarks by thanking the people for his election by acclamation for a second term. He considered that a high honor. He was again nominated for Mayor, but thought two years in that office sufficient, and would step out and give someone else, probably more worthy, a chance. He congratulated the Chairman of the different Committees for keeping within bounds of their appropriation. Referring to the streets he said they were in better condition this year than at any previous time. This was largely due to the quality of road oil spread this summer, which was of a better grade than previously used, and proved most satisfactory. He strongly supported the Farmers' Dairy By-laws, and thought that industry should receive every encouragement from the people of the town. The revenue paid the town this year was $6000 in taxes and water rates. That was an item to be considered by the electors when casting his or her ballot. He said he had been urged to run for Councillor and had decided to accept the nomination.

Thos. H. Huffman, being nominated for Mayor, was next called upon. Councillor Huffman had no inclination for that office, and declined with thanks to his nominators.

The Chairman next called Dr. Ming to the platform. The Dr. thought it was his turn to become chief magistrate of the town. He had served in the Council and on the Board of Education for a number of years, and took an active part in the affairs of the town generally. If people thought him worthy

How Canada Compares With Some Other Countries in Wheat Production

(Experimental Farms Note.)

As the value of the wheat crop on the prairie is normally about fifty per cent of the total value of the entire annual agricultural production of the prairie provinces, it is interesting to learn how the yields of this important crop in Canada compare with those in other countries. Briefly stated, Canada has a much higher average yield per acre than any other important wheat exporting country. Some countries which import wheat have a higher average yield per acre than Canada, but there are only a few of these, such as the United Kingdom, Germany and Denmark, which have a yield considerably higher, while the total quantity produced by these countries is relatively very small. Moreover, the expense of producing wheat in these countries is extremely high. Even such an important wheat producing country as France has an average yield of only two bushels per acre higher than Canada, while both Italy and Rumania have lower yields per acre.

The average yield per acre of wheat, over a period of 23 years, for the following chief exporting countries of the world, it is as follows: Canada 17.8 bushels, United States 14.1, India 11.5, Argentine 10.6, and Australia, 10.4. In Russia the average yield over a period of 15 years, was 9.4 bushels per acre. It will be seen, therefore, that Canada enjoys some considerable advantage over other exporting countries. This advantage is due in part to a natural adaptation of wheat to the soil and climate of this country, and, also, to improved methods of cultivation as well as to better varieties of wheat which have been introduced by scientific agriculture.

Nevertheless, in spite of this very favourable showing in average yield per acre, Canada is unfortunate in having the greatest variation from year to year of any large exporting country in the world. This large variation exists not only between individual years, but also between averages of two successive year periods and of five successive year periods. The lowest yield per acre ever secured in Canada as a whole was 10.1 bushels in 1919, while the highest yield was 26.0 bushels in 1915. The five year period, from 1917 to 1921, had an average yield of only 12.8 bushels per acre, while the five year period, from 1901 to 1905, had an average yield of 21.2 bushels per acre. Australia, while having a variation than Canada in bushels per acre, has a larger variation in per cent of the average yield. For example, in Australia in 1903 the average yield was only 2.5 bushels per acre, while in 1921, the highest yield on record, it was 16.0 bushels per acre.

The outstanding facts, then, in the Canadian production of wheat, are that the average yield per acre is much better than in any other exporting country in the world, but that, unfortunately, the variation from year to year is also greater than in any other country. The reason for this great variation in yield is due predominately to variations in rainfall. When the season is dry the yield is small. It is self evident, therefore, that experiments are very urgently required to try to improve this condition. It is the object of Experimental Farms to experiment in order to discover methods of farming which will reduce the injurious effects of dry years. The high average yield per acre, which Canada now enjoys in comparison with that of other countries, is due in quite a large part to the results of scientific agriculture. There remains yet the difficult task of reducing the losses suffered in dry years.

NEW YEAR'S FOREST RESOLUTIONS

Resolved that I will do everything in my power to prevent forest fires!

Resolved that I will not start or cause to be started at least one tree during 1925, and as many more as possible;

Resolved that I will do everything possible to promote forest conservation in every way.

We have appointed

F. D. MILLS
(Phone 373) to handle these famous SAUSAGE for Napanee and vicinity. When ordering from him be sure and specify LIMERICK BRAND. Price 25c. per pound.

Resolved that before cutting down any live growing tree I will first make careful enquiry as to whether it will be 50 to 100 years to grow another tree in its place, and with trees becoming scarcer and scarcer whether it would not be wiser to allow it to continue growing the shorter time longer that it will take it to double in value owing to this rapidly increasing scarcity;

Resolved that if I am obliged to cut down a tree and am forced to sacrifice this increase in value, I will see that every particle of the tree is utilized, cutting close to the ground within six inches or less and utilizing even the smallest tops and branches so that there will be only no part of the tree may be allowed to go to waste but that no inflammable slash may be left on the forest floor to cause forest fires.

Resolved that I will not vote for any parliamentary candidate who is not publicly pledged himself to a sound policy of forest conservation as well as for the utilization of Canada's natural resources at home to the fullest possible extent.

Resolved that my slogan for 1925 shall be:

SAVE THE FORESTS.

Had There Been No War.

It is estimated that had there been no wars and no epidemics, the present population of the world, 1,519,000,000 people, would have descended from a single couple in 1,782 years, or since 138 A. D.

Dream a Sign of Activity.

To dream of flies is a bad sign of activity; to purchase them, you will travel, not always riding, but going from place to place with fortune smiling and frowning upon you alternately.

Speaking of Eve.

"Dendrology," says a contemporary, "is an admirable pursuit for women." We seem to remember, however, that one of the earliest feminine arboricultists made a sad mess of it.

IDEA PROVIDES NEW THRILL

Scenic Railway Two Miles High Under Construction—Will Give Wonderful View of Mont Blanc.

Think of swooping through the air from Alpine Peak to crag, on a real scenic railway over two miles high! This queerest of engineering projects, stranger than anything that has been attempted before, not only has proved feasible but part of the line is now in operation. It was under construction when the war broke out, but the suspended work has recommenced, and, according to press dispatches, the line soon will be open to tourists.

This unique railway, technically known as a teleferique, will run from Les Bessons in the Chamonix valley, France, up the Aiguille du Midi, 12,608 feet high, one of the largest, precipitous needles in the Mont Blanc range. Tourists, in 90 minutes, will be transported from summer heat to the Arctic zone of Mont Blanc, swooping safely through the air while avalanches of snow and ice crash harmlessly by, hundreds of feet beneath the suspended cars.

The idea behind this novel engineering feat is to transport tourists skyward to the land of eternal snow and ice. Hundreds of thousands of tourists have seen Mont Blanc from below, but by means of this teleferique line many will be transported safely and comfortably to a spot where only the hardiest of alpinists have ever ventured, and where visitors wishing to escape the heat of summer may indulge in all kinds of winter sports.—Scientific American.

FISH THAT CAN CLIMB TREES

Nature Has Endowed the Goby With More Than Its Share of Physical Requirements.

The goby is a fish that lives mainly in warm countries. It often crawls out of the water in large numbers, and even takes a walk on shore like a lively kitten. In the countries where these wonderful fish are found the shores in many places are covered with low mangrove trees, and no these the goby climbs in search of food.

These fish have developed out of their fore fins what look like arms, with hands with webbed fingers, which help them to get over the ground, and out of their mouths a kind of sucker or sucking disk, by means of which they can cling closely to the bark of a tree.

The goby is sometimes called a "mudskipper," because it goes "skipping along over the wet sands and mud, even skipping with great speed over the surface of the water," says one writer. "It chases its insect prey among rocks, leaves and weeds, and out of the water is as agile as a lizard."

The eyes are raised on stalks so that the creature can look in all directions without moving the head. Gobies have been timed to stay from three to six hours out of water.

Original Tipper Objects to Tips.

The tipping system might be said to hail from England, at least it has been so-known for a long time for a great many years, but the Englishmen are now criticizing the American tourists for their generosity in the matters of tips. Recently several publications have had articles on this subject. A correspondent of one paper says it is almost impossible for other tourists to get any attention whatever when there are American tourists to be served at the luggage rooms of the railroad stations. It is asserted that the Americans are unnecessarily extravagant in the matter of tips and the English people do not like them any the better for it.

The Slicer's Lot.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., said in one of his brilliant after-dinner talks:

"Young men should be saving, but not miserly. There is no greater folly than miserliness.

"A young man on a seaside excursion was lunching in a cafeteria. All at once he found a fish in his chair and leaved a tremendous sigh—a sigh half of rage and half of grief.

"'What's the matter, Billy' said the other young man who was with him.

"'Bill pointed to his plate.

"'This here steak cost a sidney pie,' he explained, 'see all that kidney? Well I saved it up to eat at the last, and now I'm so full I can't look at it.' Gee, ain't it a shame?"

Letter 56 Years on the Way.

An English newspaper reports the recent delivery at the Manchester post office, which reached its destination 56 years after it was mailed.

M. Bergamin, Spanish minister of finances, declared recently that he had just received a letter containing certification of the taxable accounts of Gerona province and addressed to a director general of accounts who was removed from office February 1, 1860.

It had taken this letter 56 years and seven months to reach its destination. It contained accounts of the province at that time in the provincial treasury.

Kept Guessing.

Two young men bowed to a young lady. She gave them a little smile and passed on.

Said one: "That girl always gives you a peculiar look when you meet her. At least, so I think. Am I wrong?"

"No," said the other. "I think you are right."

"What is it all about?"

"I'll tell you. At a party five years ago I almost kissed her. I don't know whether she is laughing at me or not."

CONTROL COCKROACHES

A Reliable Method of Getting Rid of These Pests

Sodium Fluoride Will Do the Job—It Kills Both by Contact and the Mouth—How to Apply—Hot Flies —Flour Proportions.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The kitchens in many restaurants, hotels and other institutions are so infested with cockroaches that if patrons could see them they would leave the place in disgust. Bakeshops are also much troubled with these insects.

Control Is Not Difficult.

In spite of their commoness control is not difficult. Sodium fluoride, a white powder, will kill any that come in contact with it. The writer, however, prefers to use a mixture of equal parts of sodium fluoride and cornstarch, as being superior to the fluoride alone. This mixture costs only about 50c a pound, and a pound will treat once a very large kitchen and usually would be sufficient for all the treatments for an ordinary private house.

The method of applying is to put the mixture into a can with a perforated lid, or into a shaker, and then dust it nodderately heavily along the floor beneath the water pipes and sinks, on the water sills, in the back part of the shelves of cupboards, and any other place frequented by the cockroaches.

Sodium Fluoride Kills Two Ways.

The substance kills both by contact and by being taken into the mouth. It apparently gets into the mouth by the roaches cleaning their feet and body to remove the powder when they happen to run over it.

A small dust gun or bellows, costing about $1.50, is an excellent thing to apply the powder with, and is much superior to the duster, for as it enables a person to blow the substance into cracks and crevices where the insects may be hiding and where they could not be reached by the can.

How to Prepare for Treatment.

Before each treatment sweep the room well, and then leave the powder undisturbed for several days. Sweep up again and make another application. This may have to be repeated several times, and each time care should be taken to discover, if possible, where the nests are and treat them. Usually two or three dustings will destroy almost all the cockroaches, even in a large institution, but sometimes it is no difficult to find all the hiding places that several applications will be necessary. All that is required, however, to eradicate the pest is care and persistence. That the powder does kill the insects may be shown plainly after the first treatment; for in a day's time numerous cockroaches will be found dead here and there over the floor.

The above treatment is the cheapest and most effective known, and much more effective than any spray that can be given. Even if roaches active as long as left on the floor they cannot run. Sprays are only beneficial when they actually hit the insects.—J. L. Caesar, O. A. College, Guelph.

Hot Flies.

Measures should be taken to prevent horses becoming infested with the larvae of hot flies by protecting them from the egg laying attack of the flies. The clinging of the long hairs from the region of the head, breast, shoulders and legs affords some protection but as it reduces the probability of the fly being able to attach its eggs. The area where the egg laying is usually deposits her eggs should be frequently and closely clipped as this prevents the eggs from adhering to the hair. Pieces of cotton or cheesecloth fastened to the bridle and harness in such a manner as to cover the under surface of the jaws, the breast and forearms affords some protection and reduces greatly the possibility of the horse swallowing a stomach full of hot larvae and suffering in consequences of such. A little attention to what may seem trivial to many makes the difference between the horses being thrifty and in good condition or unthrifty and hidebound. Treat the hot fly or at least prevent it from carrying out its destructive work.—M. Stevenson, O. A. College, Guelph.

Fixed Proportions.

There are a number of fixed proportions used in all recipes, and the following are standard:

One-half as much liquid as flour for muffin and cake batters.

One-third as much liquid as flour for soft doughs, as for biscuit.

One-fourth as much liquid as flour for stiff doughs, as for bread.

One-third to one-half as much butter as flour for butter cakes.

One to one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder to a cupful of flour for batters or doughs.

One-third as much shortening as flour for pastry.

One teaspoonful of soda to one pint of sour milk.

The scrub cow shivers when she sees the scales and Babcock tester.

The horse is a plain or an important part. He still furnishes a cheap source of power for ploughing, and is the most economical to use for short hauls.

Improve drinking water accounts for much sickness among hogs. The first consideration is to supply plenty pure water for the hog lots. This is as important as good breeding.

Save the mangels for the calves and young stock. Nothing is more relished by a calf and nothing is better for its digestion than good, crisp juicy mangels. Silage is all right, but silage and roots are better.

Humdinger.

Pretensions

By HELEN CLARK

(Copyright, 1925, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"On your way home stop at Dobbs' —get some flowers—orchids—something with a heart throb in 'em—ten dollars or so—the kind of thing you'd pick yourself for the girl you were in love with."

The first time Bowden Pain received instructions from old Mr. Clark, president of the large concern for which he was cashier, he felt a little like saying: "Who do you think I am? Your valet?" But he found the task of selecting flowers at Dobbs' no diverting that the next time a similar order came to select the flowers that Mr. Clark wished to have sent to his wife as indication of his own personal thought and affection, he greeted the task with keen interest, and put so much heart into the selection that old Mr. Clark felt the beneficial results in his good wife's disposition for a week to come. At the end of the week he again requested Mr. Pain to order flowers "with a heart throb in 'em." And Pain sentdit himself by ordering a basket of pink roses and blue larkspur that actually caused the dry-eyed Mrs. Clark to melt into tears. It was on that night that Bowden first saw Martha Jenks.

He was particularly discerned, for following Mr. Clark's instructions, he had put himself in the mood of the young man in love with someone. He was exposed in a most vulnerable point. He was not in love, but he was in a lover's mood, and when Martha appeared and he heard that indefinable little swish and perceived the almost tangible scent of perfume that in all mind was associated with women of "real class" he promptly succumbed.

He heard her order six small bon quets of lilies of the valley suitable for favors at a luncheon the next day, and took particular pains to attend to her instructions as to where they should be sent.

"The Founders' Club," he heard her say, and besides being filled with admiration for the particular way in which she uttered these words, he was also aware of the fact that she was a member of an exclusive city society—for to be a member of the Founders' club one had not only to be a lineal descendant of one of the Colonial founders of the city, but one had to have considerable money to spend on club dues and otherwise to "keep up" with that organization.

Bowden Pain had one thing in his favor at the outset of the pursuit of his ideal. He was a member of "the" Pain family, and although had he taken the trouble he might have learned that the original Hezekiah Pain was twice pilloried for breaking the Sabbath, and enjoyed no higher distinction in his community than that of a food mender, still he was descended from a founder, and was eligible to the club. Never in his wildest dreams, however, had he thought of seeking membership. First, because of the expense that would entail; and second, because the young men and women who belonged to the organization were many rungs higher on the social ladder than he pretended to be. But the idea of belonging first entered his head shortly after he heard the charming Martha mention the name of the club as the address to which the flowers could be sent. And after the coincidence of meeting her a second time at Dobbs' florist shop, he went home to figure out on pencil about what the necessary expense of membership would be.

The itemizing ran something as follows:

"Initiation fee, $200. (Bowden believed this to be the sum. He would verify it the next day).

Annual dues $00.00
Tuxedo suits (for men's night) .. 60.00
Swallowtail renovated 15.00
Evening clothes accessories.... 10.00
Black shoes 10.00

"This was no sum to be thrown lightly away. In the veins of Bowden ran the true Yankee blood of the Palns, and even a part of his savings were not to be spent lightly on self-indulgence. He was saving, as he conveniently could, for the not yet indefinite period he'd even less definite "family." But why save for a "family," Bowden reflected to himself, when the necessary exercise of his ambitions along that line might possibly depend on the expenditure of part of the money?

But even after the second vision of Martha at Dobbs' he might have let his dreams of belonging to the Founders' club subside had he not met the charmer at the bank. He was deposition his week's savings, and she—fair spender that she was—was rather nonchalantly withdrawing a neat little roll of bills.

Bowden saw no less than five ten-dollar bills, presumably her pin money for a week. The thought of financing a wife of such habits—for Bowden actually did think of her as a not impossible Mrs. Pain—did not the immediate problem. The immediate problem was financing membership in the Founders' club. The idea of marrying a man who could thus casually draw a large bank roll from the teller's window had no special attraction for Bowden. His inheritance included the ambition to support his own wife on his own earnings. Still, he did not let little details disturb his peace of mind, but went about it in quite a calculating manner the next day to have his name proposed at the Founders' club by a friend who belonged. Needless to say, no one opposed his ambition. He was perfectly eligible, and unattached, good-looking bachelors were at a premium. Then began the really hard part of the membership—that of securing an introduction to Martha. Bowden attended every evening function at the club, and as many afternoon ones as he could manage to, without actually giving up his business career. The three hundred and fifty-five dollars that he had estimated would cover his expenses for the first year of course fell far below the actuality. This did not include tickets to the various benefit entertainments held at the clubrooms, nor did it include meals and refreshments there, nor tips. And all the time that Bowden was spending his money there were no signs of Martha.

One day he dropped in the clubrooms on his way from his office—on a matter of fact to try to recover an umbrella he had left there at the last evening entertainment. It was dark in the entrance hall where the check boys sat, and it was not until he became accustomed to the subdued light that he recognized Martha sitting there. She was alone, and she was fingering the pages of a small note book. Bowden found it impertinent for him to take a seat on the other side of the hall to look over some notes in his own pocket. From time to time he looked up at Martha. She was the same delightful girl and there was the same air of perfect grooming about her. He would never have noticed the blemish in the grooming, but it not been for her quick effort to cover up the wrists of both her hands at the same time. Then he saw that over each was fastened, and kept in place by a metal paper clip, a large sheet of copy paper, such as his own stenographer used to keep from getting office grime on a fresh blouse. Martha had removed her cuffs in haste, but Bowden caught the movement.

Then the check boy, who was at the telephone, spoiled Martha's little game of pretension. "Here's a message for Mrs. Snodgrass' secretary," he said, and Martha had to take it. In her confusion at doing so she let fall the little notebook that she had been fingering. Bowden seized it, and on the absurd pretext of wishing to see to whom it belonged, he read the name of Martha Tuttle. It was absurd that he did not restore it to her until she had left the clubhouse and he had followed her half a block down the street.

"I have seen you before," he said. And she did not deny that she had also noticed the coincidence of the frequent meeting. "And I thought you belonged to the Founders' club."

"I pretended I did," she said, "that first day. I wanted you to think I did, and now you'll dislike me because I've posed to be something I was not."

"And I have been pretending, too," he said. "I've been pretending that I could afford to belong to this club, when I couldn't. I wanted to know you and I wanted you to think that I had much money as the other men who belong."

"Then we're both pretending," she said.

"But if we hadn't pretended," he said, "we would never have met." It seemed as they walked along in the spring dusk, that they had always known each other, and Bowden Pain was already feeling relief at the thought that his annual dues and other incidentals would not have to be paid for next year. He also looked with more specific interest at the objective of his savings. He took the girl beside him into his confidence. "And it is better—and more like the Pains—not to marry a woman with money. You know from the first how it was to be?"

And Martha's low answer in the deepening dusk satisfied him.

FINDS HER PLAN WORKS WELL

Lucinda Has Saved Money Since Abandoning Her System of Buying Things on Impulse.

"There are so many things I want to buy," said Lucinda, "and I am so impulsive. I see something that pleases my fancy and straightway I buy it; only to find a little later that really I didn't want it and that now I don't care for it at all.

"At least that is the way I did do; but now I do differently. Now when I see something that once I would have bought on sight I say to myself: 'Do I really want that?' and then I say to myself, 'I will wait a week and see.'

"At first it was very hard for me to do this; but then I got myself under control and now I manage very well.

"Often on the second or third day, when I have seen that thing still on hand, I forget that I no longer depicted it and then, of course, I was glad I hadn't bought it; but then sometimes when I found the thing gone, why, then naturally I imagined I did want it; but on the whole I find this plan to work beautifully and now I stick to it faithfully, and certainly it has saved me from buying a whole lot of things I didn't want, things that I used to buy, that Brother Claude, in his brusque way, called junk."

No Rise for Face Powder.

Rice is a food, not a frivolity, according to the wartime classification. Therefore the French government has prohibited the manufacture of face powder from rice. This is the last news flashed straight from Paris, that gay city which has previously led the world in the matter of vanities, as it now leads in the matter of value. This report declares also that the women of France are flocking away daily on their powder puffs some 100,000 soldiers' rations of good rice.

The First Stenographer.

Jesse Pitman, contrary to common belief, was not the first stenographer. The first stenographer, so far as can be determined by the records unearthed up to the present, was Marcus Tullius Tiro, the scholarly secretary to Marcus Tullius Cicero. Tiro took down a speech delivered by Cato in the year 63 B. C.

His Sentence.

"A teacher wrote a list of spelling words on the board, telling the pupils to put them into sentences to illustrate their meaning. One word was 'goblet,' and a boy wrote this sentence: 'If I had a piece of cake, I would goblet.'"

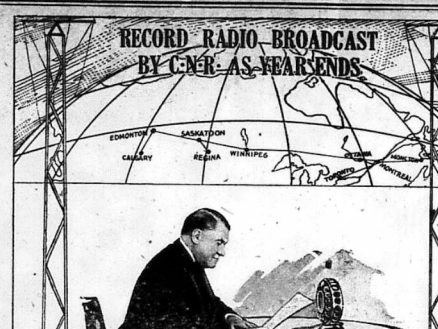
RECORD RADIO BROADCAST BY C.N.R. AS YEAR ENDS



A record in simultaneous radio broadcast in Canada was achieved on Sunday night, December 28th, on the occasion of the first anniversary of the Radio Department of the Canadian National Railways.

Sir Henry W. Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National System, and three of his vice-presidents, Messrs. J. E. Dalrymple, S. J. Hungerford and W. D. Robb, delivered short talks from station CNRM, Montreal. This station was tied-in with CNRO, Ottawa, and CNRT, Toronto, by telephone circuit, and the amplifying equipment at the two latter stations completed the broadcast as though the officers were speaking in person from either of these stations.

The same evening the same speeches were delivered from the other six broadcasting stations operated by the Canadian National Railways in Moncton, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina, Calgary and Edmonton, so that the messages received a Dominion-wide circulation within the space of a few minutes.

In Montreal the speech of Mr. Robb was delivered in French as a compliment to the French-speaking Canadians, but it was translated into English at all the other stations not directly tied-in with CNRM.

Never before has simultaneous broadcast been attempted on such a large scale in Canada.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Seldon Denison.

The funeral of the late Mr. Seldon Denison, who passed away on Friday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Chapman, Brighton, was held Sunday afternoon, at the residence of his brother, Mr. S. C. Denison, Centre street, Rev. A. J. Terrill, B.A., of Grace Church, officiating. The deceased had been ill for a number of years, a great sufferer of diabetes, and although, of consulted the best medical aid in the country nothing could be done to restore him to his old time vigor. The late Mr. Denison was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Denison, and was born in the Township of Richmond 61 years ago. For many years he was interested in the lumber business and was highly successful until he was stricken with the fatal malady which caused him to give up his active business. He was well known throughout the county and had also a large number of friends in Napanee who sincerely regret his passing. He leaves to mourn his loss two brothers, Mr. S. C. Denison, town, Mr. Burnell Denison, of the Township of Richmond, and three sisters, Mrs. Moore, Brockville; Mrs. Chapman, Brighton, and Mrs. Hambly, Victoria, B.C. The funeral was largely attended, after which the remains were placed in Riverview vault to await interment in the spring.

BELL ROCK

The weather for the last two weeks has been very cold.—The concert put on by the pupils of the Public School on the 22nd, was a great success. The teacher Mrs. Earl Martin, is to be congratulated; also those who took part. Mr. Zara Reynolds acted as chairman.—Miss Webster, of Landedowne, has been engaged as teacher for the coming year, Mrs. Martin having resigned.—W. S. Reid, M.P.P. and Mrs. Reid spent Christmas with friends at Morrisburg.—Alex. Perrault and Rufus are spending the holidays with friends at Robbindale.—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Meeks and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward James motored to Napanee on Sunday last week.—Earl Revelle, of Windsor, is spending the holidays with his family here. —A number from here attended the funerals of the late Mrs. Wagar, of Verona, and Mr. Wagar, of Perrault, of Chippawa. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved families. — Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hall and daughter, May, and M. Percy spent Christmas at G. Reynold's, Verona. — Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker and Helen are visiting friends at Sydenham.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Davey, of Enterprise, spent a day recently at Alfred Smith's. — There on the sick list are Mrs. Clair Meeks, Mrs. Allen Snider and Mrs. Eugene Goodbury. — Mr. Thompson and Mr. Mrs. J. J. New Irish Maid—No, ma'am, she's not at home, and may God forgive me awful lie I'm tellin' ye.

"Did you have a good time shopping to-day, my dear?" asked Mr. Flubdub.

"No, I didn't," snapped Mrs. Flubdub. "I found exactly what I was looking for in the very first store."

"What in the world did you do?"

"I just put some more blacking on my face, went to the door and told her I wasn't in. And off she went saying she would call again."

Stop the Cough. — Coughing is caused by irritation in the respiratory passages and is the effort to dislodge obstructions that come from inflammation of the mucous membrane. Treatment with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will allay the inflammation and in consequence the cough will usually stop. Try it and you will be satisfied.

McDougall—Thank ye, laddie. But ye dinna ken the guid wife or ye wouldna' be so sure.

Its Quality Sells It.—The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil speaks volumes for its healing efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor, owing entirely to its manifold usefulness in relieving and healing sickness. As a specific for cuts, burns, scalds, and various inflammatory pains its record is beyond reproach.

Visitor (at private hospital)—Can I see Lieutenant Packer, please?

Matron—We don't allow ordinary visiting. May I ask if you're a relative?

Visitor (boldly)—Oh, yes! I'm his sister.

Matron—Dear me! I'm very glad to meet you. I'm his mother.

Miller's Worm Powders were devised to promptly relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. Miss Hepburn, of Picton, and Miss Rawland, of Kingston, are the guests of Miss Margaret Daly, at "Kilmeaden".

DANCE AT "KILMEADEN"

One of the brilliant social events of the season was the dance given on Tuesday night at "Kilmeaden", the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Daly, on Piety Hill. Mrs. Daly received in a gown of black charmeuse and lace, trimmed with fur and wore a diamond pendant. Miss Margaret looked lovely in pale green cut velvet over satin. Miss Mary Rowland, of Kingston, and Miss Hepburn, of Picton, were guests of Miss Daly. The former wore a tangerine frock heavily beaded, and the latter black lace over satin.

The house was brilliantly lighted inside and out with colored electric lights, and witsin, colored balloons, holly and mistletoe in abundance, gave a fairyland appearance that was charming. The Walters' Orchestra afforded much pleasure by their splendid dance music, and a hundred and twenty-five guests were easily accommodated in the spacious drawing rooms.

An illuminated Xmas tree in the dining room carried a favor for each guest, which were distributed after supper.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Wrightmeyer, Mr. Robt. Graham, Mr. Bruce Graham and Mr. McGee, of Belleville; Mr. Abernethy, of Kingston, and Mr. Haig, of Campbellford, who were guests of Mr. George Daly; Mr. Wright, of Kingston; Miss Hope Swayne, of Bath, and Miss Agnes Irvine.

No Trick at All.

"And, my young fellow," said the professor to his pupil one morning, "how did you find yourself this morning?"

"Well," replied Johnnie, "I just opened my eyes, and there I was."

Vacuum-Cleaning the Cat.

Hold the sweeper near the cat, turn on the current, and then comb or brush the animal's fur. The suction of the machine will take up the loose hairs.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS,—

At this holiday season, we find ourselves passing over the events of the year just closed—taking credit here, giving credit there. And we ourselves have much to be thankful for. But, not for one minute, do we forget that it was you along with many, many others, who made it possible for us to guide this Big Store successfully through the difficulties of 1924.

By your keen knowledge of values our sales volume was splendidly maintained throughout the year; your quick response to our advertisements was encouraging; your appreciation of our service was stimulating; in fact, your open hearted co-operation in all our year's activities gives us renewed strength and courage to forge ahead to greater achievements.

Therefore, there is no one to whom we can more fittingly send this message of grateful acknowledgment, and no one who more truly deserves our sincere good wishes for a

Final Clearaway Prices Will Now Be Found On Trimmed Millinery See the $5.00 and the $1.98 Tables

It has been a long established policy of ours to clear out all lines of Millinery each season. This winter season will be no exception to the rule. Thus women who are open to buy a new hat will find our values exceptionally interesting.

ON OUR $5.00 TABLES

Will be found practically all of our more exclusive numbers in Trimmed Hets. These are the same hats that earlier in the season were priced at $9.75, $10.00 and $11.50. They represent the last moment developments in styles, sizes and trimmings. Every hat is a good buy here. No two are alike.

ON OUR $1.95 TABLES

Will be found a limited group of hand-picked ready-to-wear models. These are all small, snug-fitting shapes that exploit high crowns with brims that roll up or droop down over the eyes. Shades of Brown, Oakwood, Rust, Green, Navy, and Black are still procurable. Your inspection is solicited.

Wear Wool Dresses for Comfort on Winter Days Sizes and Styles Galore

With the thermometer touching zero, Wool Dresses should make a welcome addition to every woman's wordrobe. In our present assemblage will be found gowns of latest origin, featuring the straight-line silhouette, the tunic and the coat-dress. In harmony with the whims of fashion, sleeves will be found wrist length and very snug. For this season at least belts are a minus consideration. Lace collars, coloured buttons, braids, stitchings and embroideries create becoming ornamentations. Shades of Navy, Brown, Green, Sand and Black are extremely popular. Obtainable at $12.75, $15.00, $17.50, $20.00, $25.00, $27.50, $29.50 to $39.50. Misses', Women's and O. S. sizes are procurable.

Men, Our Sitka Beaver Coats Will Keep You Warm Extraordinary Value at $42.50 Each

We know of no better coat for the money. Men who are particular, who want the best, choose our coats because they successfully combine appearance, durability and warmth. Our coats are made from Kalgan Grey Goat skins, which have been evenly sheared and evenly dyed. They are lined with large shawl collars that come well up over the ears. Each coat is lined throughout with a quilted lining, while every point subjected to strain is thoroughly re-inforced. Obtainable in two popular blends. All sizes, 44 to 50.

Penman's Brushed Wool Sweaters, Two Shades

These are exceptionally good, and are Pure Wool. Our regular price was $4.00. On sale at $2.95.

Misses' Sizes in Flannel Dresses at $6.85 Each Different Styles, Different Colors

School girls and Business girls will find these dresses very desirable. They are made from a finely woven All Wool Flannel in a series of styles that are well-up in the way of fashion. Every dress is becomingly ornamented with colored braids, buttons, or contrasting colors. For winter wear they are just the thing. On sale in our Women's Wear Department.

Flannelette Gowns Make Cosy Night-Wear Priced at $1.00, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and $2.19

To really enjoy good health, one should be warm when sleeping. Flannelette gowns will produce the required warmth without much extra weight. In our women's lingerie section we are featuring gowns in six different styles. Both high and low necks as well as short and long sleeves are featured. Some are made with double yoke and all are thoroughly stitched and well finished. Obtainable in regular and O. S. sizes.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad and loving memory of Bert Haines, who was killed a year eight years ago, January 5th, 1917.

We think thought when leaving home
That you would never return;
That you so soon in death would sleep
And leave us here all alone.

We did not know the pain you bore,
We did not see you die;
We only know you passed away,
And could not say good-bye.

This day brings back and memories
Of a loved one gone to rest;
The ones that think of you to-day
Are the ones who loved you best.

—Mrs. Henry Hirton,
Inp Buffalo, N.Y.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear Ila Warner, who died December 27th, 1922—two years ago.

A tool the Gardener gave us,
A fair and lovely child;
He gave it to my keeping
To cherish undefiled.

But just as it was opening,
To the glory of the day,
Down came the Heavenly Gardener
And took our Ila away.

Just away where no shadows fall,
In perfect love awaiting all,
Longing perhaps in her love to say
I am not dead, mother, I am just away.

Sadly missed by Mother.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of J. L. P. Gerdanier, who passed away December 27th, 1917.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day;
But never will the one I love
From memory pass away.

The rolling stream of time rolls on,
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of one who once sat there.

—The Christmas services at St. Mary Magdalene's Church were very festival and were attended by good congregations. The church was tastefully decorated and special music was well rendered by a large choir. Much of the music was repeated, very effectively, on the Sunday following. The Rev. Principal McGreer preached at both services on Sunday.

—Skinned alive is the way you feel after using ordinary mustard plasters. Williams' Camphorated Mustard Cream gets better results in quicker time than the old-fashioned remedy. Mustard plasters were efficient, but Williams is more so. Use it for colds in the chest, and all rheumatic aches and pains. Get it from your druggist to-day. 25c. a jar.

—Very unexpectedly Santa Claus visited the Parsonage at Morven, on Monday morning last, in the person of the Sunday School Superintendent, Mr. J. THE NEW YEAR

Harold A. Hoare, Strathcona, Ont.

The old year's gone, and we once more
Have started on a clean white sheet;
We know not, as we onward go,
What joys or sorrows we may meet.

Full many a time in years gone by,
Have we regretted what we've done;
Lost opportunities to do good,
From morning hours till set of sun.

The meanest deeds we have performed,
The harshest words that we have said
Can never be brought back again,
For nineteen twenty-four is dead.

The words that bring distress and grief,
Oh many a time have we let slip;
And truthless tales as oft we've told,
Have been passed on from ear to lip.

The looked-for morrow never comes,
And yesterday is crept more;
Too busy in our work and strife
To say the needy at our door.

But see! we have another chance,
So let us to the present look;
The old past, whether good or bad,
Is writ forever in God's book.

We cannot live the old year o'er,
We would not, even if we could;
But let us not in days to come,
Ever miss a chance of doing good.

The year before us is a blank,
And friend, 'tis up to you and me
To fill the pages now so white
With peace, good-will, and charity.

Time flies so fast; the days slip by
Each day to never more returns;
We must be steadfast and alert
The evil from the good discern.

Neglected tasks loom in the past,
And thoughtless, heedless we have been;
And now we see it all so plain,
Tis not too late to now begin.

And strive to live from day to day
To brighten up this dark old earth;
Ah! then there soon would be a change,
And gloom would soon be turned to mirth.

We've made mistakes time and again,
But we can start this year anew,
And profit by our failures old,
Yes! that's what we will have to do.

If we expect to come out right
A year from now and gladly say,
"I've conquered what was conquering me"

A year ago this New Years Day".

Relief From Asthma. Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which follows the use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when its soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened, choking air tubes! It has made asthmatic affliction a thing of the past for thousands. It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

"Such a lot of things happened this afternoon, dear," said Mrs. Youngbride to her husband. "I complained to Norah about the stove not being blackened and she put on her things and left. Then I decided to black the stove myself as it was right in the midst of it who should call but Mrs. De-Style."

"What in the world did you do?"

"I just put some more blacking on my face, went to the door and told her I wasn't in. And off she went saying she would call again."

Its Quality Sells It—The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil speaks volumes for its healing efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor, owing entirely to its manifold usefulness in relieving and healing sickness. As a specific for cuts, burns, scalds, and various inflammatory pains its record is beyond reproach.

NOMINATION MEETING

highest honor in the Council, he thought he had the experience and ability to fill the position with credit to himself and to the town. Asked by someone in the audience his attitude on the Farmers' Dairy By-law, he replied, "Who would not vote for it when the town now gets $6000.00, when it formerly received $8.00 per year rental for the land?"

Reeve Graham was the next speaker. As Chairman of the Street Committee, he reviewed the work done on the streets, such as oiling, repairs made and expenditure generally. The swing bridge cost $1000 to repair and put in safe condition for traffic. The oiling of the streets cost the town $3000, but this covered practically every street in town. The work was done in a satisfactory manner, and good results were obtained—the roads were smooth and the surface unbroken. As representative in the County Council, he had put forth his best effort to get what was coming to the town. The County, he said, intends building a house of refuge next year. The sum of $25,000 is already in trust for its erection. The Reeve was not sure whether he would enter the field of politics again the coming year. His name was placed in nomination, but would make up his mind later.

Councillor W. Geo. Paul was nominated for Reeve, and in a short speech, decided to stand for election.

Councillor John M. Simpson said he would again accept the nomination for that office. He was returned head of the poll at the last election. The past year was his first experience in municipal affairs, and he considered it valuable. He looked for a continuance of their support this year.

Mr. J. E. Robinson, Chairman Utilities Commission, reviewed the Waterworks plant since the town had taken it over. $48,000 had been spent on improvements, he said, making it one of the best systems for a town of this size in Ontario. For a period of four years the Commission had a surplus of $18,694.75 over operating expenses. The equipment was in A 1 condition now, and the mains, he was given to understand by the Engineer in Toronto, were good for 100 years. He thought the Waterworks a valuable asset to the town. Mr. Robinson was strongly in favor of the people supporting the Farmers' Dairy By-law. This industry, he said, was entitled to a fixed assessment in return for the revenue it turned into the town exchequer each year, besides the money they paid out in wages, etc. This all reverted to Napanee in a business way.

M. C. Burgess, Chairman of Finance, summed up the financial situation for the past year. Some of the figures were $300,000 for bonded indebtedness and $60,000 uncontrollable expenditure. The latter amount covers the current expenses of the town, and could not be reduced much, if any. Mr. Burgess was sorry he was not in a position to accept a nomination, having his headquarters transferred to Belleville, where he intends residing.

Messrs. Fred. A. Perry, Geo. J. Tustin, W. H. Dunbar, E. O. Unger and W. Howitt also made short addresses. Mr. Perry was not favorable to the Farmers' Dairy By-law, but was willing to abide by the decision of the people.

No Return on Investment.

"Gentlemen," said the speaker, "I can't sit still without saying a word, and so I rise. I will speak what lies close to my heart. Everybody debates the future of the country. Buildings are erected for posterity. Everything that is done, built, planted, is simply for the benefit of posterity. Now what in heaven's name has posterity done for us?"

Arithmetical Problem.

A country lad went to a neighboring town and applied for a situation advertised in the local paper. One of the questions was: "A man buys an article for $4.00 and sells it for $9.04; does he gain or lose on the transaction?" After pondering the question, the rural youth answered: "He gains on the dollars, but loses on the cents."

Find Gold in Trees.

There is gold in trees. Tests have been made by taking the wood of certain trees, burning to ashes and assaying the ashes. It has been found that the ashes of almost all trees show traces of gold. The harder the wood, the more gold there was. Ashes of the black iron wood contained from four to ten shillings' worth of gold per ton. The metal tends to collect in the trunk near the roots, and the quantity naturally depends upon the auriferous nature of the soil in which the trees grow.—Toronto Telegram.

To Write Well.

For a man to write well there are required three necessaries to read the best authors, observe the best speakers, and much exercise of his own style. In style, to consider well ought to be written, and after what manner he must first think and excogitate his matter, then choose his words and examine the weight of either, then take care in placing and ranking both matter and words that the composition be comely; and to do this with diligence and often.—Ben Jonson.

HEROINE OF 1701

Child's Splendid Bravery Handed Down in History.

How Madeleine Vercheres Saved the Settlement is Told in Records of Frontier Days.

Madeleine Vercheres became known as "the heroine of Vercheres" in 1701, when she was but a child.

Vercheres was a small settlement in the wilderness near Montreal, which was founded by Madeleine's father, a Frenchman, and there the girl was born.

One beautiful summer day when Madeleine was only fourteen years old everything seemed quiet and peaceful. There was no hint of danger, so the men of the settlement decided to go to Montreal for supplies. Only one soldier was left in the fort to defend the women and children against possible attack by the Indians.

Madeleine, who was a great lover of nature, strayed away from the fort, and went down along the river for a walk alone. Suddenly Madeleine heard a sound which struck terror to her heart.

Turning hastily the little girl saw five Indians in war paint coming toward her. Madeleine ran toward the fort. A shower of bullets followed her and several arrows just missed her as she ran.

When Madeleine neared the fort she turned for another fleeting look at the redskins. One had outdistanced the others, and was only a few feet from her. She could almost feel his breath upon her as she rushed on as fast as she could go. Just as Madeleine reached the gate of the fort the savage grabbed the handkerchief which was tied about her neck, but it came away and the Indian found himself clutching it instead of her throat.

The big gate swung open just in time, and Madeleine was safe on the inside.

"To arms!" she cried to two women who were standing near, but they were so frightened that they became hysterical immediately. Without stopping to calm them, Madeleine rushed to the bastion, where the only man in the fort stood.

Seizing the musket, the plucky French girl fired a volley of shots at the Indians who had opened fire just outside the gate. By this time the soldier was firing a large gun at the red skins as fast as he could load and reload it.

Then Madeleine conceived the idea which deceived the Indians into believing that several men were just on man—were defending the fort. She clapped a military cap on her head and running back and forth on the parapet, she raised her head up here and there so that the redskins might see the cap. This convinced them that it was time to retreat, and the Indians turned and fled into the woods, believing there were many soldiers in the fort.—Mary Stuyvesant in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cotton in South Africa.

Cotton growing in South Africa is expected to make great developments in the near future. Experts estimate that there are four million acres of good soil available in the Transvaal Swaziland and Zululand, which would yield annually and solve the unemployed problem. The industry has made great strides since 1906, when the crop totaled 12,000 pounds of lint. The present season's crop, given average conditions, is estimated at 2,000,000 pounds. Sir George Buchanan, the harbor construction expert, told a Union government official recently that he had visited the cotton fields of Egypt, East Africa and other parts of the world, but had seen nothing to equal the soil and conditions of many portions of South Africa. For cotton-growing, he said, the soil was good, the climate perfect, labor cheap, and the rainfall suitable, and he was amazed at the high possibilities of the industry in the Union. Co-operative concerns have decided to form a cotton exchange.

Trailer for Automobiles.

A trailer of novel design has been patented in the United States by Henry Kaufherr of Billancourt, France. This trailer consists of a chassis, the forwardly extended sides of which are attached to the rear of an automobile At the rear of the chassis is a single wheel which supports the trailer. This wheel is so mounted in a frame which swings freely. A spring construction is also included which takes up jolts received by this rear wheel without communicating them to the chassis.

Gilbert Told Where He Got Off.

When Chesterton in his new book tackles American slang he is, as a brother-journalist puts it, "thrown in for a loss." We agree with S. K., who remarks in the Spokesman-Review: "Until a writer can give the precise difference between a nut and a goof, a dumbbell and a slap, cuckoo and solid ivory, he had better leave the American language alone."

A Luxury.

Nancy had been to the grocery for Aunt Olive and came home just before lunch. She told her mother that her aunt Olive had asked her to stay for lunch.

"But why did you not stay?" her mother asked.

"Well, she was going to have rabbit, and I'm not very well acquainted with it, so I did not stay."

"Well, well?"

"Wont now, old man?"

"The newspaper says that the mother-in-law relative of George Washington is engaged in manufacturing toys."

Pronunciation of "Viking."

"Viking" is a Norse word, the English form of which is "wiching." It ought not to be pronounced as "viking" any more than the French word kalf and guiredge. The norse adjective "veik" means "weak" in English. The vikings were anything but weak. In fact, weakness barred one from ever being accepted as a member of the dare-devil bands of vikings. The very idea of weakness is therefore indissible in connection with the hende word viking.

Various Forms of Bread.

While most countries bake their breads, there are some where boiled bread is the common form. Two of these countries are China and Africa. The daily bread of a large portion of the people of Africa is made from cassava flour. The cassava roots are soaked in water, left to dry and then pounded into flour by means of crude wooden or stone mortars and pestles. The cassava flour is mixed with water till a stickly dough is formed.

Blowing Cork Out of Bottle.

Place in the neck of a wide-mouthed bottle a cork considerably too small for it and try to blow it in the bottle. Instead of going in it will generally fly out. The reason is that the blowing compresses the air in the bottle and this, resulting like a spring, drives the cork out. To succeed, the experiment must be tried with bottle and cork perfectly dry, so that one will not stick to the other.—Exchange.

How Fabrics May Be Tested.

The thumb test will help to determine strength and weaving quality of goods. The fabric is held between the forefingers and thumbs, while the knuckles should be forced together, causing a heavy strain on the fabric. Its strength will be shown by the ease or difficulty with which it tears.

Colors in Accord.

Leonard and Archie were playmates, Archie had red hair and was quite freckled. One day Leonard and his mother were strolling along in the park when Archie came in sight. Leonard turned around to his mother and said: "Say, doesn't Archie's face match his hair today?"

What Is an Atheist?

Gladstone's definition of the term was "By atheist, I understand a man who not only holds off, like the skeptic, from the affirmative, but who denies himself, or is driven, to the negative assertion in regard to the whole unseen or to the existence of God."

Ages of Wild Animals.

A bear rarely lives above twenty years, a wolf twenty and a fox sixteen. The average age of cats is fifteen years, and squirrels and hares six or seven. Pigs have been known to reach thirty years, the rhinoceros fifty.

Historic Tablets.

A group of tablets from excavations of Babylon was recently secured by Stanford university. Several of the pieces carry the distinct prints of the fingers which moulded them over 4,000 years ago, bearing the name of Darius, King of Babylon.

Van Vivier's Scoop

By F. M. GILMER

Existence, as Philip van Vivier planned it, was to be a very pleasant affair, though it had little enough about it of that adventurous life so ardently advocated by Mr. Roosevelt. He had youth, and health, and wealth, and he pictured the future a very kaleidoscopic mingling of golf, and polo parties, and grand opera, and little suppers after the play.

Then, too, to crown it all, there was Madge. Madge, tall and slight, and svelte, with the tawny gold in her hair, and the eyes that changed with every changing thought—that were as blue as summer skies when she smiled, and grew black as midnight when she thrilled to any deep emotion. Philip could hardly remember a time when he had not loved her. They had—grown up, boy and girl, together, with something singularly similar in their fate. Both were orphaned children, left to the untender care of unwilling relatives, and Philip never forgot the moment of their meeting. His uncle's place adjoined that of Madge's guardian, and he had been wandering disconsolately around a forlorn and lonely childish grounds, when he first came upon the little maid. She stove one long look at his somber face, and mourning clothes, and then with swift and intuitive sympathy that God gives to even the youngest child, she went up to him.

"Little boy," she lisped, for she was scarcely more than a baby, "little boy, is 'oo lonesome, and doesn't nobody love 'oo?"

"No," he answered with a sob from the depths of his hungry little heart.

"Don't cry, little boy," she comforted, slipping her hand in his. "I'll love 'oo and 'oo won't never be lonesome nop more," and, indeed, it seemed to Philip he had never been lonesome again. There was always Madge.

But who may count securely on the future? Move the kaleidoscope ever so gently, and the figures change. One turn of the hand of fate and the bright picture one's dreams painted are shattered forever. Philip had formed no plan Philip had to do, not with visions of a golden future, but with a hard and merciless present. Suddenly as an unexpected thunderbolt came the failure of the trust company in which his fortune was invested. He had awoke one morning to find himself that most pitiable of all creatures on earth—the man who has enough and knows no way of earning it. He had taken the blow standing, with a smile on his lips. Her she thought he was, and just how deep the hurt went none knew.

"Presumed prospects," was his sole comment, with a shrug of his shoulders to those who would have consoled him with his loss, "is bare income, and a champagne taste. Do you happen to know the best way to feed rhyme?"

He might meet the situation with laughter and scoffing so far as others were concerned, but when it came to Madge it was another thing. "I can't ask her to marry a beggar," he said to himself, setting his teeth, and with a face as white as death, "and I'm not poltroon enough to settle down and live on her money," and there had been a terrible scene in which he had told her this, and released her from her promise to marry him."

"Oh, Philip," Philip," she cried, clinging to him, "what good is all my money to me if I can't make things easy for you? Surely there is more than enough for us both."

Then he tried to explain to her, blunderingly and haltingly, that something that is dearer to man than even love of woman—that something which he must have, or die of self-loathing—his own self-respect.

"I couldn't live without it, darling," he said at last, passionately, "if I gave in to fate without one struggle, and was content to let you support me. I should imagine your contempt for such a weakling in every tone of your dear voice. I should see it in every place of your dear eyes. No, no, I must make my fight and win my place in the world of men, or I will die fighting on the battlefield. If I succeed I will come back to claim my own. If I fail, a better man wins. Don't you see how it must be that way?"

And in the end Madge "saw." The sympathy that always understood others was part of her charm, and Philip went away.

At college he had rather distinguished himself by some clever skits in the public papers, and as it seemed natural to him to turn to journalism as the most available way of earning his bread and butter problem, a friend obtained a place for him on the staff of the morning Asterisk, where his pen soon found favor with the reportorial ladder, and learned among other bitter pieces of knowledge that the public loves a thirst for the gory details of murder, and has but a lukewarm interest in the higher criticism, and that on a newspaper staff a university degree is regarded with far less respect than a nose for news.

Still, the glamour stripped from journalism, Philip kept doggedly on. He acquired a reputation for being faithful and accurate. He was a good man and when the city editor began to speak hopefully of him, but advancement comes slowly in a newspaper office, and Philip Madge seemed an immeasurable distance off, when suddenly he made his great scoop. It was the one reward for successes mostly are, if we knew the truth of them. One evening he was leaning along one of the fashionable residence streets when suddenly he was startled by a scream, and looking up he saw a woman with the wild eyes and cunning of a maniac sitting on the very outer coping of the walls of a tall house, where she waved her arms gleefully, and leaned dizzily forward to peer into the street below. In an instant all the machinery of the drawn blinds, and jealously guarded doors of the mansion, at which many had marveled, was revealed. Here was one of those family tragedies, at which the world guesses—some poor crazed creature, living out her life within padded walls, who had escaped from her keepers, and with that instinct of flight from a prison which survives all reason, was preparing to take a fatal leap into the street below. The street crowd that seems to spring from the very pavement whenever anything unusual happens, had already gathered. They could see the frantic gestures of the keeper vainly trying to call the woman, but at every movement, the crouching creature's figure on the perilous edge made a motion as if to cast herself down, and the very fear the attendant dare not approach her. The great front door of the house was flung suddenly open, and terrified servants rushed about valuely seeking assistance, but none knew what to do, and the crowd below could only wait breathlessly for the impending tragedy.

It had taken Philip but an instant to realize the scene, and with a sudden inspiration he dashed past the servant in the doorway, and up the stairway. The crazed woman was still young and pretty. A dainty silken robe, and a filmy lace scarf blew about her. Evidently she was a woman of fashion and society, to the thoughts flow through his mind as he dashed up the three flights of steps and through the open door in the roof through which she had evidently escaped. He knew well enough he might be going to his death, but he only smiled a little grimly, and moved on toward the pathetic figure swaying on the ledge of the wall. The woman looked up at the sound of the approaching step. She saw a handsome young man—a young man such as she vaguely remembered in that past that was not all horrible dreams and padded walls—coming toward her. When he reached her he made a step toward the pathetic figure swaying on the ledge of the wall. The woman looked up at the sound of an

LEARN TO "LIVE"

Mere Existence Should Never Be One's Sole Aim.

Too Many Tie Themselves to the Grindstone and Fail to See Beauty and Joy of Life.

The other day a man died. After the funeral a party of those who had known him were discussing him—quite sympathetically. His good points were recalled and emphasized, and it came as a bit of a shock when the criticism was made:

"Yes, poor old S——wasn't a bad sort, but he only lived eighteen years."

"Why, he was fifty-three!" came the protestation.

"Yes, but he only lived eighteen of them—from the time he was seven and began to get hold of life, until he was twenty-five. After that—well, he simply worked and slept. He didn't live; he just existed. There's a mighty difference."

Silence fell on the group. The unexpected criticism had thrown an illuminating searchlight on one man's life and revealed the truth, remarks a London Answers writer.

He hadn't "lived." Life, by his own choice, had been just work and sleep, sleep and work. No, please do not seek to excuse him by saying that possibly his work was his life. In a sense it was, but it had no right to be. He was in the world as much to live as to work.

The divine plan never intended that any man should use his life wholly and solely for work. That, most obviously, with necessary sleep added, would leave no time for "living" in the real sense of the word. It would be the turning of the grindstone, with no eye for the pageant of life and no share in it. That's existence—not "living."

Have we not to take from, as well as give to, the world? Has any one really "lived" if his record is that he worked and slept and worked and slept and died?

Of course, even it it is said that they like their work so much that it is their life. Well, it shouldn't be. It is no enough sense for a man to live on bread and water and ignored nature's gifts, created for our use and enjoyment, of sunshine, birds, flowers and fresh air.

Do not we work to live? Why, then, reverse that and live to work? It may be argued that our necessities and our responsibilities compel. They should not. Take the case of the man who died. He worked and worried and never broke off to "live," because of his responsibilities. In the end, and as the result, he died in the prime of life—worked out. And he left his responsibilities behind him—unprovided for! The grindstone of work were him out.

If you want to live on, you must "live." Toil takes toll. "Living"—the holiday by the sea, the football match, the enjoyable evening at the club, cricket, the pictures, little outings, fishing, golf, all and everything which is pleasurable, make you "live."

And that is what we are here for. The elixir of life is hidden in the nectar of pure, recreative pleasure. Get away from the grindstone and drink of it. You want life, and not just existence.

The old tag, "We ain't got much money, but we do see life!" holds profound wisdom.

Do, please, "live"! Work should be but the means to that end. Don't be as a man the writer knows who works, weeks, weeks that he may scrape a thousand pounds together for his wife and children when he has gone. Unselfish? No, merely silly.

He could bring about the same result by spending twelve pounds a year on life insurance and use the balance of his earnings to "live!"

Live please! Take something out of life. All work and no play makes life just an existence. Live!

Superstition Among French People.

Superstition among the French people. Their superstitious belief in witchcraft and sorcery are not dead. In France was shown the other day in the case of a young Parisian girl, who, acting on the advice of a fortune-teller, buried a cat's heart in a woman's grave in order to recover the affection of her faithless lover.

In the provinces such cases are common. There are villagers who are popularly believed to cast spells over their neighbors; magicians and sorcerers in the back valleys of the Loire and on the lonely Landes of Brittany who wield mysterious power and call up unseen forces of good or evil to sooth or terrorize the peasants.

Frequently French superstition finds comfort in "good spirits" in the form of magicians who are learned in the art of discovering buried treasure or of healing the sick. They are reputed to hold converse with the spirits of the departed and are consulted by their neighbors on family affairs like wills or marriages just as the Oracles were consulted in ancient times.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Edward Huffman.

The death occurred in Toronto of Mrs. Edward Huffman, widow of the late Edward Huffman, Deseronto, on December 16th, 1924. Mr. Huffman predeceased his wife three years ago, and since that time Mrs. Huffman has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Perry, Toronto, Deceased had been an invalid for some years with rheumatism, and this trouble aggravated an already weak heart, and she passed away quite suddenly, after only a few days' illness. She bore her affliction with great christian fortitude and was always bright and cheerful. She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving mother, two daughters, Mrs. W. B. Perry, Toronto, and Mrs. E. C. Back Home With Abe

By C. B. LEWIS

(Copyright, 1924, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

In the country, when a young man and a young woman are courting, it is referred to as "settin' up together."

Abe Wright and Polly Andrews had "set up" a hundred nights in her father's farmhouse kitchen before they became engaged. The son or daughter of a farmer is not as apt to rush into love and matrimony as a young man dwelling in a town. There may not be as much formality between them, but they look upon matrimony more seriously.

There are a score of object lessons daily before their eyes. A farmer, to succeed, must be ever rising early and toiling late. His horses or his oxen get more rest than he does. He can know very little of the comforts and pleasures of life and see to his acres as well.

And if he works long hours his wife works longer ones. Her work must be done on time as well as his. She may live within five miles of a village and yet not enter it once a year. He may be a subscriber to a county paper, and yet she cannot spare the time to read its contents.

The two young folks saw and experienced all this and much more, and yet the instincts and sentiments of humanity brought them together. They would marry, as thousands of others had married, and love, and hope that their future might work out better.

Miss Polly said "yes" to the proposal of marriage, but the very next day she admitted to her mother that sometimes she thought she loved Abe and sometimes she thought she didn't. She had never been ten miles away from home. The only men she had ever come in contact with had been at her class, or agents or peddlers. She knew there was a big world outside of hers, but she had never peeped at it. She had a bit of romance about her, and sometimes she longed to see the brave men and fair women that the books told her about.

Abe Wright was going to marry and acquire a farm of his own. Therefore, he whistled as he went about his work.

He had heard that a girl sometimes went back on her pledge, but he was not as sure of Polly Andrews as he was of the sun.

One day the girl ran over to Farmer Waldren's on an errand. She found a strange young man there, who was introduced to her as Brian Montgomery. Even if he hadn't been good-looking and had taking ways with him, his name would have won her favor.

How did the name of Abe Wright compare with that of Brian Montgomery?

The one belonged to the drudger of the soil—the other to a gentleman of the world, who had gold filling in his teeth—who wore creases in his trousers—who dined and wore collars and socks at ten cents a pair were to him. Mr. Brian Montgomery, from New York, Chicago and Boston, as he announced, must surely be one of those brave and gallant men she had read and dreamed of.

When Miss Polly had departed for home, Mrs. Waldren said to the cousin:

"Now, Brian, you must not set out to turn that girl's head. She is engaged to a steady young farmer, and you mustn't be the cause of a quarrel between them."

"Oh, it will be a mild—a very mild flirtation," he laughed in reply. "How can I put in a month here and not flirt with the only girl for a mile around?"

And a day or two later the young man came over to the house of Farmer Andrews and introduced himself and made himself very much at home.

"Do you like him, mother?" somewhat anxiously queried Polly, after their caller had departed.

"Isn't he what they call fresh?" was asked in reply.

"Why, how can you say that? It is simply that he has self-confidence."

"One would think that he had known us for a year."

"But he was trying to put us at our ease."

"Well, I dunno how Abe will take it."

"But I don't see where he can find any fault? He might talk with a dozen girls and I shouldn't raise a row with him about it."

Abe heard that there was a young man visiting the Waldrons, but he hadn't seen him. Neither had he learned that the said young man was making himself very much at home at the Andrews' farmhouse. The mother had said to Polly:

"I don't believe that Abe knows that Mr. Montgomery is hanging around here, and you'd better mention it."

"Why do you call it 'hanging around?'" was demanded.

"Because it looks like it to me. Mrs. Waldron must have told him you were engaged to Abe."

"Mr. Montgomery comes here to help pass the time away. He is an interesting talker, and has traveled all over the world, and I am glad to listen to him. Yes, I suppose he knows that I am engaged, and that will prevent him from talking any nonsense to me."

"But if you don't tell Abe he'll think there is something wrong about it."

"If I've got to be afraid of Abe Wright I'll break the engagement."

Two days later Abe was working in a field along the highway, when a passing machine agent that he had known for a year or two halted his outfit and came to the fence and said:

"Abe, it's not my play to meddle with what does not concern me, but if you would take a hint from me and not get mad I would give it to you."

"Oh, I won't get mad," was the reply.

"You know how news flies around here in the country?"

"Gosh, yes!"

"Well, I've heard that you and Polly Andrews were engaged."

"Yes, we are."

"And I've heard that a young feller—a cousin to Waldron—is there a-visiting."

"Yes."

"Is he a-visiting the Waldrons or the Andrews? It seems that he divides his time between the two houses. Better look out, Abe. The feller don't look good to me." And with that he drove on and Abe looked after him in a dazed way and whispered:

"He means that the feller is trying to win Polly away from me. I thought she had been acting rather queer o' late. I must look into this thing a bit."

When he made his appearance that evening, Polly had a feeling that he had heard things, and intended to "lay the law down to her." This feeling had quickly bred another—that of defiance—and she was ready for the quarrel. To her surprise, no quarrel came. Abe was a bit more serious than usual, but he was clear of rancor, as he asked:

"Is that young man Montgomery a nice feller?"

"Very nice," was the reply.

"He has been around the world a good bit, I suppose?"

"He has been everywhere, and it's very interesting to hear him talk of what he has seen."

"Yes, it must be."

"He has been in London and Paris, Abe. He was a captain in a Canadian regiment in the first of the war. He has killed over a dozen Germans. He has killed a highway robber. He has helped lynch a murderer. He was once captured by brigands. He is going to be elected to congress next year."

"Yes," drawled Abe.

"And he can sing and dance and play the piano," continued the foolish girl. "Yes, and he can play golf and cricket and ride horseback. And he owns an auto that cost five thousand dollars. And after he is elected to congress we are to live in Washington."

In her excitement and enthusiasm she had said "we." Her chagrin over it was intense for a moment, and then relief came as she saw that Abe hadn't noticed it. Hadn't he, though! But there were no criticisms—no quarreling—the same kindly "Good-night," and Abe had gone home.

"There will be an elopement," he said to himself as he walked along.

Half an hour later, as he lay in bed staring at the darkness, he added:

"That is, there will be an attempted elopement."

Perhaps it was Polly's mother that gave him the date, the hour and the starting point. Or it may be came that it would be her duty if she knew them. There was no school at the district schoolhouse a mile away. It was an excellent meeting place. Abe had been there an hour when Mr. Brian Montgomery drove up with a horse and buggy from the nearest village. He was there half an hour later when Polly Andrews and her bundle appeared.

"Thank heaven!" whispered Mr. Montgomery, as he jumped down and extended his hand.

"Yes-s," drawled Abe, as he suddenly appeared and got a secure hold on the man's coat collar.

"What is the meaning of this?"

"It means this—and some more!" answered Abe, as he batted the fellow between the eyes and shook him about until his teeth rattled. "Mr. Montgomery, have you been in Yurup?"

"——"

"When here's another one for lying to Polly! Have you been to war?"

"No, but don't hit me!"

"Then what excuse for lying to Polly? Have you killed Germans?"

"Let me go!"

"Another lie to Polly, and this one on the jaw to pay for it! Goin' to congress next year?"

"No! No! No!"

"Better go, and take this along with you! Now, then, have you been captured by brigands?"

"No."

Abe turned the coward around and kicked him three times, and then said to the sobbing girl:

"Take a seat in the buggy, Polly, dear, and I'll drive you back home!" and from all she could reply was: "Abe—oh, Abe!"

The "War Chauffeuse."

Many enthusiastic reports have come from the other side about the excellent work that women are doing as drivers of motorcars, but that there is another side to the picture is suggested by a testimonial recently incorporated in an advertisement of a British automobile manufacturer. This testimonial is from a doctor, who says something more than the typical British humorist when he says of the car in question: "Anything which will stand up to the efforts of my late chauffeuse for seven days each week for months on end must be passably good stuff."

Suggestion.

"I have passed my new car This Loan."

"Why have you given it such a name as that?"

"Because nobody can blame you then for spending it up."

Mr. Flirtleigh (looking for quarters)—I parliminds to let. And are you to be let with them, my dear?

Jandiver Daughter—No, I'm not. I'm to be let alone.

A novel programme of Elocution and Music will be presented in the Parish Hall, Camden East, to-morrow (Saturday) evening, January 3rd, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of St. Luke's A. Y. P. A. A special feature of the programme will be the rendition of a sacred cantata, entitled "The Star of Bethlehem", by a choir of forty voices from Enterprise, under the leadership of Mr. H. A. Carscallen. This piece is by the clever composer, Carrie B. Adams, and is entirely new here, and is well worth hearing. Admission 30c., children 20c. 1a

Next Monday Morning.

At 9.30 Monday forenoon, January 5th, a Course in Agriculture will commence in the Class Room, above the Bank of Montreal. Twenty farmers' sons have applied to take this Course, but the hall will accommodate twice that number, and any young man will be welcome whether he has made application or not. There will be absolutely no expense to anyone taking this Course except a few cents for some note books. Five weeks of instruction on the principles and practices of up to date agriculture is an opportunity that should be grasped by every farmers' son in this County. Come for the opening. Will you be in? This class will be in charge of J. Laughland and H. E. Cook. Special lectures will be given by Dr. Baker, F. C. Hart, T. H. Shield, J. Tucker, Professor Millen and Dr. Morden. 1a

The Leonard Window.

The window presented by the Leonard family to St. Mary Magdalene's Church was installed last week in time for the Christmas services. It is in two panels, one being a representation of St. Luke, the "Beloved Physician", companion of St. Paul, and author of the third Gospel and the "Acts". It is in memory of the late Dr. Leonard. The other, in memory of Mrs. Leonard, is a picture of "Faith". In the lower sections of each panel are other appropriate figures. The whole window is very beautiful, of rich and deep coloring and of artistic design. As it is studied, one after another of the symbols found appropriate to each subject. It is a very valuable enrichment of the beauty of the church in which it is placed. It is constructed of English antique glass, and is the product of the studio of The Robert McCausland Co. of Toronto.

HOCKEY.

The first game of the season will be played at the Napanee Arena this (Friday) evening, when the locals take on the fast travelling Granites, of Kingston. The Granites are champions of the Kingston City League and have several O. H. A. players on their line-up. The locals are shaping up well and are in better condition now than they were a year ago this time. This will be a fast game and all lovers of hockey should be in attendance. All the players who are trying for a place on our Bay of Quinte line-up will be tried out and this evening's entertainment will be well worth seeing. Puck faced at 8.15 sharp.

OBITUARY

Mrs. John Johnston.

On Monday morning, December 22nd, 1924, there passed to rest and old and much respected resident of Arden, in the person of Mrs. John Johnston, at the age of 88 years. All that loving hands could do was done, but God who loved her best called her home to rest. She always led an active life and was always willing and ready to help others, and living daily in her Saviour, leaves a great example for those who love her to follow. She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother, three sons and one daughter, Frank, of Tamworth; William, of Picton, and John, on the old homestead, near Arden. Also sixteen grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren.

This day brings back a memory
Of our loved one laid to rest;
And those who think of her to-day,
Are the ones who love her best.

In God's own time our eyes shall see
The face we loved so well.
Some day, some day, our hands shall clasp,
And never say farewell.

Lemmon—Clancy.

At the Parsonage, Napanee, on Wednesday, December 31st, 1924, by the Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, M.A., Miss Marion Clancy, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clancy, was very quickly married to Mr. Walter Lemmon, both of Odessa. The bride wore a dress of taupe crepe, trimmed with fur. After the ceremony the happy couple left amid showers of rice and confetti for Oshawa, Whitby and Toronto, the bride travelling in a navy blue trieotine dress with brown coat and hat to match. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm. Their many friends join in wishing them bon voyage through life.

Finger marks, telephone numbers, and splotches are removed from the wall by repapering. Just as many aches and pains are to-day removed by using Williams' Camphorated Mustard Cream. You get the advantages of the old mustard plaster without the mess or blister. Rub it on, and rub it in. Mighty well worth the price, 35c. Jar.

Presentations for Week of Jan. 2nd to Jan. 8th

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Thomas H. Ince demonstrated his ability to deal on the screen with the problems of a woman's soul when he filmed "Anna Christie." Now he presents through First National another film, the theme of which is the heart-hunger of an intelligent and beautiful woman, "CHRISTINE OF THE HUNGRY HEART."

And a 2-reel Comedy.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

"THE FIGHTING COWARD," produced by the man who made "The Covered Wagon," James Cruse, and featuring Ernest Torrence, Mary Astor, Noah Beery, Phyllis Haver and Cullen Landis.

Also a Special 2-reel Comedy.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

CYRIL CHADWICK, who appears in "THE HEART BUSTER" with MIX, while the pair were watching Tony enact a scene of running away with the town jail.

Also a good Comedy.

WEDDING BELLS.

Burpee—Vrooman.

The marriage is taking place this evening, at six o'clock, at the Church of St. James the Apostle, of Miss Josephine Holdsworth Vrooman, daughter of Mrs. John Perry Vrooman, of Napanee, Ont., to Mr. Charles L. Burpee, of St. John, N.B., son of Mr. Francis F. Burpee, of St. John. The Rev. Canon Shatford will officiate. The bride, who will be given away by her brother, Mr. P. H. Vrooman, will wear mauve chiffon over pink satin, with a tight cap of mauve chiffon encircled with tiny French flowers. She will wear a corsage bouquet of sweet heart roses and orchids. Immediately after the ceremony a reception will be held in the blue room of the Windsor Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Burpee will leave later for New York, the bride travelling in a gown of henna cloth, with a small henna hat and beaver wrap. They will reside in St. John. Among the out-of-town guests will be the Hon. H. A. McKeown and Mrs. McKeown, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. G. Bruce Burpee and Mr. Francis Burpee of St. John; Mrs. J. P. Vrooman, of Napanee; Mr. and Mrs. John Hoag, of Napanee; Miss VanLaven, of Napanee; the Misses Ughow, of Kingston, and Capt. Miles Miller, M.C., of Napanee. — Montreal Star, January 7th, 1925.

Boyce—Smith.

A very pretty wedding took place on New Years Eve, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith, when their only daughter, Annie Harrison, became the bride of Mr. Clarke W. Boyce, only son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Boyce, Odessa, the Rev. Soford F. Dixon officiating.

Promptly at the hour of 7.30 o'clock to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Harvey Smith, sister-in-law of the bride, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, and took her place beneath an arch of evergreens and pink and white sweet peas.

The bride looked lovely in a beautiful gown of ivory Canton crepe, trimmed with ostrich and pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley, her only ornament being a rope of pearls, a gift of the groom. She was unattended.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room, which was beautifully decorated in gold and white, where a dainty wedding dinner was served.

The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. Mr. Dixon, followed by toasts to the other guests, each of which was most fittingly responded to.

The bride's going away gown was of navy crepe de chene, with panels of silk embroidery, with rose geranette scarf. Her coat was of fawn broadcloth with beaver trimming, and shot taffeta hat to match.

The popular young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and costly gifts. Amid showers of confetti and good wishes, they took their departure, and will reside near Odessa, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

NEWBURGH

School re-opened on Monday with two new teachers on the staff, Miss Shepley as Principal of the High School, and Miss Bottomley as Principal of the Public School.

Miss Mitchell, formerly Principal of the Public School, is now a student at Queen's.

The civic affairs of Newburgh did not arouse any special criticism. The Reeve reported a reduction of taxation for 1924 of 5 mills. The Reeve and Councillors were elected by acclamation. Mr. Walroth, who retired, was replaced by Mr. Thos. Cameron, the Council standing as follows: Thomas McNeely, Reeve; Geo. B. Paul, Thos. Milsap, Frank Gerow, and Thos. Cameron, Councillors. The Board of Education stands as last year, except Miss Lillith Gandier, who has left the village for a time, her place being taken by Mr. Lucas.

Our merchants report a fairly good Christmas trade, and are now settling down to the times that usually prevail during January.

Mr. Walter Paul, of Hinch, has installed a lighting plant and Mr. Chas. Shaw has successfully completed the wiring of the buildings on Mr. Paul's farm.

The village has recently placed electric lights in the school, Mr. Detlor doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tompkins and family, of Strathcona; Mr. and Mrs. H. Wagar, of Newburgh, and Mr. Frank Tompkins, with his children, Bessie and Earl, of Newburgh, were entertained on Sunday by Mrs. Ferris and her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins, at their home on Church street.

The village is being visited by an epidemic of mumps of a very mild type.

Mr. Dan. Bowerman has been laid up with the grippe.

Mr. Orison Benn, of South Fredericksburgh, and Miss Helen Bowerman, of Napanee, were in town on New Year's Day.

Floyd Cummings has returned to the village after a very pleasant week with his sister, Mrs. Rendal, Napanee.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

CAMDEN EAST

The past few days have been quite-mild in comparison with the recent cold spell. — The stork flew over the village on Dec. 30th and presented Mr. and Mrs. Card with a young son as a New Year's gift. Mother and child are both doing well.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wallace and children, of Odessa, spent New Year's Day with Mr. and Mrs. L. Hartman. — Mr. Guy Saul left on Saturday last for Lewiston, N.Y., after having spent two weeks' holidays with his parents and relatives in this vicinity.—On Friday of last week Mr. L. Hartman visited his brother, Mr. S. D. Hartman, who was seriously ill, and on Saturday received a telephone message of his death. On Monday he attended the funeral at the old homestead, Maple Lawn, where deceased was born and spent his lifetime. The remains were laid in Forward's vault until spring, thence to the family plot in Union Church cemetery. He leaves, to mourn his loss, one brother, Mr. L. Hartman, Camden East. — Miss Frances Alcombrack returned home last week from Kingston Hospital, much improved in health.—Miss Bessie Steadman entertained a few of her young friends on Tuesday evening. A jolly good time was spent together. — The public school opened on Monday last with the same staff of teachers for 1925.—The January meeting of the Mission Circle will be held at the home of Mr. D. Williams on Monday evening, Jan. 12th. If you are a member of the Circle, begin the New Year right by attending the first meeting of 1925.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

ANDERSON

The election passed off quietly on Monday last with J. Youmans as Reeve and W. G. Joyce, H. Chambers, F. Clark and F. Sagar as Councillors.

A number of people around here are laid up with the grip.—Mr. J. R. Ackerman and Mr. Allan Wood, of Selby, left on the midnight train for Cornwall to attend the Dairymen's Convention.—Mr. and Mrs. N. Mills and Mrs. A. Howell, of Napanee, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ackerman and Vernon spent Christmas day at A. Hamsby's.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Baird and Mr. and Mrs. A. Hamsby took tea at E. Howell's, Bethany, on Sunday evening. —The Young People's Union of Anderson are holding a dishete on Friday evening at the church.—Keep in mind the W. M.S. quilting and social evening, to be held at the home of Mrs. W. Baird on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 15th.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Fisher and family and Mr. and Mrs. G. Parks and Children spent Sunday at S. Parks'.—We all sympathize with Mrs. G. Johnston and family in the death of her brother, C. Davy, of Bath.—Mr. and Mrs. V. Parks, of Napanee, visited at A. Parks' on Wednesday.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

YARKER.

Quiet reigns again in our midst after the holiday season has passed, and everybody seems to have resigned themselves to the cold winter days, of which we are getting a good many. — The pageant, which was put on by the Sunday School, was counted the best and most appropriate entertainment that was ever given in the Methodist Church. It was a sacred play, and a nice sum of money was realized, which will go to help the Sunday School. We hope the church people will continue to choose sacred entertainments in the future instead of so many questionable ones that have been given in the church in the past. — Mr. Chas. Phillips, an old resident, passed peacefully away on the last day of the old year. The remains were taken to Moscow vault to await interment. Only his wife, who has been an invalid for a of years, is left to mourn the loss of a loving husband.—Dr. T. Warner intends moving to Brighton, where he will continue to do dental work. — Ellwood Holland is somewhat better and able to be up around the house.—The Dramatic Club intends putting on their play, entitled "The Arabian Nights", at Harrowsmith in the near future.—Mrs. Benjamin, widow of the late Felix Benjamin, is visiting her sister for the winter months, before returning to her home in the west. — Mr. and Mrs. Bongard moved to Picton on New Year's Day, where Mr. Bongard is employed by the C.N.R.—Those on the sick list are: Mrs. Alf. Martin, Mrs. Hiram Walker and E. Boulton.—Miss McKenzie is visiting her father, Rev. McKenzie, for a few days.—F. C. Connolly had the misfortune to fall and break his arm last week.—Gerald Hawley is busy these days hauling coal from Napanee. — Mr. F. Graham spent the week-end at Geo. Curl's.

STRATHCONA

The weather has moderated a great deal this week and the change is greatly appreciated.—A few have had the old-fashioned "grippe", some have coughs and colds, while others have been stricken with rheumatism; but on the whole we are still showing some signs of life. —The views and talk on "A Trip Through the Rockies", given by Rev. Mr. Nickle in the church on Tuesday night, were greatly appreciated, and a good number turned out for the occasion.—Miss Muriel Wilson, of Toronto, returned to the city on Sunday, after spending the holiday season with her parents. —Mr. and Mrs. B. Finlay entertained the young people of this village to a party in their home on Friday evening of last week. A very enjoyable time was spent by those present. The outside guests were Messrs. Carman Patterson, Percy Asselstine and Miss D. Asselstine, all of Moscow. — Mr. A. H. Hoare was called to Lindsay on Tuesday to attend the funeral of his sister, the late Miss L. Hoare, of Little Britain.—Mrs. John Bowyer, of Belleville, is visiting friends in the village at time of writing.— Mrs. Ed. Hanes has been visiting relatives at Point Anne of late.— The monthly meeting of the Mission Circle will be held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Finlay this (Friday) evening at 7.30. All visitors are especially welcome. — Rev. Mr. Merriam, of Enterprise, will preach here this Sunday at 2.30 p.m. Everybody come and hear him. He won't disappoint you. Sunday School, as usual, at 1.30 p.m.

MORVEN

Mr. Roy Benjamin spent a few days visiting Mr. Arthur Fraser and other friends.—Miss N. Richardson has returned to Oshawa, after visiting at Mr. Alex. Mills'. — Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith visited their daughter, Mrs. Harry Walsh, recently.— Mr. Cyrus Miller and daughters spent Sunday at Mr. Fralick's.— The Misses Genevieve Amey and Mildred Milling have returned to their respective positions in Ottawa, after visiting at home over the holidays.— Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sharp entertained a number of their friends at their home on Thursday evening. — Mr. and Mrs. Hamm spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cummings. — Masters Ross and Roy Miller spent several days with friends at Switzerville.—Rev. Mr. Merrick is kept very busy these days calling upon the various members of his circuit who are ill. — The League will be held in the Brick Church on Friday evening, Jan. 9th, in charge of the Missionary Department.

THE ELECTION RETURNS

The Personnel of the 1925 Council is as follows:—Dr. Ming, Mayor; Mark Graham, Reeve; E. J. Roy, J. M. Simpson, A. MacGregor, W. H. Dunbar, W. J. Jewell and Wm. Howitt, Councillors. — The Farmers' Dairy By-Law Carried. — Herbert Daly Elected School Trustee for West Ward.

The Municipal Election on Monday passed off very quietly in Napanee. This is the first year that the women have had a vote, and those using the franchise numbered about 250 over that of a year ago. The day was all that could be desired and no excuse could be given by the electors for not getting to the polls.

Mark Graham kept up his winning streak and added over a hundred votes to his majority of a year ago, defeating Mr. Paul by 263. Graham scored a victory in each poll, the majorities being 50, 60, 46, 29 and 78.

The by-law to grant a fixed assessment to the Farmers' Dairy Co., Ltd., received the assent of the electors, the majority over two-thirds being 48.

Mr. Daly was the choice of the electors in West Ward for School Trustee, his majority being 213 over Mrs. Wesley Conway.

In the fight for a seat at the Council Board Mr. Ed. Roy headed the poll with a vote of 649, followed closely by Councillor Simpson with 629. Councillor Huffman is the defeated candidate out of a field of seven.

In North Fredericksburgh there was a keen scrap between Messrs. J. A. Yeomans and James Clark, the former winning out by eight votes. Mr. Alf. McCutcheon defeated Mr. Schuyler French in Richmond, J. L. Smith won over J. B. Elliott in South Fredericksburgh, and in Bath the laurels went to Mr. Merton Mellow.

Following are the returns :—

Mayor-Elect Ming, who received the honor by acclamation, was called upon by the chairman, Mr. Wm. Grange, to address the electors. His Worship said that this was the first time that he had ever received anything that was worth anything without having to dig for it. He hoped his actions in the Council would meet with the approval of the electors and wished them all a Happy New Year. It might be worthy of note to say here that Mayor Ming has also the honor of being Lieutenant Colonel in His Majesty Army, an office that few in Napanee know that he is the possessor of.

E. J. Roy, who had the honor of leading the poll for Council, was next called upon, and thanked all who had supported him. He promised to look carefully into the affairs of the town and would do his utmost to further the interests of Napanee. He closed by wishing all the citizens the Compliments of the Season.

Councillor Simpson said he appreciated very much the large vote he had received. He had a year's experience at the Council Board and was sure it would assist him in this year's business.

Councillor Dunbar thought he did pretty well and was proud of the vote given him. He did not pretend to be an orator, but was a good worker, and thanked the electors for a return of confidence.

Mr. Paul said he was beaten, and did not believe that the electors wanted representatives who would save money for them. He said he would probably try again and hoped to receive the support of the electorate.

Mr. Alpine Woods, Chairman of the Board of Education, who was absent from the nomination meeting, was asked to make a few remarks. He said he had not come to this meeting with the expectation of speaking to the electors. He briefly told those present that the Board of Education had the assurance of the Inspector that the Town of Napanee has splendid Public Schools. He said the cost per pupil in the Province was $53.00, in Lennox and Addington $47.00, and in Napanee $26.00. The question this year is what are we going to do with our Collegiate Institute? The Collegiate was built to accommodate a little under 200 pupils, but there are now 276 in attendance. The Inspector says it is impossible for conditions of this kind to continue. A committee has been appointed to look after this matter. The speaker continued by saying that the rumors that have been circulated in the town during the past week with reference to our Public Schools are totally unfounded, and if any person will bring a charge against our schools that the Board of Education will immediately look into same.

Reeve Graham thanked the electors for returning him once again. He did not think that Mr. Paul would have been in the field if he had not been urged on by people who would not have done so, and felt sure that Mr. Paul would come back and have his day. The speaker did not expect to run again. He had never been defeated and was proud of his record. There were several matters of importance coming before the County Council the coming year and he felt that he was in a position to serve the town's best interests. He closed by heartily thanking all the electors of the town.

Mr. Howitt was pleased to be elected and promised to give of his best to further the welfare of the town and thanked the people for electing him.

Ex-Mayor MacGregor, who received third place in the Council vote, addressed the electors in his fervent and capable manner, dealing with the contemplated addition to the N. C. I., and Industrial matters as well. He appreciated very much the handsome vote given him after so many years' service.

Councillor Jewell thanked the electors for the vote he received and would continue to serve the town to the best of his ability.

Ex-Councillor Huffman, although defeated, wished to heartily thank all who supported him.

DESERONTO

The Xmas Tree and concert in the basement of St. Mark's Church, on Dec. 30th, was a huge success, from the child, and of course, the parent standpoint. The children had an immense time and a record number were present. Mrs. Harbord, teacher of the Infant Class, deserves the greatest praise for her faithful and loving handling of the little tots whom she had well in hand, and they carried out their part of the programme well. The opening hymn, "O Come All Ye Faithful", "While Shepherds Watched Their Flock by Night", and the carol "Holy Night" sung by the whole Sunday School, made the beautiful season of Xmastide very real. Helen Harvey and Daisy Woodman recited in clear voice. The Junior girls put on a pretty play, "The Paper Angel", in famous style, which drew great applause and reflected credit on the pupils and teachers, Mrs. Dale and Miss Flossie Hall. The costumes were very attractive. The carol, "Xmas Everywhere" was well sung by the Senior boys, accompanied by Mrs. Morse; also "Dream Land" and "Drive" a dairy song. The Senior girls contributed the popular number of the evening, "The Scarf Drill". They carried this costume drill in such a manner most creditable to themselves and their up-to-date teachers, Miss Flossie Hall and Mrs. Dale, who accompanied most skillfully on the piano. The girls tripped down the house and were immediately recalled. Mr. Charles Knight gave two bright selections; Mr. Lyman, always a favorite with his audience, added some splendid numbers to the programme. Also Mr. Gordon Hall two piano selections, which showed great musical ability. The hearty thanks of all for the amusing evening was properly expressed by the Rector, Rev. E. Radcliffe, to all who had helped to make the annual Xmas Tree pass off as enjoyably. Special mention must be made of the splendid help of the teachers in getting up the programme, Mrs. Harbord, Mrs. Dale, Miss Flossie Hall, Mrs. Gaylord and Mrs. Berry, who accompanied on the piano ably and efficiently. "God Save the King" terminated a stirring evening.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. Mark's Church, Deseronto, Dec. 29th, when the Rev. Elwin Radcliffe, B.C.L., married Mr. Tom Green to Miss Nellie Green, both of the Town of Deseronto. The bride was smartly gowned, also the bridesmaid, Miss Loretta Green. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Clarence E. Munge as best man.

The Xmas services at St. Mark's, Deseronto, were very enjoyable. Every made their Xmas Communion. The church was prettily and tastefully decorated by the Chancel Guild. A new matting for the centre aisle of the church was much admired. Mrs. Harband deserves great credit for her taste shown in the choice of the matting and the people for contributing so liberally. The music was in harmony with the joy and spirit of the blessed season of Xmastide always brings with it in faithful and loving hearts.

SANDHURST

Before Evensong in S. Paul's Church Christmas night, the Choir visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton Sills, and sang Christmas hymns and carols for Mrs. Sills, whose long illness has prevented her joining in the services of the church she so dearly loves. Relatives and friends joined with the Choir in singing such old time melodies as "O Come All Ye Faithful", "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing", "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night", "Angels From the Realms of Glory", and "Joy Fills Our Inmost Hearts Today, the Royal Child is Born". After the Christmas prayers by the Rector, Mrs. Pringle sang Mrs. Sills' favourite hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace". Before leaving, Mrs. Sills treated her guests to some delicious candy, and on departing, the Choir wished their host and hostess all the joys of this holy and festive season.

KEEP THE WORK FOR CANADIANS

In the eleven months ending with November Canada's exports of pulpwood totalled 1,180,777 cords, of which the value is $12,886,192. The finished product into which this Canadian raw material is to be made is paper, most of it newsprint. The turning of the wood into paper will cost about seven times the price paid for it in Canada. That is to say the processes of manufacture to which this Canadian pulpwood is to be subjected in the United States will add about $90,000,000 to its value. Why is it to the benefit of this world's production lost to Canada? To convert the $12,000,000 worth of Canadian pulpwood into $90,000,000 worth of paper, it is not necessary to send the raw material into the United States. We have pulp mills and paper mills in Canada. In the past eleven months their output of paper in one form or another amounted to about the same sum as the American product of the exported pulpwood will amount to, that is, $90,000,000. Why favor United States mills and United States wage-earners when we have industries of our own to sustain? Naturally the United States prefers to buy pulpwood from us as far as possible, rather than paper. It is thereby enabled to give employment at home and to spread millions in wages among its own workers. If Canada kept its pulpwood for its own mills, our neighbor would have to buy twice as much paper from us as it now buys, and our own workers and our own business circles would receive the benefit of the additional money distributed in wages on that account. We must conserve our pulpwood resources for the benefit of our own expanding paper industry. If we do not, the spruce forests of the country will cease to be the support of any industry and our condition as a pulp and paper manufacturing country will become as precarious as is that of the United States.

Address and Presentation.

The Christmas entertainment held in the Union Church on Wednesday evening, was a decided success. The main feature on the programme was the presentation of a sea grass rocker to

To Mrs. Clarence Thompson.

It is the desire of the officials, members and friends of the Union Church to recognize in some tangible way the excellent and untiring service rendered by you to our church. You have officiated at the piano in our regular services, and in fact, whenever called upon, have responded most cheerfully. There has been scarcely a service held or any doings of a social nature that you have not been in your place to assist to the utmost of your ability. Your services, talent and time have been generously given without any thought of receiving personal remuneration.

Although we do not suggest any form of payment, but just a thankful recognition of your valued contributions of music to the work of our church, we ask you to accept this chair as a token of our hearty appreciation and thanks. We trust then your life will long be spared to continue in the Master's work.

Signed on behalf of the members and friends,

Mrs. Joel Kellar,
Mrs. T. Creighton.
Mrs. E. Smith.
Mr. T. Creighton.

Mrs. Thompson responded in a few well chosen words, thanking them for the gift.

"That's all right," came from the man on the other side of the fence. "The seeds are inside."

A COLUMN ABOUT SWINE

What Is Known as "Thumps" In Young Pigs

Causes of the Trouble—Prevention and Treatment—Pointers in Selecting a Brood Sow—Age of Brood Sows—Don'ts for Dairymen.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The term "thumps" is applied to a nervous disorder of young pigs which is characterized by violent jerking movements of the body. The jerking movements of the body are caused by spasms affecting the diaphragm or midriff, which is the muscular partition separating the chest and abdomen, and is an important organ of respiration. This spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm is similar to hiccups in people.

Cause of the Trouble.

The cause of the trouble appears to be due to some disturbance of the nerves which supply the diaphragm. In many cases the nervous disturbance is the result of some derangement of the digestive system. Lack of sufficient exercise and overfeeding of the stomach are the usual causes of thumps in young pigs. At times there appears to be an inherited tendency to this trouble in the case of pigs from pampered or overfed sows. When pigs become affected with thumps the trouble is plainly shown by the thumping, jerking movements of the flanks. The jerkings are sometimes so marked that they move and sway the body back and forth. The attacks are usually more aggravated after feeding when the stomach is full. The trouble may last only for a few days in some cases, and in others it may last for several weeks, and some fail to recover.

Prevention and Treatment.

This trouble of young pigs can be largely prevented by allowing them exercise and avoiding overfeeding. When they become affected they should be made to take exercise in a good, large, roomy place. In summer they may be turned out to pasture and allowed to run about. Badly affected pigs should be given a dose of castor oil to clear out the stomach and bowels. To lessen the spasms of the diaphragm from five to ten drops of laudanum can be given every four or five hours. The affected pigs should be kept on a light diet for a few days and made hungry so as to encourage them to roam about more and get more exercise.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

The Selection of a Brood Sow.

The importances of the careful selection of a brood sow cannot be over-emphazed. So says Professor Wade Toole of the O. A. C. It is true that the sow's influence is greatest on her own litters only, whereas that of the boar is reflected in all litters which he sires, and while many characteristics are common to both sexes of breeding stock there are others which are very essential in the respective sexes and opposite in nature.

Information as to the history of the ancestors of a young sow is of considerable value. Experience and observation go to prove that certain outstanding qualities are common to strains or families of hogs or different breeds rather than simply breed themselves. There are good and bad in all our breeds, consequently the prospective purchaser should ascertain as much information as he can concerning the type, the quality and the prolificacy of her ancestry, whether or not they have been thrifty and economic feeders, and whether or not the sows have been good mothers. Canadian hog raisers can well take an object lesson from the results which the Danish breeders are experiencing where all the above information is available to the prospective purchaser. Moreover, every breeder has more assurance as to a certain standard before that hog is eligible for sale.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Age of Brood Sows.

Unusually a sow is most prolific when she is from two to four years of age, and is probably at her best when about two and a half years. Soon after she reaches maturity she is at her prime. After the sow has reached four or five years her powers begin to wane, and it is not long after that she becomes unprofitable. Just how long to keep a sow will depend upon the individual. If properly handled two litters of pigs a year can be secured from a sow. It is not to the best interest of the sow she is eight to ten months old. Pigs that are weaned at six weeks of age, bue eight weeks is probably better. They should be eating long before they are weaned and be well able to secure all the nourishment they need from other sources than the sow's milk, by the time they are checked in their growth by weaning. Many sows will accept service within a few days after farrowing, but it is not best to breed them until after the pigs are weaned, or in eight or nine weeks. The welfare of the sow and the next litter of pigs should be kept in mind, and the sow should have time to recuperate after raising a bunch of young pigs before undertaking the job again.

Don'ts for Dairymen.

Don't forget to wash the separator after each separation.

Don't separate the milk without first straining it.

Don't fail to operate the separator according to directions.

Don't expect the cream can to reach destination unless plainly addressed.

Any cow suspected of being in bad health should be isolated, and her milk should not be saved.

PREACHER AND FARMER

The Two Are Getting Closer Together Once More.

Many Prophets of Old Were Farmers —Preachers Have Done Much for Ontario Agriculture—O. A. C. at Guelph Was Planned by a Clergyman—Pastors Who Have Been in Pastoral Work Indeed.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The preacher and the farmer are frawine closer together. This is not surprising, for the former is usually a product of the soil. It is estimated that about 25 of our professional men, including clergymen, were raised on farms, and practically all of them have had to "do the chores" in their time.

Prophets of Old Were Farmers.

The Old Testament writings were largely men of the soil. Abraham, Jacob, Moses and David were authorities in handling flocks. And was not Elisha famous for his record of following the plough "with twelve yoke of oxen before him." Amos went in for mixed farming — herds and fruits. Abraham Conway quaintly remarks that the first man was a gardener, and it was only after the second tiller of the soil became a murderer that he began to build cities.

Clergymen Have Done Much for Ontario Agriculture.

Rev. John McCaul, an early President of the University of Toronto, was a great champion of farming, and read a paper before the Agricultural and Arts Association in 1858 on "Agriculture Among the Romans."

Rev. Egerton Ryerson, the celebrated Methodist leader, when Superintendent of Education for the Province, had several text books on agriculture prepared for our schools. If he were here to-day to behold the "see and do" work of our modern junior agriculturists, both boys and girls, he would be very much astonished, and would perhaps recite a "Nunc Dimittis."

A Preacher Devised the Plan of the Agricultural College.

Rev. W. F. Clarke, a Congregational minister, if not the father, may be termed the godfather of the Ontario Agricultural College. In 1859 he was appointed by Hon. John Carling, Commissioner of Agriculture, to visit the leading agricultural colleges of the United States—then very few—and report as to the possibility of such an institution succeeding in Ontario. His investigation was carefully made, and the report he recommended was so comprehensive and practical that it was adopted practically in its entirety, and was the foundation of the excellent college that is operating to-day. He edited the Canadian Farmer for several years, and was looked upon as almost omniscient in things agricultural.

Rev. Dr. Burnet, for over a quarter of a century a Presbyterian minister in Hamilton, was President of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association for nine years in succession (1865-1873), was a leading fruit grower himself, and had a grape planted after him.

A Clergyman Who Has Been a Public Benefactor.

Rev. Dr. C. J. S. Bethune, for years Principal of Cobourg Collegiate, Port Hope, (Episcopalian), and for some years a Governor of the Ontario Agricultural College, has long been regarded as one of the leading ornithologists of his time. The researches and observations of this scientist have greatly enriched our literature, and his book on the birds of Canada is a standard work.

Rev. A. H. Scott, of Perth, has been president of the Horticultural Society, and has given many reports and addresses on gardening, both sweet and sausage.

Rev. James Anthony has made a reputation in rural leadership, and is a well-known writer and speaker on agricultural topics.

Rev. W. A. McKay, while pastor in Weston, made no record in securing procured more members for his local Horticultural society, pro rata of population, than any other man in the province.

The New Agriculture and the Rural Clergyman.

Agriculture to-day has a new outlook, and it cannot afford to neglect the rural clergyman and more especially the minister who has a country congregation, or even a suburban one, cannot afford to neglect the new agriculture, lest the very grooms, pearing for usefulness and beauty, should cry out in protest against man.

A later article will show what the Ontario Department of Agriculture is doing to assist rural pastors in the solving of some of the problems our country life now confronting them.—Thos. McGillicuddy, Statistics and Publication Branch, Toronto.

A Prime Dressing for Wounds. — In some factories and workshops carbolic acid is kept for use in cauterizing wounds and cuts sustained by the workmen. For better to keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It is just as quick in action and does not sear the skin or burn the flesh.

New Perch for the Fishermen.

A new sport followed to some extent along the Pacific coast is that of fishing from poles in the "Pilings" type. The fishermen ascend to a height where they can readily spot a school of fish and then they descend and drift along with the fish, fishing over the water they pull in the fish as fast as they can throw over their lines.

Origin of Manitoba.

The name Manitoba sprang from the union of two Indian words, Manito (the Great Spirit), and Waba (the "narrows" of the lake). This strait was a favorite resort of the Sioux and Saulteurs, who called them "Manito-Waba," or the "Great Spirit's Narrows."

Halloween.

The celebration of Halloween dates back to antiquity. It was a holiday combining classic mythology, Druidic beliefs and superstitions of the dark away time. The change to a social anniversary was gradual and finally became S, recognized time for general merriment.

SIR JOHN C. SCHULTZ

INCIDENTS CONNECTED WITH THE RIEL REBELLION.

Escape From Fort Garry Prison and Winter Journey Through Hundreds of Miles of Wilderness to Reach Ontario—Honors Conferred on the Worthy Patriot.

Early in 1869 the bargain was completed between the Government of Canada and the Hudson's Bay Company by which it was agreed that upon the payment of £300,000 to the company the latter would surrender to Canada its rights in the vast region known as Rupert's Land. The Hon. William Macdougall was appointed Lieutenant-Governor. On October 30 he reached Pembina.

As Macdougall advanced he found the road barricaded; he was forbidden to proceed, and a few days later he was driven from the territory, by the half-breeds who were carrying out orders given by another half-breed at Fort Garry known as Louis Riel.

As winter came on the rebels looked about for more comfortable quarters than an encampment on the prairie, and on November 2, they rode down to Fort Garry, and in spite of the protests of the officials took possession of the fort with all its stores and abundant supplies of many kinds.

Col. Dennison, who had been sent out to superintend surveys, raised a stiff corps to resist the rebels. A party of about forty assembled at the house of Dr. Schultz, in the village near Fort Garry, for the purpose of protecting some government supplies stored there. Three hundred rebels well armed, and having several field-cannon, appeared before the house. The little garrison surrendered. All were disarmed and several were imprisoned in Fort Garry. One of the prisoners was Dr. Schultz.

Dr. John Christian Schultz was born at Amherstburg, in Essex County, Ontario, in 1841. He studied medicine at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., graduating in 1862. When only 20 he set out for the Red River Settlement, in the employ of the Canadian West.

Having purchased the small press and very limited collection of type brought into the settlement for the publishing of a newspaper called the "Nor-Wester," Dr. Schultz began the publication of a fortnightly magazine, filling many of its columns with his own contributions, some consisting of long letters of advice to settlers in the country and encouraging the handling of breaking settlers.

No sum in the settlement was better known to him and his followers than Dr. Schultz and when they had him a prisoner they thought it wise to guard him well. He was, therefore, placed in a room by himself. Although within was well educated and a young man, he was confined was without a fire, and he was compelled to sweep on the floor.

The doctor's family and friends were allowed to send him in food, and one day a pudding was passed by the guard, which the prisoner found had a knife and a pistol. The buffalo skin, of which he made his bed, was cut into strips. That night all the prisoners in the building were asleep outside the door of the prisoner's room; and this, he knew, was the time to escape.

With the aid of the pistol the line of buffalo hide was made fast to the wall, and removing the window of his room, he threw out the line, and then with great difficulty managed to squeeze his huge body through the opening. But his pondrous weight was too much for the line. It broke and Dr. Schultz fell to the frozen earth, a distance of twenty feet, severely injuring his hip. With painful effort, and after great labor, Dr. Schultz managed to scale the wall, and so reached the outside of the fort.

This was January 23, the snow lay deep on the prairie, the night was starless and dark, and the piercing wind whirled the powdery snow in blinding masses. He had but few leagings in his hurry to leave the vicinity of the fort, and did not learn where he was until he found himself approaching St. Boniface, where he knew he need not look for friends. Turning about, he made his way with all speed to Kildonan, about six miles north of Fort Garry, where he took refuge in the house of a prominent settler, Mr. McBeth, father of the Rev. R. G. MacBeth, author of "The Making of the Canadian West."

From this trading place Dr. Schultz and his companion set out on snowshoes for Eastern Canada. After tremendous difficulty and the phenomenal winter journey of hundreds of miles through snow and ice and wilderness, he reached Canada, and passed through Windsor, London, Toronto, Kingston, and Montreal.

At all these points and many others his reception was most stirring, for the people had learned by then of the difficulties their country-man had endured as prisoner of the insurgents. Indignation meetings were held, and at one at Toronto, on April 6, 1870, when Dr. Schultz, Charles Mair, Dr. Lynch, and Mr. Stirling were present—all refugees from Riel's violence—the Governor-General was called upon to take action.

It was not until the following August that the action finally taken was made.

Dr. Schultz returned to Manitoba, and for many years took a prominent part in public affairs. He was elected to the House of Commons for Lisgar, and accepted a ministerial position to represent that constituency until 1885, when he was appointed to the Senate.

From 1888 to 1895 he was Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, receiving in 1894 the honor of knighthood. His death occurred in April, 1896, at Monterey, Mexico, whither he had gone in the vain search of health.—Montreal Herald and Weekly Star.

VON MOLTKE'S MEMOIRS

ANOTHER EXPLANATION GIVEN OF THE GREAT WAR.

Russia Is Blamed by This Teutonic Writer With Having Been the Cause of the Struggle—The War Lords Hoped to Win by Means of a Swift Campaign.

Add to the growing list of war memoirs those of Count von Moltke, German Chief of Staff at the beginning of the war, which are now being published in Germany by his widow. They have been long awaited with interest by military men, because Moltke was in a position to reveal facts unknown to anyone else, and they promise not to be disappointing, if one may judge by the installments already printed. He recalls to our mind a fact which most people have forgotten, that at one time it seemed possible that the war would be fought between Russia and Germany and Austria. For some critical days there was as much doubt as to what France would stand by the treaty with Russia as there was whether Britain would stand by the guaranty of Belgium's neutrality. In those early days, before there had been any actual mobilization, the question of Belgium's neutrality had not been raised, though the German plans had long contemplated an invasion of Belgium if war was to be made on France.

Of course, Moltke, like a true German, blames Russia for the war. He says that Russia refused to admit that Germany would have to stand by Austria, but he neglects to say that Germany refused to admit that Russia had to stand by Serbia, and was therefore bound to stand by Russia. It became obvious to the German military and diplomatic chiefs a few days after the ultimatum to Serbia that Russia would declare war, and we rather think there was broke the princess' heart and she died shortly afterward, while her husband expressed his feelings by their refusing to permit anybody to be made up his remains to his allotted span. He would not even offer prayers to be offered for the repose of his soul.

This Prince Henry of Reuss was a crank to the verge of imbecility. He was so autocratic that he would not allow a house to be built in his capital of Gera or a tree to be cut down without his special sanction. He also insisted upon personally administering the annual punishment to any of the public school pupils who were unruly. There were only two things in his palace for this purpose, for the prince held that as he was the father of his people the caning of them was his personal responsibility. The prince kept up a perpetual quarrel with Prussia, because at one time he suspected Bismarck of putting a spy upon him at a royal supper. He would not permit his people to put up any memorial to old Emperor William so to the Iron Chancellor or even to the ex-kaiser. A death in the Reuss household is not recognized by the Prince of Reuss as an occasion for mourning. He was also a bit of a martinet, and a tie which was innocent of any neckband was an abomination to him. If there was neither running water nor hot water, and kitchens were at such an immense distance from the dining-room that the food was always cold when it arrived on the guests' plates. The three family consists of the father, the imbecile prince, and four bachelors, and the life of the latter was a gloomy one from which they sought escape in marriage at the earliest opportunity. One of them, to the dissent of her father, became the wife of Count Erie Kanitz, whose uncle was a dignitary at the court of Reuss-Greiz. Another accepted an Austrian baron who was an officer in the Great War. Another, says Mr. Owen, married on a footing of equality Prince Christopher of Stolburg-Gedern of one of the meditated families, that is to say, of the dynastic that exercised petty sovereign away in Germany prior to the overthrow of the Holy Roman Empire by the First Napoleon a little more than a hundredth years ago. The last marriage of the princess herself was regarded as a mesalliance, for her husband, Prince John Carolath, was a mere Prussian noble and did not belong to the ruling house, whose members were entitled to mate on terms of equality with members of sovereign dynasties. Her eldest daughter the status of his father, not of his mother.

Several other members of the Reuss family have been imbeciles and for a long time the royal tribe has been a veritable godsend to German comic publications and cartoonists. Their court was the only one in Europe where in the case of royal mourning the mourners were to show the sincerity of their grief by wearing black underclothing. The pomp of the petty principlings was without modern parallel.

Imbecile or pompous as the verge of lunacy though many members of the House of Reuss have been they were their descent as far back as the Hohenzollerns, and in the matter of birth the princess is considered the equal of the sister of Doorn.

THE HOHENZOLLERNS.

The ex-Kaiser's New Wife Comes of Ancient Stock.

The marriage of the ex-kaiser and the Princess Hermine of Reuss caused a great stir last year. Mr. Frederick Cunliffe-Owen, C.B.E., has recently written an article in which he says that both the contracting parties are of tainted stock and any children that might be born of the union would probably be imbecile. The brief review of the family of the princess which Mr. Owen gives in the New York Times is an unflattering one, and indicates that if the princess herself has a sound mind she is rarely fortunate. He does not suggest that she is in any way deficient, but the fact that she has become the wife of the most execrated criminal in the world is surely no evidence of powerful qualities of intellect. Indeed, the princess appears to be beloved by the people upon her estate, in whose welfare she has always been interested, and it is probable that after her marriage she will devote herself entirely to her new husband and her children. But it is unlikely that ever she will invade upon him the veneration, affection and care that were the daily offerings of the former Kaiserin.

The only brother of the princess, Henry XXIV. of Reuss, formerly ruler of that principality, is deaf and dumb, imbecile and blind, but his infirmities were partly due to accident and not wholly inherited. He was born deaf and dumb, but was idolized by his mother, a Princess Ida of Schaumberg-Lippe. When he was a young boy it was decided that he should be operated on for a defect in his eye, a kind of squint. His mother held him on her knee, but at the most critical moment of the operation her nerve failed her and at the sight of the cutting that was going on caused her to make a sudden movement. The result was that the oculist's lancet was driven into the lad's eye, and he was blinded. That the shock penetrated his brain seems probable from the fact that he was also an imbecile. The tragedy broke the princess' heart and she died shortly afterward, while her husband expressed his feelings by their refusing to permit anybody to be made up his remains to his allotted span. He would not even offer prayers to be offered for the repose of his soul.

This Prince Henry of Reuss was a crank to the verge of imbecility. He was so autocratic that he would not allow a house to be built in his capital of Gera or a tree to be cut down without his special sanction. He also insisted upon personally administering the annual punishment to any of the public school pupils who were unruly. MUSICALE AND TEA

A musicale was given at the Oddfellows' Rooms on New Years afternoon by the new executive committee of the Napanee Ladies' Musical and Literary Society. The President, Mrs. D'Arcy Sneath, was in charge, and a number of guests attended. Tea was served from four to six, Mrs. Herrington, the former President, presiding at the tea-table. She was assisted by the Misses Georgie Robinson, Helen Wallace, Margaret Daly, Jessie Dibb, Isabelle Wagar and Mildred Brown. During the afternoon a musical programme was provided by the best town artists and the guests were very enthusiastic in their praise. Miss Beatrice Faughan, who is a member of the Executive, gave a piano number, Mrs. Burritt and Mr. Waite sang "Oh! That We Two Were Maying", as a duet, Mr. LaSalle gave a very pleasing tenor solo, Miss Georgie Robinson sang two numbers very sweetly, Mr. Fred Cliff, who possesses a splendid tenor voice, also favored the gathering with two solos. Mr. Beverley Thompson astonished the audience by his fine rendering of Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C. M. Mrs. Sneath sang two charming little songs, "Impatience", Hubert, "Gypsy Song", DVerak; and Mrs. Cameron Wilson played in her usual sympathetic manner, two violin numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. Boyce, (formerly Miss Eowena Smith).

Miss Helen VanLaven was the very able accompanist for the afternoon. Thirty-four members were enrolled before leaving, and it is hoped that the membership for 1925 will go as high as three hundred, the fee being merely nominal.

The Executive are planning two or three more concerts to be given during the winter, the final evening presenting an opera in which they will devote most of their attention. Tickets, which admit the members to everything, may be obtained from Miss Alma Thompson, the treasurer, or at Hooper's Drug Store.

All the musical talent in Napanee will be required to produce the opera successfully, and the Executive are trusting that a ready response will be made.

OBITUARY

The Late Robert Shannon.

On Saturday last there passed away at his late residence, on the Slash Road, Mr. Robert Shannon, an aged and respected citizen of the community.

Mr. Shannon's father came out from Ireland in 1832, and took up land near Enterprise, when that part of the country was still virgin forest. The family, which then consisted of the wife and three children, combined to hew a real home out of the woods. Little by little the property was cleared of timber until the whole was converted into a modern farm. Besides the three children born in Ireland, there were born in this country eight other children, of whom Mr. James Shannon, now of Newburgh, is the sole remaining member.

The late Robert Shannon when quite a young man, entered business in Croydon, and later moved to Centreville, where he began and carried on business. He then bought a farm on the Slash Road, where he has continued until the time of his death. There were born to him five children; four of whom survive, Mr. Hiram, now on the farm; Lillian, now of Hinch, of Los Angeles; Charles, who predeceased his father; Mrs. Ross Moon, of Winnipeg, and Ross, now Mrs. MacGregor, of Toronto. Besides these, there are left to mourn his loss, the brother, Mr. James Shannon, of Newburgh, and Mr. W. J. Shannon, of Napanee, a nephew.

Mr. Shannon was a lifelong liberal in politics and a Presbyterian in denominational affiliation, and until the time of his death he took a keen interest in all the matters of a political and religious interest. Mr. Shannon was also well a charter member of Victoria Masonic Lodge in Centreville, and for many years had enjoyed the priviledges of life membership. There are now living only two charter members of this lodge, Mr. James Shannon, of Newburgh, and Mr. Lucas, of Tyendinaga.

The funeral service was held from his late residence on Monday afternoon, Rev. A. J. Wilson, of St. Andrew's, conducting the service. The Masonic service was conducted by members of the Victoria Lodge of Centreville, assisted by brethern from Union Lodge, No. 9, Napanee.

The large number of people present from the whole countryside, and many from long distances, was a fitting testimony to the place which he had won in the affections of all who knew him by his kindness and friendly neighborliness.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Leonard B. McCabe, who departed this life Jan. 8th, 1923.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Years of sorrow often flow,
Memory keeps our dear one near us,
Whom God called two years ago.

The years may wipe out many things,
But this they'll wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days,
When we were all together.

Ever remembered by Wife and Son.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Harvey Bradshaw, who died January 9th, 1919.

She was such a dear little mother,
So patient, so kind and so true,
There was never a cloud so heavy or dark,
But she saw the sunlight through.

Sometimes when I think of mother,
She seems to be so near,
That I hear her voice voice saying,
Don't grieve, children, I am near.

Death cannot divide me from mother,
Nor sever the chords of love,
She is just resting sweetly with Jesus,
In that beautiful home above.

Black spent Christmas at Mr. Steven Close's.—Mr. Perry Armstrong spent Sunday evening at Mr. Sam Doupe's.—Mr. Fred Galbraith spent one evening recently in Enterprise.—Mr. Raymond Campbell and Mr. Leslie Haggerty spent Sunday at Mr. Patrick Nolan's.—Mrs. James Hughes, Selby, spent Christmas holidays at her son's, Mr. A. Hughes, Croydon.—Mr. Harold Hughes spent Sunday at Mr. Joe Doupe's.—The cord wood is coming in quite freely, and is selling very fast at $7.00 cord.—New Years Day was the coldest day this winter, as it was 40 below zero. Gerald Galbraith's team ran away, but escaped very luckily, as nothing broke but the one single whiffletree.

KINGSFORD.

The Rev. James Hutton, Incumbent of Selby, has been spending his Christmas vacation with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Chalmers, of Kingsford. During his stay he has preached some wonderful and inspiring sermons at Kingsford, and the congregation at St. Judes are sorry to lose so learned and sympathetic a minister even for the space of three months. The Rev. Mr. Hutton is making a special study of the Old Testament religion under the celebrated Dr. Mercer at Trinity College, Toronto, and the whole congregation join in wishing him every success in his studies, and hope to have him among them on the completion of this term's work.

DENISON BROS.

N.C.I. MIDDIES, $3.75 EACH

These Middies are made from the best quality of middy twill possible to secure. They are cut in large full sizes, in the regulation style with yoke. Collar and cuffs are made from Navy Flannel and are detachable. The emblem is a true representation of the N.C.I. Crest. All sizes.

Same Privilege as the Other Calf.

Brown was making a visit to a girl who lived in the country, and they were walking through the fields when they noticed a cow and calf rubbing noses in bovine love. He spoke up: "The sight of that makes me want to do the same thing."

"Go ahead," she replied, "it's father's cow."

WINTER DRESSES FOR GIRLS. MADE FROM WOOL CREPE, SERGE AND FLANNEL

The "get-up" of these smaller girls' dresses is unquestionably smart. They come with plain or pleated skirts. Some have bloomers to match. Stitching and colorful embroideries create pleasing ornamentation. Obtainable in a wide range of bright colorings.

RESOLVED,

That for 1925, Our Values, Quality Considered, will be the Best that the Markets of the World Can Produce. Prompt and Efficient Service Will Make Your Shopping With Us a Pleasure.

FEATURING THE LATEST IN NEW AFTERNOON DRESSES

Dresses composed of silken fabrics such as Fulgurante Satin, Satin-faced Canton and plain Cantons are enjoying much popularity-in the Dress circles of the world. Our dress cabinets now contain a unique and interesting assortment of domestic and imported dresses, which portray the styles as conceived by the best artists of the day.

The Paris hand-made dresses come delightfully beaded. They possess a richness of color that is indescribable. Priced from $35.00 to $57.50.

Our own Canadian-made Dresses run true to all requirements of fashion. They are authentic in style, color and ornamentation. Priced from $15.00 to $57.50.

Your many social activities will be made brighter with a new dress. We invite you to see our present showing of better-made dresses.

OUR PRESENT STOCK OF GIRLS' WINTER COATS PRESENTS A SMART ARRANGEMENT OF STYLES AND SIZES

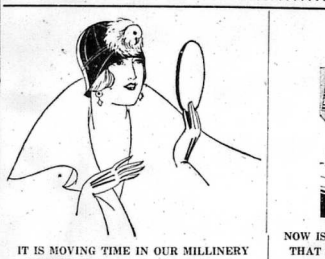
Senior girls, especially those who require 10, 12 and 14 year sizes, will like our present stock of Coats. They are as splendidly styled, tailored and trimmed as mother's coat would be. The variety of fabrics obtainable will make your choosing interesting.

Featured are plain and cut Velours with Fur collars, plain Teddy-Bear with Fur collars, cut Polo Cloths with Cloth collars, Plaid back Tweeds designed in Burberry styles, as well as reefer and novelty styles in Blanket Cloths.

A special clearance discount is now in force. Procurable in shades of Castor, Sand, Honeydew, Copen, Heather and numerous Tweed effects. Choose early, please.

For Artistic Styles and Dependable Service Choose Muskrat

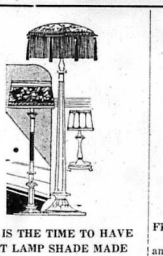
Possibly there is no one other fur being used to-day that has so much to offer its admirers. Its rich, glossy brown shade is decidedly becoming to the average girl or woman. The designer rejoices because many beautiful and artistic effects can be successfully worked up. The merchant is enthusiastic because it enables him to offer his customers a real attractive fur coat at a reasonably small investment. Our Fur Department has a splendid line-up of natural Muskrat Coats, ready for your choosing. They are fashioned in the most approved styles. Reverse borders, dropped-skin collars, bell cuffs and good linings are some of the desirable features. If you are open to buy a new Coat this season we invite your inspection.



IT IS MOVING TIME IN OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT. SPLENDID HATS BEING CLEARED AT LOW PRICES

Going at $5.00 each are sixteen very exclusively styled hats. These come in the smaller shapes and are made from the finest of imported Velvets. Each model is artistically ornamented. Procurable are shades of Navy, Black, Brown, Oakwood, Rust, and Castor.

At $1.95 each will be found a limited quantity of smart ready-to-wear models. These are greatly reduced from regular, and can be had in a clever assortment of shades. Many of the hats here are composed of felt. All are openly displayed for your quick inspection.



NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE THAT LAMP SHADE MADE

We are well equipped to make any style or size, of Silk, Crepe-de-chene, or Georgette Lamp Shade. A large stock of newest shades and latest trimmings. Expert lamp shade makers will oversee you by turning out a beautiful and well made shade at the lowest possible price.

Latest Marbleite Boudoir Lamps, with silk cord and pull apart socket. Special $3.95.

Annual Report of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada

The Annual Meeting of the Victorian Order was held in the Board Room of the Public Library, on Tuesday evening, January 6th. There was a good attendance.

The past year has been one of steady progress, under the leadership of our beloved President, Mrs. F. F. Miller. There were nine Executive meetings, 2 special ones and 1 public meeting. The Inspector from Ottawa made two visits during the year, and reported Miss Gardner's work as satisfactory.

The Order is greatly indebted to Miss Gardner for her loyalty to the work she has undertaken. Perfect harmony has existed between her and the town; not a complaint having been sent in during the entire year. The health talks to the school children have shown splendid results, while the work done at the Child Welfare Clinic received many favorable comments. Her life among us has been one of faithful service.

The Order wishes to thank all who in any way gave of their time or funds to help towards its success; special mention being made of the kindness of Miss Lucy Edwards, and of the Editors of The Beaver and of The Express, for publishing the notices entirely without fee.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:—

President—Mrs. F. F. Miller.
1st Vice President—Mrs. W. H. Milman.
2nd Vice President—Mrs. A. T. Harshaw.
3rd Vice President—Mrs. E. J. Corkill.
Secretary—Mrs. G. A. Thompson.
Treasurer—Miss Mary Leamy.

The Board, which with the Officers from the Executive, is made up of the Captains of The Salvation Army, the Clergy of the town, and three representatives from each Church and the Army.

Convenor of Finance Committee—Mr. W. J. Doller.
Convenor of Child Welfare Clinic Com.—Mrs. C. I. Maybee.
Convenor of Poor and Needy Com.—Miss H. Gardner.

Secretary.

WEDDING BELLS

Reed—Huse.

A pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday evening, December 17th, 1924, when Miss Sybil Willis Huse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Huse, of 231 Belmont St., Boston, was united in marriage to Mr. Russell Sage Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Reed, of Birmingham, Alabama, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Charles L. Morgan, in the presence of a large number of guests.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Orin Sergent, of Belmont, as matron of honor and the best man was Mr. Ernest L. Lavin, also of this town. The flower girl was little Sibyl Miller of Watertown. The ushers were Mr. Leonard P. Miller, of Watertown, and Mr. Wesley St. Cœur of Bidford. An orchestra played the wedding march and for the reception which followed the ceremony. The bride wore white brocaded crepe chiffon velvet with pearl ornaments and veil and carried bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore brocaded velvet in gold and blue and carried pink butterfly roses. The flower girl was dressed in blue taffeta.

The bride is a graduate of Roxbury High School and Mr. Reed is an electrical engineer, a graduate of M. I. T. They were the recipients of many gifts, including a very substantial check. After a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Reed will make their home at 224 Belmont St.—The Belmont Citizen.

Mrs. Reed and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Huse, and Mr. M. C. Carlisle toured from Boston several times and visited Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lowry, Clarksville, Napanee, Canada.

Wanted: A Wife

By OSBORN JONES

Copyright, 1925, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

As Paul Bolton planned at the dozen or so freshly typed letters at his desk toward five in the afternoon on New Year's eve he reflected that they were the last letters dated 1917 that he would ever sign. Therefore the mechanical act of affixing his signature would be somewhat more momentous than that performance usually was. It would be in some slight measure epochal, because it registered the passing of another year. Therefore he took the pen from the pen tray with rather more than usual care and dipped it in the heavy glass ink bottle that lay before him on his mahogany mahogany desk. Drawing the top letter on the pile to him he started to sign, but the pen made no mark. Irritation immediately supplanted any interest that he may have felt in the signing. It was intensely exasperating. The ink bottle had been allowed to go dry and only a gummy mass of metallic black showed in the bottom of the inkwell. It was not the first time that he had detected, that he, the president of the great concern of Blank & Bridges—he whose time was worth to that concern some twenty thousand dollars a year —should have to waste that precious time fretting over empty ink wells. Every modern convenience of efficiency in business methods had been installed in his office—there were silent typewriters and automatic letter openers and a girls' lunch room and employees' insurance and annual bonuses—all the result of his desire to show consideration for his employees—and yet he—Paul Bolton—had to fret himself day after day about such things as empty ink bottles, unlocked desks and chairs, unwashed drinking glasses and unfilled water bottles. He was tired from an extremely trying week and so that kind of rising in wrath and storming at office boys, secretaries, stenographers and every one else within reach of his voluntary Paul Bolton was quite capable of having expressed his feelings in that way —he was filled with self-pity. He had really cared enough for him to spare him those annoyances. He went to a stenographer's desk, found an inkwell that happened to be filled and signed the letters dejectedly.

Then he went to his nearby apartments where he reigned in bachelor supremacy and his experience there showed him again that no one really cared. There were no fresh flowers Bolton expectedly liked to have yellow daffodils and tequils in his room on cold, raw winter nights and he had told his Jap so on more than one occasion. The garden was not lighted. The Jap explained that no coal could be got. Well, the Jap ought to have got a shovelful somewhere, if he had cared for him as much as he seemed he would have got a shuttle-full somewhere. And dinner was exactly what he wanted, and his slippers hadn't been warmed and the water was too cold. The Jap ought to have known by that time that he didn't like ice water.

It struck him that the next day, when Bolton began to think about New Year's resolutions, he registered two resolves, brief yet important. To get a really efficient private secretary—a young woman who would care enough to see that the inkwells were filled, and to get a wife. A wife would see to the jonquils and the slippers he was sure.

Before a month had passed Bolton had achieved one of his resolutions. He had obtained from an exclusive agency a young woman of unusual merit—Alice Blair—who had proved herself to be worth considerably more than the forty dollars a week that she had demanded. So Bolton's days were passed with an absence of confusion and irritation. Miss Blair seemed to get inside his mind and find out just what he wanted done before he had time to formulate it even to his own knowledge and she always did things with perfect ease. She didn't have to fill the inkwells or dust the desk; but —what showed her forty-dollar-a-week value—she saw to it that the office boys did. It was always that way with her. She never seemed to be specially busy and yet everything was done.

But Bolton still had no wife and the Jap did not improve. Another Jap would have been no better. Bolton was sure it was only a wife who could make his cup of happiness complete. And yet there were wives and wives. The wife he wanted was not like those of any of his men friends. In the first place she would have to be companionable and sympathetic and stimulating when he was weary from the office grind and then she would have to regard her task of being his wife and home maker as seriously as he regarded his business of being president of Blank and Bridges. Bolton began accepting invitations to dinners and dances in the hope of finding his paragon but he was always unsuccessful. He was discouraged in the accomplishment of his second resolution. Unraveling in the achievement of the first, he got into the habit of spending more and more time in his office, going home to his apartment and his Jap only for hurried meals and short sleep. As time went on he sometimes imagined he was completely happy, as rejoiced was he in Alice Blair. But in time the extra hours at the office began to tell on his health. He really needed the home life if he was to keep up his mental vigor and good health. He sometimes wondered whether the reason that Miss Blair had to work—for she always stayed at her post whenever he was at the office—was her failing on her too. But she never murmured and she seemed always in the pink of condition.

One day Bolton found himself wondering about Miss Blair. He wondered why she did all this for him—whether it was just the result of her having also a keen mind—was it induced entirely by the forty dollars a week that she had demanded? Perhaps it was partly the effect it produced was the same—it really did seem as if some one cared now and that, after all, Bolton concluded, was what made the big difference. Still he kept asking himself, did Miss Blair care? How old she was crop up her strength and courage for the long hours? There were a hundred petty home and social duties that usually distracted his women employees—had Miss Blair none of those?

Mr. Bolton's last question was answered one day when he chanced to look through the curious for the outgoing mail of the day, when he had returned unknown to her, after dining a small apartment a real home. She need not do the actual housework but she must see that it is done without confusion and without complaint. She must have the instinctive knack of attending to the little things, combined with the ability to be interested in the really big things. For such a young woman a good home and a fair remuneration will be given."

Mr. Bolton read then re-read the paragraph. What occurred to him first was that it contained a perfect description of his own ideal of what a wife should be—and it was Alice Blair's ideal. Only it was Alice Blair's idea of the companion she wanted, not the companion she wanted to be. Still, the inconsistency of the statement escaped him. He was interested rather that with such an ideal woman at home a man or woman either might accomplish the aims of business women that would otherwise be unendurable. Apparently the letter advertising for such a companion had gone out. Bolton wondered what results would come of it. He almost wished that he, too, might answer the wife he was looking for in some such quick-courtship manner. Then he decided to speak to Alice Blair—perhaps, perhaps, she cared enough—

Bolton came to the point rather abruptly.

It had thought the most important thing in the world was to have a perfect secretary," he told her the next morning, "but I've come to see it in my office. "Now I have decided that a perfect wife is much more important. Miss Blair, I've been reading your advertisement—I see you understand part of my own ideal for such a companion. Now I want to be a real companion, Alice," he said, changing from his abrupt business manner to a boyish, pleading tone that Alice had never observed before.

Alice blushed and the blush seemed to tell Bolton that she really did care for something beside the forty dollars a week.

"Is it only because I would be a congenial companion, and a good housewife—only because I'd keep the wheels running smoothly in your home as I have in your office, is that all?"

Then suddenly Bolton wondered how he had ever seemed as though those things could really have been paramount. All he could see was the shadowy cast lurked beneath Alice's downcast eye, the delicious curve of her lips and the graceful lines of the small, tense little chin.

"Alice," he said a little huskily, "I'd want you to marry me if you were the most inefficient girl in the world. Somehow I see now why so many men do marry the women they do—I suppose many have been a I love you."

And so in spite of the first developments of the year Bolton filled the second half of his resolution instead of the first.

Mole Always Hungry.

The little mole has recently been recommended for membership in the society of big eaters. It is as very voracious, even in captivity, that it will sometimes eat more than its own weight of earthworms in 24 hours. One little glutton, weighing four ounces, devoured 7½ pounds of worms in one week. When the diet changed to raw beef, mutton, chicken heads and rabbit liver, its appetite was unchanged. Cheese, when mixed with either worms or beef, was the most toothsome bit of all.—Popular Science Monthly.

Marines Have Proud Record.

The records of the marine corps show that it took part in practically all the operations of the Mexican war; and in the Civil war, when Admiral Farpce the storming party was led by Majors Twiggs and Reynolds of the marine corps. Later on these same marines which fought in Mexico marching through the capital of Japan, under Commodore Perry which he opened up that ancient empire to modern civilization.

'WHAT'S THE USE?'

Effect Produced by "Funeral" in the South Seas.

Ghastly Ceremony That to Civilized People Made Travesty of the Sacredness of Death.

One afternoon about four o'clock, while we were working our way down the coast in no particular hurry to get anywhere, we suddenly heard the beating of a tom-tom. It was the bush telegraph working furiously.

"What's the message, Maanga?" I asked my boy.

"Me think it some feller he die finish," was his laconic reply.

We crossed the reef and beached the boat and then hurried up to the village, half hidden among the palms, writes H. W. Clemo in Asia Magazine. All the natives were there in the clearing between the houses, dressed up in everything they could put on, and there was a deeply religious atmosphere about the gathering. We understood the reason when we saw a long funeral pyre built up. It was so high that we could just get a glimpse of a stiff figure sitting there, the back and knees bent in the head stretched out in an unnatural way. All the people were gathered around it. One of them seemed to have wrapped himself in a kind of white sheet and it did not take long to discover that he was actually officiating in the capacity of clergyman. The native is always impressed by ceremony of any sort, and missionary ceremonies have left their mark all over the islands. This fellow had a book suspiciously like a hymn book in front of him, though I noted later that it was upside down, and he was reading or rather reciting as much as he could remember of all the Christian services he had ever heard.

Taylor and I walked around the pile, mumbling it with interest and watching the natives eye longingly the copper jewelry that custom decreed should be burned with the corpse. When we got to the front and were standing there, looking up at it, Taylor suddenly gave a gasp. "It's that darned girl we had, the one you took care of at your house," he said. We were in Ngawaloa and the figure on the pyre was Lawasi! Her face was behind vermillion and looked ghastly, of course. Her head was set strangely on the stump of her neck. It was her clothes on and her hair gloriously bedecked. I shall always remember her expression of utter disgust as she looked around the circle of her life and was contemptuous of everything. It was horrible. Then the fire caught and began leaping toward the sky and the smoke curled up in thick black clouds. The last thing I could see was her head and the stay of Moses, would in like manthick hair glint rays that they caught.

Prof. F. S. Richtmyer of Cornell has been able to show that in Quebec and America, meeting at the bureau of standards in Washington recently, that these invisible rays may guide pollen bearing insects to the flowers in their search for honey. Giving signals in the shorter than the deepest violet that we can see brings the flowers the pollen that is necessary to it in producing seed. Experiments made by Professor Richtmyer on Colorado flowers show that flowers apparently differ in their reflection of ultraviolet as much as in their visible colors.

Unhocking the Hookworm.

Pathologists in the United States army service in Manila say that almost nine out of ten persons in the Philippines have hookworm infection. The cases are not serious, but they lower the efficiency of the Filipino worker and likewise reduce the powers of resistance against malaria, tuberculosis and other ailments. The remedy is simple and inexpensive, say Professor Richtmyer on Colorado flowers show that flowers apparently differ in their reflection of ultraviolet as much as in their visible colors.

Mangrel Dog's Devotion.

The devotion of dogs was illustrated at a London hospital the other day. A little mongrel, coming from out a side street, placed its paws on the hospital railings, and by whining and barking, attracted a large crowd. All efforts to make it go away were without success. After several minutes a young nurse appeared and gazed at the distressed creature. Then a smile overspread her features, and, gently picking up the dog, she took it into the hospital. It then turned out that the dog's master had been admitted into the hospital and his devoted pet had followed him.

Discouraging Trap Stealing.

A Basque sheep herder convicted of trap stealing in Lassen county, California, recently was fined $100 and sentenced to jail for six months. The case was brought to trial and settled within four weeks. The field operations in predatory animal work conducted by the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture have been seriously interfered with by the stealing of traps, and it is believed that as a result of collections and heavy sentences the nuisance will be lessened.

HAD WEARIED OF OLD SINS

Cook Simply Had to Have Something New to Confess, and She Contrived It.

The cook had committed a capital offense. No matter what. Let us assume that she put soap in the mashed potatoes, and let it go at that. It was a sad duty to dismiss an otherwise fine cook in these days when there is dearth of cooks, but soap in the mashed potatoes was going too far. So the mistress of the house summoned her.

"How came you to do such a thing, Maggie?" she asked.

No answer.

"You know better. There must have been a reason for your putting soap in the mashed potatoes. Possibly you were angry?"

"No, mum, I wasn't mad. I just did it."

"I would like to know what your idea was, Maggie," persisted the employer. "I am curious to know why you did it."

"Well, mum, I don't mind tellin' ye. I just made up my mind I'd get a new sin to confess. I've dug old sins, and dug 'em up, and dug 'em up, till I'm sick and tired of 'em. I was bound I'd get a new one. That's exactly why I did it."

Maggie stayed on.—New York Evening Post.

GREATEST OF ALL QUESTIONS

Now, as Ever, World Must Give Consideration to the Problem of the Child.

Everychild looks at us inquiringly.
From the streets,
From the many windows,
From orphan and foundling asylums,
From the factories,
From the squalid homes
And from the homeless places,
From the windows of the schools
He looks at us inquiringly,
For the future of the race.
He looks at us and through us,
And far away
Into the distant future.
And sometimes in his eyes
There is hope and cheer,
And sometimes despair.
We had best stop and look at Every child.
He is not alone for his mother,
Not alone for his father,
But belongs to every one of us:
He is the deepest concern of us all.
What shall be done for Everychild?
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in the North American Review.

Use of Rays by Flowers.

Do flowers use rays not visible to the human eye to attract insects to them? Certain insects can spot ultraviolet rays that cannot be seen by man, and some blossoms, in addition to their ordinary brilliant hues, vary in this kind of short light rays that they emit.

Prof. F. S. Richtmyer of Cornell has been able to show that in Quebec and America, meeting at the bureau of standards in Washington recently, that these invisible rays may guide pollen bearing insects to the flowers in their search for honey. Giving signals in the shorter than the deepest violet that we can see brings the flowers the pollen that is necessary to it in producing seed. OSHEA.

A young man of the family of Joseph, Oshea or Hosea by name, was evidently an outstanding figure among the Israelites, Moses led out of the land of Egypt. Moses ordered him to his own familiar circle, as a personal attendant, and as such he began his climb up Mount Sinai, when the organization of the Israelites into a church and nation was under way, and Moses was seeking Divine help for that momentous task.

At the time when a formidable army of Amalekites attacked the people at Rephidim, an oasis in the wilderness. It was this same young man who led the forces of Israel to successful combat against them.

Some years later he and eleven others were sent into the Promised Land to find out the military situation and the commercial prospects in that country. On this occasion his name was changed from Oshea, or "Salvation," to Jehoshua, or "Salvation of the Lord." This was shortened to Joshua, of which Hebrew name Jesus is the Greek form, as New Testament readers will remember from Heb. iv., 8, "For if Jesus had given them rest, etc."

Joshua and his friend Caleb (or The Dog, as his name runs in Hebrew) were the only ones to bring back a good report of the Promised Land, encouraging the people in the power of Jehovah to enable Israel to conque rit. The people gave themselves to despair at the report of the spies, the had report of the nine, and the result was a turning back to the desert and a wandering from camping spot to camping spot for thirty-six weary years. In that period, all the people who were of mature age on leaving Egypt, excepting only Joshua and Caleb, died.

When the Israelites, hardened and disciplined by long experience in the Arabian desert, had made their way into the Land of Gilead and the other countries on the east side of Jordan, and had by military prowess taken and occupied them, they were at last encouraged to believe that as intended by Divine Providence to believe that they really should enter and occupy the Promised Land.

Moses, now a very old man, although still stalwart and of keen vision, was given a divine premonition of approaching death. He was not, after all, to lead his people across Jordan. To Joshua, his field commander in the wars, was committed by him the leadership of the Israelites after he should have finished his course. And Joshua was appointed also to divide the Promised Land among the tribes, and Eleazar the successor the High Priest, son of his brother Aaron were to be at the head of it.

The first fires of the conquest, who had succeeded, after incredible difficulties, in bringing Israel and its now well-trained host to the very edge of the way from Egypt by forty years of wandering in the wilderness. In the new country, must have appeared irreparable to Joshua and his people. The historical records say that Moses' body was buried by him, tells us that at this juncture Joshua received a special assurance from heaven that Jehovah, who had been with Moses and stay of Moses, would in like manner be with him to ensure his success. "Only be thou strong and of a good courage," was the divine message. Stout-hearted, modest and of the gift in these "finds" are, however, of bronze; but a few of copper and one of iron have also been discovered.

Igloo Has Advantage.

An igloo is perhaps the best example of a house that conforms to the surroundings to be found the wide world over. They say the igloo is rather cramped for room, but on the other hand the high cost of living can have little effect on the price of building materials" within the arctic circle. And to the explorer the glimpse of an igloo through a gathering storm must seem more inviting than a boulevard restaurant in a city swelter.

Beliefs Connected With Arch.

The arch, one of the most beautiful of architectural achievements, was often associated with superstition. In India, in China, in New Zealand, to crawl under a briar grown down in the shape of an arch is considered a sure cure for rheumatism, boils, whooping cough, or whatever ails you. A sick child is passed under such an arch, in Borneo, and in New Guinea passing under an arch is an initiation process observed with much ceremony.

Weather and Diamonds.

Diamond dealers don't like to pass an opinion on gems when the day is damp. It is a fact that weather has a great effect on precious stones. Murky, weather will spoil the appearance of a diamond, but a really sunny, foggy day will make even the purest stone seem imperfect.

Best of All Mantles.

You may cover yourself over with silk bedspreads; they will not bring you rest. But just try wrapping yourself about with the mantle of charity and good will toward all men. Then your sleep will be sweet and you will awaken ready for the new day.—Exchange.

His Prayer Was Answered!

A Grimsby (Eng.) fish merchant who early in the year wrote "God send you back to me" upon a treasury note which he put into circulation was surprised to receive it back recently as part payment of an account by a Swindon customer.

Opinions Differed.

At the Sunday juvenile class in a Scottish school the other day the lady teacher propounded the question, "What is a kid?" "Please, ma'am," said a little girl, "it's a wee laddie." A small boy in the back row saw by the teacher's frown that the answer was wrong. "Please, ma'am," he shouted, "it's a wee lassie!"

Educates.

By science constant appeal is made to individual reason. Its truths are not accepted upon authority alone but all are at liberty to test them; in many cases, by the test, it is required to think out his own conclusions. Every step in a scientific education is submitted to the intellect. He is not asked to admit it without seeing it to be true. And the true science of health has received further increased by the evidence which nature justifies its every claim when they are fairly drawn. From all which there flows that independence which is a most valuable element in character.—Herbert Spencer.

Primitive Pins.

The earliest kind of pins, or at spikes serving the same purpose as pins, were probably those of the small bones of fish and other animals. Among the remains found on the sites of prehistoric habitations are bone pins, some of rude and others of an elegant form, and metal pins of the gilt pin these "finds" are, however, of bronze; but a few of copper and one of iron have also been discovered.

Igloo Has Advantage.

An igloo is perhaps the best example of a house that conforms to the surroundings to be found the wide world over. They say the igloo is rather cramped for room, but on the other hand the high cost of living can have little effect on the price of building materials within the arctic circle. And to the explorer the glimpse of an igloo through a gathering storm must seem more inviting than a boulevard restaurant in a city swelter.

Beliefs Connected With Arch.

The arch, one of the most beautiful of architectural achievements, was often associated with superstition. In India, in China, in New Zealand, to crawl under a briar grown down in the shape of an arch is considered a sure cure for rheumatism, boils, whooping cough, or whatever ails you. A sick child is passed under such an arch, in Borneo, and in New Guinea passing under an arch is an initiation process observed with much ceremony.

Weather and Diamonds.

Diamond dealers don't like to pass an opinion on gems when the day is damp. It is a fact that weather has a great effect on precious stones. Murky, weather will spoil the appearance of a diamond, but a really sunny, foggy day will make even the purest stone seem imperfect.

Best of All Mantles.

You may cover yourself over with silk bedspreads; they will not bring you rest. But just try wrapping yourself about with the mantle of charity and good will toward all men. Then your sleep will be sweet and you will awaken ready for the new day.—Exchange.

It's your smallest annual expense!

Do you realize that the smallest item in the family budget is the telephone bill? It averages only 1 per cent.

A careful study of families with incomes from $1500 to $6000 a year shows that food costs 43%, rent and taxes about 17%, clothes 13%, telephone 1% and miscellaneous from 25% to 20%.

Apart from the time the telephone saves everyone, the mind requires the stimulus of contact with the world, as the body requires vitamines. Isolation cannot mean growth.

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK
Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it steadily all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains, headaches and pains across the back. I have my home to look after and many a time I would not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. They knew I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. F.J. WASEMANN, Mitchell, Ontario.

The secret of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is likely known to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for others to know. Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles so common to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.

Do you know that in a recent canvass of the women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes."

This is one that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

You Regulate Financial Loss

Fires occur in spite of precautions. Property is destroyed in spite of the fire fighters' best efforts. But there is no loss in spite of where dependable insurance is concerned. The value of the property can be saved.

Adequate insurance is the one sure protection against financial loss through fire. Then, you afford to be without it?

Hermine's Neighbors

By EDITH WELLS

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The good neighbor rocked back and forth slowly before the crackling bank of embers on Hermine Whipple's hearth, and from time to time sipped the cup of steaming chocolate that Hermine had set beside her on the little fretwork stand.

"It really does seem a shame, Hermine," she said, rocking back, "that you should have no one to share it with," rocking forward and looking through spectacles into Hermine's face. Then a sip of the chocolate. "My husband said only this morning, 'What a shame that there are no nice bachelors about here'—you mustn't mind Hermine, that is just his way—'what a shame there isn't some one to share that nice warm home there' cold days' and really, I must say, Hermine, this is the warmest place I've been in for days. With coal so short and the wind so nipping, I'm sure I don't see how you do it. Why, this fire here makes the room perfect, and it's not a bit close, either."

Hermine leaned over in her rocker and refilled the neighbor's chocolate cup from the chocolate pot that she kept warm by the side of the hearth. "The cups are very small," she urged, and then: "Oh it's just the way these grates are built. Then, you know, my mother made quite a hobby of living fires, and old Dad and I learned from him. But I'm sorry," she smiled, "that no one can share it. Do come often, if you find it comfortable, and I'll try to get some of the factory girls to come up for supper. There are some who are really quite in distress this winter. They must be cold."

"Oh, it isn't the poor only who suffer. Why, no one can get coal, and most folk haven't the knack you have with wood fires. Why, Mrs. Dalrymple has not had any coal for a week, and really she has to stay in bed to keep warm. She tells people she's ill; but she told me in confidence that it was simply that she hated to get up in the cold. And there is Mr. Denslow Gray, next door"—here the neighbor looked up from her chocolate cup and rocked forward at the same time, to study Hermine's face. "Mr. Gray, you know hasn't any coal at all, and they say that he has all sorts of stories to tell of the way he lives—alone in that big house, with just his man Moses. I'm really afraid he'll take pneumonia. Poor Mr. Gray! It seems so strange he never married. Still, he isn't old—forty, and I suppose there are a good many women would be glad to have him. Still, he must be very cold here." And then, rising to go, the neighbor murmured on: "I am so glad that you are warm enough, Hermine. Yes, I'll come again and you are so comfortable"—then drinking her cup—"such delicious chocolate."

Hermine saw her good neighbor to the door, and then calling through a door that led to the kitchen she summoned her woman of all work and only companion, Rachel. The plump old colored woman hobbled in and, taking the chair the good neighbor had vacated, answered Hermine's questions. Yes, old Moses had been begging a little wood from their plentiful pile every morning. He said the master had no coal, and Moses' rheumatis was so bad he could cut no wood till it got warmer. The cold weather always stiffened Moses' arms just that way.

"Please tell Moses to-morrow," said Hermine, with a confidential tone to her good woman, "that he can't have any more wood. Tell him that he told me if I suggested it—that you think if they want more wood Mr. Gray had better ask me for it. And, Rachel, you might order two nice chickens to-morrow—one for that soup you make with the crumbs and another to roast; and see that you have a good fire in the range; and you might make cruffers tomorrow—and if Moses begs any cruffers for Mr. Gray you tell him he can't have them."

The colored woman looked her surprise, but only rocked back and forth. "Yes, Miss Hermine," she said, "I allus do; I think you're too good—I do a long time I've had to hand cruffers and things over the fence on account of Mr. Gray. I certainly thought you are showing good sense, Miss Hermine. I reckon Mr. Gray will be pretty cold without the wood, but it sure does serve him right."

The next day Moses begged for wood in vain, and at ten o'clock the following after Mr. Gray himself called and asked to see Miss Hermine. It was a most unusual occurrence. There was not, as some of the neighbors supposed, any feud between the houses of Whipple and Gray, but for ten years the bachelor had never called on his spinster neighbor. Then Hermine, really left alone in her rambling old house, was twenty-five and Denslow Gray was thirty. He had called often then, till gossiping tongues had set his calls short. He had heard through Moses that neighbors were expecting an engagement between himself and his neighbor, and so annoyed was he at the interference that the calls had ceased. He left the neighborhood and lived in the city for nearly three years. It was only within the last few years, when apparently all gossip had ceased, that he returned.

On this momentous morning he called very formally and requested his neighbor, with great formality, to call for a little wood. He regretted having to annoy her, but he had heard from Moses that she had plenty, and, owing to the cool weather, he was actually suffering from the cold. As he spoke Hermine led him to the corner of the living room nearest to the crackling embers on the hearth. The only chair available for him was the comfortable one the good neighbor had found so inviting. The fire was unusually inviting, and the rows of Temple illies that bloomed on a stand near a window at one side of the room gave a suggestion of warmth and cheer that captivated the bachelor. He rose to go, and then resumed his seat when Hermine went to the kitchen door and called to Rachel to ask her whether she could spare a little wood. At the door she whispered: "Hurry in with the wood, Rachel, you're actually toasting. Look surprised when you see Mr. Gray, and make a move to take the chocolate away. Hurry, Rachel."

Hermine walked slowly back to the fireplace. "My woman is looking to see whether we have any wood chopped," she was saying, and then the old woman entered with the tray. She started at the sight of the caller and pretended to return to the kitchen.

"That's all right, Rachel; you may bring it in," said Hermine. And then, turning to Mr. Gray, she went on: "You see, I usually have chocolate at this time of cold mornings, Rachel, another cup please. Oh! please, Mr. Gray, let me give you a little—it is so warming."

A half hour later, when the caller rose to go for the third time, he asked Hermine whether he might send Moses over at once with a basket for a little wood; they actually had no fuel to cook dinner. Hermine looked puzzled. She said the wood was in a shed at the end of the garden, and that she and no one came to carry the wood in the key. She was sorry, and then: "Won't you share my own very simple dinner? I believe Rachel is roasting a chicken. It is beefless day, you know, and Rachel is very patriotic. She has made cruffers—I can't offer you very much. Please stay, add Rachel will get to your man Moses to have him get a bite with her in the kitchen."

Mr. Gray accepted the invitation, though as he did so something that he mistook for his conscience pricked him. He felt that he was breaking down a barrier that it had taken him ten years to build up.

At six that afternoon Mr. Gray still lingered. He was playing cribbage with his spinster neighbor before the fire, with the light of a skilfully arranged bracket-lamp that threw just the right shadow on the board and the mellow, becoming glow on Hermine's face, as the kitchen Rachel was making savory cuffers. A pan of apple cake was browning beautifully in the oven, and a broiler of bacon was spitting on the fire. Rachel was laughing to herself—or rather to old Moses, who sat watching in admiration, with a grave forgetfulness, at one side of the stove.

Hermine did not even ask her neighbor to stay to tea—it seemed to be such a matter of course for him to remain there in the glow of her fire rather than to go home to his cheerless abode to feed upon cold meat and damp, chilled bread.

When Rachel had cleared away the things Mr. Gray drew his chair closer to that of Hermine. "You're a wonderful woman, Hermine," he said, "I made up my mind once that you were cold; but you've been thawing out my heart to-day—my heart and incidentally my fingers. I know it is only charity on your part. You are doing it in the same spirit that you had the factory girls here last night. The worst part of going home isn't the fact that it is as cold as a barn—it's because I'll have to leave you."

Hermine's expression showed complete amazement. She told Mr. Gray that never in the world had she imagined that he might want to marry her—the fact was that Mr. Gray had not expressed his sentiment in just those words—but she did hate to have him go home in the cold, just when room was very warm; Rachel kept a fire there. She wondered whether it might not be arranged for him to stay.

And that is how it happened that about eight o'clock that night Denslow Gray and Hermine Whipple roused the minister from where he huddled by his own meager grate fire. "We've been intending to be married for some years," Denslow explained, "and now we want to spring a surprise on the gossips. Can't we catch a license?" he answered, "but an old bachelor doesn't have time to think of the temperature on his wedding day."

Eskimos Lunar Myth.

An Eskimo myth relates that "when a girl was of a party someone told his love for her by shaking her shoulders after the manner of the country. She could not see who it was in the dark hut; she smeared her hand with soot, and when he came back she blackened his cheek with her hand. When a light was brought she saw that it was her brother and fled. He ran after her and followed her, but as she came to the end of the earth she sprang out into the sky. Then she became the sun and he the moon, and that is why the moon is always chasing the sun through the heavens, and why the moon is sometimes dark as he turns his blackened cheek toward the earth."

Good for Some Love Letters.

A letter written with a solution of iodide of starch in water is perfectly legible for a few days. It is not, precisely speaking, in the "invisible" category—at all events, for a while. But writing thus made has the advantage that after a week or two it fades out and vanishes forever, leaving no evidence that can be used against its author.

DRINK HOT BLOOD
African Natives Take Vital Fluid From Oxen.
Operation Causes No Permanent Injury to the Animal, and May Be Many Times Repeated.

In the heart of East Africa it has been my lot recently to spend several months among the Masai, writes L. M. G., to a London paper.

Familiar to readers of Rider Haggard's early romances, these are the only natives of the Dark continent who possess any considerable potential wealth.

Their riches consist in the numberless herds of oxen belonging to this tribe which graze on the steppes of Kenya colony and Tanganyika territory.

Great nomads, the Masai wander hundreds of miles every year in search of water and pasturage for their cattle. They toll not, neither do they spin, and, as they never cultivate any crops, they neither plant nor reap.

At one time they were greatly dreaded for their warlike prowess. Nowadays, however, they confine themselves to raiding, cattle-thieving, and bickering among themselves over water and grazing rights.

Half a dozen Masai braves promised one day to show me how they drink the blood of bulls without harming the animals.

The majority of these young men were over six feet in height. All carried enormously long assegais with heavy heads (the assegais is a spear they use for throwing). Many had a sword and a buffalo-hide shield as well.

As they strode past my tent it was impossible not to admire the superb dignity of their carriage, their finely chiseled features, and the haughty glance of their hawk-like eyes.

A couple of grimy, grey army blankets, affixed to the shoulders of each man, hung down loose, fore and aft, revealing, when they walked, their shapely limbs and lissom torso.

The bullock was soon caught and flung on its side. One man took an arrow and twisted a cloth round about the barb, so that, when fired, it should not penetrate more than an inch. Another fastened a cloth tourniquet round the animal's neck.

The archer took his stand a foot distant from the ox and shot the shaft he had prepared from the bow into the jugular. A steady trickle of blood, regulated by the tourniquet, started to flow; and the nearest Masai, applying his mouth to the neck, drank the flowing fluid, warm!

When it is thought that enough blood has been withdrawn, the tourniquet is removed, the puncture in the artery closes automatically by natural elastic pressure, and the ox is free to go.

Until, perhaps a month or two later, it is decided by his owner that he ought to be bled again.

Winter Care of Batteries.

When laying your car up for the winter do not leave your battery in a partly discharged condition, as this is very injurious to your battery. Bring it in to us and we will keep it charged for you and return it in good condition in the spring. It will add to the life of your battery to have it duly stored. Ask us about this treatment. Batteries will be called for in town without extra charge.

3rd W.—J. W. Thompson.
4th W.—R. Dennis.
G. T.—C. D. Snider.
G. T.—Geo. Ohlman.

After the installation ceremonies were over, the large number of patriarchs present, retired to the banquet hall, where an excellent repast was provided. A large toast list had been prepared, with W. H. Roe acting as toastmaster. Three Grand Lodge officers were present, and addressed the assemblage. The festivities lasted until the wee small hours.

"CHU CHIN CHOW" IN FILM

Popular Comic Opera Spectacle Given Excellent Screening.

"Chu Chin Chow" as a picture will surely satisfy those who revelled in the stage spectacle. The presentation is meritorious and in many respects it is quite the best of the desert pictures, scenically and in the types presented. The Arabian Nights "atmosphere" has been well maintained, and the story of Hassan, the robber chief, and his band; and his ruthless cruelty toward Zahrat, the "wife-slave of the desert," and her lover, loses none of its melodramatic qualities. Betty Blythe gives an emotional portrayal in the part of Zahrat and her "fans" may be further attracted by the knowledge that they will see more of her than usual. 2a

HOCKEY.

Napanee 5, Kingston 4.

The hockey season opened very auspiciously at the Arena on Friday evening, when the local sextette defeated the Granites, of Kingston, in an exhibition game, by a one goal margin, after a thrilling battle. A fairly large crowd was in attendance and enjoyed the play from start to finish. The Granites are a fast team and showed their condition after the first period. In the opening stanza the homesters played their opponents off their feet, and outscored them 4-2. The second period was somewhat slower, each team manœuvring to secure one goal. The third opened somewhat faster, and in a short time the visitors scored, making the count 5-4. They tried hard to get another goal and tie the game, but were not successful. Ivan Spencer referred the game in a satisfactory manner.

R. C. H. A. at Napanee.

The Royal Canadian Horse Artillery hockey team will be the attraction at the Arena this (Friday) evening, and a fast game will be the result. This team is faster than the Granites, and the locals will have to travel some to get the decision. The puck will be faced at 8.15 sharp.

Bay of Quinte Schedule.

Owing to the fact that Picton has dropped out of the league, the schedule of the first half has been revised as follows, and all who wish to preserve the dates should cut this List out and save it for future reference:

Jan. 7—Point Anne at Kingston.
13—Kingston at Napanee.
16—Napanee at Point Anne.
20—Kingston at Point Anne.
24—Napanee at Kingston.
28—Point Anne at Napanee.

Point Anne 6, Kingston 2.

The first game in the Bay of Quinte Hockey League was played at Kingston on Wednesday evening, when Point Anne defeated the young Irishmen by a score of 6-3. The game was very fast and clean, with very few penalties. Both teams showed good condition, but the Kingston boys lacked team work. Following is the line-up:

Goal Umpires—H. Fayne and S. Agrove.

Timekeepers—E. R. Abbott, H. Genereaux and C. Boyle.

Referee—E. G. Hudgins, Napanee.

Young Irishmen at Napanee.

The first scheduled game at Napanee in the Bay of Quinte Hockey League will take place on Tuesday evening next, January 13th, when Percy Millan and his puckchasers from the Kingston City will endeavor to take a fall out of Napanee. The Irishmen are stronger this year than ever, and will be accompanied by that famous defence player, Lloyd Brown. Brown has not been in the game for a couple of years, but is coming back to help the Irishmen. The Napanee boys are going to the front and have a forward line that will be hard to beat in this league. They are better than ever and the boys fully expect to be in the running for the cup this season. There will likely be a bumper house, so be on hand early and secure a good seat.

CURLING.

On Monday evening four scheduled games were played at the rink and resulted as follows:

M. Taylor	15	P. Gleeson	11
J. Preslan	10	F. Bell	10
J. G. Daly	11	W. Smith	10
H. Lapum	12	F. Vanalstine	7

After three games were finished about eighty-five members gathered at the Falsley House and enjoyed an oyster supper, provided by the President's rinks, who were defeated by the Vice-President's rinks on New Years Day.

Messrs. Aubrey C. Pringle and Reg. Wiseman each delighted the assemblage with two vocal selections, after which Mr. Pringle led the audience in several songs appertaining to curling. Mr. W. C. Smith then delighted those present by rendering his famous "Mule Song".

Mr. Storey's orchestra furnished excellent music during the supper, and also later in the evening, which was greatly enjoyed.

The evening was brought to a close by singing "God Save the King".

A SURPRISE PARTY

On New Years Eve there assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, Kingsford, a surprise party, consisting of the friends and neighbours of Mr. James Russell. Mr. James Russell was leaving for Stirling, where he has obtained a position in the Bank, and the party was hastily organized to give him a hearty send-off. After some preliminary dancing and music, the Rev. James Hutton, Incumbent of Selby, made a humorous speech, expressing the good will and best wishes of the community, and Mr. John Gibson, on behalf of the assembled guests, presented Mr. Russell with a well filled purse.

Mr. Russell made a short but appropriate reply, thanking all for the good wishes and for the tokens of their regard which they had given him. After more dancing, supper was served, and at 2 a.m. the party broke up.

On New Years Day Mr. James Russell left Napanee station bound for Stirling. He carries the good will of all who know him with him, and we all join in wishing him every success and prosperity.

"Yes, grandma, I am to be married during the bright and gladsome yuletide."

"But, my dear," said grandma, carefully, "you are very young. Do you feel that you are fitted for married life?"

"I am being fitted now, grandma," explained the prospective bride sweetly. "Seventeen gowns!"

THE LATE GORDON STOREY

A great deal of concern had been felt for the last three weeks in the illness of Mr. Gordon Storey, a citizen of the town for the last ten years, and who has been fighting for his life ever since he was taken with pneumonia three weeks ago. Mr. Storey had a specially strong constitution and relatives from Belleville, Bath, Newburgh and Mountain Grove, show what a wide circle of friends he had formed in a comparatively short lifetime.

Mr. Storey was a diligent and conscientious workman, a faithful and devoted husband and father. He will be greatly missed by his fellow workmen, among whom he was a great favourite, but especially by his wife, who is suffering severely from the shock, and by the little daughter.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Constance Talmadge has finished her first period comedy-drama, "THE DANGEROUS MAID". This is a thriller of old England in the time of King James II., which has just been released through First National. Also a good Comedy.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

One Show Only, at 8 O'clock. A 12-Reel Special.

The story of "CHU CHIN CHOW" is founded on the age-old theme of Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, which has come down through the mists of antiquity in Arabian legend and was presented to a wondering western world by Burton in his translation of The Thousand and One Arabian Nights. Special Orchestral Music each night. Admission: Children 20c. (Tax extra); Adults 30c. (Tax extra).

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Buck Jones, veteran of a thousand dangerous adventures in war and peace and Fox photoplay, just once lost his nerve—his acting nerve or self-control. It was during the making of his new starring vehicle, "AGAINST ALL ODDS". Also a good Fox Comedy.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Samuel Hughes.

Mrs. Samuel Hughes, nee Eliza Jane Doupe, died on January 7th, at the age of 57 years. Born in Camden township, a daughter of the late Samuel and Susanna Doupe, she was well and favourably known in her early home neighborhood, and also for the past twenty-one years in Robertsville, Until a comparatively recent period she was able to perform her daily duties, but the disease eventually conquered and died peacefully passed away confident of a happy meeting with her Saviour in that glorious place He has prepared for his followers.

Mrs. Hughes was of a kindly and sympathetic disposition. She lived for others. Wherever illness or distress of any kind appeared she was ready with her practical aid and cheerful service. Her ministrations were quietly performed. It was not the praise of humanity she wanted, but the approval of her Master for her benefactions were done as unto Him. She was a highly esteemed member of Robin Methodist Church, and a generous supporter of the Woman's Missionary Society. The Sunday's love was uppermost in her thought on that last Sunday spent on earth as indicated in her choice of hymns to sung and scripture read, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing"; "Love to Tell the Story"; "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling", and Luke 23:30-38.

Besides her sorrowing husband she leaves to mourn her loss, one surviving sister, Anna, and three brothers, Joseph, Samuel and Jacob Doupe, of Centreville.

The funeral service in Robin Methodist Church, on January 8th, was very impressive. The church was filled by relatives and friends. The Choir rendered appropriate selections, preached from the text, Hebrews 2:14. The remains were taken to Centreville cemetery, the next spring will be interred in Camden Vicinity. -

Mrs. Chas. Stevens.

Angelina Molyneux, beloved wife of Mr. Chas. Stevens, passed away quite suddenly on Sunday evening, January 4th, 1925, but a short time with pneumonia, and despite the best of care the disease could not be checked. Mrs. Stevens was an indefatigable worker in Grace Church, always willing to give of her talents and means to further the good work. In the W. C. T. U. she will be greatly missed as she was an ardent supporter of the cause of temperance and moral reform, to assist those in need. Besides her husband she leaves eight children and step-children, who were all home before she passed away. The children are Messrs. George, Harry, Percy, Chas. J., of Milwaukee; W. O., of Friendship, Ill.; Clayton A., of Buffalo; Miss Ada, at home; Miss Ethel, of Milwaukee, and Miss Marion, of Toronto, and Mrs. R. C. Hall, of Napanee. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from the family residence, Bridge street west, on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. Services were held at Grace Church and interment at Riverview cemetery.

William Light.

On New Years Eve, at his home on Dundas St., Mr. William Light passed away suddenly. Mr. Light had been ailing for about three weeks, but his death was entirely unlooked for, and came as a surprise to all who knew him.

The late Mr. Light was a son of the late Robert Light, who was the founder of the Light Lumber Company, which for so many years has been an active business in the town. For years and until his death the father had with him in the business his two sons, Mr. Joseph Light and the late William Light. On the death of the father the two sons carried on the business until two years ago when the partnership was dissolved, Joseph taking over the sole control, and William retired from active life.

The late Mr. Light is survive the deceased, his brother Joseph, and two sisters, Jean and Priscilla, who together reside at the homestead.

The funeral service was held on Jan. 2nd from his late residence, Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, of St. Mary Magdalene Church, of which the deceased was a member, officiating.

The Late Wm. Fretz.

The death occurred in Montreal on Saturday, January 10th, 1925, of William Fretz, former Napanee resident. Mr. Fretts, who was known to his many friends as "Billy", was employed for a number of years by the late M. S. Mudale. Hardware merchant. He left for Montreal a number of years ago, and has resided there ever since. He deceased, who was 44 years of age, leaves many friends in Napanee to regret his passing. The funeral service was held on Tuesday from the undertaking parlors of Masters & Tierney to Trinity Methodist Church, Rev. A. J. Terrill officiating. The remains were placed in Riverside vault.

Mrs. T. M. Rutherford.

The death occurred Tuesday, Jan. 13th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Robinson, Dundas street, of Margaret Rutherford, beloved wife of Mr. Thos. M. Rutherford, of Belleville. Deceased, who had reached the ripe old age of 74 years, had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Robinson, for some time, Mr. Bert Rutherford, since Christmas, returning home for a short time, after which the remains were taken to Belleville cemetery for interment.

HOCKEY.

Napanee 8, R. C. H. A. 4.

The Napanee hockey team entertained the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery team, of Kingston, at the Arena on Friday evening in an exhibition game of hockey, before a fairly large crowd of spectators. The game was not as fast as that of a week ago, and the locals had an easy time of it. The score at the end of the first period was a little more exciting, Napanee scoring 2, while Kingston got 1. In the third period the boys from the east tried hard but two counters were all they could get, while the locals were trying out subs, and not extending themselves.

Mr. Geo. T. Walters referred the game in his usual satisfactory and efficient manner.

Following is the line-up:

Kingston—Goal, Mullette; defence, M. Pugh and Mellow; right wing, R. Pugh; centre, Warmington; left wing, Myke; subs., Lesage, Smith, Haines, Daybell, McKintosh.

Napanee 5, Irishmen 2.

The first game on local ice this season in the Bay of Quinte League was staged at the Arena on Tuesday evening, when the young Irishmen, of Kingston, were defeated by a score of 5-2, in one of the fastest and cleanest games of hockey played in Napanee in years. The game was an hour late in starting, owing to the fact that the Kingston team, travelling by motor, did not arrive here until nearly 9 o'clock, and the large crowd that had gathered in the arena were very patient in waiting so long.

Play started with Napanee in possession of the puck and shortly after the face-off Johnston scored with a pretty shot that completely fooled Tobin. In short order the visitors evened the score, but this condition remained only a few minutes when Merrill put Napanee one ahead, and the audience breathed easier.

The third goal for the locals was scored by Naphin on one of the best plays of the evening, when he faked a pass and succeeded in eluding the defence, netting Tobin out of the goal and landed the puck in an empty net. It was a pretty piece of hockey and received a great hand from the fans. Bell rang for this end of the period, Napanee leading by 4-1.

The second period brought out some splendid hockey and both teams worked hard to score, but were unsuccessful. McNeill and Merrill combined in pretty time, but the shot on goal was turned aside. In this period the home work was splendid. When the Kingston forward line broke down the ice they were checked hard and the local forwards would take fast, two and three abreast, but were unable to score.

Each team scored one in the third, Merrill getting his second one on a pretty play by Bentley, and the game ended 5-2 in favor of Napanee.

From mid ice centre ice the locals played some of the brightest and fastest games seen here in years. Harry Bentley, goal, turned shots aside from all angles, while Fred Bentley and Buck Hudgins in the defence, gave Harry Millan and his mates-to-be some of the busiest nights they have had in many moons. The forwards were in fine fettle, Naphin, Johnston, McNeill, Merrill and Huffman, keeping the fans on their toes throughout the game by their passing, back-checking and general first-class hockey.

For the visitors, Purdy, at centre, played an excellent game. Terry Millan, on the wing, was also closely watched by Naphin to be effective, and when he did get through he met his Waterloo when he reached the defence, where Bentley or Hudgins would lean him off into the corner and the chance for a shot was gone.

Mr. A. V. Barnes, of Belleville, referred the game in fine style, and gave general satisfaction.

Following is the line-up:

Kingston—Tobin, goal; Bellringer, (c.); Angrove, Ld.; Millan, r.w.; Purdy, c.; Lamont, l.w.; subs., Lawless, Collins.

Napanee—Babcock, goal; Bentley, (c.); Hudgins, Ld.; Johnston, r.w.; Merrill, c.; Naphin, l.w.; subs., Huffman, McNeill, Chambers.

Napanee at Point Anne.

The locals journey to Point Anne this (Friday) evening to play a scheduled game there. The Point Anne team defeated Napanee last week and the team that wins to-night's game will lend the league. A number of supporters are going with the boys, leaving Napanee on the 5 o'clock train.

SUING URBAN SNIDER FOR $5,000.

Cunningham & Smith, Solicitors, acting for Percy Clarke, aged sixteen years, who was shot on the evening of October 31st, 1924, in the Village of Odessa, have entered an action at the Court House, to recover damages amounting to $5,000, from Urban Snider, general merchant, at Odessa.

Although both the plaintiff and the defendant reside in the County of Lennox and Addington, it has been decided that the case will be heard in Napanee at the next sitting of the Supreme Court of Ontario. The legal documents have already been filed with the local Clerk of the Court.

It will be remembered that Percy Clarke, in company with a number of other boys from the village, went out on Hallowe'en night for the purpose of making the rounds of the village. They visited the home of Urban Snider, and while near the back door of his home, Clarke was shot. The bullet entered the front of his body, going through his lung and lodging in the back. At first it was feared he would die, but due to the skill of the doctors treating him at the Napanee General Hospital, his life was saved, and he was able to proceed home ten days after the accident.

ST. ANDREW'S WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church was held in the Sunday School room on Friday afternoon, at 3.30, with a large attendance, several new members being enrolled.

The meeting opened with singing and prayer, and the reading of the Psalm for the season by Mrs. Howitt. Mrs. Kelly dedicated the offering, and Mrs. Volkman very sweetly sang "The Ninety and Nine." The Study Book this year is "The Planting of the Faith," and a paper on the chapter "Central India" was read by Mrs. Laughland.

Then in well chosen words, Mrs. J. M. Taennion spoke of Mrs. Corkill's splendid work as President for several years, and as a token of appreciation, asked her to accept a lovely bouquet of red carnations, which Mrs. Galt presented, and which Mrs. Corkill graciously acknowledged. The meeting closed with singing, prayer, after which a cup of tea was served and a social hour spent.

The officers for 1925 are:

NEWBURGH

Miss Welbanks reports a supply of new books at the Public Library. This will be good news for the many patrons of the library.

At the mid-week service in the Union Church on June 9th, some very fine views of the Rockies were shown from lantern slides, Mrs. Mickle giving the lecture of explanation. At the next meeting, Jan. 22nd, a debate is to be given.

Anniversary services were held in Wesley Church on Sunday last, the Rev. Mr. Merriam, of Enterprise, being the preacher for the day. A number from the village drove out to assist in the services. In the absence of the regular organist, Miss Marguerite Wartman acted in that capacity. A large crowd was present at each service, which were enjoyable and profitable.

On Thursday evening, January 8th, the girls of the C. G. I. T. gave a banquet in the basement of the church. A number of members from Napanee were in attendance to listen to an address given by Miss Allison, General Secretary of the Society.

Mr. Mrs. Archie Caton are enjoying the company of their grandchildren, Bud and Grace, for a couple of months.

Miss Leah Ramsay spent the week-end in Napanee.

Mrs. McG. of Centreville; Mrs. Shane, of Desmond; Mrs. Milligan and Mrs. Gerow, of Newburgh, were entertained by Mrs. Hill on Tuesday of this week.

On Monday evening, Jan. 12th, fifty five of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bray's friends met at the parsonage and surprised them with a very pleasant shower. Refreshments were served, after which Mr. Bray expressed their joy at having their friend's with them and thanked them for the manifestation of good wishes. After prayer and the singing of a number of hymns the gathering went on their way, feeling the evening had been profitably spent.

Miss Ruttan is visiting with Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins this week.

Miss Mitchell, of Queen's, was home over Sunday.

Two public meetings each week are held in the Free Methodist Mission Hall; Wednesday and Friday evening.

A UNIQUE RE-UNION

For the first time in fifteen years the four Bell brothers, sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bell, of Napanee, were united for the Christmas holidays. The brothers are: Elwell B. Bell, of Belleville, Ont.; Wellington E. Bell, of Regina, Sask.; Rev. E. Frazer Bell, of Madison, Wisconsin, and Rev. Aylsworth B. Bell, of Elkhorn, Wisconsin.

The re-union was planned by the two brothers in Wisconsin, and, all the four brothers, with their families, sat down for Christmas dinner at the Manse of the Rev. E. Frazer Bell, of Madison. The brothers were together during the entire week and all motored to Elkhorn for New Years dinner, at the Manse of Rev. Aylsworth B. Bell.

All four boys were born and raised on the farm near Masonville, in Addington County. They are all in splendid health and enjoyed this happy reunion, after so many years of separation. The two sisters, Mrs. George Campbell, and Mrs. E. J. May, of Watrous, Sask., could not be present for the re-union.

One of the pleasant phases of the re-union was the fact that the brothers, who came from Canada and had not seen one another for several years, were each in turn surprised on reaching Madoc to find that the other was there.

The boys sang old songs and exchanged reminiscences of past days spent on the old farm home at Desmond, and agreed to try and celebrate Christmas together next year if they were all living.

OBITUARY

Mr. R. L. Gilbert.

There passed to rest on Tuesday, Dec. 23rd, Mr. R. L. Gilbert, born in Ernestown, March 13th, 1847.

He suffered a stroke just a week before he died; also one seven years ago, which left him in a feeble condition.

The late Mr. Gilbert was a life long resident of Ernestown, except a few manhood years spent in sailing vessels. He was a very active member of the Masonic Order for forty years. As it was always his desire to have a Masonic service for his remains, his wish was fulfilled. He was a Methodist in religion and attended the Union church until disabled.

His wife predeceased him three years ago. A sister of the deceased died in November, of the same trouble. His funeral was conducted on Friday, Dec. 26th, from his late residence, by the Rev. S. Dixon, of Odessa. The remains were taken to Fernwood's vault, to await interment in the Union cemetery. The floral tributes were very beautiful Masonic emblem of roses from Prince Arthur Lodge, Odessa, and wreath of roses from son.

Winter Care of Batteries.

When laying your car up for the winter do not leave your battery in a partly discharged condition, as this is very injurious to your battery. Bring it in to us and we will keep it charged for you and return it in good condition in the spring. It will add to the life of your battery to have it dry stored. Ask us about this treatment. Batteries will be called for in town without extra charge.

Address and Presentation

On New Years Eve the members of the Methodist Choir met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bongard, Mrs. Bongard being a very popular member of the choir. She proved herself a good hostess, and a most enjoyable time was spent until about 12 p.m., when a sumptuous repast was partaken of, after which the company was called to order and the following address was read by George Woodley, leader of the choir, and Mr. and Mrs. Bongard were presented with a most beautiful brass jardiniere by the Organist, Miss Hazel Hart.

To Mr. and Mrs. Bongard.

Dear Friends,—We, the members of the Yarker Choir wish to express to you our appreciation of the service you have rendered to our Choir and the many happy times spent in your company while you have lived here in our midst. We learned with regret of your removal to Picton, and hope that you may find true and loyal friends to share your joys. We cannot help but regret the loss of such good friends, and in kind remembrance of your service and friendship we ask you to please accept this little token on this New Years Eve, and hope you and your family may be spared to see many more happy years. Signed on behalf of the members of the Choir by

GEO. WOODHOUSE.

Mrs. Bongard replied in a few well chosen words her appreciation of the kindness shown to her, and the company broke up, wishing each one a Happy New Year.

SILVER WEDDING.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kimmerly, on the evening of December 26th, when a number of their friends gathered to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion in Xmas array, and also the tea table, which was laden with the wedding cake and other good things to eat.

The evening was spent in social intercourse, recalling events of bygone days. The happy couple received many beautiful presents and congratulations from friends far and near.

The friends departed at a late hour wishing the wedded pair might be spared many more years of happy life together and celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

In a rural court the old squire had been ruling so unfair that three young lawyers at once protested against such miscarriage of justice. The squire immediately fined each of the lawyers $5 for contempt of court.

There was silence, and then an older lawyer walked slowly to the front of the room and deposited a $10 bill on the desk. He then addressed the judge as follows :

"Your Honor, I wish to state that I have twice as much contempt for this court as any man in the room."

TOWN COUNCIL

Council Chambers,
Napanee, Jan. 12th, 1925.

The inaugural meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. W. A. Grange, Town Clerk, read his declaration of the election, and the members present made same and their declarations and took their seats.

Mr. A. MacGregor, the retiring Mayor, welcomed Mayor-elect Ming, and congratulated him on his election to the Mayor's chair.

Mayor Ming expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him and also voiced his confidence that the members of the Council would assist in the harmonious conduct of the town's business.

The following Standing Committees were selected for the ensuing year :

Finance—A. MacGregor, J. M. Simpson, M. P. Graham.

Streets—M. P. Graham, W. J. Jewell, E. J. Roy.

Fire, Water and Light—J. M. Simpson, M. P. Graham, W. H. Dunbar.

Printing and By-Laws—E. J. Roy, Wm. Howitt, A. MacGregor.

Town Property—W. J. Jewell, A. MacGregor, J. M. Simpson.

Market and Police—W. H. Dunbar, E. J. Roy, Wm. Howitt.

Poor and Sanitary—Wm. Howitt, W. H. Dunbar, W. J. Jewell.

Steve Graham asked to be excused from taking the chairmanship of the Streets Committee, but the Council earnestly requested that he continue in that position, as Mr. Graham has been the most satisfactory Chairman of Streets the town has had in years. The Reeve finally consented to carry on for the ensuing year.

The Finance Committee, the Mayor, the Clerk and Treasurer to meet the members of the Court of Revision.

On motion the Council adjourned until 7.30 p.m.

Council Chambers,
Napanee, January 12th, 1925.

Council met on Monday evening as per adjournment, Mayor Ming presiding.

Members present—Reeve Graham, and Councillors Simpson, Dunbar, Roy, Jewell, Howitt and MacGregor.

Rev. A. J. Terrill opened the session with prayer, after which he congratulated His Worship on his election to office.

Councillor MacGregor moved a vote of thanks to Rev. Mr. Terrill for his assistance in opening the evening session, which was seconded by Reeve Graham, and the same was tendered to the reverend gentleman by Mayor Ming.

Mayor Ming's Address.

Napanee, January 12th, 1925.

Gentlemen of the Council :

We are starting another municipal year, and I wish to take this opportunity of congratulating you upon your return to the Council, and to express my pleasure that so able and experienced a Council has been elected to carry on the Corporation work for 1925.

It would appear from a perusal of the Treasurer's statement that the debenture debt has been reduced, and that the whole Corporation liability is now $50,000 less than it was a year older that we now own our Water Works plant and that it is in a most efficient condition and that the greater part of the remaining debentures are Water, Light and Sewage debts and walks, and that these local improvements now extend pretty well over the whole town, we should congratulate ourselves on our healthy financial condition.

I understand that there are a few new walks that should be constructed this year, and I would recommend if the Streets Committee would early this spring make a report upon this work.

It has been remarked very often the past year that our highways are in a splendid condition and compare very favorably with any municipality in the Province. No doubt the fine condition of our roads has been brought about by the foresight of the Council in past years, in giving them a proper coating of liquid asphalt. It will in all probability be necessary to re-surface the roads with asphalt this year and the Clerk will receive your consideration. We are proud of the fine residences we have, and trust they are a great asset to the citizens, and I trust we will be able to maintain the high standard of our schools without making their maintenance too much of a burden upon the ratepayers.

Our tax rate appears to be much higher than in years ago, but it does not appear nearly so high as it appears, however that our rate of about 40 mills on the dollar will be increased by over 50 per cent. in a few years.

The Standing Committees have been struck and I trust that the several Committees will keep the members of their Committees in touch therewith any work that is to come before them.

Yours truly,
EDWARD MING,
Mayor.

Steve Graham, on behalf of the Council, congratulated Mayor Ming for his address, and moved that the Council would accept it as information, which was seconded by Councillor Jewell, and the vote of thanks was tendered to His Worship by Ex-Mayor MacGregor.

Communications.

Communications from the Ontario Municipal Association, Normans, and The Municipal World, Stt. Thomas, were ordered filed.

A communication was received from The Sick Children's Hospital, asking for a grant to that institution for 1925, the motion in the matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication from The Lincoln Oil Co., Ltd., St. Catharines, asking for the privilege of quoting on oil for the streets, was referred to the Streets Committee.

Communications were received from Wm. Hudson and Germar Wagar, applying for position of Market Clerk for the ensuing year.

Reeve Graham informed the Council that there are a number of men in town who are out of work and they had asked him to open the quarry and allow them to break stone by hand. He also stated that the town would need a quantity of ballast during the coming summer and suggested that this material be drawn now on sleighs as a larger load could be hauled, and it also saved the surface of the town and county roads by having this teaming done in the winter.

Councillor MacGregor thought the plan was well taken in both cases, and moved that the Streets Committee be given power to open the quarry and get out what are unemployed, and also to have ballast drawn. This motion was seconded by—Councillor Dunbar, and carried.

Councillor Jewell informed the Council that a year ago the Town Property Committee had recommended the new roof and new cornice be put on the Town Hall. Nothing had been done and the building was badly in need of it.

Moved by Councillor Simpson, seconded by Councillor Roy, that the Town Property Committee be asked to look into the condition of the Town Hall and Fire Hall, and bring in an estimate of the cost of repairs needed. Carried.

Councillor Dunbar, Chairman of Market and Police, reported that his committee recommended the renting of the Market Scales and Tolls for the ensuing year, and that tenders be advertised for the same. On motion the report was adopted.

By-Laws.

The following by-laws were given their several readings, signed, sealed, numbered and finally passed :

Appointing Messrs. Wm. P. McLaughlin and Wilfrid S. Wilson as Auditors at a salary of $60.00 each, they to audit the books of the Corporation, Board of Education and Public Utilities Commission.

Adopting assessment of 1924 as the assessment on which the taxes for 1925 shall be levied.

Appointing Dr. D. B. Hall a member of the Board of Health.

Appointing Mr. J. C. Hayes a member of the Board of Education for a term of three years.

Appointing Mayor Ming, Reeve Graham and Councillors MacGregor Simpson and Jewell members of the Court of Revision for the year 1925.

Appointing W. S. Herrington, K.C., as Town Solicitor for the year 1925, his salary to be $100.00.

Making the following interim appropriations : Streets, $5000.00; Fire, Water and Light, $5000.00; Poor and By-Laws, $500.00; Town Property, $1000.00; Salaries, $1200.00; Interest, $12000.00; Poor and Sanitary, $500.00; Contingent, $1000.00.

Striking both court assessment at $15,000.00 for a term of ten years to Napanee Dairy Co., Ltd., commencing January 1st, 1925, the Clerk's assessment to except school rates and local improvement rates.

Moved by Councillor Dunbar, seconded by Councillor Simpson, that the account arrears of Fred. A. Perry, $35.00, for repairs to cement mixer, be left in the hands of the Town Solicitor for collection. Carried.

Accounts.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid :

A NEEDED NATIONAL POLICY.

TO DEFEND AND INSURE THE PRODUCTION OF OUR FORESTS.

As old Turkish proverb says that "an egg to-day is better than a chick to-morrow."

This is, in fact, the philosophy practised by some people seeking their own satisfaction, for they are living in search for the moment.

The individual instinct is to grasp everything handy; men are all Turks in this respect. But if in cultivating their instinct we should eat the eggs as they are laid, the provision of food would soon be exhausted.

For the general welfare as well as the individual good, it is wise to raise chicks so as to provide constant supply of eggs in the future.

Setting aside this concrete example and keeping to the general principle, the conclusion to draw is that it requires an indispensable intervention to counteract the disastrous results of this individual instinct, in order to protect the interest of the whole community.

This is the organic duty of the governments; which must adopt and follow a national policy, aiming to check individual appetites and apply discipline them, and to this end, regulate the exploitation of our nation-al riches so as to both insure profitable yield for the community and the conservation of such profits in the interest of our national future.

To govern does not simply mean to administer for to-day only, but it means also to provide, yes, above all, to provide!

The Honourable Mr. Taschereau is this very well inspired when, quite informed as to the current aims and purposes, foreseeing the cupidity of the unscrupulous upon our water powers, he puts public opinion on its guard against these dangers and, at the same time, offers the remedy to embargo against the exportation of electric power.

Mr. Lomer Gouin knew also how to be circumspect when he secured a vote prohibiting the exportation of raw wood cut from our Crown lands.

We desire to have our eyes a decisive proof of the wisdom of the international policy in the astonishing development of the pulp and paper industry in our province.

That policy has attained its purpose which is to favour and stimulate local productions through the means of this new and important share of profits for the community.

But, this excellent application of a vital principle is not yet completed, and it requires other extensions.

The question of supply debated not without acrimony, of an embargo on pulpwood from private lands, re-solved in a manner which is evident for those who do not forget the main principle of national production.

It is quite true that the decision in fact of provincial legislation on trade and commerce is a federal one, and have, however, as a Province, the right to demand in other ways to secure satisfaction.

Those who live upon this export trade do naturally think only of unrestricted working the way they have made easy for the chief of factories.

But it behooves us to protect the chicken so that it may later on supply us with eggs in abundance.

As to the individual rights of the private land owners, they have little to fear from this embargo because the sale of available prices is insured by the force of economic factors involved.

The United States, according to the statement of the Chief of its Forest Service, have consumed in 1922, for their paper requirements, nine millions cords of pulpwood, of which they could only supply five million cords from their own reserves.

It is estimated that about the middle of the twentieth century the United States will consume 15 million cords of pulpwood a year.

If our doors are left open to exports, the attraction of this formidable demand can have but one result: the pillage of our forests.

And again the individual will have but one thought: eat the eggs at once. The chicks will quickly disappear at this pace.

Whether the embargo is imposed or not, the United States cannot do otherwise than to get their supply in the pulp and paper from Canada; so there is nothing to fear regarding a possible decrease in the price of pulpwood.

The proprietors will, therefore, lose nothing financially by the embargo. The chicks thus prevented from coming into the brightness of day.

Where birds are singing gaily.
And flowers are bursting to bloom,
Where Ovens and circumflexes are sprightlier,
In place to the bright midday sun.

Though our hearts may be filled with sorrow
While friends seem so far away,
We never look out with gladness
To the dawn of a brighter day.

Then let us away with all worry,
And be ever content with our lot;
For He who allows us to barter
Would soon let our fires burn out.

So may we ever be thankful,
Tokre is God to whom we can go,
To comfort, to help and to cheer us
In the days when our fires burn low.

—Dolly Dune.

Feels Like Singing and Dancing Now

Thanks to the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills

Labrador Man Used Them For Backache and Urinary Troubles and Got Complete Relief.

Kegashka Bay, Labrador, Jan. 12th (Special).—"I feel it my bounding duty to write and tell you how grateful I am, to be able to tell you what a wonderful recovery I have had just by taking four boxes of your Dodd's Kidney Pills." So says Mr. J. Osborne, a well-known resident of this place.

"I used to get those gripping pains in my back and kidneys and was seriously inconvenienced with urinary troubles. I was advised by my friends to give your pills a trial, which I did, and Oh, gee, what a wonderful change came over me. I can now run and jump and perform all kinds of stunts and not an ache or a pain. Goodbye to weak kidneys. I feel like singing and dancing all the time. You are at liberty to use my letter which I know will help others to enjoy this wonderful change in life."

CONSOLATION.

When the days seem so dark and dreary,
As our lives are slipping away,
Don't think that God may lend us strength
To carry us through life's pathway.

Once again may we feel that the sun
Is shining down from heaven above,
That the clouds have rolled away,
That we have merged from the darkness of night,
Into the brightness of day.

Though our hearts may be filled with sorrow
While friends seem so far away,
We never look out with gladness
To the dawn of a brighter day.

Then let us away with all worry,
And be ever content with our lot;
For He who allows us to barter
Would soon let our fires burn out.

So may we ever be thankful,
There is God to whom we can go,
To comfort, to help and to cheer us
In the days when our fires burn low.

Feels Like Singing and Dancing Now

Thanks to the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills

Labrador Man Used Them For Backache and Urinary Troubles and Got Complete Relief.

Kegashka Bay, Labrador, Jan. 12th (Special).—"I feel it my bounding duty to write and tell you how grateful I am, to be able to tell you what a wonderful recovery I have had just by taking four boxes of your Dodd's Kidney Pills." So says Mr. J. Osborne, a well-known resident of this place.

"I used to get those gripping pains in my back and kidneys and was seriously inconvenienced with urinary troubles. I was advised by my friends to give your pills a trial, which I did, and Oh, gee, what a wonderful change came over me. I can now run and jump and perform all kinds of stunts and not an ache or a pain. Goodbye to weak kidneys. I feel like singing and dancing all the time. ICE CROP HARVESTING

Practical Methods Suggested for Farm Storage

Ice May Be Formed In Moulds—Artificial Ponds—How to Cut the Blocks—Loading and Packing—The Use and Abuse of Sawdust.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The ice crop every winter in Canada is an enormous one, and if it could be marketed in the cities for summer use, the revenue would amount to many millions of dollars. The farmers must rely upon the ponds, rivers and lakes close by for their supplies, as it has not been found profitable to ship ice by rail. In some sections ice is not available, as there are few if any bodies of water large and pure enough to freeze water to sufficient thickness. Farmers could make their own ice, weather permitting, by making a few ice moulds close to the well and gradually freezing them full, or by making a solid block of ice in a metal lined chamber by pumping into it a little water every day or so and allowing it to freeze solid. Twenty cakes of ice, each 18 inches square and 12 inches thick, would make a ton of ice as stored.

The Artificial Pond.

Still another method for manufacturing ice on the farm is to make an artificial pond where there is an abundant supply of water available from well or spring and the pumping is done by power or hydraulic ram. The area required to produce a ton of ice is not great, depending of course on the thickness of the ice. If the probable freezing will make ice 12 inches thick but thirty-five square feet of pond surface is required for each ton needed.

The usual method of harvesting the supply of ice for the farm is to cut it from some nearby pond, stream or lake and haul it home and store it in the ice house, or some form of enclosure where it will cover deep with dry sawdust. The source of ice should be free from contamination and clean of weeds and other vegetable matter.

Harvesting the Crop.

The method consists of the following operations:

(1) Cleaning off the snow, if any, by means of a suitable form of scraper. The snow is either dragged off to the shore or pulled into windrows, depending on the size of the area.

(2) Marking off the ice into squares or laying off the field. This operation should be done accurately in order to have blocks of equal size and cut straight and even to make handling and packing in the house as economical as possible. Success in this depends largely on getting the first line straight, and this can be done by stretching a line between two stakes and placing a straight edge board 12 or 14 feet long along the line, and marking the ice with hand tool or hand plough along the edge of the board. The board is moved along as the marking is done, piece by piece. After marking in one direction is completed it is necessary to establish a line across the area which is at right angles to the first direction. Probably the best way to start this is to run a carpenter's large square made of pieces of straight-edge boards 10 or 12 feet long, and tied across the corner to hold them fast at angle of 90°. Once the first line is marked straight and at right angles to the first line the rest can easily be marked off properly.

Cutting the Ice.

The ice is cut both ways by either a horse-drawn ice plough or a circular saw driven by a gasoline engine, the whole mounted on a sled pushed along by hand. The latter method of cutting is very satisfactory and is economical, when cutting is done on a large scale, as is the case with a large ice dealer or group of farmers harvesting their ice co-operatively. The ice field is usually cut in one direction with the machine and to a point two or three inches of the little path space as possible. One way are detached from the field in 22 inch lengths, and to a lesser extent in turnips, mangels, and rutabagas. The use of green feed in the ration is absolutely essential if the batchability of the egg and the vigor of the chick is to reach a high standard. Many poor hatches are had in winter and early spring are due to the hens getting but receiving the vitamine carrying green feeds. Sprout oats and let them grow four inches high under artificial control. Construct storage cellar or pits with turnips, mangels and cabbage, and let the breeding stock have all such green feed as they care to consume.—I. Stevenson, Director of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

GREEN FEED FOR POULTRY.

The Best Hatches Are Generally Due to the Vitamines In Grass, Cabbage, Sprouted Oats, Etc.

The old-time poultry man knew that it was necessary for the breeding birds to get outdoors during the hatching egg producing season, for the results were to be really favorable. Why the outdoor life made the difference he did not know, but we have learned since that the outdoor life had little to do with the batchability of the eggs. The success was due to what the hen ate while free outdoors. Green grass, clover, cabbage, lettuce, kale, sprouted oats carry the fat soluble Vitamine D, which is essential for fertility and hatchability of the egg and the utilization in the body of phosphates of lime, so essential in bone. The fat soluble Vitamine A is also present in all green foods, and to a lesser extent in turnips, mangels, and rutabagas. The use of green feed in the ration is absolutely essential if the batchability of the egg and the vigor of the chick is to reach a high standard. The Farm Water Supply.

There are two main sources, namely, well and spring (both hard water) and rain water (soft). Any one thinking of installing a modern water system and plumbing in his home should make sure that his water supply is both plentiful and safely protected from all possible sources of contamination. Water should not only be used daily under modern than under old conditions of service—about 30 gallons per person per day. Ask the O. A. College to assist you in solving the following problems in this matter of water supply. So says Prof. R. R. Graham:

1. How to increase the well and spring supplies of water.
2. How to safeguard these supplies from surface contamination.
3. How to make more use of the rain water that runs off.
4. How to get that fine spring water running through your house and barn and thus get rid of the hydrant-like rain near the spring.

THE INTERNAL PARASITE

Causes About Fifty Per Cent. of All Poultry Disease

How They Weaken the System—The Lye Treatment is Best—Tapeworm Troubles—Green Feed for Poultry—The Farm Water Supply.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Internal parasites are responsible either directly or indirectly for fifty per cent. of the poultry losses. This means that millions of dollars are lost each year through the presence of these undesirable creatures.

How Parasites Weaken the System.

Frequently autopsies of healthy birds reveal the presence of a considerable number of intestinal worms which have apparently, up to the time, not caused the bird any great physical harm. In many cases, however, birds become thin, emaciated and finally die. Heavily infested birds are much more susceptible to other diseases, as fowl cholera, tuberculosis, and roup. Practically all the nematodes infesting poultry have no intermediate host. Eggs passed with the droppings develop quickly if the soil of the poultry yard and the weather are favorable into the larval stage. These infective larvae are picked up by the fowls or other birds of the flock, and there finally develop within the intestinal tract, into mature worms. The cycle does on, more worms, more eggs, more worms, unless the poultry owner wakes up and decides to destroy the parasites that are sapping his profits. The destruction of the parasite is easy.

The Lye Treatment is Best.

A teaspoonful of concentrated lye mixed with each four quarts of water, and cooked slowly for two hours and allowed to cool. The birds are given their ordinary feed one morning, and then nothing else until the next morning, when they are given as much of the lye mixture as they will eat—but the water pan is filled. This treatment should be given twice during the summer. A four-week interval between treatments is essential, then removal of the birds to clean runs.

How to Deal With Tapeworms.

Cestodes or tapeworm infesting fowl differ from the nematodes or round worms in that they require an intermediate host to carry on their life cycle. It has been demonstrated that the Asian species of land slugs, worms and flies that may be found about poultry pens are intermediate hosts of the tapeworms that infest chickens. Those white, ribbon like, segmented worms can be successfully combatted with the lye treatment as given for round worms.

Sanitary precautions and rational treatment of the soil in the poultry yard is very essential in keeping tapeworm under control. Concealment of lye is cheap and effective. Why permit your profits to continue as a convenient host to profit producing parasites. The chickens cannot get rid of them themselves, so you must help them.—I. Stevenson, Director of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

The Best Hatches Are Generally Due to the Vitamines In Grass, Cabbage, Sprouted Oats, Etc.

The fat soluble Vitamine A is also present in all green foods, and to a lesser extent in turnips, mangels, and rutabagas. The use of green feed in the ration is absolutely essential if the batchability of the egg and the vigor of the chick is to reach a high power sex. When a small quantity of ice is harvested the cutting is done by saws.

Loading and Packing the Ice.

There are several devices used for loading the ice on the sleigh, wagon or ice truck, depending upon the amount of ice handled. The main object in this case is to get a mechanical outfit that is cheap, convenient to operate and which will save the handling of the ice by hand. A small boat, or a horse-power driven elevator answers very well.

It is advisable to store the ice on cold, dry days as it will be better for handling and will keep better after storage. The cakes should all be the same size, and be evenly cut, in order that they may be packed together so the little path space as possible. Any spaces should be filled with small pieces of ice. The more compact the mass of ice the better it will keep. In the loading platform and there cut up into blocks by a hand saw or by the chisel in case the field has been cut both ways by the ice plough or circular saw. When a small quantity of ice is harvested the cutting is done by saws.

GROWING THE WALNUT

A Tree That Is Desirable Both for Nut and Wood

Southwestern Ontario Can Grow Them—The Walnut Tree Described—Plant Hardy Grafted or Budded Stock—Best Varieties for Ontario.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Ontario grown, soft shell walnuts of excellent quality have been produced in the Niagara Peninsula. A few trees have given good crops for thirty years or more. The number of producing trees that we know of now is 165, and there are located in a district fifty miles long and twenty miles wide, as said tree here and there in the dooryard or the orchard of well kept premises. Trees are fruiting as far east as Clarkson on the north shore of Lake Ontario.

Southwestern Ontario Can Grow Nuts.

The Niagara Peninsula and the counties bordering Lake Erie have a climate more favorable to production of the soft shell walnut than certain districts in Europe where nuts are grown to take care of the local market demand. There are large areas of deep, rich soil in the district north of Lake Erie and to the Niagara river and west to the Detroit river that will produce large crops of walnuts, and Japanese Heart Nuts. Why not begin the $5,000,000 at home? There is satisfaction in saving money, and there is more satisfaction in getting it for home from abroad. Better to spend the full development of the Walnut Tree described.

The walnut tree, when dormant, will stand heavy frosts in midwinter, but it will not stand late spring or early autumn frosts. Avoid regions where frosts are during the period April 20th to October 10th almost invariably be considered. The soil, shall walnut grows to be a very large tree, is on the deep, top-rooted type, hence the soil must be deep enough and rich enough to support a big tree. A good surface soil of clay loam or sandy loam that is underlaid by a deep, porous, sandy subsoil in which the water table is below fifteen feet, is the best. Soils, cold and moist, but not wet, will produce the finest specimen trees in a short time. Heavier, sandy, gravelly and clay loams, and succeeding in proportion as these soil types lack depth for root room, plant food and moisture.

Use Hardy Grafted or Budded Stock.

To be successful the walnut tree must be a vigorous grower, of a variety that blossoms moderately late, a self-pollinator, and it must yield an abundant annual crop of desirable nuts. These factors are best obtained by planting hardy grafted or budded stock. The native black walnut has the hardy and vigorous characteristics, it is a poor dessert nut, and the system for a soft shell English walnut. But you start by growing seedling black walnuts up to a size suitable to graft. Three-eighths of an inch in the does very well, then whip graft a scion obtained from a hardy soft shell tree, making an entirely new top. The black walnuts for seedlings can be planted in the autumn or spring. If kept until spring lay away in cold, moist sand. Plant the seed with the pointed end up, two inches deep in good garden soil. Keep the soil well raked and free from weeds. The little trees will be large enough for grafting at the end of the second season, or when growth is started the following spring. The grafting of the walnut offers more difficulties than apple grafting, requiring greater care. The favorable conditions are essential to success; fully dormant wood for scions, the cambium of stock and scion must be brought into exact contact, the work must be done as the leaf buds of the tree to be grafted on are unfolding, a condition that varies with individual trees. The cut surfaces of the stock and scion must be held and protected by tape and wax, the entire scion should be waxed over, the scion wood should be secured two or three weeks before required and kept in cold, moist sand. The scion wood should be firm and have a very small pith cavity. Both seedling and grafted trees usually bear at eight years.

Best Varieties for Ontario.

The Japanese Walnut or Heart Nut will stand lower temperature than the Soft Shell English Walnut. It, too, is of good quality and easy to crack. A tree planted twelve years ago at Scotland, Ontario, gave two bushels of nuts in the fourth year last year. Some of the older English soft shell trees in the Niagara Peninsula have yielded as high as twelve bushels of nuts in a single season. A few soft shell walnut trees will prove value, beauty and usefulness to any farmstead.—I. Stevenson, Department of Horticulture, O. A. C., Guelph.

If a little flour paste, say a pint to each pailful, is added to the whitewash used on the inside of the poultry house it will stick better and look well longer, adding half an ounce of carbolic acid to each pailful will also hold insect enemies in check.

BEATS ANY BURGLAR ALARM

Exceedingly Unlikely That Thieves Will Ever Rifle the National Treasury of Annam.

A Frenchman returned with an account of a singular national treasury in Annam. If the story is true—and it presents no essential improbability—the treasury is in no danger of robbery and is destined to become famous.

Now, in Annam iron safes of good resisting power are for the most part unknown, and, unfortunately, adroit thieves are not. To defend his most costly treasures the native ruler had to resort to some means in harmony with the natural circumstances of the country.

Armed guards he could not fully trust. Animals do not steal money, and nature had supplied the ruler with a creature that could not be wheedled nor killed except with a great deal of trouble. The crocodile is such an animal. The ruler would have the crocodile guard his specie reserve.

Yet to avail himself of the services of the crocodile he must keep his money in a place where crocodiles are at home. Nothing was more simple. In the interior of his palace the ruler caused to be constructed a large tank or basin, which he kept filled with water. Then he took several teak logs, which he had bored with holes, and into these he put his specie reserve of gold and silver. The holes were closed up and the logs put into the tank.

Then some crocodiles of the largest and fiercest description were installed in the tank and maintained there—not being fed, however, with such a superfluity as to interfere with their natural ferocity. Any person who should undertake to reach the treasure-laden logs would surely be eaten by the crocodiles. And any one who should undertake to put the saurians out of the way would have to make noise enough to attract the attention of the human guards and of the ruler himself, for he, by Annam custom, is required to remain very closely in his palace.

At any rate the royal crocodile treasury has never been robbed—and it cannot burn.

Woman "Called" Enver Pasha.

Enver Pasha, the most autocratic and arrogant of the committee of union and progress, was obliged to listen to the protests of Turkish women against the large number of casualties in the Dardanelles and Bagdad campaigns. He called together the bereaved mothers and reminded them that their sons were among the faithful in paradise, and that they should be proud and pleased to be the mothers of such brave patriots.

One poor mother, bent with age and beyond caring for herself, dared to cry back to the man more feared by Turk than Christian alike than anyone else in the empire: "Murshallah, effendi (May it please God, your excellency), that your mother may soon have this same pride and pleasure that we have."—Barnett Miller, in Asia.

The Robinson Co., Limited, Napanee

A Word of Appreciation

An old year has just closed, a new fiscal year lies just ahead. Now is the time when all of us are "taking stock" of ourselves and of our friends, looking backward even as we look ahead, in order that we may draw from our experiences of the past years whatever profit they may hold to guide us in the new. Into your thoughts now must come thoughts of us—even as into our thoughts and plans you come.

It is customary for a store to publish a gracious note of thanks at New Years time. But no one such statement could adequately convey the full measure of our gratitude. Without your help, your confidence, your encouragement, we could not have put this store as it is in the limelight as one of the greatest merchandising stores of the Province.

Only by seeking out new ways to serve you, added ways in which to further our usefulness to our community, can we possibly convey the fulness of our appreciation. To show this appreciation is our promise for the new year, whatever shall be within our power we shall do, to continue to deserve your enthusiasm and your support.

Service to co-workers, to patrons, to the community at large, is The Robinson Co. Store dedicated. Service and Stocks—for without the latter the former is impossible. Large stocks, rich stocks, that have all the variety and resource of a great store. And its prices are the same as any other store, often lower, but never higher, for equally good merchandise.

The First of Our Great Merchandising Events is Our January "Stock-Removal" Sale which is in full progress to-day, and which will continue through every business day to and including Saturday, January 24th.

This Sale is recognized far and wide as the outstanding Winter Sale of this community. Outstanding because it enables you to purchase merchandise and furnishings for your home, as well as wearables for yourself and family, at prices not possible during any other season in the year.

Every Department has a line-up of values, which when valued collectively would represent many thousands of dollars. Our Sale Prices are open to each and all. We invite your patronage.

Chicken Lice and Mites.

The presence of lice and mites indicates indifference, or you simply don't care. Lice and mites lower the vitality of the birds, making them more susceptible to colds, roup and other diseases. Mites are killed by spraying the house inside, paying particular attention to the roosts and nesting boxes, saturating well with an oily fluid. A mixture of kerosene and spent oil from the auto crank case does very well and is not expensive. For lice use sodium fluoride — one ounce to a gallon of warm water. Dip the chickens, saturating feathers and skin. Do this on a warm bright day. During cold weather use the sodium fluoride as a dusting powder, placing small quantities at the points most frequented.—L. Stevenson, Director of Extension, Ontario Agricultural College.

ALARMED AT DREAD DISEASE

Spread of Sleeping Sickness Threatens Entire World, According to Scientists of Prominence.

Sleeping sickness, called encephalitis lethargica by the doctors, seems now to have become a domestic evil, says the Medical Journal (New York), in quoting a study of this formerly rare disease by Doctor Llermitte in a French medical journal.

It appears that the disease is epidemic all over the world and that it manifests itself in many forms, the only symptom possessed by all in common being that of deep and prolonged sleep.

In true encephalitis lethargica there are four cardinal symptoms—ocular paralyses, hypersomnia, fever and the general state. The ocular paralyses may be absent at the outbreak of the disease, but once present they are characteristic. So, too, is the type of hypersomnia. It is a narcolepsy, but the subject does not arouse quickly, as in the condition which commonly goes by the name and in which the seizures may be only momentary. However, the permanent sleep may be preceded by narcoleptic crises.

Doctor Llermitte notes hypertension of the muscles and a state suggesting catalepsy. Tremors are often manifest; the temperature goes to 104 degrees F. He says a Wassermann test and examination of the spinal fluid should always be made.

Compensation for Dark Days.

"There are not many happinesses so complete as those that are snatched under the shadow of the sword." Some of life's brightest blossoms bloom along its hardest ways, and looking back on days of poverty, sickness and hardship we often see the choicest treasures of love and loyalty that we have ever known. Anyone may share our joys with us, but the one who shares our trials comes close in a friendship that will never be forgotten. An outsider, playing the merry attendants in a sickroom, cannot know how near to heaven its companionships often lie, nor what blessed bits of happiness are snatched under the shadow of the suspended sword. The dark days have their compensations.—Montreal Herald.

OLD FISH MARKET MUST GO

London's Famous Billingsgate Forced to Succumb to the Inexorable March of Time.

Billingsgate, London's old-time fish market, is about to move. The course of time and the modern difficulties of transport are responsible for the plan to remove to another site more easy of access, and in which space will not always be at a premium.

Billingsgate was the most important quay on the Thames in late Saxon times, and fish, among other things, was landed there. By the time of Edward I the market was fully established, and the king, who was a confirmed food controller, fixed a tariff of maximum prices. This list included one dozen best soles, 6 cents; best mullet, 4 cents; best haddock, 4 cents; best Thames or Severn lampreys, 8 cents; gallon of oysters, 4 cents, and best porpoise, 12 to 16 cents. The best fresh salmon, after Easter, were to be sold at four for $1.25. That was in the days when the Thames was full of salmon, and one could catch flounders and flatfish on a line dropped over London bridge. The water is still salty during high tide, but the sea fish do not come up any further than Gravesend, which is 20 miles lower down.

Varieties of Potatoes.

One potato may be big enough to provide a meal for a good-sized family. People in Virginia like them that way. In northern markets, however, the demand is for potatoes of a medium size. In Europe potatoes are grown of different kinds for different purposes. Certain varieties are raised for cooking and others for starch making and distilling. Over there they have a so-called "truck potato," which is not used for human food at all. It is very large and coarse of texture. The yield to the acre is twice the ordinary, and the tubers, being exceedingly rich in starch, are great alcohol producers.

Paderewski's Handshake.

It is stated that after the signing of the Austrian peace treaty in Paris, Paderewski, who represented Poland, shook hands with the other allied plenipotentiaries, using both hands for the operation. The celebrated pianist was not always so free with his magical hands. Some years ago, while shaking hands with a friend, his fingers came into contact with the lighted end of a cigar, and for a day or two he was unable to play. Thereupon he heavily insured each of his fingers, and to reduce the chances of such a happening again he made it a rigid rule not to shake hands with anyone.

Explained.

Henry's father was a golf enthusiast; therefore Henry knew all about the game. One time he was asked: "Henry, why is it that men that play golf always yell 'fore' instead of 'look-out' or some such thing?"

Henry thought for a second before an inspiration came from looking at his young sister, who was diligently getting her arithmetic.

"You see," he replied, "it takes too long to yell 'foot-foot,' and that sounds so much like 'two-two' that they just add them together and yell 'four.'"

The most widely advertised brands of Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil contain only 25 per cent. Cod Liver Oil. Howard's, which is much less in price, contains 50 per cent., and is therefore of double value. 25c., 60c. and $1.00 bottles, at Wallace's.

HEROINE OF 1701

Child's Splendid Bravery Handed Down in History.

How Madeleine Vercheres Saved the Settlement Is Told in Records of Frontier Days.

Madeleine Vercheres became known as "the heroine of Vercheres" in 1701 when she was but a child.

Vercheres was a small settlement in the wilderness near Montreal, which was founded by Madeleine's father, a Frenchman, and there the girl was born.

One beautiful summer day when Madeleine was only fourteen years old, everything seemed quiet and peaceful. There was no fear of danger, so the men of the settlement decided to go to Montreal for supplies. Only one soldier was left in the fort to defend the women and children against possible attack by the Indians.

Madeleine, who was a great lover of nature, strayed away from the fort and went down along the river for a walk alone. Suddenly Madeleine heard a sound which struck terror to her heart.

Turning hastily the little girl saw five Indians in war paint coming toward her. Madeleine ran toward the fort. A shower of bullets followed her and several arrows just missed her as she ran.

When Madeleine neared the fort she turned for another hasty look at the redskins. One had outdistanced the others, and was only a few feet from her. She could almost feel his breath upon her as she rushed on as fast as she could go. Just as Madeleine reached the gate of the fort the savage grabbed the handkerchief which was tied about her neck, but it came away and the Indian found himself clutching it instead of her throat.

The big gate swung open just in time, and Madeleine was safe on the inside.

"To arms!" she cried to two women who were standing near, but they were frightened that they became boys terrified immediately. Without stopping to calm them, Madeleine rushed to the mission, where the only man in the fort stood.

Seizing the musket, the plucky French girl fired a volley of shots at the Indians who had opened fire just outside the gate. By this time the soldier was firing a large gun at the redskins as fast as he could load and re-load it.

Then Madeleine conceived the idea which deceived the Indians into believing that several men—not just one man—were defending the fort. She stepped a military cane on her head and running back and forth on the parapet, she raised her head up here and there so that the Indians might see the cap. This convinced them that it was time to retreat, and the Indians turned and fled into the woods, leaving there were many soldiers in the fort.—Mark Stuyvesant in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cotton in South Africa.

Cotton growing in South Africa is expected to make great developments in the near future. Experts estimate that there are four million acres or good soil available in the Transvaal Swaziland and Zululand, which would yield annually and solve the unemployed problem. The industry has made great strides since 1909, when the crop totaled 12,000 pounds of lint. The present season's crop, given average conditions, is estimated at 2,000,000 pounds. Sir George Buchanan, the former cotton-fabrication expert, told a Union government official recently that he had visited the cotton fields of Egypt, East Africa and other parts of the world, but had seen nothing to equal the soil and conditions of many portions of South Africa. For cotton-growing, he said, the soil was good, the climate perfect, labor cheap, and the rainfall suitable, and he was amazed at the high possibilities of the industry in the Union. Co-operative concerns have decided to form a cotton exchange.

Trailer for Automobiles.

A trailer of novel construction has been patented in the United States by Henry Kupferer of Billancourt, France. This trailer consists of a chassis, the forwardly extended sides of which are attached to the rear of an automobile At the rear of the chassis is a single wheel which supports the trailer. This wheel is mounted in a post which swings freely. A spring counteraction is also included which takes up jolts received by this rear wheel without communicating them to the chassis.

Gilbert Told Where He Got Off.

When Chesterton in his new book tackles American slang he is, as a brother-journalist puts it, "thrown in for a loss." We agree with S. K., who remarks in the smoking-room view: "Until a writer can give the precise difference between a nut and a goof, a doughboll and a dumbbell, a rube and solid ivory, he had better leave the American language alone."

A Luxury.

Nancy had been to the grocery for Aunt Olive in the next house but two or three lunch. She told her mother that her Aunt Olive had asked her to stay for lunch.

"But why did you not stay?" her mother asked.

"Well, she was going to have rabbit, and I'm not very well acquainted with it, so I did not stay."

UNKNOWN TONGUE TO HIM

"Gynecologist" Was Altogether Too Much for the Hotel Waiter, So He Made It "Dentist."

Down in Park Row, in a place where a broad and generous liberality marks the observance of the wartime prohibition law, a dozen sporting writers gathered, last casually, the other night. Inevitably, they began to remember and recount the funny things that happened in Cincinnati and Chicago. And, of course, the discussion proceeded to the point where some one had to decide what was exactly the funniest thing, and finally it was decided that "Hype" Igoe's story, which was credited to Mangor Hawks of the Gibson house, was entitled to the prize.

In keeping with modern methods, they have, at the Gibson, a system whereby employees of the hotel are furnished with information about what is going on in the house. It is advantageous for the employees to be fully informed, anyway, and it is decided that they may be able to intelligently answer questions which may be addressed to them by the guests. Therefore, a bulletin is posted at the headwaiter's desk in every restaurant and at other places in the hotel conveying general information which employees should have.

Two guests arriving in the dining room for breakfast one morning, noticed a number of individuals at other tables wearing badges.

"Who are those people with badges on?" one of them asked the colored waiter.

"Jess a minute, boss," replied the waiter. "Ah'll fin' out fob you in jess a minute."

The waiter hustled over to the bulletin board with a confident air. He studied around uncertainly. There wasn't another waiter in sight and the dining room was all but deserted. He gave the bulletin board a pained and regretful glance. This is what was posted, there:

"Convention this week of the National Association of Gynecologists, Obstetricians and Anesthetists."

The waiter returned to the table where he was serving and hustled himself assiduously but silently with the dishes and silver. After he had put each knife and fork in three new positions, the questioner at the table said:

"Did you find out who those men are with the badges on?"

"Oh, yes, boss," he replied. He had the air of one who has just casually overlooked a perfectly trivial matter. "Yes, indeed," he said, as he gazed at glass and held it up to the light to observe the effect, "dem are de—dem are de dentists."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Diversity Among Students.

The influence of personal ability or mental habit on student-life work as making astronomical drawings has been the subject of interesting experiments by T. L. MacDonald of the University of Glasgow. A drawing of Mars by Artonald, a photograph of Mars, and another picture were submitted to six students, who were requested to make copies but were given no description as to what should be visible or how it should be drawn. The diversity of the drawings produced is illustrative of the work each student showed special skill in noting some one feature—either canals, lakes, or gradations of shading—and the student who best drew the canals saw the smallest number of shadings. The distinguishing characteristic of each individual persisted remarkably through all his drawings. It is concluded that planetary astronomers may be divided into three classes—distinguished by cunst, spot and shade sensitiveness—and that their drawings should be subject to corresponding corrections.

Heads of Church of England.

The highest office in the Church of England is held by the archbishop of Canterbury, officially known as primate of all England, in distinction from the archbishop of York, who is simply primate of England. The jurisdiction of the latter extends over the province or county of York, which includes ten dioceses in that part of England from the Humber to the Dee and embraces the Isle of Man as well.

The rest of England is under the jurisdiction of the archbishop of Canterbury. That dignitary, however, as province or county of York, does not possess a certain authority over the church in the whole country. He takes precedence on all public occasions, not only of the archbishop of York, but of all the nobility save the immediate members of the royal family. He crowns the king, but the queen is crowned by the archbishop of York.

Two Freak Checker Boards.

Probably the most extraordinary checker board in the world was constructed by St. Leonards, in Sussex, England, in 1891, says the Columbus (O.) Dispatch. It was made of solid blocks of concrete three feet thick and its surface was about 25 feet each square. The pieces were moved by hooked iron rods, making the game interesting and physical as well as a mental exercise.

A checker board which was presented to Bismarck by the city of his fame is said to have been the most costly thing of its kind ever made. The squares were made of gold and silver inlaid upon an ebony base. There were 24 "men," 12 of each color. The queen in the center of each gold piece was a ruby, while each of the silver pieces was adorned with a diamond. The whole was valued at the time at about $150,000.

Movement for "Mixed Clubs" in City of London.

Method Has Been Suggested to Check Decline in Marriage Rate, Which Is Viewed With Considerable Alarm.

Social reformers, bishops, clergymen and physicians are continually reminding us that in England we need "more marriage and earlier marriage." The postponement of the age of marriage among men until thirty or the beginning of middle age is not a healthy social sign.

In the middle class this deferment of wedlock is attributed chiefly to the increased difficulty in earning a sufficient income to support the family. The same factor comes into play among the skilled craftsmen who wish to attain a fair financial position before they undertake the responsibilities of parentage. We find, therefore, that early marriage in the custom chiefly of the unskilled workers, casual laborers and the very poor.

The economic question is not the only barrier to early marriage and more marriage in the great middle class. Strange as it may appear, a vast number of men and women who wish to marry cannot find mates. Even in these days there are a multitude of men who have very few women acquaintances, and a still larger host of women who rarely enjoy the society of men. We are apt to forget that a large proportion of the inhabitants of the big cities are practically "strangers in the gates." Their "homes" are a bedroom in the suburbs, a boarding house or a little lock-up flat. They are country immigrants in the large towns, and in many instances they have not a single acquaintance in the place.

If we are really in earnest about the decline of the marriage rate and the deferment of matrimony, we should set about facilitating social intercourse between the sexes. The first practical step is the provision of "mixed clubs" where unskilled workers of both sexes exist now, are simply internment camps for men or women, and there is no doubt that they tend to a further segregation of the sexes.

It is true that there are clubs in London where men and women can meet. But we require a very much larger number in the metropolis and in all parts of the provinces.

My own experience of mixed clubs is that they undoubtedly promote matrimony. They are a pleasant meeting place for men and women after the day's work. It is appalling that thousands of youths and maidens should have nowhere to go except in the evenings and no choice between the lonely lodging and the streets.

It is suggested that every municipality should establish a marriage bureau and provide candidates for wedlock with introductions to Continental Edition of London Mail.

Where Soft Drinks Originated.

A Philadelphia writer says that there is not much inspiration for poetry in soda water.

Let it be remembered that another "first" to be credited to Philadelphia is for the manufacture of soda water—that is to say, the commonly accepted beverage with fruit syrups.

It was made by Eugene Rimmel, who conducted a perfumery establishment here about a century ago.

Moreover, the Philadelphia contentual finally confirmed the important place of the industry and the popularity of the beverage in the United States. Robert M. Green began to build soda fountains in '74, showed one at the centennial, and at the Franklin institute exposition, held not long thereafter, dispensed his new invention, "ice cream soda," to an increasing throng that presently was paying $200 a day over the counter for the seductive new "soft drinks."

With the present soda, water and soda fountain business approximating one billion dollars a year, this Philadelphia born industry is still in its infancy. But what a prodigious infant it is!—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Nickel Coins Again.

An innovation in currency has been made by the Indian government which has coined and issued nickel 5-anna and 4-anna pieces. Two-anna and 1-anna pieces will be of bronze. Inflation in India for many years, but hitherto no nickel coins of a value equal to a few new issue have been in use in any country—in fact, the 5-anna piece is credited with being the highest-value nickel struck in base metal in the world, its recent sterling exchange value being 7 shilling 2 pence, at par, at normal values. The Indian government has introduced in its decision to issue the new coins by the high price of silver, and it is probable that one result of the transvation will be to cause the 5-anna silver coins to disappear.—Brooklyn Eagle.

New Smokeless Fuel.

Coalite, a British British smokeless fuel, is claimed to be a natural briquet generating as much heat per unit as coal. By a process of low temperature carbonization, a ton of bituminous coal is made to yield 14 hundredweight of smokeless fuel, 7,000 cubic feet of gas, 16 gallons of oil similar to crude petroleum, 3 gallons of refined motor spirit and 20 pounds of sulphate of ammonia for fertilizer. Besides making fuel smokeless, this process supplies by-products of enormous importance.

WOULD KEEP THE DEVIL BUSY

Why One Wise Old Turk Decided That the Telegraph Must Be a Good Thing.

When western civilization first began to make its way into the Ottoman empire it provoked some very interesting reactions upon the oriental mind. One story that Sir William Whittall tells shows how unquestionably even the wisest Turks attributed the triumphs of western invention to magic and diabolism.

During the Crimean war, says Sir William, the first telegraph was established in Turkey. This wonderful invention created tremendous excitement among the Turks, who were quite unable to understand its workings. Among the more intelligent the discussions were not concerning the scientific principles that lay behind it but whether it was a good or a bad thing for humanity.

To solve the question it was at last decided to have a full debate by the ulema of the province of Smyrna, over which at that time a very wise old mullah presided. The meeting was held and Grave was the conclusion. Half the ulema declared that the telegraph was a good thing, because it quickened communications; the other half asserted that it could not be good, because it was an invention of the devil.

"There seemed to be no way of arriving at a conclusion, when some of the Turks perceived that their chief, the old mullah, had not yet expressed an opinion. Both parties, therefore, eagerly pressed him for his view on the subject and agreed to abide by his decision. The old mullah replied:

"My children, the telegraph is a good thing."

"What!" said the conservatives indignantly, "Do you mean that it is not a work of the devil?"

"Oh, yes," replied the old man, "it is, surely it is a work of his; but why are you so dull of understanding, my children? Can't you see that if the devil is occupied going up and down the wires with such message sent by him he will have less time to trouble us mortals on earth below?"

All the ulema acknowledged the wisdom of their chief.—Turkish Stories and Parables.

Arabs Dow to Airplanes.

Some of the most modern kinds of aerodrome have been seen in places where modern civilization had hardly penetrated, before. It is an interesting fact that the Arab, who is by no means unconquered while all the great empires of the world rose and fell, is at best succumbing before the airplane. He has never admitted allegiance to anyone but Allah and himself, and has threatened the lines of communication of all the empires—Babylonian, Persian, Greek, Roman and British. Even at the height of their power they could only maintain his swift horses when he returned to the desert after a raid.

But even the Arab horse has no chance against the airplane. British planes are now able to protect all parts of the line from Suez to India. The French have been using aviators whose nerves went to pieces on the western front to chase the wild Riff men in the interior of Algeria. And the "Mad Mullah," who recently began to preach another Mohammedan holy war, was rotted by an expedition of British and Indians, who used both airplanes and tanks.

Paris a City of "Old Clo'."

Paris just now is full of "old clo'." Not only are new wardrobe dealers starting in all quarters, but even the dressers are filling their windows with half-worn frocks and cloaks for sale. Obviously maidme is making economies, remarks a writer in the continental edition of the London Mail. She must be as smart as usual, but as dress costs more than ever, she sells everything she can before it goes out of fashion, and thus manages to balance her accounts.

The "chand d'habits walks the streets more diligently than ever, and his dismal chant may be heard all day long. He easily fills his big black bag. Clothes, like money bills, are now constantly changing hands, and they are worn to the thread by their successive wearers.

Houseboat on Land.

The housing shortage in Cincinnati is presenting some unique problems to the building commissioner, George Hauser. The owner of a houseboat on the Ohio river asked permission to remove the cabin and set it on a foundation which he has prepared on Southside avenue. In the summer he plans to restore it to the boat, thus using the cabin as an all-year-round home. The purchaser of a number of discarded cottages built for the government nitrate plant at Acton, near Cincinnati, has applied for a permit to bring them into the city and erect them into flat buildings by arranging them three on top of each other. He contends that this can be done with safety and convenience.

Fixing the Blame.

"Here, there!" yelled Constable Sam T. Slackbutter, the redoubtable sleuth of Petunia. You knocked that there innocent bystander down while he was perusing along about his business, ran over him, stopped, backed up, had passed athwart, as it were, of him again. What in fire do you mean by such doin's?"

"Why—doggone it!" cried the offending motorist, "he knew me, knew the name of this car, and knew, too, that this is the first time I've ever driv' this 'ere any other, and yet, dadburn him, he went and got right in the way!"—Kansas City Star.

WATER IN ANIMAL LIFE

How Water Is Lost in the Body—The Functions of Water—Other Beneficial Healing Plants of Water—Bulletin Matter Free to Qualified Veterinarians.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The commonplace things in nature are frequently the least considered to be of importance by the average man. Water, water everywhere. Yes, the bodies of all our domestic animals are sixty-five per cent. or more composed of water. The muscles of our bodies, which are 75 to 79 per cent. water, are the largest single constituent in the animal body. It may be hard to realize that all animals are largely made of a substance that we are most familiar with as a clear colorless liquid.

How Water Is Lost From the Animal Body.

Water is lost from the animal body in quantity through the lungs and excretory organs, during the processes which we call life, and it is also to be considered with normal functioning of all-body organs the water supply to the body must be kept up to the normal requirement. When an animal is totally deprived of drinking water it dies when from per cent. of its body water disappears, but will first have lost half its protein and all its fat. By the minimal loss of ten per cent. of body weight by cutting off the supply and life departs. If ten per cent. is disastrous, think how equally detrimental given one or two per cent. would be to the general welfare of the animal. The drinking water and the water of combination in the feed are the sources of supply, and our object is to be preferred if the animals are not to suffer from thirst and to thrive.

The Functions of Water In the Body.

Water is important on account of its

(1) Solvent power. It holds different chemical elements in solution and makes diffusion of food stuffs possible.

(2) Temperature regulating power. By evaporation from the skin and lungs the temperature is controlled by radiation.

(2) Splitting-up power. It gives up its hydrogen readily and thus forms new energy yielding compounds.

Deprived of it our animals soon suffer. Horses suffer quickest and rapidly lose condition if water is not sufficient. It is required to maintain fluidity of blood.

Water is quickly absorbed and thus swells the secretion of urine and to a less extent, that of bile, saliva, and pancreatic juice. Water also increases tissue change and elimination of carbonic dioxide and urea; promotes the appetite and washes out the tissues and aids to the removal of waste matter from the body. Large quantities of water are not taken during the feeding hour tend to favor the formation of fat.

Give Healthy Animals Plenty of Water.

Healthy animals may be given as much water as they desire, with a little nutritious ingredient in relation to work and feeding. The good horseman does not allow his horse very much water either immediately before or after severe work or after feeding, knowing that certain digestive troubles are apt to occur. The best plan is "drink before eating" if the animal is in normal condition. Be careful with tired or overheated animals, and see that all farm stock receive sufficient water during the winter, period that their bodies may function normally.—L. Stevenson, Department of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

Don't Lock a Gift Horse—

The Woman and the teacher were walking along together when they came to a corner where a pushcart piled high with oranges was attracting many customers.

"Oranges always remind me of Jimmy," said the teacher. "He was a wide-awake youngster who came to me late in the term, having been transferred from another school. About a week after he'd been in my class he presented me with an orange one day at lunch time.

"The next day as he went to his lunch, a well-stuffed paper bag peeking out from under his arm, he again gave me an orange. I was afraid the boy might be depriving himself of part of his lunch in order to make an impression on his teacher, so I called him back and asked him if it was perfectly all right for me to have the fruit and if he was sure he wasn't taking it from himself.

"Oh, it's all right," Jimmy told me. "My father gets plenty of—oranges. He's in ice, man."—Chicago Journal.

ABLE TO DO HOUSEWORK NOW

Sick a Year. Got Great Benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bloomington, N. S.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains and backache, also for nervousness, and headaches and sleeplessness. I was troubled in this way for over a year, and a friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and induced me to take it. I must say I have received great benefit from it and am able to do my housework now. I recommend the Vegetable Compound myself and am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. WILLIAM MONSE, Bloomington, Annapolis County, N. S.

Do you know that, in a recent census among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 200,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

Mrs. Monse is simply another case of a woman receiving "great benefit." Women suffering from the ills common to their sex should listen to what other women say who have experienced the same sufferings and found relief. Give this Pinkham medicine a chance—and at once. It is sold at all drug stores.

New British Capital Warships Will End Era of Dreadnought

Two Vessels Nearing Completion Described as Floating Forts and Airdromes With Tremendous Radius—Have Nine 16-inch Guns, All Forward, and No Funnels.

London, Jan. 11.—Great Britain's new armada, the foundation of which is now being laid, will be made up of craft unlike anything that naval science has ever seen or heard of before. The design of two new capital warships, the Nelson and the Rodney, it is said, will put all existing warships back in the Victorian era.

Without a funnel showing and scarcely any superstructure, they are designed to serve a double purpose. A clear deck space gives a long broad sweep for the launching of airplanes, thus increasing the vessel's battle radius by hundreds of miles.

The arrangement of the big guns also will be new, being concentrated forward. They will consist of nine 16-inch guns, mounted in three turrets and three guns to a turret. No batteries at all will be placed aft.

Heavily armored decks will be planted as a protection from attack from the air. The magazines are being grouped forward under the superarmored decks. The absence of funnels provides unobstructed space for planes. The smoke fumes from the engines will be carried off via tubes snuggling alongside, which will end in throwing up smoke screens.

Defense both at sea and aerial tactics for the new style of sea fighting have already been begun. Important tests will take place next week when the British Navy sinks the Monarch in the Atlantic under the terms of the Washington naval agreement. The destruction of the Monarch will be carried out in the greatest secrecy.

It is declared here that the Nelson and the Rodney mark the beginning of a new British navy. The design of the battleships is so revolutionary, according to the Daily Express, that it marks the end of the Dreadnought era, just as the Dreadnoughts marked the end of previous types.

The new ships will be entirely different from any others in the world, the paper says. They will be both floating fortresses and airdromes; will have a radius of action covering thousands of miles.

THE BACHELOR GIRL

She has only one room, but it's home, you see,
And precious as anyone's home can be.
She's colored the walls an egg-shell blue;
They were dark before—an impossible hue.
And little Miss Smith, with the kindly face,
Has sent her some curtains of creamy lace.
She has scrubbed the floor—it was badly worn—
And now she has put the oilcloth down.
And perhaps has sent her a rug—dark red
It looks so cozy beside the bed!
A cot stood there, but it's changed to a couch
Where, upon the gay-tone pillows,
There's a comfy chair, and a shelf of books,
A desk between, and some useful nooks.
She's added the price at the next
Sweet store.
Of curtains to keep the draught from the door.
The little brown teapot came from
The pretty white cups from Molly
Brought
With memories of somebody's friendship
Thought,
And so she declares that, wherever
She roams,
There's nothing to beat her one-room home.

If one be troubled with corns, he will find in Holloway's Corn Remover an application that will entirely relieve suffering.

For the fourth time the teams had met in the cup competition, and not a seat had been empty.

A somewhat depressed party were returning by train from the match. "Never saw a side play so gloomy," chimed in the remark.

"Rotten game, gentlemen, rotten game. Never saw a more uninterested lot in all my life."

A puzzled-looking member of the party, who was sitting in the corner of the compartment, looked up, yawned, and began fumbling in his waistcoat pocket. Then suddenly he sprang to his feet with the exclamation, "Great Scott!"

"What's up?" somebody asked.

"Lost your watch?"

"Watch be hanged, sir," cried the passenger. "I've left my wife asleep in the grand stand, and she's got my return half."

PROVERBS WHICH ONE QUOTES

People Naturally Are Apt to Use Those Which Relate to Their Businesses.

Did you ever notice how provincial and out of the world he is? Why, we can't hold an ordinary conversation without some hint of our petty business affairs entering in. The very proverbs which we affect, the very branches of speech to which we are subject, are all literally traceable to our particular every-day pursuits.

Having always suspected this to be true, I one day set about to prove it. In my daily search for Subjects, I made the rounds of all my friends, engaging them in pleasant colloquy.

Here's the result:

"I'm pleased to meet you," smiled the lecturer.

"Suit yourself," said the tailor.

"That's right," agreed the traffic cop. "And so forth," said the dressmaker.

"That's a dirty shame," observed the washwoman.

"Every little bit helps," philosophized the carpenter.

"That's the long and short of it," retorted the rival telegraph operator.

"Try to keep a stiff upper lip," admonished the barber.

"Yes, I need it," protested the baker.

"I'm not very well posted on that," faltered the bookkeeper.

"Mere words shall be my last," averred the cobbler.—Mfa Eugene Bye, in Judge.

OBJECTS TO TERM 'MASSACRE'

Author Insists That Custer's Last Fight Must Properly Be De. scribed as a Battle.

Cyrus Townsend Brady, LL.D., in the preface of a volume on "Indian Fights and Fighters," makes a marked distinction between the terms "massacre" and "battle." He says that every time a body of troops engaged in a fight with Indians and the troops were outnumbered or caught at a disadvantage, and the battle was continued until the troops were slaughtered, flight or affair was popularly called a "massacre," as, for instance, "The Custer Massacre."

Mr. Brady believes this to be an unwarranted use of the term. Custer, the author points out, attacked the Indians and fought desperately until he and his men were all killed. He calls it a "battle" and not a "massacre." When an Indian war party raided a settlement or overwhelmed a train, or murdered women and children, that, he thinks, was a "massacre." The author says:

"I would like to ask if anyone ever heard of the Massacre of Thermopylae? The Greeks fought there until all save one were killed. The results were the same exactly the same as those of the battle of the Little Big Horn, but I have yet to read in history that the Persians 'massacred' the Greeks in that famous pass."

Rush to Diamond Fields.

The biggest rush in the history of the Transvaal alluvial diamond diggings has taken place at Kaalpfants, 50 miles from Johannesburg. Three thousand would-be diggers formed a line 2,000 yards long. A proclamation having been read, a Union Jack was lowered, and the long line of seekers after fortune moved off at the double over a thousand yards of green, undulating country. Young men and old, both British and Dutch, boys and women and girls, surged forward brandishing picks. There was great excitement around the richest spot, but so vast was the demand that there were claims for all and to spare. Within a little while a thousand diggers had begun work with pick and shovel, and some excellent finds were made. So far, diamonds weighing 1,450 cirats and valued at £28,000 have been found at Kaalpfants.

Made It Personal.

A little girl had been taken to church by her Aunt Helen. On arriving home her mother began to cross-question her as to what she had heard.

"What hymn did you have, dear?" she asked.

The little girl's memory failing her for the moment, she turned impatiently to her aunt who whispered in her ear: "Sun of My Soul," dear."

"Well, what was it?" her mother asked, a little impatiently.

"Sun of Aunt Helen's Soul" was the reply that astonished her parent.

Windmills in Place of Sails.

Windmills to drive ships are the product of the French inventions department, an official war agency that has been continued. These windmills are intended to enable countries without coal or oil fields to sail the seas without coal or petroleum. The power of the windmill is transmitted below decks, where it later appears at the propellers.—The Nation's Business.

Dog's Bark Proved Expensive.

The barking of a dog so frightened a flock of 2,000 sheep returning in the dark from the mountain pastures at Foyer d'Ollon, near Grenoble, France, that they rushed over a ravine. The shepherd, in attempting to stop them was dragged over with them, but was rescued, though his condition was grave. Numbers of the sheep were killed.

Good Device for City Vehicles.

English inventors of a storage-battery driven electric truck have equipped it with poles with which it can reneet its supply of electricity from overhead wires of street-car lines.

A Power of Its Own.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has a subtle power of its own. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment available. Its cures are innumerable and for many years it has been the leading liniment for man and beast.

STILL DREAMING OF HOME

City Man of Small Resources Laments That Country Cannot Gratify His Desires.

I am one of many thousands, city-pent, who for many years have dreamed of a little home somewhere in the hills or within sight of the sea. Every year the urge grows stronger, and every year the little place seems more hopelessly out of sight, says the writer of "The Point of View" in Scribner's. The city it a big place, but the country seems bigger, and where to look and how, ever more perplexing. I have told all my friends that I am looking, and asked them to give me a tip if they hear of any place that they think I might like or can afford to buy; and now and then I hear of the perfect place, to be had for some eighteenth modest sum, and of charming homes found by this and that seeker after his haven of peace and quiet. But my little home is ever in the dim beyond and my hope grows fainter with the years. Maybe I am in search of a place that never was on land or sea, that exists only in my dreams.

I read the real-estate advertisements, and look at the little houses illustrated in the magazines devoted to home building, and see many cozy small houses that would very nearly suit my longings, but when I investigate the cost of the smallest even the simplest of these, I pause and wonder if the price does not call for gold bricks as a part of the foundation instead of just ordinary building materials.

So I start again in my search for the abandoned farm that can be bought, with a little old house all ready to be edited home, with the expenditure of only a few hundred dollars.

The chimney may be falling down and the roof caving in, the sides full of holes for the winds and snows of winter to come in, but the lines are always "so picturesque," and the big fireplace and Dutch oven are there to recall the days of the real American who lived and shivered back in the time when there were plain living and honest thinking.

For afield have I ventured in the search for my little home, and spent enough good money to put new roofs on most of the tumble-down houses I have bolted at from a distance with ever-renewed hope.

Work for Disabled Soldiers.

Today Czechoslovakia is flooding all Europe with quantities of her famous lacquer work wood novelties—mostly the work of soldiers wounded and partially disabled in the World war. The shops in Prague display fans, jewel boxes, trays, brushes, combs and other articles of every description, all brilliantly colored and carved in the distinctively Czechoslovakian style. No set designs are to be found. Each bit of woodwork is made after a new pattern, so that no two pieces are alike. This feature of their work protects their wares in foreign markets, where manufacturers have introduced many substitutes. The government has leased hundreds of working rooms in various parts of the country, set aside for this particular industry. Trained men instruct recruits in the technique of the work, but the designing and the composition of each particular piece is always left to the idea or whim of the man who makes it. In one part of the room one finds men with no arms toiling with marvelous dexterity with a stylus between their toes. Fully half of this work today is done with the feet.—Milwaukee Journal.

Sonny Breaks In.

I had just moved into a new neighborhood where folks were inclined to be aloof and I wanted to make a good impression and make friends with the best people.

One day my little boy got wet playing in puddles, so I had to change his clothes before dinner. When half finished with one I was called to the other room to answer the phone.

When I returned my son was nowhere to be seen. I discovered him half a block away, dressed only in shoes and stockings. I started after him, and as he saw me he ran. Soon about a dozen people appeared and laughed as they saw me in pursuit of the naked child.

Among the onlookers were three of the people I wanted so hard to make a good impression on.—Chicago Tribune.

Skepticism.

The Woman knows a truly devoted husband. She met him the other day and his face showed annoyance. She hoped nothing had happened. It would be too much if ever trouble came between that couple. But at once she was reassured.

"I'm furious," the man told her. "I want to get dolled up, as the wife and I are going to have a party tonight. It is our fifth anniversary. I told the manicurists to do a good job and explained to her why, and she wouldn't believe me. I suppose she's sick. Even as I was leaving she called after me:

"Come again soon, mister; but don't tell me so much next time."—Exchange.

Absent-Minded Brown.

John—I dare say you're right! I heard him say only yesterday that he was going to Switzerland for his lungs!—Wheeler's Magazine.

Valuable Team Killed On C. P. R. Tracks.
Last Wednesday night Mr. W. A. Doupe, employed by Fred Gibbings, was returning home with a valuable team of horses and sleigh. Instead of going to the King St. crossing he turned at the entrance to the C. P. R. freight shed and the mistake not noticed as soon as the driver came to the tracks. The ground was well beaten and the driver attempted to drive to the crossing along the tracks. The sleigh runner caught in a switch and all efforts to release it failed. A train coming from the west was unable to avoid hitting the team. Both horses were killed and the sleigh smashed to pieces. The loss is quite a serious one to Mr. Gibbings. — Empire Advance, Virden, Man.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

The annual installation of the officers of Queen of Sheba Lodge No. 254, Daughters of Rebekah, was held in the rooms of Argyll Lodge No. 212 I.O.O.F., Monday night, the impressive ceremonies being conducted by Sister Salisbury, District President, and suite, of Yarker. Quite a number from Yarker Lodge accompanied the District President, on her official visit to Napanee, and at the conclusion of the installation the members adjourned to the Assembly Hall, where a sumptuous repast was enjoyed by all. The installation service was witnessed by a full turnout of members, and the District President performed her official duties in a most creditable manner.

Following are the newly-elected officers for 1925 :—Past Noble Grand, Sister Jennie Ingham; Noble Grand, Sister Douglas; Vice Grand, Sister Wales; Financial Secretary, to be elected; Recording Secretary, Sister R. Huffman; Treasurer, Sister Garrett; Warden, Sister Allingham; Conductor, Sister Huffman; Chaplain, Sister Ham; R.S.N.G., Bro. R. S. Ham; L.S.N.G., Sister Vine; I.G., Sister Sills; O.G., Sister Loucks; R.S.V.G., Sister Black; L.S.V.G., Sister Kitchen; Pianist, Sister Reid.

Conway Women's Institute

The January meeting was held at the home of Mrs. T. Gurren, on January 12th. In spite of bad roads and cold weather a goodly number of ladies turned out to this meeting. The meeting opened in the usual manner with the opening ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The Secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, also a letter of thanks from a member who has been ill and received flowers sent by the Conway Women's Institute. Miss Eleanor Hamm also sent a note of thanks for the work basket given her at Xmas by Conway Institute. Three baskets of Christmas goodies were also given to three shut-ins from the old land as a friendly greeting from Conway Institute. A short their good will towards the strangers in our midst. It was decided to have the debate, which had been postponed, in the near future. Notice of this will appear later. The secretary gave the roll call and different ladies responded with various new ideas for home and economy. Some cooking recipes were exchanged, and they also had the question drawer. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, and the hostess served a dainty lunch.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Young, on February 10th, when we take the form of a spelling match, in the evening. We hope to see as many out as possible.

THOS. F. MOONEY PASSED AWAY.

One of Old Residents of City Succumbed to Hardening of Arteries. —Came to City 40 Years Ago. For Quarter Century Mr. Mooney Was Machinist at Parker & Topping Foundry.

Thomas F. Mooney, 211 Gillie Avenue, Northeast, one of the old residents of Brainerd, passed away Wednesday morning at 8.30 o'clock, following an illness caused by hardening of the arteries.

Mr. Mooney was born at Napanee, Canada, on February 7th, 1858. He was married there 45 years ago to Miss Anna Toohey. Four children were born to this union, one daughter and three sons, being William, of Bemidji; Thomas, Jr., of Austin, and John, of Brainerd, and Mrs. Mario McCarville, of Deerwood. There are six grandchildren.

The family moved to Brainerd about forty years ago, and have since made their home here. For 25 years Mr. Mooney was a machinist in the employ of the Parker and Topping Company. The balance of his residence here has been as a machinist in the local Northern Pacific shops.

Mr. Mooney was a devoted member of St. Francis Catholic Church. He held membership in the local Knights of Columbus and the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He was also a charter member of the Machinist's local of Brainerd.

The funeral will be held from St. Francis Church on Saturday morning, at 8.30 o'clock, and interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery.

The family has the sincere sympathy of the community in its sad bereavement.—The Brainerd Daily Dispatch, Dec. 31st, 1924.

SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL

A New Organization in Napanee

The local branch of the Victorian Order has initiated a new branch of social service. Under its care a committee was named which was to perfect an organization for the purpose of taking an active interest in the social welfare of Napanee.

The work done by those who were charged with the task of distributing the Beaver Santa Claus fund revealed a real need for an organization which would have some continuity and could make a survey and continue its operations throughout the year.

The Victorian Order named a committee, and this committee met on Tuesday afternoon and perfected an organization, as follows :

Convenor—Miss F. C. Johnston.
Secty.-Treas.—Capt. Thomas.
Committee—Mrs. H. Creighton, Mrs. W. J. Jewell, Miss J. Ieamy, Mrs. W. S. Herrington, with two additional members to be added by each of the above.

It was agreed to call the organization the Social Service Council of Napanee, to meet each Monday at noon at 2.30 o'clock, for the purpose of sewing and sorting usable clothing.

The committee solicites the support of the citizens. They request that usable clothing and other goods be left at Masters & Tierney's at any time. The meetings for work will be held in the Salvation Army Barracks.

CROYDON

We all thought Tom Pepper was dead, but by last week's correspondence we see he is quite alive. —The stork visited our vicinity of late and left a son at Laughlin Campbell's, on Sunday, December 21st; and also one at Herb Bowen's, on Monday, January 5th. — Messrs. Fred Galbraith and Blake Barragar spent a recent evening at Mr. Fyfe's, at Erimville. — Miss Margaret Close is visiting with friends in and around Tamworth.—Mr. Donald Lothhead spent Sunday evening at Mr. Albert Hughes'. — Misses Agnes and Celia Nolan and Mabel Lewis and Messrs. Perry Armstrong and Dan McGregor were Saturday evening guests of Mr. Stewart Close.—Mr. Alex. Wright is hauling logs in the bush for Mr. Leslie Kellar.—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Close and daughter, Annie, spent a recent Sunday at Mr. Peter Teskey's. — Mr. Earle Teskey returned home, after spending a short holiday with his uncle, the Rev. Ernest Teskey, of Kempville.—The Misses Frances and Vera McKeown returned to Picton, after spending the holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKeown. — Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haggerty were Sunday callers at Mr. Herb. Bawn's. — Mr. Ed. King has returned home, after visiting friends at Napanee. — Messrs. Perry Armstrong and Raymond Campbell were Wednesday evening visitors at Mr. Fred Armstrong's, Deseronto.—Mr. Carl Barragar is the caretaker for the school this year.—A number from here attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Sam Hughes, at Roblin, on Tuesday. —Mr. Alex. Wright at Mr. Pat Nolan's, on Sunday.

ENTERPRISE SOUTH

We are having real cold weather.—Drawing wood is the order of the day with the men.—While the sleighing is good, the cars are still running—Mrs Geo. Wright is home ill for the past three weeks, passed away on Tuesday, Jan. 6th, at the age of 60 years. The funeral was conducted at the house by the Rev. J. A. Paston. Mrs. Wright will be greatly missed by her neighbors and friends. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her loss one daughter and one son.—Mr. William Reid is very poorly at present writing. We all welcome Miss Hazel Martin back to our school again.—Miss Lizzie Brown is visiting friends around Tamworth. — Misses Bernice and Fanny Cousins, Miss Jessie Wiseman, Miss Mary Thompson, Arthur Cousins, and Ralph Thompson spent Sunday with Miss. Ella Cousins.—Mrs. Wesley Benjamin has returned to Kingston to resume her work at the hospital.—Milton Connors, of Belleville, is visiting at Mr. Jos. Cavanaugh's.

Installation of Officers.

The semi-annual installation of the officers of Napanee Lodge No. 86 and Argyll Lodge No. 212, I.O.O.F., was held in the rooms of the latter lodge on Thursday night, and was largely attended, the spacious rooms being filled to its utmost capacity. The installation was conducted by Bro. F. W. Everett, D.D.G.M., in a most creditable manner. He was assisted in the ceremonial by Bros. W. Davis, R. S. Ham, Bert Seymour, Frank Bell and O. S. Davis. The following are the newly elected officers for the present term :—

Napanee Lodge No. 86—J.P.G., Frank Bell; N.G., E. B. Bugsby; V.G., W. Davis; R.S., Wm. Barrett; F.S., E. McLaughlin; Treas., E. J. Pollard; R.S.N.G., Harry Seymour; L.S.N.G., Wm. Vandusen; R.S.V.G., J. Parish; L.S.V.G., E. Watson; R.S.S., Wm. McLaughlin; L.S.S., John Giles; Chap., A. D. Snider; O.G., Alex. Smith; I.G., J. A. MacGillivray.

Argyll Lodge, No. 212—J.P.G., Andrew Ford; N.G., W. H. Rose; V.G., G. E. Winter; R.S., R. C. Root; F.S., H. M. Scott; Treas., F. S. Scott; Warden, J. W. Thompson; Conductor, R. B. Fair; R.S.N.G., R. B. Moore; L.S.N.G., J. S. Douglas; R.S.V.G. Reg. Douglas; L.S.V.G., A. Wybar; R.S.S., Wallace Roy; L.S.S., A. Kitchen; Chap., D. B. Wilson; O.G., John Birrell; I.G., Geo. Root.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies the members adjourned to the dining hall, where a most sumptuous repast was partaken of after which the balance of the evening was spent in song, story and speech.

WEDDING BELLS.

McGraw—Naphon.

A pretty wedding took place at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, January 7th, at Erinsville Church, when Miss Mary McGraw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGraw, Marlbank, was united in matrimony with Mr. Francis Naphon, of Lonsdale, son of Mrs. Cornelius Naphon, of Tyendinaga. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Reilly, Parish Priest of Erinsville, and the church was full of friends and relatives. About forty guests sat down to luncheon at the home of the bride's parents, among whom was Mrs. C. Naphon, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Naphon, of Deseronto; Martin Naphon, Jos. Phillips and Mrs. Michael Gouldin, of Tyendinaga. Many beautiful and useful presents were given to the happy couple and all present joined in wishing them every success on life's ocean. The wedding feast was a joyful affair and dancing was indulged in during the evening and until the small hours of the morning when the happy couple left by C.P.R. for a honeymoon trip to the west.

GREAT INCREASE IN TEA CONSUMPTION

The consumption of tea, it is estimated, increased in 1924 thirty-nine million pounds. The price, as a result, may go to $1.00 per pound, but even then, tea is the cheapest beverage in the world—aside from water.

WEDDING BELLS.

Kirkpatrick—Cameron.

With ideal weather and everything that goes to make a marriage ceremony a delightful event, another this afternoon, when Miss Grace Saville Cameron, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Cameron, 161 Hotchkiss Ave., was united in marriage to Roy Kenneth Kirkpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kirkpatrick, Ash Street, Port Colborne. The ceremony was performed by Rev A. C. Campbell, of Wallaceburg, a former Pastor of the Welland Baptist Church, and an intimate friend of the Cameron family.

Precisely at the appointed hour the bride entered the drawing room escorted by her father, who later gave her in marriage, the wedding march from Lohengrin being played very softly by Mrs. (Rev.) A. C. Campbell, as the bridal party entered and also when the register was being signed.

The bride looked radiant in a French gown of cocoa brown silk georgette crepe with lace and pearl trimmings, the shirt being made with honeycomb pleating, and shoes and stockings to match. Her huge bouquet was of sunset roses tied with long streamers of silk tulle. The bride maid, Miss Dorothy Bangay, of Stratford, wore a becoming gown of powder blue silk crepe-de-chene with knife pleating and black Val. lace. Her bouquet was of sweet peas and fern tied with streamers of silk ribbon. Harold Caughell, of Fort Colborne, a close friend of the groom, was best man.

Immediately after the service, which was performed in a room decorated with sweet peas and roses, the happy couple with the intimate friends and relatives repaired to the dining room where a buffet luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick then left to spend their wedding tour in Kingston and other eastern points, the bride travelling in a dress of black silk canton with jade trimmings, cocoa shade hat and coat to match.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold ring, to the bridesmaid a bar pin set with an amethyst, while the best man received gold cuff links, the pianist receiving a huge bouquet of Ophelia roses. Many and costly presents were received by the young couple, followed by the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy wedded life.

Frink—Montgomery.

At Morven, on January 21st, a happy event was consummated, when Rev. Mr. Merrick united in marriage Robert Donald Frink to Helen Reta Montgomery, both of Odessa. They were attended by Miss Margaret Frink, sister of the groom, and Mr. Acel Potter, Moscow. They took the train at Napanee en route to Toronto and other points west, the bride travelling in brown canton crepe dress with hat to match. On their return they will reside near Odessa.

HOCKEY.

Point Anne 7, Napanee 1.

Point Anne defeated Napanee at the former place on Friday evening, in a Bay of Quinte League fixture, thus attaining, for the present at least, the top rung in the ladder—at the first half of the schedule. The elements were entirely against real hockey, as the Point have an open air rink and snow fell in large quantities nearly all day and until the first period was over. Point Anne has a nifty team and the return game here on Wednesday evening next will be a real one, and the locals will have to extend themselves to get in the win column, which they are determined to do.

J. A. Casterton, of Kingston, refereed the game and gave entire satisfaction.

Following is the line-up :
Point Anne—Goal, Boland; defence, Tompkins and Mansell; centre, Brant; right wing, Green; left wing, L. Goyer; subs., J. Goyer and Hunter.

Kingston 9, Point Anne 5.

The young Irishmen, of Kingston, defeated Point Anne in a league game on Tuesday evening. The game was played at Belleville owing to the open air rink at Point Anne being covered with snow and the night otherwise unfit for open rink play. The game was fast and clean and the Irishmen had the better of the play throughout the first two periods, the scores being 2-1 and 4-1. In the third period the home team played up strong er and held the visitors to a 5-4 score, the final tally being Kingston 9, Point Anne 5.

Geo. T. Walters, of Napanee, refereed the game in his usual satisfactory manner. Following is the line-up :

Young Irishmen—Goal, F. Shalit; defence, Millan and Collins; right wing, E. Lawless; centre, A. Purdy; left wing, A. Darrow; subs., A. Compoau, J. McGrath.

Point Anne at Napanee.

The game of the season in the Bay of Quinte Hockey League will take place at the Napanee rink on Wednesday next, when the locals will entertain the boys from Point Anne. The Naranee players have not forgotten the defeat handed them in Point Anne by the Point lads, and are determined to even the score. Followers of the game are advised to be on hand early as the rink will be packed to capacity for this event.

The return game between the Young Irishmen and Napanee at Kingston, which was scheduled for Saturday last, has been postponed until Wednesday evening, February 4th.

THE TOWN LEAGUE.

Frontenac Regiment 5, Gibbards 2.

Great interest is being taken in the Town Hockey League, and some first-class sport is being furnished. The first game started off on January 15th, when "B" Co., Frontenac Regiments, met Gibbards at the Arena, the former winning the game by a score of 5-2. From start to finish Mr. "Breck" Hodgins, who refereed, kept the players under control, with the result that the game was very clean. A game so handled and played will develop good clean players. After the game the local Militia Company treated the visitors to a banquet in their rooms at the Armouries. Following is the line-up :

Gibbards—Ruffy, Wilson, R. Douglas, Swet, D. Fraser, R. Huffman, Ray Loucks, A. Rogers, A. Pybus.

"B" Co.—E. Fraser, W. Barrett, H. Northmore, L. Douglas, C. Fraser, H. Lucas, F. Ballard, Huffman, A. Smith.

Frontenac Regiment 4, St. Pats 2.

The second game in the Town League was played on Monday evening last between the Militia and St. Pats. The game was very fast, resulting in a win for the greyhounds. The game was handled in the first period by Mr. Fred. Huffman, and Mr. Jack Adams officiated during the second and third periods. Following is the line-up :

St. Pats—H. Wilson, C. Cowie, J. Killorin, A. Killorin, J. Fax, P. Stewart, E. Sharp, J. Normile, G. Gleeson.

"B" Co.—E. Fraser, W. Barrett, H. Northmore, L. Douglas, C. Fraser, H. Lucas, W. Huffman, J. Judson, A. Smith.

St. Pats at Gibbards.

The next game in the Town League will take place at the Arena on Monday evening next at 7.30 sharp, when the town team will meet Gibbards. This game promises to be worth seeing and no doubt a large attendance will greet the players.

JUNIOR BOYS' HOCKEY LEAGUE

A Junior Boys' Hockey League has been formed and matches are played each Saturday at the Arena. Frank Bell is manager of the League, with the following team managers :

West Ward, 1—W. Marcelle.
West Ward, 2—G. H. Anderson.
Centre Ward, 1—W. Paul.
Centre Ward, 2—G. T. Walters.
East Ward—I. Spencer.

The team captains are :
West Ward, 1—W. Carter.
West Ward, 2—A. Wilson.

Centre Ward, 1—W. Vandusen.
Centre Ward, 2—E. Gibbard.
East Ward—H. Lucas.

Schedule of Games.

Jan. 17—W. W. 2 vs. W. W. 1
24—E. W. vs. C. W. 2.
24—W. W. 1 vs. C. W. 1.
31—E. W. vs. C. W. 1.
31—W. W. 1 vs. C. W. 2.
Feb. 7—E. W. vs. W. W. 1.
7—W. W. 1 vs. C. W. 1.
14—W. W. 2 vs. C. W. 2.
14—W. W. 2 vs. C. W. 2.
21—C. W. 2 vs. C. W. 1.

On Saturday last the first game in the Junior series took place, West Ward No. 2 defeating West Ward No. 1 by a score of 3-2. The game was fast and very interesting, and the youngsters displayed their ability in first-class style.

TOWN COUNCIL

Council Chambers,
Napanee, January 19th, 1925.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor Meng presiding.

Members present—Reeve Graham, and Councillors Simpson, Dunbar, Jewell, Hewitt, MacGregor, Roy.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read, and on motion were confirmed.

The following tenders were received by the Clerk for the lease of the Market Tolls for the year ending February 1st, 1926 :—W. N. Dean $30.00, Allen Reas $300.00, C. H. Lapum $300.00, Walter E. Higgs $300.00, G. W. Shepherd $400.00, Wm. Hudson $300.00, Andrew Madden $300.00, David Aylsworth $290.00, Wilfrid S. Wilson $325.00.

Moved by Councillor MacGregor, seconded by Reeve Graham, that the above tenders be placed in the hands of the Market and Police Committee to consider and report to this Council. Carried.

Reeve Graham reported that there was only one man, or possibly two, who wanted work at the stone quarry, and it would not be feasible to open the quarry for that number. He also stated that it is next to impossible to get ballast out of the pit under present conditions.

A communication appointing Mr. A. E. Cook as Sanitary inspector for the ensuing year, at a salary of $100.00, was given a second reading, signed, sealed, numbered and finally passed.

Two following accounts were ordered to be paid : Ernest Drake $2.30, The Fire Grocery $5.60.

On motion the Council adjourned.

ARMC HARBOR.

The weather has moderated, and the change is greatly appreciated. — The school is progressing favorably, with Miss Hoag in charge.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paul, of Amherst, are in the vicinity renewing old acquaintances. — Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Argue, of Calgary Alta., were in our midst and spent a few days calling on relatives and friends.—Mrs. Earl Mumby has gone to the west of her daughter, Mrs. W. Crowell. — Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wagner, Alnaclidge, took to visit Mr. Arthur, Mrs. M. Wager, on Monday evening. — Percy Mumby has a gang of men and several teams hauling gravel on the new road.—Harvey Hunter is busily drawing wood.—In sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. J. Pell over the death of their infant son, who died on Xmas Eve, aged six months.—Mr. H. Vandenburg is spending a few days at his daughter's, Mrs. M. Wagner.

Two applications, a few days apart, of Wallace's New Electric Lotion Powder, for the cure of colic, bags and horses, 35c. a lb. at Wallace's.

ARDEN

The weather has been very severe since last time of writing, and there is certainly no lack of snow. — All the men in this vicinity are busy at bees, working in their bushes, cutting logs, hauling pulpwood, cutting wood, etc. — The miners are busy blasting out the rock and hauling it to the station here, then it is loaded on cars and shipped. — The Council has at last decided to put a little extra work on the roads in the village. Some places where the roads are very narrow they are endeavoring to make them wider. This work is also giving men and their teams work hauling rock and sand. — Miss Mabel Smith spent Sunday a guest of Harvey Parks. —Mrs. Stanley Smith and two children, of Wallaceburg, recently spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Cecil Barker, and also visited her old friends. Mrs. Smith spent her younger days in this place. She is the daughter of Mr. J. J. Post, now residing in Smith's Falls with his youngest daughter, Mrs. Russel Gendron.—Mr. Ed. Hartwick spent Sunday the guest of Miss Edith Marshall.—Mrs. Jack Shoulder has returned to her home in Detroit, Mich., after spending some time with her parents at the Empire Hotel.—Miss Lily Boomhour spent Saturday evening the guest of Mrs. R. C. Alexander. — Mrs. F. L. Wormworth spent a few days recently in Kingston.—Miss Jennie Johnston has returned to her position in Toronto.—Mrs. J. Hughes was in Kingston one day this week.

$2,200 IN CASH STOLEN FROM SAFE OF NAPANEE GROCERY STORE

The most daring robbery that has occurred in Napanee in many years was perpetrated some time between Saturday night and Monday morning when the grocery store of H. N. Chase on Dundas Street was entered and $2,200 in cash taken from the safe. Absolutely no trace of the culprits has yet been found, and as the theft was not discovered till Mr. Chase opened his place of business Monday morning they may have a long start.

For the purpose of closing an important business transaction Mr. Chase drew the money from the bank on Saturday, intending to go to Picton on Monday morning. He preferred to have the cash, rather than a cheque or draft, and for that reason drew the money from the bank, locking it in the safe when he closed his store after Saturday's business.

When he went to the store Monday morning he found that the safe door was open and a few papers scattered around. Nothing else was disturbed in the store. The thieves entered by the rear door, and presumably knew the combination of the safe, for if it was forced in any way, but was opened in the usual manner. The fact that little else was disturbed is taken to mean that the robbers knew exactly what Mr. Chase had drawn during the day, that the large sum had been drawn from the bank and locked in the vault.

Everything would indicate an inside job, not a chance raid by thieves. No effort was made to search for any other cash, the day's receipts of the business or any other money, but the large package of bills was located and taken.

Mr. Chase and the police have no suspicions at all so far. No one is reported missing from the town. Developments are expected within a short time when all the clues have been run down.

CAMDEN EAST

It was very cold here last Monday morning, the thermometer registering 32 degrees below zero at 8 o'clock, and on Tuesday it showed all day.—Mrs. Mary Perry received an urgent call by telegraph on Thursday last from her daughter, Mrs. Howard Hills to come at once. She left on Friday morning for Iroquois Falls, to be with her daughter, who is very ill.—Mrs. Asa Greenway, of Ottawa, arrived on Saturday last to visit her mother, Mrs. Hester Greenway, and his sister, Mrs. Asa Macdonald, and other relatives around Camden East.—Clarence Boulton, Lorne Williams and Edgar Salisbury left Saturday morning last for Toronto to attend a School of Industion for a term.—Mr. Lewis Hoag, of Buffalo, arrived here on Saturday last in the interest of the Camden East Flour Mills.—Mr. Newman Babcock left for Kingston on Monday last to help Mr. Fair in delivering milk around the city.—Miss Marjory Riley gave a taffy pull to a number of her girl friends on Friday evening last, when a jolly good time was spent.—Dr. Yeomex is on the mend, after an operation in Kingston Hospital. His many friends wish for him a speedy recovery.

MORVEN

Owing to so much sickness in our neighborhood there is very little going on.

The funeral of the late S. P. Bell, life long member of the Brick Church, was quite largely attended on Friday afternoon. Rev. W. R. Merrick had charge of the service. The music was given by Mrs. H. Denyes and Choir of the Fourth Line appointment. Mrs. Bell has the sympathy of a host of friends far and near.

The League will be held in the Brick Church on Friday evening, in charge of the literary committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vanslotte spent an evening at the home of Mr. Willis Cuger recently.—Mr. Harry Stone has quite recovered from a severe attack of mumbago.—Those on our sick list, Mr. Hamm, Mr. Fralick and Mr. Lund, are improving slowly.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Walsh spent Sunday with friends at Anderson.—Mr. Harold Cook, Cataraqui, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clark.—Mrs. R. M. Garrison spent a few days visiting her friend, Mrs. Irwin Sharp.

YARKER.

We are having fine weather at time of writing.—Drawing ice is the order of the day.—We are glad to hear that those on the sick list are improving greatly.— Miss Pansy Curle entertained a number of her friends to a dance.—Mr. Acel Potter, of Moscow, spent Sunday evening here with friends.—Mr. Almon Brown has purchased a classy driving horse.—Mr. Teddy Benjamin, of Napanee, spent the week-end at Dr. J. H. Oldham's.—Prayer meeting was held at J. M. Wright's on Tuesday evening and was reported a large turnout.—The boys and girls are enjoying themselves skating.—The C. M. R. ice house is being filled.—Miss Marion Freeman spent the week-end at Sydenham visiting friends.—Mr. and Mrs. M. Shangraw spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Lodo's.—Mr. and Mrs. F. Mills, of Wilton, were recent visitors at C. Harsmap's.

COURSE OF EVENTS TO CHANGE BECAUSE OF MOON'S VAGARIES

New York, Jan. 15th.—This little old earth is going to be a pretty weary planet when 1925 gets through with it, and all because of a rambunctious moon.

Prof. Gustave Meyer, nationally known Hoboken astrologer, is authority for this information, important, if true. Professor Meyer has been predicting things for a good many years, and to-day he made public the results of many nights of deep thinking and star-gazing. It seems that everything was to have been lovely for this earth at first until the moon decided to take an excursion through the channel between the earth and the sun on January 24th. And that means, according to Professor Meyer, that the eclipse is going to change the whole course of events and those people who are alive at the end of the year will take a long, deep breath of relief as one does after completing a perilous ride on a roller coaster.

Professor Meyer is the man who predicted McKinley's election as well as his assassination, Roosevelt's election in 1904, the violent death of the Czar, and the death of Harding or one of his Cabinet in the summer of 1923.

Practically no man or woman alive will escape effects of the stars and the eclipse upon the year 1925, according to Mr. Meyer. There will be, according to him, subway disasters, men will die dying to get the right number over a telephone, earthquakes will be rampant all over the United States, more males will be born than females, suicides will be a common occurrence, and a man will have to kill himself in a novel way to get his name in the paper, members of the press, bar and clergy will be involved in big scandals, there will be nine eave-ins, building in New York will topple, and a good time will not be had by all.

Other Things Not So Bad.

But there will be a few things not so disastrous which will happen. For one thing, Professor Meyer says this is not disastrous, 1925 will see the end of prohibition in the United States and the enactment of legislation providing at least for light wines and beer. American diplomacy, he believes will triumph in Europe and international conditions, particularly the theatrical business will be good.

Prof. Meyer says the lives of President Coolidge and Mussolini will be endangered, the latter through the activities of would-be assassins.

"The average person this year, unfortunately for many, will be particularly affected by the effect of the stars and the eclipse upon birth," said Professor Meyer. "There will be an epidemic of suicide, nervous disorders, heart, kidney and bronchial troubles and thousands of people in all countries, particularly in and around New York and Hoboken, will be killed as a result of carbonoxide.

"Furthermore, an unusual number of subway disasters will occur and there will be floods and cave-ins, and the authorities should take every precaution to guard against such conditions. There will be a change of life in the city government, but especially in the industrial politicians of New York City.

"In what the stars divine," he said, "things might have been different but for the eclipse. Who knows?"

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA

Scarcely a month passes but a bumper issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, which every sportsman is eager to enjoy. The Snow Barrier by Raymond Thomlinson is a stirring narrative of adventure in the frozen north country. Other interesting stories and articles, including E. R. Kerr's The Migratory Birds Treaty and Cause of Decrease in Numbers of Wild Fowl, will also attract the reader's attention. The number contains lots of stories. F. V. Williams, J. W. Winson, Bonnycastle Dale and Marjorie Hunter, have all lived up to the reputations they have won for themselves in their different lines of sport. And the departmental editors have their departments up to their usual standard of excellence. Published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

CHRISTMAS TREES — AND OTHER PULPWOOD EXPORTS

Around Christmas time much was heard about the slaughter of our forests to provide Christmas trees to ship to the United States for a few cents apiece.

Do Canadians realize that every day in the year nearly 100,000 "Christmas trees" are shipped out of Canada to the United States, to be used as the raw material of pulp and paper mills employing only American workmen? Canada plays Santa Claus to the United States 365 days in the year. The tragedy of it is that these trees are not young seedlings, as are the trees we send American youngsters at Christmas time, but trees full-grown to pulpwood size, most of them evergreens, but some of other species. All of them are trees that should in process of manufacture into paper provide jobs for Canadian workmen; trees that should be a reserve of forest resources for Canadians in generations to come.

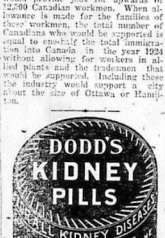
Opponents of the suspended embargo on pulpwood exports argue that the shipments from Canada are small and unimportant. Let us see how "unimportant" these shipments are:

Piled like cordwood, four feet high and four feet wide, the wood would form a pile 2,000 miles long. It would make a pile more than 80 times as large as the new Metropolitan Building in Toronto, which is the tallest structure in the British Empire and 55 times as large as the Insurance Exchange Building in Montreal, which is the largest office building in the British Empire.

The trees cut down each year for shipment to the United States are responsible for the slaughter of over 200,000 acres of forest land which is enough to cover with trees the entire cities of Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Halifax, Victoria, Hamilton, Ottawa, St. John, Fredericton, Quebec, Saskatoon, Regina, Edmonton, Calgary and Moose Jaw and leave enough to cover a ranch of upwards of 25,000 acres.

The trees cut down each year would form a belt 200 yards wide from Halifax to Vancouver.

Although the shipments are "small and unimportant" they comprise over one-fifth of all the pulpwood used to feed the great pulp and paper industry of the United States which purchases annually 7,650,000 tons of paper annually. If the same amount of pulpwood as exported to the United States were manufactured into pulp or paper in Canadian mills it would provide jobs for upwards of 12,500 Canadian workmen. When allowance is made for the families of these workmen, the total number of Canadians who would be supported is equal to one-half the total immigration into Canada in the year 1924 without allowing for workers in allied trades and the tradesmen that would be supported. Including these the industry would support a city about the size of Ottawa or Hamilton.



ODESSA

The variety shower held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith, Odessa, on Thursday, Mrs. Clark Boyce, last Wednesday night, had a very large attendance. Over one hundred relatives and friends were present, and a very pleasant time was spent with music, dancing and cards. The many beautiful gifts told of the esteem in which the young couple is held. Mrs. Smith was an active church worker and a member of the Young Peoples' Club. Mr. and Mrs. Boyce will reside near Odessa and their many friends wish them happiness and prosperity.—Mrs. Jones and Sidney Sprotle entertained a number of their friends last Thursday night at a progressive euchre party. The rooms were prettily decorated and there were six tables. Dainty refreshments were served at the midnight hour by the hosts. The prizes were won by Mrs. (Dr.) J. E. Mabee and William Amey. After lunch the young folks were entertained with music and dancing until the small hours.—Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thompson and Mrs. D. L. Snider are spending a few days the guests of the former's daughter, Mrs. Archie Ferguson, Wilton.—Mrs. Roy Graham, and little son, Lawrence, have returned from visiting Mrs. Graham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Conway, New York.—Mrs. Mark McDonald has purchased Kelly Hagerman's residence, on Ferguson Avenue.—Charlie Emmons, of Westerly, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Emmons.

BRITAIN'S BURDEN

Major-General F. L. Lessard has been active in calling the attention of his compatriots to the enormous burden Great Britain bears in the naval defence of the Empire. According to his statistics, the comparative expenditures on naval defence for the Empire, per capita, Great Britain, $6.72; Australia, $2.04; New Zealand, $1.14; and Canada, 17 cents. Total expenditure for the past year and for present protection are equally striking as for defence, pensions and debt. Great Britain pays annually, per capita, $56; Australia, $27.50; New Zealand, $26.25, and Canada, $14.07. From these figures it is evident that Britain is carrying a burden almost unbearable. Canada's contribution to Empire defence is less than the amount this country pays to Government supporters for joyrides to Europe.

But Great Britain has an additional burden that is weighing heavily on the people and her industries. During the war Great Britain poured out unstintedly men, money and material. To the Allies she advanced £2,000,000,928,000, as follows:

France	£621,279,000
Russia	722,546,000
Italy	333,300,000
Jugo-Slavia	28,481,000
Roumania	24,788,000
Portugal	21,544,000
Greece	23,355,000
Belgian Congo	3,550,000
Poland	65,000

Great Britain is not receiving a dollar's interest on these huge sums, while paying annually immense amounts for interest and on capital borrowed from the United States for the Allies. At the same time Great Britain is paying annually for naval defence alone nearly £50,000,000. Britain is paying her debts and not being paid; is bearing almost the whole cost of the naval defence of the Empire; and at the same time is supporting from the national treasury over 1,000,000 unemployed.

Britain cannot be reproached for not bearing her share of the war burden during and after the conflict. The time has arrived when Britain must not only demand interest from her creditors but also that the Empire as a whole must participate in the defence of the Empire.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Lapum was a unique foregathering of their relatives and friends to the number of about fifty, who assembled in their spacious home at Wilton, on Monday, January 12th, 1925. Just fifty years before they were married in the Presbyterian Church at Wilton, by the Rev. Mr. Scott, then of Napanee. Their home was artistically decorated in floral suggestive of the occasion, and with flowers.

To the ringing of the chimes the wedding party, unattended, entered the parlor, where their Pastor, Rev. W. T. McKenzie, awaited them, and proceeded with the marriage ceremony of their church untimely observed and modified only to suit the fiftieth anniversary. The ring used was the same as was used on the first occasion. Congratulations were now in order, after which the bride and groom proceeded to the table upon which the wedding presents. With the assistance of her Pastor the bride opened the various parcels and read to the guests the cards neatly, and passed them on to the groom. After which the groom had the opportunity of viewing them. There were many gold coins, some bills and cheques, and other valuable gifts showing the esteem in which the bride and groom are held by all.

From the presents the bride and groom led the way to the tables tastefully decorated and lighted by the mellow glow of golden candles in golden candlesticks,—reminding one of the olden time. On the table were two pickle bottles, presents from Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mills, to the bride of fifty years ago, and of to-day, a silver cake basket, the Presbyterian Church's gift to the bride of fifty years ago, as she was their organist at the time; also another cake basket, the Church's gift fifty years ago to the bridesmaid, the late Mrs. Joseph Graham, at her marriage one year later. This was kindly loaned for the occasion. The luncheon of roast turkey with accompanying jellies and salads, was beautifully served by the younger friends and neighbors of the bride at her request, and their painstaking work was greatly appreciated by all.

A very pleasing feature of the occasion was the presence of six guests who were at the former wedding, and three of the six, Dr. Mabee, who was groomsman; Mr. Harvey Mills and Mr. James Davey, spoke feelingly of their long and happy intercourse together during all these years. Capt. D. J. Freeman, of Hartington, cousin of the bride, was toastmaster at the request. Those who spoke proposing toasts or replying thereto were the Pastor, Capt. Freeman, Dr. Mabee, H. Mills and Jas. Davey. Dr. Mabee, of Odessa, was the leave before the end to keep an urgent appointment, but could not leave without expressing his regret at having to go, and his gratitude for the opportunity of being present at one of the finest functions he ever attended.

Messages of congratulation, regrets that they were unable to attend, and gifts were received from relatives and friends far and near. New York, Michigan, Minnesota, Florida and Toronto, Hamilton, Kingston and Vancouver, Saskatoon, Toronto and Kingston were all represented, and from the many also from the immediate vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lapum were born here and have lived here all their lives, being well and favorably known by all. The only regret on their wedding day was that the great function that has taken place in Wilton in many years, if indeed, it was ever surpassed.

At the closing, the National Anthem was sung, after which Capt. Freeman, the toastmaster, by the bride herself, whose voice rang clear and sweet as of yore.

HURT BY "DOUBLE"

Englishman Victim of Unusual Circumstances

Reduced to Penury Through the Operations of Man Who Resembles Him With a Fidelity That Must Be Remarkable.

Somewhere in England flourishes a brilliant scoundrel who is committing fraud after fraud in the name of Herbert Leslie Perkins, gin impoverished herb seller of Wolverhampton, writes a foreign correspondent of the Kansas City Star.

He is said to look exactly like Perkins, even to a tendency to stoop. He dresses like him, has the same manner, tums and voice, and is sufficiently familiar with Perkins' past to assume his identity before acquaintances—but he cannot write like him.

For this theft of his personality Perkins has paid painfully. He has been imprisoned five times, being acquitted each time at the subsequent trial. Four warrants are now out for his arrest, and a sword of suspension hangs over him that may result in other warrants. His savings of $500 have been spent to earn his freedom, and most of his furniture and his wife's keepsakes have been sold to support his family of six children while he lies in jail.

He was first arrested October 15, 1919, for fraud at Gloucester. Five days after his release he was arrested again and taken to Chesterfield, in Derbyshire, where he was remanded for trial on the declarations of four persons that there could be no doubt he was the man who had defrauded them. Yet he never had been in Chesterfield before in his life. At the Derbyshire assizes he proved that on the day of the fraud he was at the Gloucester market in Staffordshire. Fourteen old specimens of his handwriting were produced. None of them was anything like the criminal's.

The jury promptly acquitted Perkins. While his friends were congratulating him in the courtroom a policeman pressed forward and arrested him for other alleged frauds. They dragged him off to Hull police station, where Perkins says he lay that night wondering if he was "mad or only dreaming." In Hull he was again positively identified, and he had to remain 18 days in Hull prison before his trial. This time he had 14 witnesses to prove his presence at various markets distant from Hull on the dates that the frauds were committed.

"I could have produced sixty witnesses," said Perkins, "but it took my last cent to pay the fares of the four-teen."

The operations of the "slick" double hurt the police nearly as much as Perkins. They have four warrants for his arrest and a number of other frauds committed at Burton-on-Trent, Peterborough, Bristol and Leicester. The warrants are pigeonholed for the time being. The police are ruminating.

Penniless, Perkins busily is digging in order, after which the bride and them, but after 27 days in jail and with the shadow of prison bars still hovering over him he has little peace of mind.

Future Rapid Travel.

Mr. Lindsay Bashford, writing in the Edinburgh Review, foresshadows a London to Calcutta journey by rail in a fortnight.

"The Bagdad railway," he says, "begins at Konia, in the heart of Asia Minor, where, by means of the Anatolian railway, it connects with Constantinople. From Constantinople to Aleppo the distance is some 870miles. From Aleppo, the line proceeds to Jerablus, on the Euphrates, and thence by Nisibin to the important center of Mosul on the Tigris; thence southwards to Bagdad and on to Basra. The distance from Aleppo to Bagdad is about 650 miles.

"Carry the imagination further, and we may reasonably picture, under the new political arrangements between Great Britain and Persia, the extension of the Bagdad railway to Teheran, and thence to Quetta and India. That done travel 'overland' between London and Calcutta should be a matter of less than a fortnight."

Revenge.

Sucking a stick of candy, the small brother of the village belle eyed the visitor. The belle aforesaid had seen fit to administer severe punishment, and the small boy was seeking vengeance.

"I know why Gwendoline wears her hair bunched down over her ears," he breathed between the sucks and grins maliciously.

"Do you?" asked the young man, to whom any news concerning his adored one was welcome. "Won't you tell me?"

"Yes," he replied; "I daren't tell anyone. But if my ears were as big as Gwendoline's are I'd do it, too."—Houston Post.

Another Use for the Airplane.

Even the airplane, so by airplane is declared by Paul W. Merrill to be not chimerical. A modern plane could readily surmount any obstacle. Fog or cumulus cloud, though cirrus is usually too high, and, aside from cirrus clouds, the observer would have a wonderfully clear dark sky. And photographic observations are not out of the question. A Cleveland plane with a Liberty motor, at 10,000 feet altitude, rides more smoothly than a train, and should permit direct photographs on a small scale—especially if the plane were equipped with a gyroscopic stabilizer.

Cigar Nomenclature.

The nomenclature of the cigar trade is one of the very interesting phases of democracy. No gentleman laid upon building up a market for a 16 cent cigar ever named it for a sixteen man. He complimented, instead an actor, a philanthropist, a race horse, a hypothetical Indian maid or a supposititious Spanish grandee. To have named a 10-cent cigar for a statesman would have been to "queer" both the cigar and its involuntary patron. The people would not have stood for that sort of thing. It would have presumed a certain superiority which they would have rebuked both at the cigar stand and at the polls.—Philadelphia Public Ledger's "On Second Thought."

Old Myth About Bells.

There is a poetic that silver gives a sweet tone to bells. According to the bell founders, a silver bell would give about the same tone as one of wood. The origin of the myth, they say, is quaintly mischievous. For the want of transportation, it was the custom in more ancient times for bell casters to work in churchyards, where they erected temporary foundries. The parishioners would crowd about, and to them the founders would beg for more and more silver to give the bells a sweeter ring. The silver later found its way into tavern tills, not into the bells.

Cause of Earthquakes.

Modern geological science holds that earthquakes are due to "faulting." "Faults" are breaks in the strata of the earth's surface, the broken edges slipping past each other so that the same rock is found at different levels on opposite sides of the fault. These breaks create weak places in the earth's crust, and from time to time more slipping occurs. When this happens, an earthquake of greater or less violence is the result.

Safety Pins Long in Use.

Safety pins can be traced back to the Fifteenth century B. C., when pins were made of bone and bent over shaped like the modern safety pin. Many of them have been found in graves of that period. Since then the safety pin has passed through many changes and been made of various metals. An average of 1,000,000 gross of safety pins are now manufactured yearly.

Chairs of Historic Interest.

There is still kept in the museum at Dorchester, England, the judge's chair —a very substantial article—used by Jeffreys at the assize at which he tried the Monmouth rebels after Sedgemoor, in 1685; and in Moreton-in-the-Marsh may be seen the elaborately upholstered chair and footstool used by Charles I at his trial. They are kept in a glass case.

Humble Nickel Can Hardly Be Classed as Real Money in These Spend-thrift Days.

Once upon a time a nickel was real money—but those days are gone.

In the days of our youth, watermelons could be purchased for the sum of five cents, but now not even the transparent slice can be obtained for this sum.

Enough bananas could be bought for five cents to give three boys indigestion, but that was long ago.

There was a time when small boys were wont to do chores around the home for the coveted nickel—but not now.

Who can forget the man who used to walk into the cigar store and say, in a loud voice, "Give me a good nickel cigar."

There was a time when a nickel bought a loaf of bread, or a dish of ice cream, paid for a shoe shine and even made a steeable tip. Some of the old citizens, in their more reminiscent moods, can recall those days—or at least they say they can.

But gradually, one by one, the uses of the "jitney" passed away. It would buy nothing to eat, nothing to drink, unless reinforced by the once despised penny, until only a ride on a street car remained to be secured in exchange for the nickel.

And then the street railway company followed in the wake of a long and illustrious procession of profiteers.

CHILD GIVEN UNIQUE NAME

American Girl to Go Through Life With YWCA as One of Her Appellations.

"We've named her Y. W. C. A." said a proud young mother as she displayed her two-months-old baby to a group of girls at one of the many Y. W. C. A. branches in New York city recently. So "Alice YWCA Stamboulies" is a real child, the possessor of a unique name which will always be a reminder of her mother's first days in a strange country. When Mrs. Lulu Stamboulides, a pretty Roumanian girl, first came to the United States nearly two years ago her young Greek husband, whom she had come here to marry, took her immediately to the Harlem branch of the Y. W. C. A. in New York city to learn the American language, customs and ideals. He himself had found this training at the Y. M. C. A., Mrs. Stamboulides entered English, art, cooking and sewing classes and soon became one of the most popular members of the branch. Then when little Alice arrived the father insisted that her middle name should be "Y. W. C. A."—and so it is—and Alice Stamboulides can hold her own with Mary Armistice and John Pershing Janeses of the day.

Cherish Enthusiasm.

To keep to the forefront you must not lose your enthusiasm. Charge your boy dreams with man experience and march the world gasp at your progress. When the visions of youth set the shift of maturity to definite tasks there's bound to be ringing achievement that will last. The sober old world will scold and scoff, but it can never harness the spur of youth. Dreams bred of surging desire and chaffing enthusiasm are bound to find fulfillment whatever the cost. And best of all the fulfillment means blessing to the world. We all profit by every new gift to the world. Gifts are the product of dreams and visions. It's the spirit born of youth that provides for the world's progress. Keep young by dreaming and doing to the extent of your power. It's a spur to power.

Dodo's Big Mistake.

The dodo—its name today a synonym for "back number"—became extinct owing to the circumstance that it was good to eat. Not being able to fly, its clumsy waddle gave it no means of escape. Sailors stopping at the island of Mauritius, to which it was native, killed it for food. Not even a skeleton of the dodo now exists, and until recently it was supposed there was only one picture of the bird—made by an artist who visited Mauritius in 1638. But it now appears that living specimens were taken to Amsterdam at about the same period, and beautiful painted portraits of them have turned up. One of the latter is of a white dodo (not an albino), which presumably represented a distinct variety, the ordinary type having plumage that was mostly gray.—Detroit Journal.

Wireless Mast on China's Wall.

A reinforced concrete wireless mast of large dimensions has been erected upon the Chinese wall for the use of the American navy. It is 164 feet in height. The original programme called for the making of the mast by the precast method in two parts, and then erecting them by means of derricks, but an accident occurred while the erection was taking place and an American engineer and four coolies were killed. The method of forming in molds was then tried, and although it was much more expensive than the other, it was successfully carried out.

Soft for the Cook.

Dr. Edal Behram of Bombay, India, comes to the fore advocating a permanent menu of shredded cabbage, pink and white beets, carrots, whole wheat and fruits, nuts and raisins, all to be eaten raw. Applications for permanent K. P. in the Indian army now in order. Line forms on the right.—Home Sector.

BURMESE FOND OF ANIMALS

Characteristic That Might Well Be Copied by Other Nations More Highly Civilized.

The Burmese people naturally are full of the greatest sympathy toward animals of all kinds, understand their ways, and make them feel they are their friends. And we know that if a person is kind to animals he is generally kind to his fellowman.

A Burmese boy would never be allowed to go bird-nesting, or ratting with a terrier, or ferreting rabbits. These would be crimes.

A Burman hates to kill. Neither for sport, nor for revenge, nor for food, must any animal be deprived of the breath that he is in it.

All the animals—the ponies, the cattle and the working buffaloes are so tame that it is an almost unknown thing for anyone to get hurt. You can walk through the herds of an evening in perfect safety, for they will not attempt to touch you.

Many of our growing boys think it a grand thing to be bullfrogs to pain—not only their own but to that of all others. To be sorry for a wounded dog or a hunted hare seems "girly" to them. But to the Burman kindness to animals is the highest of all virtues. He believes that nothing of great value can exist without compassion and love and sympathy—that these make up all that is most beautiful in life.

I think we can take a lesson from the Burmese in their dealings with dumb animals.—The Young Soldier.

HELPED TO WIN GREAT WAR

Many Thousands of Chinese Laborers Took Useful Part in the Recent Conflict.

A little known bit interesting sidelight on the World war is the fact that China was represented in the great conflict by 150,000 laborers, of whom 100,000 worked with the English forces, and 50,000 with the French.

They were recruited in China from the low or coolie-labor classes in units of 500 men. During the early days of the war and up to the middle of 1917 they were sent in transports down through the Indian ocean, up the Red sea and over the Mediterranean sea just Gibraltar to France. But submarines in the Mediterranean made travel too perilous and the route was changed. The balance of the 200 units of 500 men were then sent over the Pacific to Vancouver, B. C., where the Canadian Pacific would transfer across our continent to Halifax, Nova Scotia, and thence across the Atlantic to France.

Each man's queue had been cut off and an identification disk, or "bracelet," in army vernacular, placed around his wrist. He was given 40 cents a day, two-thirds of which was set aside for his family or dependents in China —more money than he ever knew about before in a month—and this proved to be a magnet which drew thousands upon thousands of coolies to the recruiting station at Tientsin.

Barge, 63 Years Old, Sinks.

On old double-deck barge sailed the Harvest Queen, built in 1857, sank slowly upon the mud alongside the barge office through failure of her pumps to keep out the flood until repairs could be made in her leaking sides. She was towed here from Norfolk by the coast guard cutter Manhattan and was to be used as a temporary houseboat for the men of the coast guard service, who were compelled to give up their quarters in the municipal ferry terminal at South Ferry. Although the barge had a reputation for being an unusually leaky craft in her old days, an investigation will be made to ascertain if she was helped to the bottom by persons who had no wish to be housed aboard of her.—New York Tribune.

Just Like Peacock.

Although the American redstart is a little bird only five and a half inches long, it has one trait in common with the gorgeously plumed peacock, namely, that it seems to be very fond of its handsome plumage and is continually spreading its tail feathers, says the American Forestry association, Washington. The male redstart, whose colors are red, orange and white, does not attain the black portion of its plumage until he is two years old and it is two years old, this part of the bird during its early life being strangely mottled, the female is grayish, yellow and white.

Lazarette.

The words, lazaretto and lazarhouse, meaning a hospital or place for the reception of persons suffering from contagious diseases, and especially by leprosy, are derived from the Italian word of like meaning, lazzeretto. All are derived from Lazarus, the name of the poor leper in the parable to be found in the Gospel of St. Luke, chapter sixteen. This is the only case in the New Testament where a proper name occurs in a parable. The words derived from that proper name show the influence this parable has had on the mind of Christendom.

Money in Raising Alligators.

There is much money to be made in alligator farming. The demand for alligators is large, constant and rapidly increasing; the supply is limited, and there is not much competition. The few alligators haveato be fed on meat, but they need no food from September 1 to May 1, for this is their hibernating season, when they do not eat at all.

How Many Objects in This Picture Start With the Letter "P"?

The above picture contains a number of objects beginning with the letter "P". Just take a good look at the picture—there are all sorts of things that begin with the letter "P"—"puppy", "pumpkin", "paddle", "purse", etc. Nothing is hidden; you don't have to turn the picture upside down. Make a list of all the objects in the picture the names of which begin with the letter "P". Have the whole family join in—see who can find the most. Don't miss any. Fifty cash prizes will be awarded for the fifty best lists of words submitted. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of visible objects shown in the picture starting with the letter "P" will be awarded first prize; second best, second prize, etc.

Young and Old Join in the Fun

The Mail and Empire announces today another puzzle game in which all can participate—from the tiniest child to grandfather and grandmother. No object is so small but that the poorest eyesight can see it. It is a test of skill. Your ability to find "P" words determines the prize you win. Right after supper this evening, gather all the members of your family together; give each of them a pencil and sheet of paper—and see who can find the most "P"-Words". You will be surprised to find how large a list of words you can get with a few minutes' study. Sit down NOW and try it—Then, send in your list and try for the big prizes.

Observe These Rules

1. Any man, woman or child who lives in Canada, and is not a regular employee of The Mail and Empire or the associated Mail and Empire, or a member of an employee's family, may submit an answer.

2. All answers must be written by February 5th, 1925, and addressed to C. A. Montgomery, Puzzle Manager, Mail and Empire, Toronto.

3. All lists of names should be written on one side of the paper only, and should be numbered 1, 2, 3, etc. Write your full name and address in the upper right hand corner. If you desire to write anything else use a separate sheet.

4. Only such words as appear in the English Dictionary will be counted. Do not use obsolete words. Where the plural is used, the singular cannot be counted, and vice versa.

5. Words of the same spelling can be used only once, even though used to designate different objects or colors, or parts, of objects or articles. An object or article can be named only once.

6. Do not use hyphenated or compound words, or any words formed by the combination of two or more separate words, where each word in itself is an object.

7. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of names of visible objects and articles shown in the picture that begin with the letter "P" will be awarded First Prize, etc. Neatness, style of handwriting have no bearing upon deciding the winners.

8. Any number of people may co-operate in answering the Puzzle, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household; nor will prizes be awarded to more than one of any group where two or more have been working together.

9. In the event of a tie for any prize offered, the full amount of such prize will be awarded to each tied participant.

10. Subscriptions (both new and renewal), payable in advance at $5.00 per year by mail in Canada, or $6.00 per delivered by carrier boy in Hamilton, will be accepted. However, no one obsolete words. Where the plural is used, the singular cannot be counted, and vice versa.

11. A new subscription to anyone who has not been receiving The Mail and Empire since January 15th, 1925.

12. All answers will receive the same consideration regardless of whether or not a subscription to the Mail and Empire accompanies it.

13. Subscriptions will be carefully verified by the Puzzle Manager. Candidates marking old subscriptions as new will positively forfeit the credit of such subscriptions as qualifying for the Maximum Bonus Rewards.

14. Three prominent Toronto citizens, having no connection with The Mail and Empire, will act as judges to decide the winners, and decisions will be sent to each successful competitor by sending in their lists agree to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive.

15. The Judges will meet on February 18th, and announcement of the Prize Winners and Bonus Winners will be made and published in The Mail and Empire as quickly thereafter as possible.

YOU CAN WIN $1,000
There Are Three $1,000 Prizes

The "P-Word" Picture Puzzle Game is a campaign to increase the popularity of The Mail and Empire. It costs nothing to take part and you do not have to send in a single subscription to win a prize. If your list of "P-Words" is awarded FIRST, SECOND OR THIRD Prize by the judges you will win $35; but if you would like to get more than $35 we will pay you $500 cash prize if you secure one new subscription to The Mail and Empire.

SEE HERE NOW: If your answer wins the "P-Word" Picture Puzzle wins FIRST, SECOND OR THIRD Prize, and you secure two new or one yearly subscription to The Mail and Empire at $5.00 by mail in Canada, or $6.00 delivered by carrier boy in Hamilton, you will receive $1,000, instead of $35 fourth prize, $250; fifth prize, $200, and so forth. (See second column of figures in prize list.)

Or, if your answer wins FIRST, SECOND or THIRD Prize, and you secure two new or two yearly subscriptions to The Mail and Empire (one new and one renewal or two new) at $5.00 by mail in Canada, or $6.00 delivered by carrier boy in Hamilton, you will receive $1,000 in place of $35; fourth prize, $500; fifth prize, $300, and so forth. (See third column of figures in prize list.)

How is that for a liberal offer? But, LOOK, there are three $1,000 prizes. Therefore, if you stand FIRST, SECOND or THIRD, and have secured two yearly subscriptions at $5.00 each (or each by mail or $6.00 each delivered by carrier boy in Hamilton), by sending in their lists agree to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive. $1,000 in a year's subscriptions at $5.00 a year each (one new and one renewal or two new) to qualify for the big $1,000 rewards, absolutely. That is the maximum. You can do this with little effort. Your own subscription can count. We can also take either yearly or six months' at any future date. Just mark in your order when you want the paper to start and we will not commence delivery until you say.

Subscription Rates--Payable in advance. THE MAIL and EMPIRE anywhere in Canada by Mail $5.00 Per Year. Delivered by Carrier Boy in Hamilton or London, $6 Per Year

Rural Route Subscribers This offer applies to Rural Route patrons, as well as subscribers living in cities and towns. IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of the late Mrs. Averil Brown, who fell asleep January 26th, 1924, at 12.15 a.m. Deeply missed.

The one we loved so well,
Has silently gone ahead,
Another link in heaven
Has been made.

Lord, hear our Master say,
"Your work on earth is done,
Come home to me to-day,
Rest here in heaven."

So we will try to mourn
And wipe away each tear,
We trust her life may seem forlorn
But we will try and bear.

But we believe in God,
His Creator of our kind,
Through Him we shall soon be tried,
And with Him years behind.

By sorrowful husband, may we say,
Mother, we miss you dearly,

In haste to catch a street car before the conductor closed the door, a man dropped a two-pound package of sugar in the street. The sack burst; the granulated gave way, ruined. DOG AS CHILD'S COMPANION

With the Right Kind of Animal Youngster Will Seldom Stray Beyond Safe Bounds.

An observation of our friend, the farmer, that "I dunno's I ever heard of a child's gettin' really lost that had a dog to play with," merits consideration.

Sweeping generalizations are unsafe, but there is no question of the value of a dog as a child's playmate and protector. Some dogs have the runaway instinct themselves. The call of the wild stirs within them—they are vagrants by nature. Such a dog would delight to have human company in a runaway journey and are not safe companions for children. But the right kind of dogs, and there are many of them, who have been brought up with children, are quick to assume the role of guardian. With such a dog no child would ever get lost; indeed, would not be allowed to stray beyond bounds.

We have in mind a Great Dane whose temper was such that, although we were acquaintances, we never ventured to enter his domain, if he were around, until he had had time to satisfy himself that we could pass muster. Once satisfied you were approved by the god he called master and god does he called mistress, he had an embarrassing way of standing on his hind legs and placing his front paws around your neck—a caress quite likely, if you were not well braced, to knock you off your feet. He was the inseparable companion of the baby of the family—a boy of four or five—who had a predilection for running away. When the youngster started, the Great Dane followed; when the child reached the gate, the dog blocked his way, gently but firmly. For any one to have touched that child when the Dane was near would have cost him his life—unless he had first shot and shot to kill.

The intelligence of the dog is a source of constant amusement to those who know him best and love him most; and of his devotion there is, happily, no question. If all children had dogs as playmates there would be fewer to run away and get lost.—New Bedford Standard.

Varnish Not Full Protection.

Wood is not wholly protected from moisture by varnishing, which is shown by tests of the Forest Products laboratory in Wisconsin to have only a retarding effect. The woods used were yellow birch, basswood, red gum, African mahogany, white ash, white pine, Sitka spruce, southern yellow pine, bald cypress, incense cedar, Port Orford cedar, and sugar pine; but there was no perceptible difference in the different species in the moisture absorbed through the coating. Three coats of high-grade spar varnish were applied to the panels of each species, two panels being brush-coated and two dipped with a special machine designed to give an even coat. The panels were dried 72 hours between coats and ten days after the final coat; and were then exposed in a chamber to atmosphere practically saturated with moisture. The brush-coated panels then showed ten grammes of moisture per square foot of surface; the dipped, between four and five grammes.

Still Believe in Fairies.

A case just heard in the Tipperary courts reveals the survival in Ireland of a belief in the fairies. It was a claim for compensation for cutting trees and bushes around a fort at Shanahilly. The claimant said he especially valued these bushes as "there was dancing and lights there every night."

It was alleged that the defendant had taken away the bushes to evict the fairies.

The judge pointed out that if there were fairies they would visit their anger on the man who dared to cut the bushes and not on the owner. He did not accept the fairy theory and dismissed the claim.

Receiving Wireless.

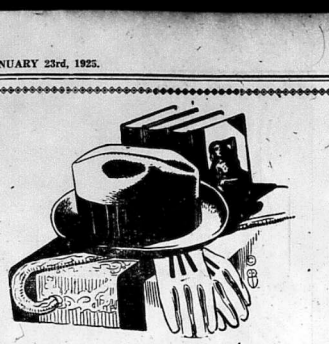
By use of photography, a method invented by C. A. Hoxie, an electrical engineer of Schenectady, wireless messages can be received and recorded at a far greater speed and with more accuracy than heretofore. The invention permits the eye either to supplement or replace the ear in reading wireless messages. The machine has reached a rate of 400 words a minute, and in test as many as 600 words. Up to this time the most rapid method of recording radio signals has been by phonograph, but this must still be transcribed, so to speak, by the ear and not the eye, and moreover no permanent visual record is made.

Harmful Dust in Factories.

The dust in various industrial establishments is found by Professor Winslow of Yale Medical school, to range from about one-twentieth of a grain of solid particles per 100 cubic feet of air in a good metal polishing shop to 12 grains in a foundry factory. But while a carpet or blanket mill yields more dust than such industries as metal polishing and shot-grinding, little of it is inorganic matter, and it is the dust from abrasive materials that is most harmful and to tend most to produce tuberculosis.

To Foil Auto Thieves.

To aid in the capture of automobile thieves, a Los Angeles garage has invented a clamp to be locked about a tire which makes a loud noise each exciting to hear, when both be stuck?"—Kansas City Star. exciting to hear, when both be stuck?"—Kansas City Star. exciting to hear, when both be stuck?"—Kansas City Star.



"BROCK" HATS GIVE SATISFACTION

Men who wear Brock Hats day in and day out in all seasons (excepting, of course, in summer), know a Brock is good for one year's continuous wear,—and could be worn longer, but by that time the trimmings have become soiled,—thus spoiling the Hat's appearance.

Brock Hats are made in Brockville, have more style, and are equal, or better, in quality than Imported Hats of the same price.

Worms in children work havoc. These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines and, if left to pursue their ravages undisturbed, will ultimately perforate the wall, because these worms are of the hook variety that cling to and feed upon the interior surfaces. Miller's Worm Powders will not only exterminate these worms, of whatever variety, but will serve to repair the injury they have done.

SEEK PHILIP'S GOLD

Effort to Salvage Spanish Galleon Goes Merrily On.

Treasure Seekers Refuse to Give Up Hope of Securing Wealth From Flagship of Commander of "Invincible Armada."

Little did the duke of Medina-Sidonia, admiral in chief of the Invincible Armada, dream, as with high hopes he set sail from the Tagus on May 29, 1588, that his great galleon, the Florencia, would be sunk off Tobermory, on the coast of Scotland, and would be supplying treasure trove to adventurous spirits more than three centuries later in the year of grace 1910.

The Florencia, which was popularly reported to be filled with gold, jewels and silver plate, fled northward with her sister vessels in frantic attempt to get back to Spain by rounding the north of Scotland after the fateful war council had decided to abandon the unequal fight in the narrow seas of the English channel. This was the decision which caused Sir Francis Drake to write jubilantly to Walsingham on July 31: "There was never anything pleased me better than the seeing the enemy flying with a southerly wind to the northward. We have the Spaniards before us, and mind, with the grace of God, to wrestle a pull with them."

The doomed ship had reached Tobermory when MacLean of Morven by a well-directed shot succeeded in setting fire to her powder magazine. The resultant explosion scattered the vessel and her contents far and wide over the sea bed. The immense wealth which she was believed to have on board has from that time to this exercised over many minds as potent a fascination and spell as ever was wielded by dreams of discovering the treasures hidden by the buccaneers who sailed the southern seas.

At length, after several desultory attempts at reaching her, a salvage company was formed in 1905, and operations, begun then, have been continued intermittently ever since. Enough was discovered to encourage perseverance, though not to reward enterprise — blunderbusses, swords, scabbards, a bronze cannon and a few doubloons. Several recent signs, however, indicate that the searchers are at last on the right track and will soon strike the main hull. Then, if ever, should the ship's stronghold yield up it's long-lost treasure and add one more to the romances of the deep.

Mixup in Relationships.

Adoption proceedings before Judge Raymond Dubb presented a complex situation that lawyers are trying to figure out, writes a Syracuse (N. Y.) correspondent. James and Lucy Loatwell were born six years ago. Their mother, Mrs. Lucy Loatwell, wife of James Loatwell, died shortly after their birth. Their father married again and then Percy McDonald, brother-in-law of the deceased Mrs. Loatwell, adopted Lucy. Charles Singer, brother of the deceased Mrs. Loatwell, adopted Jimmie.

Lucy must now call her own brother Cousin Jimmie. Her own father becomes Uncle Jim. Her hitherto Uncle Percy now becomes papa. While she will always revere the memory of the departed mother, she must regard her maternal parent as a decensal aunt, at least in the law. Her own cousins, the children of her adoptive parents, become her brothers and sisters, and the same holds true of little Jimmie. Lucy's now legal father becomes uncle to her own brothers while her stepmother she must address as auntie.

Historic Inn to Be Sold.

The famous Saracen's Head inn at Southwold, Eng., in which many American tourists have found entertainment, is to be sold at auction. Its history as a hotel runs back through 500 years.

In its early days the house was called "The King's Arms." King Charles I. stayed at the inn during the Civil Wars. Charles surrendered himself to the Scottish Commissioners on May 6, 1646, in the coffee room. The bedroom which that monarch used on the night before he gave himself up is still well preserved. Other English kings also stopped at the ancient hotel.

Arts and Crafts in Australia.

Determined to revive interest in arts and crafts work, the executive of the Arts and Crafts Society for Victoria has invited the craft workers of the commonwealth to send exhibits without entrance fees to the annual exhibition in Melbourne in November. The exhibition will include examples of pottery, toy-making, metal work, stained glass, modeling, lace and leather work, engraving and etching, and design of poster work. Designs must be original, and if possible have an Australian motif. The fact that a number of disabled soldiers have taken up arts and crafts work will add additional interest to the exhibition.

Were Built to Last.

The extraordinary tenacity of building materials was what most impressed a British architect visiting the war area. He frequently saw arches with only one abutment still held firm by in position by cohesion, though loaded with heavy walls, and in the Market hall of St. Quentin an iron column with base shot away was still held upright by the superstructure it was designed to support.

DISCARD ALL SPOILED FOOD

Death Lurks in Even a Taste of Canned Stuff That Contains Putrefactive Germs.

It is an extraordinary fact that there are still many persons in this country who make no attempt to salvage canned food, which they know to be spoiled, by making it into salads and such dishes.

The Journal of the American Medical association publishes a long report by Drs. Charles Thom, Ruth F. Edmondson and L. S. Giltner of the microbiological laboratory, United States department of agriculture, Washington, on several recent deaths due to eating canned asparagus that had spotted. And it adds an editorial saying that "botulism," as the fatal disease is called, is "disturbingly frequent in the United States (apparently no case has ever occurred in Great Britain)."

The canned vegetables to blame are almost always those put up at home, and have generally been treated without boiling, although boiling does not always kill the putrefactive germs that cause the trouble.

When canned foods spoil they are not even to be tasted, for a minute quantity is sufficient to cause death. Nor should domestic animals be permitted to eat them. There would seem to be no occasion for any one to meet this quick but terrible death, for spoiled canned vegetables always smell nasty, and the vile odor ought to be warning enough for anybody.

Inventor of Corliss Engine.

George Henry Corliss, inventor of the Corliss engine, was born in Easton, N. Y., 102 years ago. His first device was a machine for sewing boots and shoes. After several other minor inventions had been completed by him, he settled in Providence, R. I., in 1844 and became head of a firm engaged in the manufacture of steam engines. Here his talent began to show full scope, and in 1848 he completed the original form of what has since become famous the world over as the Corliss engine. By the invention Corliss revolutionized the use of stationary engines throughout the world, and conferred a great and lasting boon upon industry. Corliss, who became immensely wealthy, died in Providence in 1888.

Gordon Wasn't Worried.

Mother asked Gordon to keep the baby quiet while she hurried to the grocery. Soon after she left the baby began to cry and Gordon gave her his watch to play with. When mother returned she was horrified to see baby putting the watch in her mouth.

"Good gracious!" she exclaimed, as she seized the watch. "Why did you give it to baby; she might have swallowed it."

"I was holdin' the chain," explained Gordon, "so it couldn't go far. But even if she did swaller it I wouldn't care very much, 'cause pa has promised me a better one."

Italian Territory in Africa.

Italian Libia now comprises the two provinces of Tripolitania and Cirenaica, and lies along the north coast of Africa between Tunis (French) on the west and Egypt on the east, and is bounded from about 9 to 23 degrees east. The extreme northerly point of Libia is at about the parallel of latitude 33 degrees north; the southernmost point is unknown, as the territory runs south into the unmapped Sahara indefinitely.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

She—My husband certainly does enjoy smoking in his den. Has your husband a den?

Other She—No, he crowds all over the house.

He—Somehow — somehow I can't bring myself to do it, Mabel.

She—It's only a short sentence, George.

He—No, it's a life sentence.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while fully effective, is mild.

A man in a mental hospital sat dangling a stick, with a piece of string attached, over a flower-bed. A visitor approached, and wishing to be affable, remarked: "How many have you caught?"

"You're the ninth," was the reply.

Sores Flee Before It. — There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have "driven them away" with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. All who have used it would have no mind in applying this splendid remedy, as there is nothing like it to be had. For a chaser, put its praises in no way expressed by its low price.

Porter (breathlessly): "Ere's your ticket, sir"— four-and-three-pence, please!"

Traveller (as train moves out): "Oh, thank you so much, porter. There's four shillings — keep the threepence for yourself!"

The Oil of the People.—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

He rushed his life to rescue the fair maid from a watery grave, and, after many, many days, got her safely ashore.

"Young man," he said, "I can never adequately reward you for your heroic act. You incurred an awful risk in saving my only daughter."

"Never mind about that," the small, fair lifesaver; "I am already married."

Newfoundland Man Attributes This to Dodd's Kidney Pills

He First Began Using Dodd's Kidney Pills Twenty-four Years Ago.

Fortune Harbour, Nfld., January 16th. (Special)—No place seems to be too small to furnish at least one person who is prepared to say that he owes his health to the good old Canadian Kidney Remedy—Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Richard Quirk, a well-known and highly respected resident here, is one of them.

"About 24 years ago I had a very severe attack of kidney trouble, was so ill for over a month, and an aching back that I was almost if not quite a cripple. I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and in six months I was completely relieved.

I am now in my 81st year and am still in good health and strong, which I firmly believe I can attribute to the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills so many years ago."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have been scientifically used for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Diabetes, Lame Back, Heart Disease and all illness caused by faulty kidneys.

RELIABLE VACCINES.

For the Prevention of Contagious Abortion near View of Chance to Qualified Veterinarians.

Reliable abortion vaccines and bacterins are prepared and sold by a number of veterinarians, graduates of veterinary colleges. Reputable laboratories sell these products only to qualified veterinarians, because they do not consider it advisable or safe as yet to allow an indiscriminate use to be made of them, which might be injurious. They can at all times be procured through qualified veterinarians and used under their direction. The laboratories of the Ontario Veterinary College will be prepared to supply a limited amount of abortion vaccine to qualified veterinary surgeons, providing an owner of cattle makes a request that he desires to have his animals vaccinated, and furnishes the name and address of the veterinarian he desires to employ, and the number of animals to be treated. On receiving such a request, the vaccine will be sent to the veterinary surgeon, with directions as to its use, and on condition that he will report to the College the results obtained. As the keeping of careful records and furnishing the report to the College will take considerable time of the veterinarian, he will receive the vaccine free if he so desires or remunerate him for his trouble. Owners and veterinarians desiring to avail themselves of this arrangement may do so, by writing to the Principal, Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph.

Discriminating buyers secure their cattle from herds that are regularly tested and proven free of tuberculosis and contagious abortion.

The value of the pure-bred cattle industry lies in the ownership of cows which are capable of producing very high class bulls and heifers.

RIGIDLY EXCLUDE FRESH AIR

French Seemingly See No Reason Why It Should Ever Be Admitted to Bedroom.

Europeans do not like fresh air, writes Theodore Roosevelt, in Average Americans. They feel a good deal like the gentleman in Stephen Leacock's story who said he liked fresh air, and, believed you should open the windows and get in all you could. Then you should shut the windows and keep it there. It would keep for years.

I have been in France when every chance where the windows were nailed shut. The beds also are rather remarkable. They are generally fitted with feather mattresses, and feather quilts. Very often they are arranged in a niche in the wall like a closet, and have two doors, which the average European, after getting into the bed, closes, thereby rendering it about as airy and well ventilated as a coffin. I remember my own billet in one of the towns where we stopped. As I was commanding officer, it was one of the best and was reasonably warm. It was warm because the barnyard was next door, literally in the next room, as all that separated me from a cow was a light deal door by the side of the bed. The cow was tied to the door. When the cow slept I slept; but if the cow passed a restless night I had all the opportunity I wanted to think over my past sins and future plans.

In another town an excellent billet was not used by the officers because over the bed were hung photographs of all the various persons who had died in the house, taken while they lay in that bed.

FEAR SPREAD OF BLINDNESS

Scientists Alarmed by Reports From the Oasis Towns of the Great Sahara Desert.

A plague of blindness is sweeping the oasis towns of the Sahara desert, according to a dispatch received at Washington from Biskra. Dr. Toumet, of the Pasteur Institute of Ophthalmology, who is conducting experiments on a herd of monkeys in an effort to isolate the germ which is blinding tens of thousands of Arabian children, has informed the American Red Cross that eight of every ten children in the Sahara are now affected.

The white suns of the Sahara are creating the eyes of hundreds of children, With Biskra, "the Garden of Allah" oasis, as their headquarters, they tour the desert on camels, visiting the oasis towns where the plague is at its worst.

With the approach of the hot months it is feared the disease will become even more widespread. The fifth of the oasis towns and the uncovered food meet market knee deep countless millions of flies even during the winter months. Flies are believed to carry the germs of the dread trachoma, with which in northern Africa 100,000 Arab children are infected.

Postal Air Service.

After the signing of the armistice the British authorities established a postal airplane service to Cologne, and in connection with this service systematic use was made of wireless telephony, says the Halifax Morning Chronicle. Wireless telephone stations were placed on the ground at distances of fifty miles from each other, and with the use of quite small sets were able to transmit messages to aircraft up to thirty miles away. They could also receive from the air to about fifty miles. Frequently these distances were exceeded and an airplane was in communication at one and the same time with three stations. Considering the small size of the apparatus employed these were remarkable results, and testify to the rapid progress made by the British air service since the first trials of wireless telephony to airplanes in 1915.

World's Diamond Trade.

Considerable activity has prevailed in the diamond trade in British Guiana within the past few months, and prices have advanced to a high level. Buyers are now in the interior by those interested in the business in Georgetown. It is current report that the English market is very eager to absorb any quantity of stones, large or small, and that they are being bought not only by agents but also for American markets regardless of present exceptionally high prices.

In Samoa.

With a total population of 31,000 in western Samoa, of which less than 1,000 are white, and 2,000 Chinese, the demand in confectionery is mainly for hard candies, better known locally as boiled lollies. The great trade is in cheap candies, while fancy and chocolates suffer from the extreme humidity of the climate, which necessitates their being imported in sealed metal tins, retailing from 50 to 75 cents per pound.

Swiss Crops Poor.

The crops in Switzerland in 1919 were considerably below those in 1918, with the exception of the fruit crop. This was due to unfavorable atmospheric conditions, a cold and wet spring, drought in early summer, then again in late summer, followed by sudden falls in temperature and early frosts, and to the fact that the acreage planted in 1919 was smaller than in 1918.

BIG CHANGE NOTED

Life in Country Today Compared to Twenty Years Ago.

Custom of Sleeping Outdoors, for Instance, Is Fading—What the "Movies" and "Canned Music" Have Accomplished.

Twenty years ago the inhabitants of entire villages, up in New York state at least, seemed to fear fresh air o' nights and slept with their windows closed. Night air was not healthful, they said—and a lot of them lived to be ninety-seven even on that theory. The window sashes were nailed down and stuffed with rags at the first sign of snow and we, slept under those conditions.

In those days if anyone had practiced sleeping outdoors, even in summer weather, it would have caused a sensation. "Cracked, I swan!" the old farmers would have said.

The change came gradually, presumably because the sons and daughters of the old farmers went to work in the large centers where opened windows were, if not the rule, surely not the exception, remarks a writer in the New York Evening Sun. Now the complete change hits one fairly in the face when he returns to the once airless districts of early youth.

Night and day now the windows are wide open and sometimes even doors are never closed; no one thinks of living without screens and mosquito netting, even the poor in hallows and hovels. The families frequently eat outdoors under the old apple tree, on red and white table covers or oilcloth or a bare scrubbed board. Like the omnipresent flivver that carries the clerk and his family to picnics along the roadside, the outdoor-eating habit has done wonders for the health and happiness of all, particularly the country folk.

Out-of-doors sleeping is now well nigh a habit. Hardly a porch in that country nowadays is complete without a khaki sofa couch, a made-up cot or one of the old time hard, hitherto "sofies" with pillows and a patchwork quilt or two, ready for the sleeper. Most of these were hung with mosquito net curtains, looped back by day.

Nowadays on these outdoor couches are seen reclining in daytime the old folks of the family, lying at length with his bare feet toasting in the sun. Twenty years ago he would have slept in the dim parlor behind closed shutters; or if very foolhardy, he might have been caught by watchful eyes taking a daily napping under the old apple tree.

Yes, the country has come on!

But outdoor sleeping by rural children has not yet arrived. Here the farmer's wife draws the line. It may be all right for grandpap and herself to sleep outdoors, but not get more about the night air for little lungs. So children's cots are not seen upon the porches. They still sleep within four walls and a ceiling.

The city and large towns have come to it through fresh air campaigns, by propaganda in newspapers, in churches and in social centers. The country absorbed it through newspapers and magazines.

But if there has been a notable change in the attitude of people and village folk toward fresh air there has been an even greater change in their social life. The small town of twenty years ago is not the small town of today. Then they had church socialites. They may still have them, but I do not know where. There used to be buggy rides and prayer meetings, and the greatest dissipation of the younger villagers was "going walking," with a possible "sody" at the corner drug store. Recent television depicts these rural scenes truthfully, but his pointed view is now out of date.

The movies and "rances" made have revolutionized village life. Even in those families where there is no automobile life is a far pleasanter thing than it was twenty years ago. The movies entertain the whole family. And in the evenings, when the movies fail, the average rural family draws a bee with ice-cream cones and candy alone but with a rollicking, jazzing mechanical piano. The drug store has become largely a refreshment parlor; it is now a social center. Young and old meet there and strolling and loafing have gone into the discard.

The closing of saloons may have helped, but even before prohibition the lilting notes of music boxes in ice cream parlors began to woo the villagers.

Twenty years ago never was there such joyousness in country life, such gaiety among the young people as now sang-frold among the boys, such naive sophistication upon all. There spoke the screen in Mary Pickford curls, in styles of an extremity, in a youth's cane, in a girl's vampish slouch. And all the Joy Line, the "peach" and the rest of the change that has come over village habits of living. The cheap cost of the photoplay and the movie palace has taught the public in out-of-the-way places to get into the game; to live joyously.

Wood Strong, Though Light.

Tests of balsa wood by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology showed a strength of fully one-half as great as spruce. Yet this Equadorian wood weighs only 7.3 pounds per cubic foot, while spruce weighs 28.7 pounds. The wood is stated to be practically pure cellulose, with no lignification, the absence of which and the structure of large barred-shaped cells.

EARTH IS GROWING COLDER

Old Fashioned Arctic Winters Seem to Be More and More Recognized Institutions.

How do the old-fashioned people account for the fact that this second decade of the twentieth century, now near its close (the decade, not the century) has produced more "old-fashioned winters" than any like recorded period in the past? "The climate is growing milder," some people say. It appears more likely it is growing steadily colder. The oldest inhabitant cannot remember a more Termontish sort of a winter in Boston than the one which has happily come to an end, remarks the Transcript of that city. One would, indeed, rather expect it to be so. Our moribund earth is constantly radiating its heat into the silvery spaces between the planets. The sun is pumping away into regions far beyond the planets, with a positively inconceivable recklessness of wastefulness, its stores of heat and energy. We are trying to warm up the mills by war and are only chilling ourselves in doing it. The process has been going on for millions years and more. Perhaps it is beginning to tell on the weather at Boston. Year by year the old-fashioned winters in Massachusetts are less fashioned—until at last Guiana and Amazonia will be sending their Arctic expeditions to Massachusetts bay, as we are now sending MacMillan to Baffin's bay.

ABOUT THE LAST ARGUMENT

After That It Was Time for Hubby to Get Busy and Buy Her That Davenport.

What she desired was a new davenport.

She had talked davenport until her husband's soul was tried. She made it her business to be carefully scrutinizing the furniture advertisements every time he caught her reading the newspaper.

She left pictures of davenports lying around on the table. She sent for furniture catalogues and he always found the pages open that contained davenport illustrations.

The subject could be glanced over her shoulder as she was going through her regular evening performance with the newspaper.

"More davenport advertisement, I suppose," he murmured a bit sarcastically.

"No, John, dear," she replied in similar vein. "You would buy me this with far less persuasion."

Then he took a second look at the paper. She was reading a collin company's advertisement.

Somewhat Humorous "Ad."

Bill Nye, known in his day as a humorist, owned a cow which he milked himself. He put an advertisement in the paper which read like this: "Owing to ill-health, I will sell at my residence, in township 19, range 18, according to the government survey, one plush raspberry cow, aged eight years. She is an unbroken horse and rides milk frequently. To a man who does not fear death in any form she would be a great treat. She is very much attached to her present home with a stay chain, but she will be sold to any one who will agree to treat her right. She is one-fourth short-horn and three-fourths hyena. I will also throw in a double-barrel shot gun with which to kill her. Her name is Rose. I would rather sell her to a non-resident."

Set Aim in Life.

A definitely fixed goal is a challenge to ingenuity. That is especially true for the mail hiker. Haphazard goals are apt to be the avenue to the hiker's least resistance. Attaining goals are not unbeatable but are the easiest short-cut to them. With a ruling purpose it's different. Every possible motive and means is marshaled to gain the end. Oldtime methods are seen to fail when most needed. So the youthful dreamer puts his wits to work to discover new methods to gain the point. And it's surprising what his unsuspected genius there is waiting to be called forth by a great occasion.—Exchange.

Autumn Leaves.

The infant school is out, and a crowd of tiny children come chasing each other down the road, laughing and calling, running in the wind, their cheeks rosy, their eyes dancing and their hair flying. Just as they reach me a big gust of wind shakes the trees above their heads, and quantities of yellow, brown and golden leaves come swirling down over and around them —and children and leaves all whirl away together. Whereupon I paint a mental picture, all russet and amber and little laughing faces, and call it "Autumn Leaves," for not all our happiest pictures get placed on canvas.—Christian Science Monitor.

Buenos Aires' Rapid Growth.

Buenos Aires is one of the fastest growing cities of the world. The census of 1914 showed 1,575,800 inhabitants, and the population is now estimated to be more than 2,000,000, since immigrants are arriving at the rate of more than 10,000 a week. Until recently the city has retained most of the characteristics of the small Latin-American city.

GLASS THAT CAN BE BENT

New Invention Declared to Be Suitable for a Number of Useful Industrial Purposes.

A new substitute for glass or for lacquer has been invented. It can mend cut with shears or with a knife and, when heated to more than 100 degrees Centigrade, it forms a transparent film which resumes its previous hard state on cooling. It is known as "cellon."

Under the patents of Dr. Eichelgrun, a company is making cellon in the form of a solid or liquid solution of acetyl cellulose in camphor, either white or colored, transparent or opaque. It appears in slabs, or tube form, as well as in the form of a plaster mass, as putty to be used for lagging purposes or as an anti-rust liquid.

The hard vitreous cellon is bendable and springy and insensitive to cold water, soap, fat, alcohol or petrol. When burnt in a flame it drops off like shellac, without, however, being at all combustible as the latter. Cellon varnish, which can be allowed to harden or solidity into flexible layers, is suitable for many industrial purposes. Liquid cellon can be used for impregnating textiles or for making insulating tape. In this latter form it can be taken from the round box in which it is wound up, even in the most cold condition, and allowed to harden in air.

USE FOR "TANKS" IN PEACE

French Have Put Frightful War Machines to a Variety of Highly Useful Occupations.

The French appear to be ahead of us in finding a use for tanks in peace times. A considerable number of French tanks which are comparatively small sized are now employed for transport purposes about the yards of large industrial works; others are used as farm tractors, while the larger tanks are replacing horses for traction along the wide paths of the great French canals.

The latest and perhaps the most remarkable employment which has been found for these machines is in connection with mountain climbing for tourists. For this purpose the armor, and of course all the fighting apparatus of the tank, is removed and a light open or superstructure capable of carrying from ten to twenty passengers added. The seating is either arranged longitudinally or transverse. Very steep grades can be taken, while the machines easily cross small streams and make their way through thickets, fall grass and over the roughest roads.

Japan's "Year of the Monkey."

Every year, in a series of 12, is known in Japan by the name of an animal as in the signs of the zodiac; this is the year of the monkey. Consequently the many millions of New Year cards exchanged were for the most part decorated with similar representations of various kinds. The year of the monkey is not considered propitious for marriage, as the word saru (monkey) also is a verb which means "to leave," and there is a superstition that all who marry in the monkey year are likely to leave their partners, who might otherwise be partners for life. Consequently all the couples who intended entering the married state in 1920 had to rush the ceremony through in December of 1919, keeping country registries and shrines very busy during that month. The post office had a gigantic task in delivering the hundreds of millions of New Year cards dispatched the day before the first of January.

Ressurceful Traveler.

Ole the Bear (A. H. Westerberg), mail carrier between Revelstoke, British Columbia, and Downie Creek, 45 miles up the Big Bend, succeeded in accomplishing a feat that established a new record in this district. The great depth of snow up the Big Bend, together with the heavy crust caused by raining and freezing, made it practically impossible for a horse to travel on long journeys, but Ole conceived the idea of making snowshoes for his horse, which he did out of birch, constructing them circular in shape and more than a foot across. For protection he covered the horse's legs with blankets, and thus he succeeded in making Revelstoke in three days without harm to himself or horse.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The True University.

Every true university should make room in its scheme for life out-of-doors. There is no place for it in a John Milton's plan of a school whose pupils should go together each year on long journeys, combining sailing cruises in order to see the world. . . . John Burroughs has a college on a little farm beside the Hudson and John Muir has a university called the Yosemite. If such men cross a field or are in touch with the open world for seven wonders of the world. That is culture. And without it all scholastic learning is dust, and all the sailing degrees known to a man are but china oranges hung on a dry tree.—Henry Van Dyke.

Best Him to It.

The company had been marching for two and a half miles without a rest, and Recruit Sullivan, holding the exalted rank of No. 8 in the rear rank, first squad, had about reached the limit of his endurance. Finally, just as he was about to give up the ghost and drop, the captain gave the command, "Company, halt."

"By the lord, captain," groaned Sullivan, as he unbuckled his pack, "you took the very words out of me mouth."

BOVINE TUBERCULOSIS

Progress of the Disease Is Slow, Insidious and Chronic

The Symptoms Described—How Milking Cows Become Affected—Post Mortem Appearances—The Septic Tank.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The onset of this contagious and infectious disease of farm animals is slow, insidious and chronic, with no outward manifestations for some time.

Symptoms of the Disease.

A short, dry cough, intermittent and more noticeable when the resting animal is made to rise quickly should be regarded with suspicion. A cough alone while suspicious is not entirely characteristic, nor should its absence mean that the animal is not tubercular. The breathing may be quickened, there may be an unthrifty condition and chronic diarrhoea. In some cases the loss in condition is very marked, and the animal recedes to a thin hide-bound condition, with sunken eyes and rough coat; such animals are usually referred to as wasters. There may be enlargement of the lymphatic glands, such as the submaxillary or the prescapular. Enlargement of any of the lymphatic glands should always be considered with suspicion. Slight bloating, which may be due to enlarged glands interfering with the normal functioning of the digestive tract, should be regarded as suspicious, since the mesenteric glands if badly infected may cause irregular action of the intestines, with bloating and constipation followed by diarrhoea. In cases where tuberculosis is affecting the bones and joints the animal may move with unnatural gait or show lameness.

How Milked Cows Are Affected.

The mammary glands of milking animals is a common seat of tubercular lesions. Hard areas in the glandular substance, painless on pressure, which may be very small or even involve the entire quarter of the udder, should be regarded with grave suspicion. These painless nodules or tumors if present can be felt by the most inexperienced. In cases where the udder is affected the supramammary lymph glands also become much enlarged and may be easily felt.

Post Mortem Appearances.

The effects produced in the body tissues are characterized by the formation of tubercules or nodules, which in the advanced condition are of a yellowish color and cheese-like consistency. Such nodules may be single and of small size, or they may be quite large and in masses. The common seat of tubercular lesions is in the following glands: bronchial and mediastinal lymph glands, the cervical, pre-scapular, pre-pectoral, portal, inguinal, sub-lumbar, popliteal and mesenteric glands. The lungs and the pleura are also common locations for the lesions of tuberculosis, in which they (the lesions) appear as hard lumps, easy to see and easy to feel. These when cut into are found to be cheeselike, and contain a thick yellowish pus.

The "Pearl Disease" Condition.

When the pleura (covering of the lungs and lining membrane of the chest or thoracic cavity) is affected it presents over its surface clusters of small round nodules, pale creamy red in color and resembling grape-like masses, commonly spoken of as "pearl disease" condition. When the organism successfully invades the liver caseous masses and tubercular abscesses are formed. These when cut open show the characteristic yellow cheesy pus and gritty feeling on the passing of the inciding knife. Where the peritoneum (the lining membrane of the abdominal cavity) is attacked the "pearl disease" condition is characteristic. Lesions in the udder, lymph glands, ovaries, kidneys and spleen resemble the caseous masses and abscess formation common in the liver. The evidence, the uterus, the bones and joints may also be affected with tubercular lesions. In old standing cases the pericardium (sac covering the heart) and the heart may be a position of attack by this destroying organism, the work of which is characterized by its destruction of tissue and the formation of tubercles.—L. Stevenson, Director of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

The Septic Tank.

It consists of a large concrete tank divided into two compartments by a vertical partition. The size for a single house is about 4 x 8 ft. and 2½ ft. deep. This tank holds the sewage long enough for a certain kind of bacteria to destroy the solid matter. When the liquid accumulates to a certain amount a non-mechanical affair called a siphon empties one of the chambers into a system of field tile, called the absorption bed, laid shallow under the ground. Any remaining sewage is destroyed in the soil by another kind of bacteria that live near the top of the ground. In this way these friendly bacteria are enabled to do a very valuable work for us. This is science applied to a useful purpose.

We supply bulletin and blue-print to any one wishing to build a septic tank. All necessary information is given in these, and by their helpful suggestions any handy men can build it. Cost for cement, siphon fittings and tile amounts to about $25. The tank may be located close to the house and the tile laid under the lawn or garden.—R. R. Graham, O. A. C., Guelph.

Bell Telephone Improvements.

Manager A. J. Evans, of the Bell Telephone Company, in drawing attention to another recently provided facility for local subscribers, points out some of the advantages to be derived from the new long distance circuit between Napanee and Picton. Before its inception he states that a call from Napanee to Picton required the services of three or more operators. The operator at Napanee, for instance, instead of being able to call Picton direct, would first call the operator at Belleville, saying that she wished to speak to Picton. The operator at Belleville would then call Picton, acting in this way in much the same capacity as a local operator who connects two subscribers in the same exchange. All this, although necessary by the former circuit arrangements, took up a large percentage of the total time required to complete a call. Now it has been eliminated by the construction of a line to be used solely for conversations between the two communities. Instead of three or more long distance operators, as was formerly necessary, only two, one in Napanee and the other in Picton, will be necessary to complete the call, thus saving valuable time for users of the service.

Installation of Officers.

On Wednesday evening, January 7th 1925, F. W. Barrett, D.D.G.M. of Napanee District No. 48, I.O.O.F., and his installing team of Napanee Brethren, installed publicly the officers of Odessa Lodge No. 361, in their Lodge Rooms, Odessa, before a large number of members and their friends. The work was done in a very able manner, after which a banquet was held in the Masonic Hall, following a very pleasant entertainment, which was enjoyed by all. Following are the officers chosen for 1925:
I.P.G.—S. W. Clarke.

ST. ANDREW'S ANNUAL MEETING

Congregation Votes to Enter the United Church.

At one of the largest congregational meetings in a long time held in St. Andrew's Church, on Wednesday last, reports were received from all the organizations in connection with the church activities. The reports, one and all, showed the work of the church in a most satisfactory condition. The givings of the congregation to all purposes amounted to $5825.00, which was an increase over the previous year of $550.00.

The Managers reported the mortgage on the church removed, all current expenses paid, the property in good repair, and a balance in the bank of $270.00.

At the close of the meeting the vote on Church Union was counted, and the result showed the following:

Possible Vote	148
Vote Cast	107
For Entering the United Church of Canada	85
Against Entering the United Church	22

After the announcement of the vote by the Returning Officer, the meeting was dismissed with the benediction.

SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL OF NAPANEE

The first meeting of the newly organized Social Service Council met for work in the Salvation Army Barracks when the Council seriously undertook the task for which it was formed.

A generous supply of wearable clothing had been sent in. This was all sorted and repaired, and a number of baby layetts prepared.

Twenty-seven children and four adults who were in need were supplied with clothing during the week.

The Council solicits the active support and co-operation of the community. Any case needing care and help which comes under observation should be reported to the Committee, of which Miss Johnston is the chairman.

Articles of clothing which may be wearable if repaired and overhauled can be left at any time at Masters & Tierney's.

OBITUARY

Mr. Charles Salisbury.

On Tuesday morning the death occurred at his late residence on West St., of Mr. Charles Salisbury. Mr. Salisbury, who was in his seventieth year, was born at Hay Bay, in this County, and lived there until 1877, when he married Miss Isabella Holmes, also of Hay Bay, and moved to Petrolia.

For five years Mr. Salisbury was engaged in the oil fields at Petrolia which were then just opening up. But at the end of that time he moved to Strathroy where he became the engineer of the electric works in that town. Failing health made it necessary to leave engineering and return to the farm, and for a number of years he owned and worked a farm near Watford, Ont.

Eight years ago he removed to Napanee and has remained here until the time of his death.

There are left to survive him, his widow, Mrs. Salisbury, of Napanee; three daughters, Mrs. John Gilliland, of Watford; Mrs. Isaac H. Newell, of Tiverton, Ont.; and Mrs. Percy Salisbury, of Napanee, and one son, the Rev. C. C. Salisbury, minister of the Presbyterian Church at Hemmingford, Que.

The funeral was held from his late residence, West St., on Thursday afternoon, Rev. A. J. Wilson officiating.

THE ECLIPSE — YOUR LAST CHANCE

Those wishing to observe the eclipse on Saturday will find the following schedule convenient. These official figures are for Napanee and district, and have kindly been furnished us by the Department at Queen's University.

If you wish to look at it in the early stages use a piece of ordinary window glass smoked evenly by a candle. Don't use a telescope or field glasses, as unless these were fitted with a special dark glass serious eye injury might result.

First contact 8 hrs 02 min 22 sec a.m.
Middle of maximum eclipse 9 hrs 11 min 50 sec a.m.
Last contact 10 hrs 27 min 57 sec a.m.

As another total eclipse will not be visible for about five hundred years, it is safe to say this will be "positively the last appearance".

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE

Enterprise, Jan. 9th, 1925.
Almere Hyland, Esq.,
Enterprise.

Dear Sir and Bro.,—At the last regular meeting of L. O. L. No. 431, it was resolved that the sympathy of this Lodge be expressed to you in the recent death of your father. In the many years of his connection with the Lodge he showed the principles of Orangeism to its fullest extent. We trust that the All Seeing Eye will direct your footsteps to that Grand Lodge above, where parting shall be no more.

Signed on behalf of the members of L.O.L. No. 431.

One Dollar a Pound for Tea Predicted Before Long

The tremendous increase in the consumption of tea as a beverage has been such that the producing countries have been unable to satisfy the demand. The price of tea has been steadily increasing for a number of years. Since, however, you can make from 250 to 300 cups of tea to the pound, even at the price of $1.00 the cost per cup is only one-third of a cent.

The Modern "Washlady."

The wash-woman problem is a difficult one these days, all housekeepers will agree. But one Columbus family has more to worry about than some of the rest.

Several days ago their wash was late in coming back from the "washlady" and when she finally did come with the clothes, in answer to the question as to why she was late, she stated:

"Well, you see we have a new automobile and the weather has been so nice that we have been taking motor trips every day."

Now the housewife is wondering what will happen to her washing when summer comes. It is of further interest to explain that the poor woman who is trying to have her washing done owns no automobile.—Columbus Dispatch.

Electricity to Thaw Ground.

The electric ground-thawing device used in Alaskan railroad building has the form of a hollow steel pile. This has a sharpened steel point at one end and a solid steel driving head at the other, and the hollow body contains a suitable resistance coil. The pointed tube is driven like any pile into the frozen ground to the required depth. Connection is then made with a power transmission line through a portable transformer mounted on a sledge and a low-volt current of high amperage is passed through the coil. The heat soon thaws the surrounding ground sufficiently for driving a wooden pile.

Utilizing Wood Waste.

The utilization of wood waste is one way recommended to cut down the high cost of living. Here are some articles made from sawdust and shingle waste which the New York College of Forestry is exhibiting in its efforts to show how the waste of the sawmill can be utilized to cheapen the cost of living. "Silk" socks, sausage casings, ground-wood pulp, paper milk bottles and sawdust shingles. The "silk" looks like silk and feels like silk, but is much cheaper than silk. The sausage casings are made by treating the wood with chemicals that turn it into viscose, and rolling this into thin films.

Rather Slow.

"Isn't Jackson a bit slow?" asked Lorret.

"Slow!" exclaimed Tadlock, who lived in the same boarding house. "An elephant could take a sponge bath and have a body massage while Jack was washing his face."—Judge.

OBITUARY

Daniel Loucks.

In the death of Mr. Daniel Loucks, which occurred at the residence of his son, Charles, late on Tuesday evening last, another old and very respected resident of Napanee has passed to the great beyond. The deceased had not been in the best of health for a great number of years, having suffer- ed a sun stroke about 22 years ago, which had impaired his health for these many years. During the winter months he and Mrs. Loucks had made their home with their son on Thomas street, and during the major portion of the winter he was confined to his bed. About a week before his death he suffered a very severe stroke from which he did not rally.

The late Mr. Loucks was born in North Fredericksburgh 85 years ago, but had resided in Clarksville, a sub- urb of Napanee, practically all his life. In early life he was united in marriage to Miss Chatterson, of Nap- anee, and had issue of two sons, Ar- thur, who died about ten years ago, and Charles, on the old family home- stead. Besides his wife and son, he also leaves to mourn his loss one brother, Jacob, of Sterling, and one sister, Mrs. Chapman, Carthage, N.Y. He was a member of Grace Methodist Church. His many friends in Napanee and the surrounding dis- trict will sincerely regret to learn of his passing away.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon from the residence of his son, Thomas St., and was largely at- tended. Rev. A. J. Terrill, of Grace Church, had charge of the service and spoke comforting words to the be- reaved. The remains were laid to rest in Riverside vault to await inter- ment in the spring.

Gordon D. Storey.

On Tuesday morning, Jan. 6th, 1925, a gloom was cast over the whole community, when they learned of the sad death that had taken place during the night, in the person of Gordon D. Storey, at his late residence, Napa- nee.

The deceased, who was only in the prime of life, was born at Wagar- ville, Ont., in 1893. Some years later he, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emelus Storey, moved to Newburgh, Ont., where Mr. Storey followed his trade as machinist with Mr. F. Breese.

In 1911 he was united in marriage to Miss Ardell Strange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Grange, Napanee, and soon after came to Napanee to reside, where he had secured a posi- tion with Mr. F. J. Roy, of the Nap- anee Boat Works, and remained in his employ faithfully to the end.

The deceased was held in es- teem by his employer and those with whom he worked; in fact, everyone who knew him was drawn by the many kind acts during his illness, and no effort of all loving hands and medical aid could do, but he passed peacefully away.

The funeral was held on Wednes- day, in Grace Methodist Church, and was attended by a large circle of friends and relatives. Floral tributes the remains were conveyed to River- side Cemetery, where they were laid to await interment in the family plot. Beautiful floral tributes were pre- sented by the staff of The Napanee Iron Works, the Napanee Firemen, of which he was a member, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mott, Bath, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, and others.

The pall bearers were Messrs. W. Roy, W. Stevenson, L. Sweet, H. Van- deline, N. Irwin and H. Traycott, all of whom he had worked with for many years.

To the sorrowing wife, he leaves one daughter, Elizabeth, aged 8 years; father and mother, one sister and three brothers to mourn his loss, and all have the sympathy of the en- tire community.

Egerton M. Clark.

After an illness extending over a period of some months, death came to a happy release to Egerton M. Clark, formerly of Ernestown, at the King- ston General Hospital, on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The deceased, who was in his seventieth year, was taken ill last fall in the spring, on account of failing health, he was forced to give up his farm. He moved to Kingston and took up residence at 298 Univer- sity Avenue.

About ten days ago he underwent an operation at the hospital, from which he failed to rally.

The late Mr. Clark was born in Ernestown, and had lived there all his life. He is survived by his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Frank Reid, Collin, B.C.; Miss Evelyn, Rore- mowed to Morven, where he continued to live until his demise. Two years ago his health commenced to fail, but was still active until a few months of his death. In religion he was a life- long Methodist, and a faithful member of the Brick Church, Morven.

There are left to mourn, his widow and one brother, C. C. Bell, and two sis- ters and three brothers, Mrs. Van- Slyck, Wallabalta, North Dakota; Mrs. John Frailick, Morven; John Alsworth Bell, Morven; Bowen E. Bell, Toronto; Geo. D. Bell, Belle- ville, and Wm. G. Bell, Detroit.

The funeral was held in the Brick Church, Morven, on Friday, the 17th, and the remains taken to Morven vault to await interment.

ODESSA

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sproule de- lightfully entertained about thirty of their friends at a progressive euchre party last Wednesday night. The rooms were handsomely decorated for the occasion. After the card playing excellent music was furnish- ed by the guests, consisting of violin and piano selection, and dancing was indulged in until the small morning hours. The refreshments served by the hostess at the mid- night lunch were very delicious. The prizes were won by Miss Linnie Lave- lor and Clark Boyce.—The annual meeting of the Ernestown Agricul- tural Society was held in the Town Hall, last Tuesday afternoon, and had a large attendance. A very interest- ing meeting of the Municipal Coun- cil for last year was held in the Town Hall last Tuesday night. Ex- Reeve A. Loyst called the meeting for the purpose of explaining a few of the transactions of the past year in which there were misrepresenta- tions and misunderstandings. The members of the old Council were all present, and the hall was well filled by representatives from all over the Township. Everything was fully ex- plained, and very satisfactory to all present.—The many friends of Mr. Edward Clark were sorry to hear that he passed away last Sunday morning, in the Kingston General Hospital, after a long and serious illness. Mr. Clark was born a short distance from here and spent his years on the homestead, only leaving about nine months ago, owing to ill health, and locking after affairs in Kingston. To mourn his loss besides the widow are three daughters and two sisters, Mrs. Norman Hamm, Bath, and Miss Minnie Clark, Den- ver, Colorado.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

ENTERPRISE

We are having a regular old fash- ioned winter, the mercury register- ing from zero to seventeen below, with no January thaw yet.—The la grippe is on the rampage here the last two months. Dr. Horrocks has been working night and day, and has been on the sick list for nearly a week.—Mrs. Reuben Milligan is on the sick list, also Miss Thistlewaite, Truman Jackson and W. H. Hinchey. And nearly everyone you meet has a grip cold.—Mr. T. S. Murphy has purchased the premises and business from Mr. W. Wagar & Co., and is now in charge. Mr. Horrocks is a new arrival—Mr. John Wilson has been confined to the house for a week with a bad cold.—Mr. W. S. Fenwick has been on the sick list for a few weeks with an attack of la grippe.—Rev. J. A. Poston has made several calls lately on the sick mem- bers of his congregation.—A large member of our school children have been home with colds, and some with whooping cough, which has been very bad here.—Misses Erma and Nina McColl, of Woodville, were the guests of W. S. Fenwick and Miss Clark last week.—Mr. Irwin Bell and wife, of Kerr Robert, Saskatchewan, are spending a few weeks here visiting friends.—Mr. Clayton Brown has purchased two timber lots, and is getting out wood and logs.—Mr. Harold Vanneat has charge of a gang of men for W. S. Fenwick & Sons here, cutting and drawing logs and wood. —Mr. E. R. Perrin, for Peterborough Cereal Co., was in town this week.—Service in St. John's Church next Sunday at 2.30 p.m., when Rev. Canon Jones, of Kingston, will con- duct a dedication service on a me- morial window being placed in the church by Mr. S. B. Merrill, in mem- ory of his late wife.

NEWBURGH

Mr. Albert Clancy left on the 19th for Florida to remain for a time.

Mrs. John Davidson, Calgary, is vis- iting her mother, Mrs. L. Youmans and other friends in the Wesley vicinity.

Charlie Dethridge spent last week in Pet- boro.

The first carnival of the season is to be held at the rink on Monday, Feb. 2nd. Prizes will be awarded in the different classes, and a good time is assured.

John Cooper, of Thompsonville, was in the village on Tuesday on business.

The Rev. Mr. Bray was in Kingston for a few days during the week.

Miss Mitchell, of Queens, was home for Sunday.

Mrs. Orson Benn, of South Fredericks- burgh, was in the village on Sunday last.

Mrs. Bowerman and daughter Doris spent Saturday in Napanee.

The first hockey match to be played at the rink was pulled off on Tuesday even- ing between Gibbards, of Napanee, and Newburgh teams, which resulted in a score of 8 to 1 in favor of Newburgh.

Miss Hannah Paul gave a missionary address to the members of the Sunday School of the United Church during its session on Sunday last.

Miss Dickinson, of the High School staff, gave an address at the mid-week service in the same church on Thursday evening.

CAMDEN EAST

Wednesday morning was very cold, 35 below zero.—Mrs. Ben Huyck, of Bel- leville, spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Fred. Snider.—A large number of people were disappointed on Saturday last in not being able to see the eclipse after considerable preparation, as understand the electric lights were turned on at the Camden East Paper Mills on Monday last, so it looks like disappoint- again. Mr. L. Houpt has been here twice during last week.—The C. T. Club held forth at the home of Mr. R. Long- more Friday evening. It was a grand suc- cess, and all enjoyed it very much, both old and young. A total amusement was put on by the committee. That is the place to go for a merry evening. The G. T. C. will hold their new social even- ing at Delbert Sexsmith's on Feb. 6th. An excellent programme is being pre- pared.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Youmans left Monday for Colinsby, to spend a month with their daughter.—The sick are all on the mend around the village.—Mrs. Sher- lock spent the past week with Mrs. Sex- smith at Bickrell's Corners.

THE LATE MRS. MARGARET BOGART

The town has suffered much re- cently from the death of outstanding residents whose presence had come to be looked on as part of the communi- ty itself. The latest of the number to answer the final summons was Mrs. Margaret Ann Bogart, whose death occurred at the Kingston Gen- eral Hospital, on Sunday.

Mrs. Bogart took ill on New Years Eve, and was taken to Kingston for an operation for appendicitis. The reports for some days were optimistic and hope was held out for her ulti- mate recovery. But after ten days of the intensest suffering she began to weaken, the system failed to respond to the treatment, and on Sunday night she passed quietly away.

Mrs. Bogart was the daughter of the late C. B. Perry, a respected citi- zen of the town, and Mrs. Bogart was herself a lifelong resident of Napa- nee. Early in life she was married to Mr. Redd Perry, who at the time of the wedding was engaged as a Civil Engineer on what is now the Cana- dian National, Ottawa Branch, which at that time was under construction. Two daughters were born to them, Miss Gussie Perry, now Mrs. Barr Hall, of Princetown, B.C., and Miss Pearl, now Mrs. F. S. Boyes, of Nap- anee. For a number of years after the death of Mr. Perry, Mrs. Perry along with a niece, resided on Bridge Street, and of more recent years she has lived with her daughter, Mrs. Boyes, on John St. In May of last year she became the wife of Mr. M. C. Bogart.

No person will be more missed in town than Mrs. Bogart, and more particularly by a large circle of church workers with whom she had labored all her life. A member of Trinity Church, she had been the President of the Ladies' Aid and for the past year. Generous to a fault, unselfish to an unusual degree, bright and happy under all circumstances, possessing an optimistic outlook on life, on infectious smile, and happy laugh, contributing money and labor to every good cause, her presence added charm and created an atmos- phere of genial good will to any com- pany in which she happened to be.

She leaves to survive her, Mrs. S. A. Trumbleau, a sister, of Napanee, and the two daughters, Mrs. Barr Hall, of Princetown, B.C., and Mrs. F. S. Boyes, of Napanee, to whom sym- pathy goes out to the relatives and particularly to the daughters, Mrs. Hall, who resides in British Colum- bia, was unable to be present.

The funeral was held on Wednes- day afternoon. A brief service was conducted by Rev. W. R. Tanton, the Pastor of Trinity Church, at the home, and then a public service fol- lowed in the Church, when a very large assembly of citizens had gath- ered to pay their last respects. Hymns, favorites of the deceased were sung, and brief addresses given by Rev. W. R. Tanton, Rev. A. J. Wilson. Frgm the church the body was taken to the vault at Riverside where interment will prevail.

The bearers were E. J. Sexsmith, F. B. Richardson, J. E. Robinson, D. B. Wilson, A. A. Bartlett and Henry Creighton.

WILTON PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The annual meeting of the Wilton Presbyterian Church was held in the church on Monday, January 19th, 1925, at 8 p.m. There was a good and representative attendance.

The meeting was called to order by the Pastor, and after the singing of a hymn, the reading of a passage of Scripture, and prayer, the review of the church's work for 1924 was pro- ceeded with.

The Secretary read the minutes of all the business meetings of the con- gregation throughout the year, and these were approved. The various re- ports follows:

The Pastor stated that he had oc- cupied the pulpit since Easter every Sabbath but six. Of these six, only five were supplied by other ministers and one service was withdrawn on account of the anniversary of a sister church. Three funeral services were held, one baptismal service, and the communion was observed on three occasions.

The Treasurer read the financial statement, which showed that this has been the banner year financially. It began with cash on hand $164.51, and after all obligations had been met, there was carried forward into 1925 the sum of $168.86. The Sun- day School report was read by the Secretary, and here also a fine show- ing was made, the total receipts be- ing $160.31, $15.00 of which went to missions. The W. M. S. report show- ed that this had been their best year. The Church's Treasurer summarized these reports, showing that the total receipts for all organizations were $1825.77, of which $43.00 was sent to the Missionary Treasurer of the church in Toronto, while our allo- cation by the Presbytery was only $35.00.

The retiring Managers were re- elected for three years, and other of- ficers of the Church and Sunday School were all re-elected for the current year.

The vexed question of Union was touched upon, and it was decided to take a vote on it at a time for the vote was put off till May 1st.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Council met in the Council Cham- ber in the Court House, on Tuesday afternoon.

County Clerk Wilson read the names of the elected members of the County Council for 1925, and asked the members to proceed with the election of a Warden.

On motion of Reeve Graham, se- conded by J. S. Johnson, Reeve J. L. Smith, of South Fredericksburgh, was unanimously elected Warden.

Mr. Smith, after taking the oath of office, briefly addressed the members, thanking the members for the honor conferred upon him in electing him Warden, and pointing out that several very important matters will come be- fore the Council this year, and asked the hearty co-operation of the mem- bers in the work of the Council.

Ex-Wardens R. W. Paul and W. H. Milling, Mr. Arlie Loyst, Rev. A. J. Wilson, Mr. E. J. Corkill and Mr. S. D. Wagar briefly addressed the Coun- cil; also several members of the County Council. All congratulated Mr. Smith on his elevation to the Warden's chair.

Mr. S. D. Wagar presented the Auditors' report for 1924, which was laid on the table.

The new members of the Council are Messrs. McCutcheon, Yeomans and Spence.

JOHNNY NOW IN "TRAINING"

Wife of Absent-Minded Veteran Will See That the Course He Is Taking Is Thorough.

"Johnny" did not come marching home, at least not to the wife awaiting his return, in an Iowa town, after a certain fighting division returned from France. The wife waited and wondered. Comrades of the man returned, but the waiting wife then got little information to offer, except to say that "Johnny" had been wounded in battle, that he had recovered and had come home on a transport.

"If disabled soldiers are given training at the hands of the federal board for vocational training," mused the wife, "and Johnny was wounded, he may ask for training, and—well, I will just write to the board asking them to notify me if 'Johnny' does ask for training."

A letter to the board brought back information that "Johnny" slightly disabled, was about to take a course in training. The wife gathered a few clothes, boarded a train and within a few hours walked in on "Johnny."

Here is the place to insert a few stars, exclamation marks, interrogation points, quotations galore.

There was a reunion. District vocational officers will not talk. They smile, but refuse to answer even the most innocent questions. Their reports do not indicate a sudden withdrawal from training of any veteran submitted. It is understood that the wife is now on the job to see that "Johnny" gets the training he applied for and another sort of training fanciful only by the afterthought wives of absent-minded husbands.—Exchange.

UNSPOILED TRIBES OF AFRICA

English Traveler Pays High Tribute to Morals and Behavior of Negroes Whom He Met.

Running up seven years of travel in the interior of Africa, where the natives are "uncorrupted by alcohol, European morals, and the love of gain either by fair means or fraud," an Englishman, Mr. E. Torday, speaks very well indeed of the African negro. In two crossings of the Congo Free State he met no tribe that "was not naturally good-tempered, and, in most instances, hospitable and trustful." Customs of course are different in a land where one may know the tribe to which a man belongs by the design that has been painfully embossed on his skin. The traveler tells of tribes where all the women who would be in the fashion paint themselves red from top to toe, and are so fond of the color that if a gift is given them they immediately paint it red also. Cannibals he met, and people who live in houses the door of which looks like a window, and others, remote from the inventions of civilization, who transmit complicated messages over long distances by signals on a wooden gong. Odd human beings, as the rest of us bear of them; but the traveler left them with regret, looking down from his steamer on the crowd gathered when he was leaving the Congo, "among whom there was not one who was not my friend." "Bobo" was his name among the natives, and as he steamed away, bore stout his "sleek black friends, waving their hands, cloth, branches, and anything that came to hand; and cheering in the native tongue, 'Good-by, Bobo; don't forget us!'"

Word Coinage of War.

"Don't be a 'dud,'" said the lad, half, coaxingly, half-contemptuously, to a schoolmate upon whom he was urging action to which the other opposed resistance. Thus a word used colloquially as designating shabby clothes or social uselessness effects acquires a meaning but indirectly traceable to the original. A remarkable number of new words, either applying to new inventions or to be classed as "soldiers' slang" came into being during the war and have been recognized in a 1919 dictionary. Presently philologists will be exploring a search for roots, and certain among them will be duly incorporated into our language, while others will drop out as words of occasion only.

New Perch for the Fisherman.

A new sport followed in some extent along the Pacific coast is that of fishing from airships of the "Blimp" type. The fishermen ascend to a height where they can readily spot a school of fish and then they descend and drift along with the fish. Hovering over the water they pull in the fish as fast as they can throw over their lines.

Origin of Manitoba.

The name Manitoba sprang from the union of two Indian words, Menito (the Great Spirit), and Waba (the "narrows" of the lake). This strait was a sacred place to the Crees and Sauteurs, who called them "Manito-Wabai," or the "Great Spirit's Narrows."

Halloween.

The celebration of Halloween dates back to antiquity. It was a holiday combining the lore mythology, Druidic beliefs and superstitions of that faraway time. The change to a social anniversary was gradual and finally became a recognized time for general merriment.

She Wanted 'Em Specific.

Tillie Clinger says the reason she didn't last long as salesgirl at the jewelry counter was because when a man came in and said he wanted something nice for his baby she asked him if his baby was a boy, a girl or a chicken.—Dallas News.

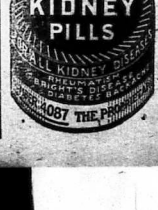
In Praise of Books.

Books are the crowning privilege in modern civilization. With a taste for books and music, let every person thank God, night and morning, that he was not born earlier in history.—T. Starr King.

Rank Shown by High Heels.

When high heels were introduced in Venice they were highly decorated. The height of the heels proclaimed the rank of the men and women wearing them.

"The celebrated actor was in a motor accident, yesterday morning, but fortunately he was able to appear last night in two pieces."



DOMINION BUREAU OF STATISTICS

January 12th, 1925.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics is releasing to-day the first volume of the final report on the Census of 1921. The main results of the Census have been given out in a series of some thirty bulletins, each dealing with specific aspects of the industrial and agriculture. The volume, however, contains the final detailed figures by local units, showing (1) the numbers, sex and geographical distribution of the population, (2) the racial origins, and (3) the religions. The volume also contains the administrative report on the taking of the Census.

According to the British North America Act, 1867, the taking of a Census is one of twenty-eight specific subjects exclusively assigned to the Dominion as distinguished from Provincial authority. The first Census Act was passed by the Parliament of Canada in 1870 and the first Census of the Dominion of Canada was taken in 1871. Altogether six decennial Censuses of Canada have been taken since the formation of the Dominion.

Census taking dates from a very early period. Moses numbered the Children of Israel in the fifteenth century, B.C. But investigations of a similar nature were known many centuries earlier; in Babylonia about 3800 B.C., in China about 3000 B.C., and in Egypt about 2300 B.C. A Census taken by King David in 1017 B.C. achieved an evil notoriety in history from the Divine wrath which it is recorded as having provoked and which was cited for many generations in Europe in a warning against the spirit of inquiry. As late as 1753 the taking of a census was condemned on religious grounds in the British House of Commons, when more than one member looked upon the proposal as ominous and feared lest some public misfortune should follow the numbering. The Romans were assiduous census-takers both under the Republic and the Empire and in later years the Breviary of Charlemagne in A.D. 808 and the Domesday Book of William the Conqueror (A.D. 1086) are celebrated mediaeval censuses. Later, for several centuries, the idea of census taking disappeared from Europe.

This report, however, brings to notice that the credit for taking the first census as known in modern times belongs to Canada. The year was 1666, and the census was one of the Colony of New France, as Canada was then called. This census was a systematic record of each individual by name, taken at a fixed date, showing occupation, conjugal and family condition. The records of it are carefully preserved in the Archives of Paris, a transcript of which may be seen in Ottawa. When it is recalled that in Europe the first censuses date only from the eighteenth century, notably those of Prussia (1719) and Sweden (1748) and France and England (1801), the achievement of the spirited Sir Louis Laverence colony in instituting what is to-day one of the principal instruments of government in every civilized community calls for more than passing appreciation.

From 1666 to 1765, when the French regime ended, no fewer than 15 censuses were taken in New Canada, nor was this census taking limited to what is now the Province of Quebec as in the succeeding years of the period seven similar censuses were taken of Nova Scotia, six of New Brunswick and one of Prince Edward Island.

Under British occupation there were censuses of Canada in 1765, 1784 and 1790. From 1817 onwards census taking in Canada has been more or less frequent, but it was only with the formation of the Dominion of Canada that they were taken at a stated period for the Dominion as a whole.

As above stated, the main figures of the 1921 Census have already been made available to the public but the following may be noted: the total population of Canada in 1871 was 3,689,257; fifty years afterwards in 1921 it was 8,788,483, an increase of 138.22 pc. In the last decade the increase was 21.95 per cent, while in the decade following the years of depression it was 17.23 per cent, in the second 11.76 per cent, in the third 11.13 per cent, and in the fourth 24.17 per cent.

It is also interesting to note that in 1871 Ontario possessed nearly 44 per cent of the population of Canada and Quebec a little better than 32 per cent, while in 1921 Ontario possesses 33.38 per cent and Quebec 26.87 per cent of the total population. The relative position of the Maritime Provinces as regards population in 1871 and 1921 is strikingly illustrated by the fact that at the date of Confederation they had 20.3 per cent of the total population as against 11.4 per cent in 1921. The same explanation lies in the growth of the Prairie Provinces. In 1871 out of a total population of 3,689,257 only 18,000 or .42 per cent dwelt in the Middle West; in 1901 they possessed slightly more than 2 per cent of the total population, while in 1921 they had more than 22 per cent.

The growth of urban population in Canada is forcibly illustrated by the fact that in 1921 there were 109 cities and towns in Canada with a population of 5,000 and over, against 87 in 1911, 67 in 1901, 45 in 1891, 34 in 1881 and 21 in 1871. In 1891 the population living in urban centres made up 31.8 per cent of the total population; in 1901 it had climbed to 37.5 per cent; in 1911 to 45.4 per cent and 1921 to 49.5 per cent. From 1891 to 1921 the rural population showed a gain of 34 per cent as against a gain of 141 per cent in the urban population in the 30 years.

In 1871 Montreal, within the area comprised within its present limits, had a population of about 115,000 as against 618,506 in 1921 and Toronto, a mainly agricultural city, in the forty years from 59,000 to 521,893. Winnipeg, which practically found a place on the map in 1871 with 241 persons, in 1921 had 179,087. Among the outstanding features may be noted that Vancouver and Calgary were first noted in the 1891 Census, while Edmonton, Regina and Saskatoon did not find a place in the Censuses previous to 1901. These are the leading and thriving centres of population, trade and industry.

The effects of immigration on the ethnic composition of the population is illustrated by the fact that in 1881, 59 per cent of the population was of Scottish or Irish origin; 31 per cent of French origin (nearly all native born) and 2¼ per cent of Indian, leaving only about 8½ per cent of the population as belonging to other races, while in 1911 or thirty years later, the proportion was as follows: British races 54 per cent, French 28½ per cent, Indians less than 1¼ per cent, and all other races nearly 16 per cent. In 1921 the proportion was British races 55.5 per cent, French 27.9, Indians 1¼ per cent, leaving all other races with 15.43 per cent of the total population.

The section dealing with the classification of the population according to religious beliefs enables persons who are interested in such a classification to ascertain with the fullest detail the relative strength of the various denominations by counties, townships or cities. Of the total population in 1901, the Church of England claimed 12.69 per cent; Baptists 5.92 per cent; Lutherans 1.73 per cent; Methodists 17.07 per cent; Presbyterians 15.68 per cent; Roman Catholics 41.51 per cent, while in 1921, twenty years later, the per cent proportions were, Church of England 16.02 per cent; Baptists 4.80 per cent; Lutherans 3.28 per cent; Methodists 13.18 per cent; Presbyterians 16.03 per cent and Roman Catholic 38.50 per cent. The Jews, which numbered 16,401 or less than one-third of one per cent of the population in 1901, had 125,190 adherents in 1921 or 1.42 per cent of the total population.

TREES IN DESERT OF SAHARA

Besides the Palm, There Is Said to Be Many Varieties, Also Forage Plants and Shrubs.

Besides the palm tree, which requires rather a large sheet of water, various other sorts of trees are found in the Sahara aside from numerous shrubs and tamarisks, principally the rubber tree and the ethel, a variety of the tamarisk. In the southern Sahara the Doumor Egyptian palm is found; it does not bear fruit, but the trunk and branches serve various purposes. The Apic possesses other arborescent species—notably mimosas of all sorts in the most unpromising regions. Fourcau believes that wooded plateaus will exist.

The Saharan contains a number of forage plants and shrubs. It was on these that the caravans pastured, and that even the 1,200 or 1,300 camels of the Foureau-Lamy expedition and its auxiliary convoys succeeded in sustaining themselves.

It must not be forgotten that we are speaking here of spontaneous vegetation, which exists without demanding help or labor from man. It is, therefore, an incontestable fact that these pastures lend themselves, of a certain degree of improvement, provided there is an initial establishment of these permanent pastures. The improvement can be attained by the selection of the best grasses, forage plants and arborescent species. As to Messrs. L. Trabut and R. Mares, the Saharan plants are very remarkable in their adaptation to a dry climate and to salty earth. The date tree is adapted to those Saharan regions, which are well provided with water; besides the date tree every section of the kitchen garden is very well developed. In the oases are found the fig tree, the apricot, the peach and the grape. Agriculture succeeds well in the oases of the North as at Biskra. The cultivated cereals are barley, wheat, sorghum and millet; lucerne is the forage plant of the oasis. It is of a very beautiful variety, with wide leaves and seems very resistant to salt. Industrial cultivation is now confined to a few plants, such as mother and a variety of tobacco used for snuff.—Scientific American.

Estimating Age of Moon.

Geological dates can hardly be very precise, yet Prof. W. H. Pickering seeks to reassure Sir George Darwin's view that the moon was thrown off from the earth less than 60,000,000 years ago with the figures of eye witnesses showing that the earth's crust became solidified at least 1,200,000,000 years ago. Professor Pickering's suggestion, as stated in Popular Astronomy, is that the moon was detached while the earth material was still sufficiently plastic, but that for ages it circulated around the earth as a cloud of fragments. The tidal influence of this cloud being small, the earth would have long retained its original rotation but may have been due to great tides raised while the young moon was so near the earth. This time of consolidation is found to correspond well with Darwin's calculation of the date of the moon's birth.

Greek Ancona.

Ancona, ancient port of the Adriatic, built by the Greeks of Syracuse about 390 B. C., is just the place where finds, such as are announced, might be expected. The very name Ancona is the Greek word for elbow, given to the port because of the shape of its harbor. And now, after centuries, possession in the form of some heroine name wonderful painted vases dating from the grandiose of Greek art, the finest of their surprises hitherto by the Goths and the Longobards, these treasures had lain buried in the earth until the sweat of a peasant brought them to light. Ancona is as important now as she ever was, having been distinguished in the great war, the base of the Italian navy. She has had her accommodation enlarged within the last few months by the building of a quay which has been given the name of Captain Pirault.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Judge—Your wife asserts that you have not spoken to her for a whole month.

Defendant—Well, you see, judge, I didn't want to interrupt her.

Hard and soft corns both yield to Holloway's Corn Remover, which is entirely safe to use, and certain and satisfactory in its action.

A portly woman had inadvertently taken a seat in a railway compartment reserved for smokers.

With unconcealed indignation she saw a man beside her fill his pipe.

"Sir," she said in frigid tones, "smoking always makes me ill."

The man lit his pipe and puffed contentedly, and at the same time replied: "Does it, really, ma'am? Take my advice and give it up."

Worms sap the strength and undermine the vitality of children. Strengthen them by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator to drive out the parasites.

While a shooting party were out for a day's sport in the Highlands a raw young sportsman was observed by a keeper to be taking aim at a pheasant running along the ground.

As it is unsportsmanlike to shoot a bird while it is on the ground, the keeper shouted: "Hi, you there! never shoot a running bird!"

"What do you take me for, you idiot?" came the reply. "Can't you see I'm waiting till it stops?"

It is usually safe to say that when a child is pale, sickly, peevish and restless, the cause is worms. These parasites range the stomach and intestines, causing serious disorders of the digestion and preventing the infant from deriving sustenance from food. Miller's Worm Powders by destroying the worms, correct these faults of the digestion and serve to restore the organs to healthy action.

"E's a nice pup, isn't he?" said John, the village idiot, gazing proudly at his pet terrier. "I 'aven't 'ad 'im long. I seed Farmer Jones one day talkin' 'im to t' pond, and I says to 'im, 'What be you goin' to do with that pup, Farmer Jones?' 'I'm goin' to drown it,' he says, sorrowful like. 'It's always chewin' the paint off t' legs o' t' sofa.' 'Oh! don't drown 'im, mister,' I says, 'give 'im to me, I'll cure 'im.' And I did cure 'im!"

"How?" asked the listener.

"I sewed t' legs off t' sofa."

One of the attractions at the church bazaar was a fortune-teller's stall. A woman took her ten-year-old, red-haired son inside. The woman of fortune looked at the crystal ball.

"Your son will be a very distinguished man, provided he lives long enough!" she announced in deep, mysterious tones.

"Oh, how nice!" gushed the proud mother. "And for what will he be distinguished?"

"For old age," replied the fortune-teller slowly.

It Will Prevent Ulcerated Throat.—At the first symptoms of sore throat, which presages ulceration and inflammation, take a spoonful of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Add a little sugar to it to make it palatable. It will allay the irritation and prevent the ulceration and swelling that are so painful. Those who were periodically subject to quinsy have thus made themselves immune to attack.

Annual Meeting of Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company

The forty-eighth annual meeting of the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held in the Town Hall, Napanee, on Saturday afternoon, January 24th, at 1.30 o'clock.

A. C. Parks, Esq., President, occupied the chair.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read, and on motion were confirmed.

The President informed those present that since the last annual meeting a year ago there had been several changes in the Insurance Act, the main item being re-insurance, and arrangements have been made to re-insure in the Bay of Quinte Mutual, of Picton, and the Hamilton Townships Mutual, of Hamilton.

Mr. W. Mearle Sills presented the balance sheet as of December 31st, 1924, showing a surplus of assets over liabilities of $74,387.72. The movement in risks during the past year showed an increase in policies of 65, and an increase in insurance of $209,875.00. A statement of the receipts and expenditures was also read by Mr. Sills, and on motion the report was adopted.

Messrs. A. Hartman and M. N. Empey were, on motion, re-elected as Directors for the next three years.

On motion Messrs. S. C. S. McKim and W. Mearle Sills were re-elected as Auditors for the ensuing year.

Mr. W. R. Lott, Sec.-Treas., spoke briefly, and informed the meeting that the Provincial Legislature had made amendments to the Insurance Act that materially affected the Mutual Companies. The amount of insurance that may be carried by a Mutual Company on any one policy is limited, and a section of the Act makes it necessary that the rate shall be raised on certain risks. The following schedule of rates, as compiled by the Directors, was submitted to the meeting, the amounts being for three years:

Classification of Buildings.

1st Class—Solid stone, brick, and cement, roofed with metal, slate or other first-class roofing.

2nd Class—Solid stone, brick, and cement, roofed with shingles; or brick veneered, hollow concrete blocks, rough-cast, and metal clad, with first-class roofing.

3rd Class—Brick veneered, hollow concrete blocks, roughcast, and metal clad, roofed with shingles; or wooden buildings with first-class roofing.

4th Class—Wooden buildings roofed with shingles.

Rates.

1st Class—If 80 feet from other buildings, 70 cents per $100.00 of insurance.

2nd Class—If 80 feet from other buildings, 85 cents per $100.00 of insurance.

3rd Class—If 80 feet from other buildings, $1.00 per $100.00 of insurance.

4th Class—If 80 feet from other buildings, $1.15 per $100.00 of insurance.

Parcels roofed buildings and contents, excluding live stock, the rate is 5 cents below shingle roofed buildings and contents.

If the total insurance on the buildings and contents affected is more than $2,000.00, the rate on all such buildings and contents, if isolated less than 80 feet, but not less than 40 feet, is 5 cents above, and on buildings isolated less than 40 feet the rate on buildings and contents is 10 cents above regular rates.

Ten cents reduction in rates will be allowed on buildings and contents, excluding live stock, if properly equipped with standard lightning rods.

Basic rate on live stock is $1.15 per $100.00 of insurance. If housed in higher rated buildings, take rate of buildings.

If the three years' payments are made in one sum, all net rates are reduced 5 cents.

Moved by Mr. M. N. Empey, seconded by Mr. J. C. Hudgins, that the new schedule of rates, as submitted, be adopted. Carried.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. C. Parks was re-elected President, and Mr. A. Hartman was elected Vice-President.

Her Trouble Started From a Bad Cold

Ontario Lady's Little Daughter Suffered From Headaches and Was Relieved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Are a Kidney Remedy and Can be Taken by Young and Old.

Williamstown, Ont., Jan. 26th (Special)—We have a testimonial from Mrs. L. Stanley, a well-known resident of this place. She writes us as because she feels that she owes it to other mothers, who have children suffering from weak kidneys to tell them the relief afforded her little girl. She states:—

"I must write to you regarding your Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have been having them for my child. She has been suffering from headaches, broken sleep, fitful appetite, and was always tired and nervous. I have found your pills very satisfactory and can recommend them to others."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have become a family remedy because people have tried them and found them good. They help Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sore Back, Heart Disease, Headaches and Urinary troubles, because all these are Kidney Diseases, or are caused by the Kidneys failing to do their work.

Jones had found a slip of paper on his lawn, it was an accurate and detailed plan of his private office. The exact position of the stairs was noted. Notes showed which doors swung in and which swung out. Even the windows were set down. Jones was alarmed.

"Some burglar must be going to raid my office," he told his family.

"Oh, he isn't a burglar," laughed her, glancing at the sketch. "Those notes are in Jack's handwriting. He's coming down to your office to ask you to let him marry me."

LIKE THE ANGEL OF DEATH

No "Bolt or Bar or Brand" Can Shut Out Henry Reporter Bent on an Interview.

The Hon. James Henry Smith, trust magnate and profiteer, sat in the mahogany and plush drawing-room of his mansion at Stingen-by-the-Sea and smiled. For days the federal grand jury had tried unsuccessfully to arrest him for raising the price of red flannel underwear. For weeks his wife had tried to serve a summons on him to appear and pay back alimony. For months a stenographer had been trying to collect a judgment for breach of promise.

Hon. James Henry Smith was entitled to smile. At Stingen-by-the-Sea he was safe. Armed guards patrolled his grounds. Charged wires protected the entrances. Bloodhounds sniffed the pathways. There was a bronze padlock to the front door to which the Hon. James Henry held the key. A detective sat in the hallway with a shotgun in his lap. Just outside the drawing-room door a burglar alarm was concealed under a rug. You take it all in all, it seemed safe.

As the Hon. James Henry mused, a little, smiling individual appeared at the front entrance. He jumped nimbly over the charged wire, slapped the captain of the guards on the back, patted the bloodhound on the head, fitted a duplicate key in the padlock, shoved a cigar in the detective's face, skipped nimbly over the burglar-alarm rug, and, pushing open the door to the drawing-room, stepped inside.

"Hello Jimmy!" he said affably.

The banker rose heavily.

"Who in h— are you?" he asked in a hoarse voice.

The blithe, smiling individual chuckled his hat on a table and pulled out a wad of copy-paper and a pencil.

"Who, me?" he chuckled. "I'm a reporter. Nice place you have."

And the interview was on.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Illica a Creative Genius.

Luigi Illica, the famous poet and librettist who recently died at his villa, Castel Arquato, at Milan, created the plots for more operas than any other writer for the last quarter century in Italy. His most famous operas were written in collaboration with Guiseppe Giacosa, and are "Boheme," "Fedora," "Manon" and "Adrienne." He wrote "Iris" and "Maschere" with collaboration, and has at least forty to his famous operas to his credit. Many composers drew upon him for plot and lines, says the Detroit News.

Although he was fifty-eight years old when Italy entered the world war, Illica volunteered for service and was with the artillery for one year. He suffered a fall from which he did not fully recover, and was forced to give up military duty.

His latest important opera score was that of "Isabeau," for which Mascagni supplied the music. The opera was received with indifference, which discouraged Illica. There was considerable discussion about alterations made in the libretto by the composer and director, and Illica said the production gave an entirely wrong interpretation of his work.

Better Postage Stamps.

Whether or not one is interested in postage stamps, except as a very temporary possession, a lick and a promise, one might say, that the post office will deliver the letter, it is pleasant to know, on the part of a writer to a publication, that the new stamps that some after the war are much finer artistically than those which formerly circulated. The secret offers itself to an essayist; and his study would perhaps show a steady improvement during the last few decades in the artistic quality of many everyday things, coins, banknotes and advertisements, for example, that prepared the way for the artistry of the posters that played so large a part in the war, and now expresses itself in the design of the new postage stamps. Artists of distinction, in fact, have been called upon to design many of the new stamps, as during the war they designed many of the posters.—Christian Science Monitor.

Made Study of Ocean Currents.

Admiral Pillsbury, who has just died at the aged of seventy-three, never shirked a fight, yet in the development of his career he came to be known more as a scientist than as a fighter. He had made a more careful study of the Gulf stream and of ocean currents generally than any other naval officer; and in this field of research he had few rivals. Among those rivals was the prince of Monaco, who has also made a specialty of currents. Admiral Pillsbury's monographs contribute very largely to the world's stock of information. The ultimate destination of drifting mines gave particular value to this phase of oceanography, after the armistice.

He Didn't Care.

Pupils from Technical high school were making the usual afternoon trip to town on an overcrowded East Michigan street car. Mr. Flirt was also making the trip to town on this particular afternoon, and from an advantageous position was making eyes at the girls.

"That fellow doesn't seem to care who he winks at," suggested one of the feminine members of the crowd. Then five seconds later: "Oh, there—he winked at me."—Indianapolis News.

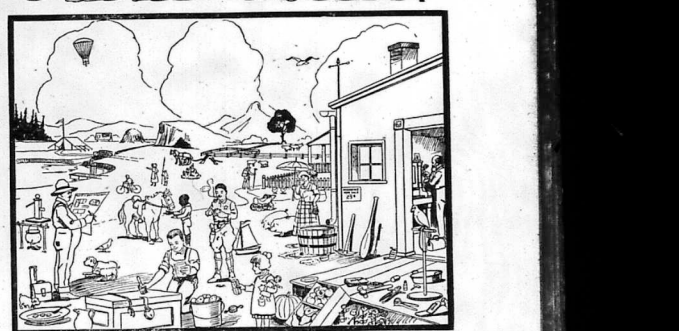
THREE OPPORTUNITIES TO WIN $1,000



How Many Objects in This Picture Start With the Letter "P"?

The above picture contains a number of objects beginning with the letter "P". Just take a good look at the picture—there are all sorts of things that begin with the letter "P"—"puppy", "pumpkin", "paddle", "purse", etc. Nothing is hidden; you don't have to turn the picture upside down. Make a list of all the objects in the picture, the names of which begin with the letter "P". Have the whole family join in—see who can find the most. Don't miss any. Fifty cash prizes will be awarded for the fifty best lists of words submitted. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of visible objects shown in the picture starting with the letter "P" will be awarded first prize; second best, second prize, etc.

Young and Old Join in the Fun

The Mail and Empire announces to-day another puzzle game in which all can participate—from the tiniest child to grandfather and grandmother. No object is so small but that the poorest eyesight can see it. It is a test of skill. Your ability to find "P" words determines the prize you win. Right after supper this evening, gather all the members of your family together; get each of them a pencil and sheet of paper—and see who can find the most "P-Words". You will be surprised to find how large a list of words you can get with a few minutes' study. Sit down NOW and try it—Then, send in your list and try for the big prizes.

With each

In the event of a tie for any prize offered, the full amount of such prize will be paid to each tied participant.

Observe These Rules

1. Any man, woman or child who lives in Canada, and is not a resident of Toronto, and who is not in the employ of The Mail and Empire, or a member of an employee's family, may submit an answer.

2. All answers must be mailed by February 7th, 1925, and addressed to "P-Words" Montgomery, Puzzle Manager, Mail and Empire, Toronto.

3. Only one list of words should be written on one side of the paper only, and numbered consecutively 1, 2, 3, etc. Write your full name and address in the upper right hand corner. If you desire to write anything else, use a separate sheet.

4. Only such words as are found in the English Dictionary will be considered. Abbreviations, words repeated, and foreign words will be disqualified.

5. Words of the same spelling can be used only once, even though used to designate different objects, or a fellow, or parts of objects. For instance, an object or article made of paper is only counted once, or any word formed by the combination of two or more complete words, where each word is itself is an object.

6. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of names of visible objects and articles shown in the picture, that begin with the letter "P" will be awarded First Prize, etc. Neatness, style or handwriting have no bearing upon deciding the winners.

7. Any number of people may co-operate in answering the Puzzle, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household; nor will prizes be awarded to more than one member of any group where two or more have been working together.

8. In the event of a tie for any prize offered, the full amount of such prize will be awarded to each tied participant.

9. Subscriptions (both new and renewal), payable in advance at $5.00 per year by mail in Canada, or $6.00 delivered by carrier boy in Hamilton, Toronto and suburbs, will qualify for the $1,000 Bonus Rewards, at least one new subscription must be sent in.

11. A new subscriber is anyone who has not been receiving The Mail and Empire during the month of January, 1925.

12. All answers will receive the same consideration whether a subscription to The Mail and Empire is sent in.

13. All new subscriptions will be carefully verified by the Postal Manager. Cancellations, delayed subscriptions as new will positively forfeit the credit of such subscription in qualifying for the Maximum Bonus Rewards.

14. The prominent Toronto citizens, having no connection with The Mail and Empire, will be selected to act as Judges to decide the winners, and participants will be required to agree to abide by the decision of the judges as final and conclusive.

15. The Contest closes on January 19th, and announcement of the Prize Winners and correct list of words will be published in The Mail and Empire as quickly thereafter as possible.

EXTRA LARGE PICTURE PUZZLE SENT FREE ON REQUEST.

YOU CAN WIN $1,000
There Are Three $1,000 Prizes

This "P-Words" Picture Puzzle Game is a campaign to increase the circulation of The Mail and Empire. It costs nothing to enter, and you don't have to subscribe. But a subscription to win a prize. If your list of "P-Words" is awarded FIRST, SECOND OR THIRD Prize by the judges you will win $35; but if you would like to get more than $35 we make the following special offer whereby you can win big cash prizes by sending in ONE or TWO subscriptions to The Mail and Empire.

HERE'S HOW: If your answer wins the "P-Word" Picture Puzzle Prize FIRST, SECOND OR THIRD Prize, and you have sent in one yearly subscription to The Mail and Empire at $5.00 by mail in Canada, or $6.00 delivered by carrier boy in Hamilton, you will receive $500 instead of $35; fourth prize, $250; fifth prize, $150, and so forth. (See second column of figures in prize list).

Or, if your answer wins FIRST, SECOND or THIRD Prize, and you have sent in two yearly subscriptions to The Mail and Empire (one new and one renewal or two new subscriptions), you will receive $1,000 in place of $35; fourth prize, $500; fifth prize, $300, and so forth. (See third column of figures in prize list).

Now is that for a liberal offer? But, LOOK, there are three $1,000 prizes. Therefore, if you stand FIRST, SECOND or THIRD, and have sent in two yearly subscriptions at $5.00 each (or each by mail or $6.00 delivered by carrier boy in Hamilton), you have won the equivalent of three times $1,000. It takes not one yearly subscriptions at $5.00 a year each (one new and one renewal or two new) to qualify for the big $1,000 rewards. Absolutely, that is the maximum. You can do this with little effort. Your own subscription can count. We can also take subscriptions to start at any future date. Just mark on your order when you want the paper to start and we will not commence delivery until you say.

Subscription Rates--Payable in advance. THE MAIL and EMPIRE anywhere in Canada by Mail $5.00 Per Year. Delivered by Carrier Boy in Hamilton or London, $6 Per Year

Rural Route Subscribers This offer applies to Rural Route patrons, as well as subscribers living in cities and towns. If you are already receiving The Mail and Empire, your subscription will be extended from its present expiration. Send in a yearly subscription at $5.00 and qualify for the big prizes.

CURLING.

The following is a completion of the schedule of the Inter-Rink matches. Skips and each member are requested to preserve this and to be on hand for every game. Each rink was drawn for six games during January, and these have been pretty well played off. This latter part of the schedule calls for more prompt attention to rinks, thus giving each team one match with each other rink, and if the interest and friendly rivalry which has been shown in these competitions continues, the 1925 season will have eclipsed all others in so far as Inter-Rink matches are concerned.

The hearty co-operation of every member of the Club is earnestly asked and is necessary to accomplish this. Let's make the Napanee Curling Club an organization which every man in the community will want to become a member of.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET

On Thursday evening, January 22nd, the officers and members of the Women's Institute covered themselves with glory in serving a "Mother and Daughter" banquet. Members without daughters adopted one for the evening, and altogether nearly two hundred sat down to the supper at 6.30 in the Masonic Hall, so efficiently prepared and served by a committee of the Society's membership. The tables were prettily decorated in blue and yellow, the Institute colors, with candles to match, set in walnut candlesticks. During the supper an eleven-piece Girls' Orchestra entertained the guests and one had merely to look from one face to another down the long tables to know that each was enjoying herself. Then when the "inner woman" was satisfied the programme was proceeded with.

Mrs. Creighton led the community singing, special song sheets having been printed for the occasion, containing many suitable parodies as well as the old familiar songs. It would be hard to decide whether the Mothers or the Daughters would carry off the laurels for their vocal efforts.

The President, Mrs. Alpine Woods, made a charming and gracious toastmistress. In her remarks she reminded the guests that four years ago this society was organized with a membership of twenty-five, and which now has a hundred and thirty members, about a third of whom are from the country. This society is proud to foster the relationship between town and country, which is also engaging the attention of the Board of Commerce. One of the most interesting features of the meeting is the paper on Current Events by Mrs. Wagar. The President proposed the toast to the "King" to which all responded by singing the National Anthem.

The toast "Home and Country" the Society's motto, was proposed by Mrs. Edward Naylor, of Morven, and to which Mrs. Corkill responded. Toast to "The Mothers", proposed by Miss Thelma Ham, and Mrs. MacGregor responded. It would surprise the Fathers and Sons to hear how ably and fluently these ladies made their speeches, with what wit and humour the fine sentiments and thoughts were interspersed, and especially the young daughter who paid such glowing tribute to the oft-tried, ever-patient mothers.

The President then introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Ethel Chapman, of Toronto, Assistant Superintendent of Women's Institutes for Ontario. Her subject was "The Girl's Life in the Community", and with her pleasing voice and manner, Miss Chapman at once held the attention of her audience.

She congratulated the Institute on this unusually large gathering, the pretty tables and splendid orchestra, and expressing great pleasure at being invited on this her first visit to the people of Napanee.

Comparing the young people of today with those of a generation or two ago, she said our mothers before, and mothers before that were similar to us. They received more or less a pioneer life of loneliness and dangers and in all they were good sports. They found joy in simple things but also had difficulties to contend with, the tight-fitting shoes and trailing dresses were not so comfortable or sanitary as our well-shaped shoes and modern skirts. These women were also pioneers in ideas to keep up our standard.

Girls of to-day have wonderful privileges, every profession open to them, and are a splendid type, so morally sure of themselves. The mother is not quite so sure, for though she looks with admiration at her daughter, still she wonders—just like the hen which has hatched a duckling wonders why it takes to the water.

The modern girl has many problems. First of all with the ready-made amusements she has too many places to go, all alluring, and young life enjoys all. But this high tension of excitement is too great a tax on health, only doctors know how many mothers beg a tonic for the daughters, to fit them over the examination period and how these anæmic girls will pay later for the lack of reserve strength which can only be obtained in early years.

This very fact presents another problem and Miss Chapman said it came to her in a flash while viewing an Art Exhibit in Vancouver,—the prizes were being carried off by new Canadians, whose names she could not pronounce. Are our children losing the power of application? With the radio and transcription there is no apparent need for children to study music, but in a few years who will supply the concerts we so easily pick up?

Mothers, too, think of their early years and each tries to spare her daughter the hardships she had, but there is a charming independence about the girl of to-day. She will not accept a placing for her, but chooses to solve her own problems, one becomes a nurse, another a business girl, according to her inclinations. As for the so-called fast set, not one girl in a dozen wishes to be included in that circle. The mothers cannot set a standard for their daughters, but to have the right thing popularized by the girls themselves is the sure way to success.

The Canadian Standard Efficiency Test in the four-fold training—physical, mental, social and spiritual. This is sometimes spoken of as the "4-h" training—head, heart, hand, health. A small book "Health of the Business Girl", would be very valuable to any girl.

But life is not all problems for the girls, they have many privileges. In her work among the Institutes of Ontario, Miss Chapman told of the varied work attempted in the different branches. Sometimes they study Canadian Literature. One enterprising society considered it a privilege to make themselves familiar with the Laws of Ontario. Debating Clubs are formed or sometimes a Community Extension Course is brought to them. Whole set serve to bring contentment, a head-training that helps one see the beautiful in the commonplace. As a hand-training the Institutes supply courses in home-nursing, cooking, sewing, etc. This year at the Canadian National Exhibition a hundred and fifty girls, trained with the Women's Institutes, took part in a competition to judge school-lunches, bread, etc., and to top off in judging, giving reasons, of fashion models in regard to good dressing. Such training puts the profession of home work and home life on a level with any other of the so-called professions.

To safeguard health one must have a healthy outdoor attitude to things. There must be nerve-rest and physical upbuilding, so it is necessary to nurture, watch and take care of the growing love of out doors.

The ideal of service which is helping others is the best training for themselves. Girls dominate the social life of young people, boys look to them to set a standard, but they need the support of their mothers.

The girl, individually, has two aspirations—to be charming, and to do something. It is well that colleges study deportment. Of course there are wise and foolish conventions, but one can be pretty sure that a convention that has stood the test of time is a wise one.

The trend of the times is for the girl to leave home to do things, to go out and work. She needs new friends, and there is a separate round of social outings for the different members of the family. One mother began to feel very lonely for her children and a daughter gave each an invitation to an "At Home". They had a grand time and realized what good fun they were missing. Sometimes the friend home as a place where you go to tell them where you are going next.

But it is the disappointments of life that often do most for a person. A heart is crushed and one rises to new efforts, only then finding what talents lend him dormant. The speaker closed with the fable of The Open Door.

A well chosen words Mrs. Geo. Switzer moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, the Orchestra and Banquet Committee, seconded by Mrs. Loynes, who made a happy little speech.

The meeting was brought to a close by all singing "God Save the King."

NAPANEE MUSICAL AND LITERARY CLUB.

The Napanee Musical and Literary Club held their second meeting in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, Jan. 27th. A very excellent programme was given and it was very discouraging, both to the executive who arranged the evening and to the members who contributed their talents, to find such a very small audience present. The greater part of the programme was given by younger members, who have not appeared before at the club, and as every selection without exception showed great care and application, as well as real talent, it is to be hoped that a larger audience will greet their next appearance.

Owing to illness Mrs. Powell was unable to appear.

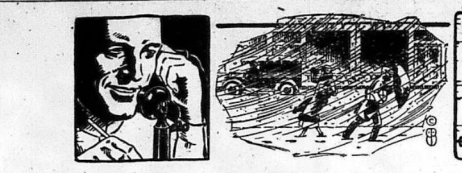
The Club has arranged a special treat for all members of the community in the appearance of the Baroness de Hueck on February 10th in the Town Hall. The Baroness is a Russian refugee now living in Canada, who relates her personal experiences of the terrible revolution in Russia, and also glimpses of court life before the war. This is a real treat. Do not miss it. As this is outside of the regular schedule of the Club, the fee will be 50 cents. The Club hopes to produce the opera, "Tolanthe" at the end of the season, admission to which is included in the membership fee of one dollar, but unless more members join, it may be impossible to carry on the production.

An American said to a London taxi cab driver: "And are your fogs really so terribly thick here?"

"That they are," said he.

"Then how does the traffic get through?"

"Well, the first vehicle makes a tunnel, and the rest follow."



IT IS BELIEVABLE THAT TO BE ON THE SIDE OF TRUTH is much more and better than the old method of making an effort to get a half or part truth to back up your side.

To be the most thorough in search of truth, and the exactest, truest and fairest in presenting it, has been the indefatigable study and purpose of some leaders of business for more than half a century.

There is no good reason why every line of an honorable merchant's publications, labels, tickets should not be in the whitest of all lights.

Why should merchants lower the reputation of their calling by dancing on a tight rope to attract spenders of money?

SATISFACTORY "SERVICE" IS THE CORNER STONE OF THIS BIG STORE

Filling Telephone and Mail Orders are every-day transactions with us. It is a part of our task. In this end of our business we endeavor to give the best talents that we possess as a store and as individuals. Much of our success in intelligently filling your orders from time to time depends on the information given in your first order. The nearer you describe your requirements the closer we shall be able to choose.

At this season of the year, with roads and weather both uncertain, you must order your requirements by mail or telephone. You will find us alert and ready to serve. Your needs will be intelligently selected by capable shoppers. Merchandise will be shipped the same day as order is received.

We solicit your Mail and Telephone patronage.

Fur Coats of Southern Muskrat Are Universally Becoming. Priced Specially to Clear During February

If a woman or girl wants her fur coat for general purposes she cannot do better than choose Muskrat. It has such an obliging way of looking so perfectly in place, no matter if it is morning, afternoon or evening wear. It is also universally becoming. The majority of the models shown in our Fur Department come 45 inches long, and are made with reverse bottom borders,—reverse cuffs and large crushed reverse collars. You will find them, too, better lined than the average muskrat coat.

For this month we are offering some tempting values that cannot be duplicated next season. See them.

New Silk Hats for Immediate Wear

These hats are gay with the Spirit of Spring and have just the right touch of color to wear these winter days when your present hat is dull and drab.

The small high crown poke is the prevailing mode in these early season hats. Each hat shown in this group is individually styled and ornamented.

Featured in Sand, Tan, Gold, Brown, Grey, Jade, Cerise, and Black.

Priced $3.95 to $5.50.

Valentines

Brightly lithographed easel back Valentines, in a nice variety of designs, 15c. per dozen. These are fine for place cards at kiddies' parties.

Valentines in larger sizes, priced 20c. and 30c. per dozen.

Mechanical Valentines, each in envelope, very amusing and appropriate. 5c. each.

Pull out, cut out, and easel back mechanical and tissue novelty Valentines, in a very comprehensive range of designs and colorings. 10c. each.

Other Valentines, 15c., 20c., 25c. and 35c. each. Each in envelope. Make your selection early.

Women's and Misses' Wool Dresses for Immediate Wear Carry Substantial Reductions

No matter how warm you keep your house, you really cannot get along without one of these dresses that are so charmingly styled in Wool Crepe, Poiret, Tricotine, Charmain and Wool Faille. You'll find them immensely practical for wearing down town, for driving, for sports wear and for various other purposes.

These dresses usually show a straight line silhouette with the interest in the details—soft-toned lace collars, decorative pockets, narrow pleatings, self cordings and batiste embroideries.

Procurable in Navy, Brown, Green, Rust, Cadet, Sand, Grey and Black colorings.

Regular $18.50, $19.50 and $20.00 Dresses for $14.29.
Regular $22.50 to $25.00 values for $17.75.
Regular $29.50 to $32.50 values for $22.95.
Balance of our stock is reduced 25 per cent.

N. C. I. LITERARY SOCIETY

The first meeting of the Literary Society of the Napanee Collegiate Institute for 1925 was held in the Assembly Hall, on Friday, Jan. 23rd, with Mr. Allan Walters in the chair. The programme was in the hands of the Athenian Society and opened with a splendid selection by the Athenian Orchestra. Mr. Allan Walters gave a very interesting and instructive address on "Athenianism", pointing out the aims and ideals of both that ancient people and the modern society of the same name in the N. C. I. The Orchestra rendered another selection, and then Miss Grange, as a preface to the main event of the programme, gave a very clear and concise synopsis of the "Merchant of Venice". The court scene from 'The Merchant of Venice' was then enacted with the following caste:

Duke of Venice—Malcolm Corkill.
Antonio—Reginald Empey.
Bassanio—Gerald Gleeson.
Gratianio—Ward Huffman.
Portia—Kathleen Woodruff.
Nerissa—Katharine Gleeson.
Shylock—Albert Hill.
Clerk of Court—Ralph Black.

Miss Grange, as critic, spoke very favourably of the programme, making practically no adverse criticisms.

The President, Mr. Allan Walters, thanked those who had assisted in making the programme a success, and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Mountain Goat Most Sure-Footed of All Animals.

Hunter Tells of Remarkable Performance He Witnessed in the Rocky Mountains—Amazing Exhibition of Calm Confidence.

"To me the most wonderful thing about the mountain goats is his nerve," writes Dr. William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological park, in an article on "The Rocky Mountain Goat at Home" in Boys' Life. "He is so calm and self-confident, so level-headed and sure-footed, that often he when he marches and climbs where no other four-footed animal of North America dares to follow him. I never get over my original amazement and admiration of his summit work.

"Early in our studies of white goats in that great paradise we were treated to an exhibition of climbing that opened our eyes. As we were passing across a tiny goat pasture at the foot of a rocky precipice we surprised a party of four goats on the side of the wall, about 100 feet up. We halted, to see what they would do. The face of the rock wall was reasonably rough, but it could not have been more than ten degrees from being perpendicular.

"Two goats stood safely upon the summit, looking down on their entrapped comrades. The unlucky four could have been shot as easily as pulling grapes; but it is not all of good hunting to kill goats!

"Finding that they were not being shot at, the four goats started to get away from us by climbing straight up the face of that precipice! For ten minutes we watched an astounding exhibition. Each goat chose an independent course, reached up with his front feet as far as he could, then, by sheer muscular strength lifted his heavy body up the three or four feet to be gained. Other self-supporting or necessary to find a new foothold; but there were no slips, and never once a turning back.

"They climbed in that way about 250 feet while we watched them, then reached easy going and soon all were appeared over the summit. We hunters all agreed that no mountain sheep could make a better finishing of his living, large barn, and drive house, all in good repair. If not sold before March 1st, 1925, will rent, subject to sale. Also the frame dwelling in the village of Selby, just East of the Town Hall, formerly occupied by Irvine Allison, deceased. Terms and conditions of sale or rent on application to M. C. BOGART, Agent, Napanee. 50tf

Far From Shakespeare's Style.

How the Bacon theory is regarded, as written by officials and some journalists, has departed from the style of the dead Bard of Stratford-on-Avon is cleverly illustrated by the following that appeared in a popular English newspaper in an "Answers" column:

"The man you inquire about is a 'man-bone,' and very 'dfull' at that. He is green at the gills and has sore 'I believes,' dried up. . . . I wish you would warn your members against fitups and combinations, several there are who are under recognized management.

In an educational report that was issued from Whitehall, London, the same week was found the following gem of perfunctory English:

"The examination system has made incalculable upon chief inspectors' references, and the psychology of control, in its strictest sense, is imperious inquisitiveness involved to infinity upon the simplest statement that filters to the microscopic section.

Sister Nations.

When Canada's bureau of parliament were burned down, New Zealand sent a consignment of kauri timber of use in the interior finishing of the new building, a courtesy much appreciated at Ottawa. Several years previous New Zealand's house of parliament had also been destroyed by fire, and is now at last being rebuilt. Canada has been swift to reciprocate. It is the most probable that the prime minister's room in the new parliament buildings for Wellington will be panelled in Canadian maple with walnut framing. It is fitting that as the political houses of Canada and New Zealand arise from their ashes there should be built into each the record of a sister nation's remembrance.—Christian Science Monitor.

Doves Hatched a Hen's Egg.

A novel experiment of Mrs. Ernest Hirsh of Pittsburgh has proven a success. Two doves owned by Mrs. Hirsh after three weeks of waiting, became the foster parents of a baby chicken.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Hirsh, as an experiment, placed a full-sized hen's egg under the mother dove. At the time she did not believe the egg would hatch the egg, and day after day watched the nest, expecting the dove to leave the nest. However, the dove remained in sitting upon the egg and finally their patience was rewarded. A "chick" peeked its way out of the shell and immediately tried to get out of the nest.

SIRUP FROM GRAPE JUICE

Plan Proposed by Experts of the University of California Would Seem to Solve Problem.

To meet the ban on the manufacture of wine in the great grape-raising areas the agricultural college of the University of California has developed a practical method of converting grape juice into excellent sirup. It is the belief, says the Scientific American, that converting grapes into sirup instead of wine will double the value of the fruit. The estimated value of the crop of 250,000 tons of wine grapes, grown annually, is four million dollars; if the crop is made into sirup it should have a value of eight million dollars.

While the experts at the agricultural college have been working on the problem, an independent chemist and grape expert has succeeded in producing a sirup from grapes that meets all the requirements of a commercial product. According to figures that he submits, his method will produce sirup at a cost that is slightly lower than that of the other method.

One of the interesting sides of the question is the plan recommended by the University that all grape growers, wineries and sugar factories co-operate next year in the interests of all those industries. It proposes that the wineries purchase the grapes of the vintage of 1919, and extract and store the estimated fifty million gallons of juice, that the larger sugar factories receive the juice and concentrate it, and that they ship the sirup to the canneries for use in 1920.

The university has discovered a simple and inexpensive process of treating the juice that will prevent fermentation for a year, if necessary. The chemists say that the sirup can be used in place of sugar in preserving some of the fruits, and can be mixed with sugar in preserving others.

HAD THE PORTER GUESSING

Colored Man Quite Unable to Understand Clergyman's Objection to Presence of Empty Flask.

Rev. William H. Hook, pastor of the Tabernacle Christian church at Columbus, recently held a revival meeting at Huntington, W. Va. He lived at a Huntington hotel and one day, when hanging a coat in the closet of his room he found an empty whisky bottle on the closet floor. Apparently the guest bottle had been there for some time, but it had not been discovered and the minister did not wish it found immediately after he vacated the room. So he called the porter and asked that the bottle be removed.

"Somebody might find the bottle in there after I'm gone," Mr. Hook explained, "and it would reflect on me. I don't want anybody to think I placed that bottle in there or that I had anything to do with it."

The porter nodded his head, picked up the bottle and studied the label for a moment. Apparently he was sorely puzzled to know why the minister would not claim ownership of a bottle related to skips with the empty container. At length his bewilderment was expressed in speech.

"The man you inquire about is a 'man-bone,' and very 'dfull' at that. He is green at the gills and has sore 'I believes,' dried up. . . . I wish you would warn your members against fit-ups and combinations, several there are who are under recognized management.

SOME CURIOUS RUSES

GAVE MAN £100 TO WOO PROMISED WIFE.

Numerous Cases Where Men's Ardor Cools and He Has to Resort to Duplicity So That He Will Not Be Sued for Breach of Promise.

What could be more odd than the hiring of a man for the purpose of wooing a maid or pouring as her fiancee? asks Tit-Bits.

As a matter of fact, this somewhat farcical situation does occasionally arise.

It happens quite frequently that an individual, having grown tired of his lady-love, secures the services of some impecunious, and not over-scrupulous, person to take his sweetheart off his hands, and there is no doubt that for underhand arrangements of this nature His Majesty's judges would have to adjudicate upon a far greater number of cases of breach of wounds than they are called upon to do at present.

As a rule, it is dread of the ordeal of an action for breach that leads an inconstant swain to resort to this form of duplicity.

A case in point concerns a wealthy manufacturer who became enamored of one of his lady employes, and proposed to her. He was accepted, but in a month or so his affection cooled, and, regretting his engagement, he began to puzzle his brain with a view to ascertaining a way out of his difficulty.

It would never have done for him to face an action for breach of promise; the publication that would have been heaped upon him would have injured his business, besides which he would not have been ordered by a jury to disgorge a heavy sum.

The scheme which the manufacturer devised after several sleepless nights, and put into execution, worked better than it deserved.

He had amongst his foremen a handsome young fellow, and he astonished this youth one day by offering him a reward of a hundred pounds in the event of his capturing the heart of the lady.

The bargain was struck and the examination started. The manufacturer, being of a crafty nature, was careful to conceal from his fiancee the circumstance that he no longer loved her, while the foreman, on his part, courted for all he was worth.

In three weeks, fascinated by her many charms and manifold attractions, the unsuspecting lady fell in love with him, and when he proposed readily consented to be his wife.

The news that he had been jilted was conveyed

BURMESE FOND OF ANIMALS

Characteristic That Might Well Be Copied by Other Nations More Highly Civilized.

The Burmese people naturally are full of the greatest sympathy toward animals of all kinds, understand their ways, and make them feel they are their friends. And we know that if a person is kind to animals he is generally kind to his fellowman.

A Burmese boy would never be allowed to go bird-nesting, or rattling with a terrier, or ferreting rabbits. These would be crimes.

A Burman hates to kill. Neither for sport nor for recipe, nor for food, must any animal be deprived of the breath that is in it.

All the animals in the ponies, the cattle and the working buffaloes are so tame that it is an almost unknown thing for anyone to get hurt. You can walk through the herds of an evening in perfect safety, for they will not attempt to touch you.

Many of our growing boys think it a grand thing to be indifferent to pain—not only their own but in that of all others. To be sorry for a wounded deer or a hunted hare seems "girly" to them. But to the Burman kindness to animals is the highest of all virtues. He believes that nothing of real value can exist without compassion and love and sympathy—that these make up all that is most beautiful in life.

I think we can take a lesson from the Burmese in their dealings with dumb animals.—The Young Soldier.

HELPED TO WIN GREAT WAR

Many Thousands of Chinese Laborers Took Useful Part in the Recent Conflict.

A little known but interesting sidelight on the World war is the fact that China was represented in the great conflict by 150,000 laborers, of whom 100,000 worked with the English forces and 50,000 with the French. They were recruited in China from the low or coolie-labor classes in units of 500 men. During the early days of the war and up to the middle of 1917 they were sent in transports down through the Indian ocean, up the Red sea and over the Mediterranean sea past Gibraltar to France. But submarines in the Mediterranean made travel too perilous and the route was changed. The balance of the 250 units of 500 men each were then sent over the Pacific to Vancouver, B. C., where the Canadian Pacific would transfer across our continent to Halifax, Nova Scotia, and thence across the Atlantic to France.

Each man's queue had been cut off and an identification disk, or "brass," in army vernacular, placed around his wrist. He was given 60 cents a day, two-thirds of which was set aside for the family or dependents in China where money than he ever knew about before in a month—and this was the source which drew thousands upon thousands of coolies to the recruiting station at Tientsin.

Barge, 63 Years Old, Sinks.

An old double-deck barge called the Thames Queen, built in 1857, sank in 30 feet of water and alongside the harbor office through failure of her pumps to keep on the float until repairs could be made to her leaking seams. She was towed here from Norfolk by the wrecking tender Plunkett, but was to be used as a receiving hulk for the men of the coast guard service, who were compelled to give up their quarters in the municipal ferry terminal at South Ferry. Although the barge had a reputation for being an unusually lively craft in her old days, an investigation will be made to ascertain if she was used for the bottom by persons who had no wish to be housed aboard of her.—New York Tribune.

Just Like Peacock.

Although the American redstart is a little bird only five and a half inches long, it has one trait in common with the gorgeously plumed peacock, namely, that it seems to be very fond of its handsome plumage and is continually spreading its tail feathers, says the American Forestry association, Washington. The male redstart, whose colors are red, orange and white, does not attain the black portion of its plumage on back, tail and wings until it is two years old, this part of the bird during its early life being strangely mottled. The female is grayish, yellow and white.

Lazaretto.

The words, lazaretto and lazar-house, meaning a hospital or place for the reception of persons suffering from contagious diseases, and especially the leprosy, are derived from the Italian word of like meaning, lazzeretto. All are derived from Lazarus, the name of the poor leper in the parable to be found in the Gospel of St. Luke, chapter sixteen. This is the only case in the New Testament where a proper name occurs in a parable. The words derived from that proper name show the influence this parable has had on the mind of Christendom.

Money in Raising Alligators.

There is much money to be made in alligator farming. The demand for alligators is large, constant and rapidly increasing; the supply is limited, and there is not much competition. The few alligators have to be fed on meat, but they need no food from September 1 to May 1, for this is their hibernating season, when they do not eat at all.

LETTER "R" NOT POPULAR

Many Writers Would View With Equanimity Its Complete Disappearance From the Language.

In a trifle recently issued under the auspices of the Society for Pure English, Dr. Robert Bridges deplores the practical disappearance of the letter R from the speech of southern Englishmen, according to the Manchester Guardian. Yet, some people would be disposed to regard the extinction of this letter with composure or even approval. John Aubrey, for instance, appears to have nursed a prejudice against those who found it too prominently in their speech. In his "Lives" Aubrey animadverts on the fact that "Milton pronounced the letter R (littera canina) very hard—a certain sign of a satyricall wit."

In Germany the "canine letter" has found many enemies, who maintain that its abounding employment largely accounts for the ruggedness of Teutonic speech. Some writers have gone so far as to produce works from which it is entirely banished—a remarkably difficult feat, seeing that it figures in about 50 per cent of German words.

Two minor luminaries of the eighteenth century, Bruckes and Gottlieb Burmann, wrote a number of poems from which the letter is deliberately excluded, so as to produce an atmosphere of "sweetness and light."

These facts were eclipsed by a nineteenth century author, Grant Allitter, who held the letter in aversion, though it appears twice in his own surname. He published two novels, "The Zoillinge" and "Lisette und Wilhelm," in which no R can be found.

Paul von Schonthan and Leo Kobe are responsible for similar works on a lesser scale.

KING ALFONSO'S FIRST SMOKE

Experience of Spanish Monarch Very Much Like That of Some American Small Boys.

King Alfonso has been telling the story of his first cigarette.

The incident, it appears, occurred immediately after he had been formally enthroned as king of Spain when attaining his majority on his sixteenth birthday.

Up to that time he had not been allowed to smoke, nor even then was the prohibition withdrawn. Nevertheless, he came to the conclusion that, as a ruling monarch, he might at least do as he liked in this respect.

Accordingly he asked his brother-in-law, the prince of Asturias, for a cigarette.

"I haven't got one," said the prince, faithful to family orders.

Then the king applied to the officer of the guard, who said solemnly:

"I regret that I do not smoke them, your majesty."

At last the young king made his way to the sentry at the palace door, who amiably produced a ring of black tobacco from his trousers pocket and rolled a cigarette for his majesty, who smoked it promptly through the palace.

"It made me violently sick later on," he said in telling the story; "but I enjoyed it at the time. I felt, as I puffed and puffed, that I was really and truly grown up at last."

Supplying Palestine With Water.

From the average yearly rainfall of 25 inches enough water could be stored up in Palestine to support a population of 15,000,000, according to James Haines, secretary of the Zionist Society of Engineers, which is trying plans for a water supply system for the Holy land as part of the restoration work necessary to make the land ready to receive the hundreds of thousands of Jews from all over the world who will emigrate there as soon as the political status of the country is cleared up.

Allowing for a 50 per cent loss through evaporation and running off, Mr. Haines has figured that the yearly rainfall over the 20,000 square miles of Palestine will provide a future population of 6,000,000 with a daily per capita supply of 2,055 gallons. The average daily consumption in New York at present is estimated at about 800 gallons per capita.

"Silly Old Fool."

Of the stories told by Mr. Pett Ridge, the popular author, one of the best, perhaps, is of an incident which occurred outside a London railway station.

"I wanted a taxicab," says Mr. Ridge. "A small boy ran to fetch one and came back with it, holding the handle of the door as a signal of temporary ownership. As the cab pulled up a bigger lad tried to obtain possession of the handle.

"Out of it!" ordered the young boy, aggrievedly. "I was the one sent to get the taxi for the silly old fool"—he turned to me and touched his cap respectfully—"wasn't I, sir?"—London Tit-Bits.

Among Humorists.

"Ever borrow an idea?" asked the young husband.

"Among us professionals it is considered permissible to borrow back and forth," said the old timer. "However, I hope you'll avoid borrowing a friend of mine once did, and has been sorry for ever since."

"What was that?"

"He stole a joke from a religious paper."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Our Epicurean Help.

Kitchen Caller—The folks here live pretty high, don't they?

Cook—Oh, yes. I give them to understand they'd have to if they wanted to keep me.—Boston Transcript.

An American said to a London taxi cab driver: "And are your fogs really so terribly thick here?"

"That they are," said he.

"Then how does the traffic get through?"

"Well, the first vehicle makes a tunnel, and the rest follow.

WEDDING BELLS

Moran—Fowler.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of St. Patrick, on January 8th, 1925, at 8 a.m., when Miss Marjorie Moran became the bride of Mr. Thomas W. Fowler, of Kingston. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Vincent Walsh, and entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Agnes Cavanaugh. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion. The bride looked charming in a French dress of grey canton trimmed with silver beads and pearls, wearing a hat of grey velvet with ostrich feather, and satin slippers to match. She was attended by her sister, Miss Bernadetta, wearing a dress of navy Georgette, heavily beaded, and metallic hat. The groom was supported by Mr. Edmund Dowling, of Deseronto. During the holy sacrifice of the mass, Miss Frances Dwyer sang very sweetly, "Thru' the World Thy Children Raise" at the offertory, and "I Am My Love's and He Is Mine". After the ceremony the happy couple, accompanied by Rev. Father O'Connor, motored to the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Walsh, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast awaited them. The dining room was prettily decorated in white and pink ribbon, and mixed flowers. Amid showers of confetti, the happy couple left on the 5.15 train for Toronto and other points West. The bride travelled in a dress of cocoa velvet and brown coat and hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, to the bridesmaid an amythest rosary, and to the groomsman a tie pin. On their return they will reside at 114 Livingston Ave., Kingston, Ont.

VARIETY SHOWER.

On January 2nd, 1925, a large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Asselstine, Wilton, to express their kindly wishes for many years of happiness. An enjoyable evening was spent in games and dancing, and dainty refreshments were served by the ladies. The following gifts were presented to the young couple:—

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Asselstine, dozen silver knives and dozen silver forks; Miss Rhoda Connors, cake plate; John Bidwell and family, $2.00; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mills, salad bowl; Mr. Earl Burt and family, $2.00; Erwell and Helen Hard, $1.00; Kathleen and Arleen Parrott, bon bon dish; Reta Newman, pickle dish; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Babcock, china milk and sugar set; Mr. and Mrs. K. N. Storms, Dorothy and Shirley, three-plated nut bowl; Mr. and Mrs. G. Griffith, bon bon dish; Mr. and Mrs. T. Haslett, $1.00; ——— Tupper, $1.00; Ethel, Helen and Clinton Babcock, $1.00; Luella and Carmen Peters, $1.00; Mr. Hedley Babcock, $1.00; Mrs. Pearl Storms, 50c.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Perry, guest towel; Mr. Keith Simmons, fruit dish; Mr. Willie Amey double boiler; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Amey, mustard jug; Mr. Gordon Clarke, butter dish; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martin, butter tub; Mr. and Mrs. Rolsen, butter tub; Miss Aleita Babcock, hand worked guest towel; the Forsyth family, berry set; Miss Marjorie Storms, bon bon dish; Mrs. Baines, work bag; Mr. James Baines, cream pitcher; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Simmons, syrup pitcher; Mr. ——— Peters, $1.00; Mr. and Mrs. W. Mills, hand worked guest towels; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Newman, bath towel; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mills, jardiniere; Mr. and Mrs. Austin Carr, fruit dish; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Storms, cup and saucer and $1.00; Mr. and Mrs. Stinson Carr, milk pitcher; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Snider, jardiniere stand; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller and Marion, $1.00; Margaret and Donald Fraser, $1.00; Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Davy, $1.00; Mr. Delbert Simmons, $1.00; Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Babcock and Lillian, $1.00; Messrs. Franklin and Edward Parrell, $1.00; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Clarke and Katherine, $1.00; Mr. and Mrs. Freemont Mills, dish.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith wish to thank their many friends for their beautiful gifts and kind wishes.

Arithmetical Problem.

A country lad went to a neighboring town and applied for a situation advertised in the local paper. One of the questions was: "A man buys an article for $4.60 and sells it for $9.01; does he gain or lose on the transaction?" After considering the question, the rural youth answered: "He gains on the dollars, but loses on the cents."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Dear Editor,—

There has been brought to my attention articles appearing in the Toronto Daily Star, The Toronto Daily Telegram and the Daily British Whig, to the effect that I intend to run as a Liberal candidate at the next election.

I wish to emphatically deny such reports. I have not been approached in any manner to run as a Liberal candidate.

I am a Progressive and still adhere to the principles of that party. I would thank you to publish this statement in the first issue of your paper.

HOCKEY.

Point Anne 9, Napanee 6.

In one of the most hotly contested and best played games put on in Napanee in recent years the team from Point Anne defeated the local aggregation at the Arena in a Bay of Quinte League fixture on Wednesday evening by a score of 9-6, ten minutes overtime being required to reach a decision. The rink was packed to the doors, a large contingent coming down from Point Anne by special train to cheer their team on to victory, and a mighty pleased and lucky crowd they were when their favorites emerged victorious in the overtime play.

From the very start it was anybody's game, and the puck was seesawed up and down the ice for several minutes before the first goal was scored, and the honors going to Napanee. Before the period ended the Point had netted two and were leading 2-1.

The second period was not long on the way before the visitors scored, putting them two goals up. Our boys worked hard throughout the period, both individually and collectively, and their efforts were rewarded by two goals before the gong sounded, and the score stood 3 all.

It was in the third period that the players of both teams put forth every effort, and six goals were scored, each side netting three. Shortly after the period started the locals scored, and things looked pretty good. The boys from the Point were not to be denied and scored three in a row, putting them two ahead, and it looked as though they had won the game. Napanee came back strong, scoring two before the period ended, and the game was a tie, 6-6.

In the overtime Point Anne played up to form, scoring once in the first five minutes and twice in the second, winning the game 9-6.

The outstanding player on the ice was Frank Goyer, who played defence for the visitors. He was worked repeatedly by his forwards, who, when in a tight hole, would pass the rubber back to him and he would work his way up the ice and eventually either secure a shot on goal or pass to one of his team mates. He was a hard man to check and played splendid hockey.

The locals all played well and as far as the evening's performance was concerned they had as much of the play as their opponents. The back-checking of the forward line was not as effective as it might have been, but nevertheless the boys gave of their best and, in the minds of their supporters, they are as just as proud a team as there is in the League.

The game was clean in every respect, a few minor penalties being imposed by the referee, Harry Batstone, who created a favorable impression by his masterly handling of the game.

Following is the line-up:

Point Anne—Goal, Boland; defence Goyer and Tompkins; left wing, L. Goyer; centre, Brant; right wing, Hunter; subs., Green and Maracle.

Napanee—Goal, Babcock; defence, Hudgins and Bentley; left wing, Nanbin; centre, Merrill; right wing, Johnston; subs., McNeill and Huffman.

Standing of the League.

	Won	Lost
Point Anne	3	1
Napanee	1	2
Kingston	1	2

Point Anne Wins First Half.

By winning the game on Wednesday evening the Point Anne team have won the first half of the schedule. There remains one game yet to be played in the first half, Napanee at Kingston, on Wednesday evening of next week.

Schedule of the Second Half.

A meeting of the Executive of the League was held immediately after the game on Wednesday evening, at which the schedule of the second half was drawn up and adopted, and the case of Norman Millan, whose certificate was cancelled for playing two O. H. A. games, which is contrary to the constitution of the Bay of Quinte League.

Dr. Millan, 1st Vice-President, explained to the meeting that the management of the Arena in Kingston would not allow the Young Irishmen the use of the ice there for their games unless Norman Millan played with the Kingston O. H. A. team, and in view of that fact the certificate of Millan was placed in good standing by the Executive. The President and Secretary-Treasurer resigned, in protest against the Executive not upholding the Constitution.

The following is the schedule of games for the second half:

Feb. 6—Kingston at Napanee.
Feb. 9—Point Anne at Kingston.
Feb. 13—Napanee at Point Anne.
Feb. 18—Napanee at Kingston.
Feb. 20—Point Anne at Napanee.
Feb. 24—Kingston at Point Anne.

The winners of the first and second half to play off on February 28th and March 2nd, playing on the winner of the first half ice first, total goals to count.

R. M. C. at Napanee.

The fast travelling R. M. C. Intermediate Intercollegiate team, of Kingston, came to Napanee on Friday and the Arepa here on Saturday evening, Jan. 31st. This is the best team that the Royal Military College has boasted of for some years, and the game should be just as fast and interesting as the game with Point Anne. The game at Kingston, Feb. 20—Point Anne at Napanee. Feb. 24—Kingston at Point Anne.

The winners of the first and second half to play off on February 28th and March 2nd, playing on the winner of the first half ice first, total goals to count.

THE TOWN LEAGUE.

Sid Scores 3 Goals.

The town team took Gibbards into camp at the Arena on Monday evening, before a small crowd, the score being 8-2. This leaves "B" Co. winners of the first half of the schedule.

FANCY DRESS CARNIVAL

The covered skating rink at the Driving Park was the scene of a wonderful fancy dress carnival Thursday night and was one of the best ever given in Napanee, due in large measure, to the excellent management of the Napanee Citizens' Band. There was a good attendance of spectators and the number of people in costume was very large indeed. The winners were:

Boys' race, under 12 years — Roy Wilson, Charlie Huffman.

Girls' race, under 12 years—Beatrice Walkman, Jetta Thompson.

Boy Scout race, over 12 years—Bill Carr, Ralph Cowle.

Girls' and Ladies' race—Jessie Stevenson, Ella Copp.

Hurdle race, open—Rory Walker, Herb. Wilson.

Half-mile race, open—Arnold Rogers, Ray Walker.

Fancy costume, boy under 12 years —Keith Spring, Harry Moore.

Fancy costume, girl under 12 years —Dorothy Wilson, Jetta Thompson.

Fancy costume, boy 12 to 16 years —Billy Templeton, Todd Davy.

Fancy costume, girl 12 to 16 years —Muriel Sherman, Dorothy Lucas.

Fancy costume, gentleman—J. T. Empey, George Howitt.

Fancy costume, lady—Mrs. R. Huffman, Marion Walmsley.

Comic costume, gentleman—H. W. Kaylor, Dorland Dunn.

Comic costume, lady—Lena Smith, Elsa Copp.

Best lady skater, in costume—Mrs. Bruce Finlay.

Best gentleman skater, in costume —Herb. Holder.

Best mixed couple of skaters, in costume—Wallace Roy and Marion Walmsley.

Best skaters, married couple—Mr. and Mrs. Authmire Pybus.

Owing to the generosity of the business men of the town, handsome and valuable prizes were awarded to the victors.

TEA SUPPLY INADEQUATE. PRICES HIGHER

Tea prices are going up mainly because tea is being demanded by millions more people. Tea is the cheapest and certainly one of the most palatable and satisfying beverages known. But the tea-growers have been unable to meet the tremendous demand. It takes three years for a tea bush to mature to the plucking stage.

"ALWAYS IN TROUBLE".

A farce in three acts, will be presented by "Hapburn Young Peoples" at Sillsville Hall, Wednesday evening, February 4th, 1925. Starts with a laugh and ends with a roar. Admission 35c. 5ap

Eggs are valuable now. Increase the supply by using Dr. Hess' Poultry Panacea. It surely pays. Wallace's, sole agents for Napanee.

Presentations for Week of Jan. 30 to Feb. 5

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

COLLEEN MOORE'S role in "FLIRTING WITH LOVE" is different from her famous Rapper roles as night is from day. Comedy Tearle supports the star. Also a good Comedy.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Rex Ingram's newest picture for Metro, "THE ARAB," a screen version of Edgar Selwyn's play, ends with a band of Bedouins breaking camp and marching away. The scene was one of those taken at the oasis of Gabes in Northern Africa. Mr. Ingram declares it was the most thrilling sequence he ever directed, because it was real, and is the first picture since "The Four Horsemen." Also a special Comedy.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

The new William Fox offering of thrills and romance, "HELLS HOLE," starring CHARLES JONES, supported by an excellent cast headed by Ruth Clifford.

A good Fox Comedy will also be presented.

CHRISTIANITY AND ITS RELATION TO SOCIAL PROBLEMS

A very large audience listened to the Rev. Mr. Tanton, in Trinity Church, on Sunday evening, January 25th, when he gave the initial sermon in a series on "Christianity and Its Relation to Social Problems". The subject of his address was "Christianity and the Race Problem" which Mr. Tanton considered the most difficult of present-day social questions. The text was taken from the ninth chapter of Amos, "Are ye not as children of the Ethiopians unto me, O children of Israel?" The message of Amos was to the people of his day not only a revelation but a revolution. This teaching was contrary to all their pre-conceived ideas. Their God was a tribal God and it was a new and disturbing thought that in God's sight nationality and colour counted for little. Amos preached that the important thing was, that goodness and rightness should be universal. "Is not God as much concerned about the people of Ethiopia as about the people of Israel?"

The question of the present-day race problem was considered under three headings:—(1) The present crisis in the race problem. (2) The claims of the coloured races. (3) The Christian attitude to the problem.

1. The Present Crisis in the Race Problem.—This is a vital question in British Columbia at the present time, but we must not consider it merely as a provincial question. It is a world problem and the most difficult that confronts the world today. John R. Mott recently said that the next fifteen years will tell whether the white nations are going to be swamped, and whether the coloured races will prevail. Three things have combined to break down the barriers that hitherto divided the white races from the other people of the world, viz., Education, Science and the Great War.

(A). Education.—In all the great universities of England and the United States—Oxford and Cambridge, Yale and Harvard—large numbers of Hindus, Africans, Chinese and Japanese have studied, and, equipped with this knowledge, have returned to their own countries. All the universities of China, India and Japan are crowded with serious students and many others anxious for further knowledge are turned away. The barrier of ignorance is being rapidly broken down and the isolation of the coloured races no longer exists. A gentleman travelling in China recently counted in one book-stall forty-seven magazines printed in Chinese. He made a careful study of these representative periodicals and said that "for range of thought and for world-vision an equal number of American magazines could not compare with them. The day is coming when these men will catch up with and maybe surpass the white races.

(B). Science and Modern Invention.—The inventions of science are also destroying the barriers that break down the barriers which separate the races of the world. Twenty-five years ago freight was laboriously carried from the interior of Africa to the coast on the backs of calling negroes. Now motor lorries and freight trains are as familiar in Africa as in any other country. When Stanley met Livingstone in Africa he gave him letters which had been written two years before but to-day the news of the world may be flashed to him the same week or minute. The radio is also breaking down the isolation and making it impossible while the same films which we see in the "movies" to-day in Napanee are being shown in the heart of China.

(C). The Great War.—During the Great War—one and a quarter millions of Hindus voluntarily enlisted for service under the British flag. One million returned to their own homes to tell in their villages tales as marvellous as those which the sailors who accompanied Drake on his voyage told in the villages of England in the sixteenth century. Hindus sat as the equal of white men in the conference at Versailles and a Hindu signed his name to the Treaty of Versailles. They have taken their part in the deliberations at Geneva and recently a Hindu was given an important place in the Labour Bureau formed by the League of Nations.

In speaking of the claims of the coloured races, Mr. Tanton emphasized the fact that one of the points brought out by the Conference of Nations at Versailles was the right of each nation to its own direction and development. Poland for the Poles, Serbia for Serbians, Ireland for Irish, etc. Why not India for the Hindus, and Egypt for the Egyptians? The different censuses of the white people were confined to a small area, but now they have spread out and dominate most of the world—inhabited by the coloured people. The white man has told us that the white man farms the world, but the question must be faced whether this dominance will continue. Mr. Tanton did not pretend to answer the questions that naturally arise in discussing this problem, but he suggested some lines of thought. With equality of opportunity would the present differences between the powers of the white and the coloured races cease to exist?

Is it true that in accordance with God's plan the white races are constitutionally better?

Is the superiority of the white races only a matter of tradition? Are we the Pharisees of the world's races?

Lord Bryce has said that the American negro has developed more in the last seventy years than the Anglo-Saxon had in six hundred years, and this statement he has proved by facts. Mr. Tanton gave instances to show that in moral questions, in matters of leadership and organization, in the matter of industry and energy, the white race is not necessarily superior to other races.

The last phase of this question, "Christianity and the Race Problem", was dealt with by Rev. Prof. Hazlett last Sunday evening in Trinity Church.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Friday Morning.

The House of Refuge question was the large item on the docket. All the members of the Council entered into the discussion of the subject, and all the information in the possession of the County Clerk was laid before the Council. After a thorough discussion the Warden was delegated to name a committee to look over available sites, procure tentative plans, visit Houses of Refuge already built and secure all possible information on the subject. The amount of money already available for bequests amounts to about $21,000, to which would be added a Government grant of $4000. The possibility of adding a wing to the building to be used as a Children's Shelter, was also thoroughly discussed. The County has at present about twenty-five inmates being cared for in the Kingston institutions, and a number of children being cared for in shelters outside of the County. The Committee will report at the March session.

Friday Afternoon.

Council met at 2 p.m. and adjourned for an hour for the benefit of committees.

On motion the attention of the Highways Department was called to the amendment to the County Road By-law, adding a small section of road on Amherst Island has not yet been approved by the Department, also that the Council approves of the action of Amherst Island in asking for Government assistance in providing a ferry from the Island to the mainland.

A resolution recommending to the Department of Highways to grant financial assistance towards providing adequate safeguards on a section of road in Adolphustown which is continually undermined by the waters of the Bay of Quinte, was presented and passed.

Messrs. Fretts and Schell, of South Fredericksburgh, appeared before the Council asking the Council to provide a snow plow for use on the South Fredericksburgh County Roads. On motion the Roads and Bridges Committee were requested to report on above Saturday morning.

On motion Ex-Warden Milling, the Clerk and Treasurer were each granted $10.00 for extra services re Debentures.

On motion the Council placed on record its approval of a request from Ernestown Township, asking the C. N. Railway to have the two fast night trains stop on flag at Ernestown station.

A motion to place the unused balance of Amherst Island County Road account in a rest account to be used toward construction or purchase of a ferry, was passed. The amount is nearly $5000.00.

Saturday Morning.

The Finance Committee reported, recommending the adoption of the Auditors' Report. Also that $100.00 be granted the Institute for the Blind. Report adopted.

Also that the County Road Superintend and Reeve Yeomans were appointed a committee to dispose of the old Big Creek bridge.

On motion the road accounts of the Townships of Ernestown, Kingston, and Effingham and Denbigh, Abinger and Ashby were each credited with $300 to pay for necessary road work until March session.

By-law, appointing F. W. Barrett High County Constable, was put through its various stages and finally passed.

The Roads and Bridges Committee reported, recommending no action in respect to the purchase of snow plows. Report adopted.

Council adjourned to meet at call of the Warden.

CLING TO BELIEFS

Few People Today Are Without Pet Superstitions.

Although Not Carried to Extremes That Have Marred the Pages of History in the Past, They Are Still With Us.

We constantly hear it said that "this is the twentieth century; superstition and all that sort of thing died out long ago." Yet there is hardly a person in the country without his pet belief—that misfortune follows stepping over a baby or spilling salt, or that a black cat brings good luck, for example. Hence, too, the universal practice of wearing mascots "for luck."

These, however, are not very serious beliefs, being merely personal foibles. Superstition of a deeper rooted and more unpleasant type is still common in the more backward rural areas, however. Only a few weeks ago an old dame in the Fen country was boycotted by the whole community because she had the reputation of being a witch and of throwing spells over people's children, stock and crops. No one would go near her or let her have food or clothing, and she nearly starved to death.

The cold, legal atmosphere of the courts would be thought unfavorable to belief in witchcraft, and yet a farmer—to name an ignorant man—stood up the other day in Norfolk court and informed the bench that someone had bewitched his cows. He cured the evil spell by thrusting a red hot poker into his churn, when the evil spirit vanished in a bright flame.

Years ago any old crone who was even suspected with the heighbors stood a good chance of being tried (and burnt) for witchcraft, and cases are even known where animals were solemnly brought into court and tried on a similar charge.

A tough old cock at Basle, in Switzerland, was accused of laying eggs—a most serious offence, as such eggs were used only for making witches' ointment. The unhappy bird was haled before the justices, and one of the eggs produced as proof of guilt. In the face of such evidence the rooster's case was hopeless. He was convicted and he and his miraculous eggs solemnly burnt at the stake in the town square.

A sow and six young pigs were accused of witchcraft towards a child, and were brought, protesting loudly before the "bench." Amid great sensation, the sow was found guilty and publicly executed, but the porkers were acquitted on the ground of extreme youth. As late as 1740, a cow was accused of possessing a "devil," and after a long hearing was found guilty and condemned to death. "Rats and mice and such small deer," have been summoned on numerous occasions, but almost invariably failed to put in an appearance at court.

In the fifteenth century, the peasants of a village in the south of France took legal proceedings against a plague of locusts which threatened to destroy their crops. As the case was still being fought nearly half a century later, the locusts probably got some sympathy with the unlucky plaintiffs, but could probably prefer the more up-to-date application of lime or mustard.

Another action was brought against a pest of leeches swarming in the ponds and streams of another country district of France. The judge issued a decree against the leeches trespassing further on the disputed territories, but history is silent as to whether the injunction was obeyed or ignored, with resultant punishment for contempt of court.

Animals have even been admitted as witnesses in the courts. It used to be considered an offense to kill a burglar trying to break into a house. There arose the difficulty that one man trying to break into another's house, and then murder him, pretending that he was a robber. To get over this, it was decided that any domestic animal, such as a cat or a dog, present at the time might bear witness. If the animal on being questioned satisfied the court that his master had acted in good faith, the killing was held to be justifiable. There are not many instances of acquittal.

Japanese Glass Industry Grows.

Though encouraged by the government in 1876 by the establishment of a model glass factory, transferred ten years later to private ownership, the glass industry of Japan was only fairly prosperous until the outbreak of the recent European war, at which time, due to the shutting off of supplies from France, Belgium and Germany, the manufacturers of glass received such a stimulus that it now bids fair to compete with the industry in other countries. Before 1914 practically all the window glass used in Japan was imported, but this branch of the industry is receiving special attention and in 1918 its product to the value of $1,750,000 was exported.

Conductor Pulls Teeth.

A conductor-dentist operates on a branch of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad system in West Virginia. He is Dr. Harry Halstead. When patients failed to come to him fast enough Halstead took a position as conductor. He carries forceps in his pocket. During a recent week the train was hailed four times by persons who wanted their teeth drawn. The dentist-conductor never fails to make the stops.

Doctor—You seem to be run down, Mrs. Peck. Let me see your tongue.

Hubby—That's right, doctor; you guessed it right off!

OBITUARY

Mr. Wilson Hyland.

The death occurred at Reidville, on December 9th, 1924, of Mr. Wilson Hyland, a life long resident of Camden Township. Deceased was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hyland, and was born on June 5th, 1835, on the farm where he passed away.

On Dec. 4th, 1863, he was united in marriage to Miss Matilda Reid, who survives him. Eight children were born to them, six of whom survive: Mrs. George Kennedy, Wallaceburg; Mrs. George Milligan, Tamworth; Thomas J., of Ernestown; William, of Belleville; George and Edmore, at home. Two sons died in infancy. Mr. Hyland was a valued member of Reidville Presbyterian Church all his long life, and until failing health overtook him had been regular in attendance at the services.

He was a chartered member of L. O. L. No. 431, now located at Enterprise. The first lodge room was situated a short distance from his late residence.

Mr. Hyland was well known in his native township of Camden and in Sheffield, and was much esteemed. He was a quiet man, but always ready to lend a helping hand to a neighbor in need, and in support of every worthy cause. The funeral service was held in the Reidville church on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 11th, and was conducted by Rev. A. M. Little, a former pastor, and Rev. Mr. Clarke, of Tamworth, assisted by Rev. Mr. Merriam, of Enterprise. The members of the Enterprise Lodge attended in a body and officiated at the grave. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Adam Fitzland, John W. Reid, Robert Potter, George MacLaren, Fred Reid, E. A. Hornish.

Among the floral offerings were a spray from Mr. and Mrs. William Hyland, of Belleville, and wreaths from the family and Enterprise Lodge.

Those in attendance from a distance were Mrs. Frank Sheridan, Mr. George Hyland and Mr. George Daphine, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bateman, Madoc.

Mrs. Margaret Foster.

The community met with a sad loss on January 8th, when there passed to her reward Mrs. Margaret Foster, widow of the late Daniel Foster, of Sandhurst. The deceased was born in Larmanagh, Ireland, eighty-four years ago, and came to this country while yet very young and settled in Bath. By her genial character and kindness of heart she had endeared to herself a wide circle of friends who are now left to mourn her death. To her was born four sons, James, of Toronto; Edward, of Merton; Thomas, of Deseronto, and Robert, who predeceased her some years ago, and one daughter, Mrs. Albert Herrington, South Napanee, with whom she had made her home for the past number of years. The funeral took place on Sunday, January 11th, and a large concourse of friends paid their last tribute of respect to the departed. Rev. J. H. H. Morton officiating. Her remains were placed in Riverview vault till spring when they will be placed beside her late husband in the family plot at Sandhurst.

BATH

Mrs. Frank Mellow and baby, of Napanee, spent a couple of days recently at George Davy's.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thurgal are visiting with friends in Watertown, N.Y. — The auction sale of household furniture, etc., held at the home of the late Mrs. Chas. Vanalstine on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 31st, was well attended, and good prices were realized.—The play, "The Path Across the Hill", which was to have been put on in the Town Hall, on Friday evening, Jan. 23rd, by the Anderson Dramatic Club, under the auspices of the Sunday School of the Methodist Church, had to be postponed until some future date on account of the inclement weather and bad roads. — Misses Abbie and Sarah Collupy are receiving from an attack of scarlet fever. Much sympathy is felt here for Master Neilson Roddick, of Conway, who is confined to the house by illness of his father, Mr. Geo. Roddick, who passed away after a short illness.—Symington's ice harvest is on. Miss Ethel Cronk, of Sulphide, who is attending school here, and who has her mother who was visiting here at the time, was called home, owing to the sudden illness and death of her father.—Mrs. Frank Henderson is in Sulphide to attend the funeral of her brother-in-law, the late Mr. Cronk.

BETHANY

(For last week).

When do we get our January thaw? Only 32 degrees below on Wednesday morning.—Mrs. H. Hamby and Mr. Samuel Wadman, were quietly married last week, and left on a trip to Buffalo and other points returning on Sunday last. On Monday evening about forty gave them a reception, where the dates are different and spent a pleasant time with them.—Mr. Walter Hicks, of Glenora, is visiting at her parents', Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Davis.—Although the night was very cold and stormy, a number attended the play given by the Club at Bethany, and say it was the best yet. They have an engagement at Mount Carmel on February 6th, and others, where the dates are not yet fixed.—George Burtch entertained a number of friends on Tuesday evening.—Quarterly Service is to be held here on Sunday next. — Mrs. Joyce, of Pine Mick, is visiting at her sister's, Mrs. V. Walsh. — Mrs. A. Dean, Greina, and George Burtch are visited at W. Shepherd's, on Sunday last.—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller returned home on Saturday last, after visiting their daughter, at Syracuse, N.Y.

At J. J. Garvin's Adolphustown, you can get 2 Shredded Wheat for 25c. Royal Nuts 25c. lb.; Mixed Candy 20c. lb.; Fresh Dates, 2 lbs. 25c.; 2 lbs. Cocoa, 25c.; 15 bars Soap $1.00; 2 boxes Matches 35c.; Oyster Shell. See the latest designs in Coleman Lamps.

"My son-in-law has just got a new motor-car," said Mrs. Lawson. "He says he's going to call it 'True Love' because so far he hasn't been able to make it run smoothly."

"Owe my life to Carnol," says Mr. Sinclair

Following a railway accident, after other medicines failed, he got relief from two bottles of Carnol.

The following letter needs no comment from us. We leave Mr. Sinclair to tell you about his experience in his own words.—"I was very much run down and nervous following a railway accident some years ago. Medicines failed to give me any real help, so I decided to try Carnol. I did not have any faith in patent medicines, but a friend of mine said Carnol was far superior to any other of the so-called patent medicines. 'Give it a trial,' he said, 'and let me know the results.' I am glad to say this wonderful medicine has done for me what no other medicine has done, and it therefore gives me great pleasure to give this evidence in favor of Carnol. I would advise all business men who feel, after the strenuous life of the world, that they need a building up medicines. 'Give it a trial,' he said,

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Mr. William Kinnett, Bellrock, Ont., who departed this world in 1909.

Dear is the grave where my father is laid,
Sweet is the memory that will never fade;
Flowers may wither, leaves fade and die,
Others may forget him, but never will I.

W. Huff's.—Mr. C. C. Davy and Mr. John McCreary spent a day in Kingston on business.—Mrs. Jane Davy received the sad news of her sister's death, Mrs. Hester McCreary, at the Rockwood Hospital on Friday. The funeral was held at the home of her nephew, G. C. Davy. Despite the inclement weather and bad roads, a large number of friends and neighbours gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased, showing the high esteem in which she was held. The many friends of Mr. Jacob Salisbury were shocked to learn of his sudden passing on Monday evening last. The funeral took place from the home of his son, Wesley Salisbury, on Wednesday afternoon.

Transform Historic Westminster.
Prominent citizens of London are planning to rebuild the district around Westminster Abbey as a memorial to those who distinguished themselves in the world war. The improvements include the construction of a great avenue, 120 feet wide, and a new Lambeth bridge. The design for the bridge will be chosen from plans submitted by architects from all over the world. Splendid buildings are projected for the University of London, for a Shakespearean theater, and for arts and science exhibits. The new avenue will contain groups of statuary commemorating the heroic deeds of the British, Canadian, New Zealand and Australian forces, as well as those of Britain's allies. It is intended to make this as finest and most impressive monumental avenue in the British empire.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Chinese Railways Busy.
Latest reports indicate that 15,000 miles of government railways carry annually more than 25,000,000 passengers a total of 1,000,000,000 passenger miles per year. Nine per cent of the receipts of the government railways come from the passenger service. On line of the lines the passenger revenues exceed those from transportation of goods. Ninety-five per cent of the passenger traffic is third-class at an average fare of one cent a mile, which means a large amount of travel by the poorer classes.

Wide macadamized highways are being constructed in the suburbs of many cities. The coming of the automobile will hasten this development. An automobile service across the Gobi desert connecting Peking with Urga and the Russian railway has been inaugurated.

English Lenses Superior.
When aero-photography commenced early in the years of the war, it was found that the German-made lenses would do the work of picturing from above far better than British-made lenses. But the English opticians set to work, and in a short time they produced lenses that beat the German product fair and square. Captured aero-photographic apparatus during the latter part of the war showed that the lenses were inferior in quality to those made in Britain. No German-made lens has yet been found that would picture a barbed wire entanglement from a height of three miles, but the British product would, and very often did.

Worms in children, if they be not attended to, cause convulsions and often death. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will protect the children from these distressing afflictions.

Low Prices Built This Business!

So Don't Be Afraid To Come In

Just because we occasionally advertise goods at prices beyond your reach, don't jump to the conclusion that this Store is beyond your means. It is not. This store has been built up on your kind of business. We also cultivate a higher-price patronage because it has to be taken care of, but the backbone of this business is the man of moderate means. So don't be afraid to come in, and don't think that your pocketbook needs any apologies!

You tell us what you want to spend. We'll show you what we can do for it. And you'll be agreeably surprised.

Men's Overcoat Bargains

Boys' Overcoat Bargains

Last call and opportunity for you to make a Great Big Saving. Remember all Wool Goods will be higher next fall and winter. With Australian Wools 37½ per cent. higher than the highest war prices, there is no help for it.

Our reasons for not wishing to carry these Coats over are: 1st, we need the money to pay for Spring and Summer merchandise; 2nd, we have not a full range of sizes in any line, and odds and ends are a nuisance in a stock.

Our $25.00 and $27.50 Men's Coats are now $13.95.
Our $35.00 and $37.50 Men's Coats are now $23.95.
Our Boys' and Children's Coats are all drastically reduced. We invite you to come and see them. Your size is here.

Four Dozen Exclusive Porch Dresses Go On Sale Saturday Morning, Feb. 7th, at 9 a.m.

Reg. $6.50 Dresses for $3.95. Reg. $4.75 Dresses for $3.39.

To keep his factory running to capacity during December, one of our better-class Canadian manufacturers took a gamble and cut up hundreds and hundreds of yards of good quality imported Ginghams into cleverly styled Porch and House Dresses. In fact, they are good enough to wear any place at any time when a wash dress would be appreciated.

To make this effort worth while, manufacturing costs were cut to the bone, materials were priced at unbelievable low figures, and the merchandise sold without profit.

WE WERE ABLE TO SECURE FOUR DOZEN ONLY

They are divided into eight different styles, and come in neat checks, two-toned stripes and plaid designs, in a splendid range of colorings.

This assortment is equally divided between women's and Misses' sizes and styles. Each style is artistically and becomingly ornamented. Now is the time to replenish your wardrobe with Porch Dresses.

STRATHCONA

The weather has moderated somewhat, and we are beginning to wonder whether the bear really did see his shadow on Monday or not. However, time will tell, and patience is a virtue. — A large number from here attended the High School concert in Newburgh on Friday night of last week, and report a "tip top" program. — Mrs. Bruce Ashley, Mrs. George Finlay visited their sister, Mrs. Ward Wartman, Wesley, on Wednesday.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tompkins and family took tea at Ed. Hane's on Sunday evening. — Mr. W. J. Finlay is in Montreal on business this week.—The monthly meeting of the Mission Circle is to be held at the home of Mr. George Haycock this (Friday) evening at 7:30 o'clock. We always have a splendid meeting in this home, so make a special effort and make your appearance. You are always welcome.—Service next Sunday at 10 a.m., Sunday School at 11 a.m.

MUSICAL CONCERT.

The concert given by Court Lennox No. 78, on Thursday, January 29th, in music, song, recital and oral eloquence furnished by the High Court officers, which was of material importance, all helped to bring to a successful issue the evening's entertainment, one which will long be remembered by young and old, and the officers and members of Court Lennox No. 78 most heartily thank Bro. Black's Orchestra and each individual assistant both in song, music and recital, who so kindly and generously gave of their talent free gratis in aid of the Piano Fund.

Black's Orchestra gave several fine selections while the audience were being seated.

The chair was efficiently filled by that humorous and clever Bro., A. E. Paul, who is naturally endowed with a peculiar strain, and spiced his remarks with his spontaneous sallies of wit, which to a great extent gave an air of mirth and glee to the occasion.

The opening number by Bro. Black's Orchestra indicated an hilarious evening and was well received.

Songs by Allan Walters were good. He made a hit and brought down the house.

Miss Francis Dwyer sang with great beauty of tone, and exceeded our expectations. Her clear, excellent voice proclaims her a virtuoso.

Miss Marion Bruton, of Kingston, sang a pleasing operatic air with splendid expression and richness of tone.

Bro. Alf. P. VanSomeren, High Secretary, Brantford, in his polished manner endeavored quite successfully, in the short space of time allotted to him, to explain to the members present the cause of the high rate which was forced upon the Order and the necessity of adjustment, so as to put the Order in a real solvent condition, and he so condensed the facts that we were all satisfied that the Official Board was steering the ship of state safely through the turbulent shoals of insolvency into the clear, deep and peaceful waters beyond.

A solo by Miss McMillan was much appreciated and drew a prolonged encore.

A solo by Mr. Watson was well worth listening to. He has a vigorous voice and broad range.

A recitation by Mr. J. G. Loucks necessitated the closing of the doors to prevent a stampede.

A violin solo by Miss Dorothy Zoels was fine.

A recitation by Miss Jean Paul was very laughable. She was a pleasing surprise and is in a class by herself.

A solo by Miss Mildred Loucks was very pleasing and she is deserving of much credit for one so young and unsophisticated.

Mr. A. C. Wiley, Superintendent of Organization, Brantford, was the audience spell bound. As he had previously covered this territory for the last fifteen years, he knows the work from start to finish, and in spite of the handicap that the previous speaker had the choice of material, yet with his craft and his knowledge of the game, he succeeded in placing himself on equal terms in the estimation of the officers and members of Court Lennox.

A duet by Mrs. Fred Laughlin and Bro. J. A. Halpenny was a very laughable production, which brought forth a continual applause. Bro. Halpenny not only sang his part, but acted it. His emotional gestures thrilled and filled the mind of the older ones with blissful memories of days gone by, and a persistent encore brought back Bro. Halpenny for a recitation, entitled the "Statue of Liberty." In this he proved himself the sky rocket of the evening, and the audience laughed again. As a chaser he succeeded in drawing a glass of soda water from the chairman's ear.

Refreshments being served, someone blundered, for the National Anthem was sung, cutting off five beautiful selections by the Orchestra of Court Lennox.

Piano—Miss H. Baughan.
Violin—Miss Jessie Cleall.
Cornets—Mr. Halpenny and Mr. Fred Knapp.
Trombone—Mr. Geo. Grass.
Saxophone—Mr. Floyd Martin.
Trombone—Mr. Harry Garrett.

This was worth the admission fee all alone and the bulk of the audience missed a musical treat, especially in the rendering of "The Rose Queen." She layed a golden egg and flew high.

OBITUARY

Lester Deline.

Lester Deline was born on May 7th, 1858, in the County of Frontenac, Province of Ontario. He lived to Bell Rock until he became sixteen years of age, when he entered with the Napanee Paper Company, head office, Napanee. Was employed as lumberman for two years. In 1876 he had proven himself a most satisfactory employee. This Company engaged him as foreman at the age of eighteen years. He was overseer of a large number of men getting wood from the woods that are known as the drowned lands, six miles from Enterprise. In those days there was no steam coal available, and they had to burn card wood in their boilers. In 1878 he entered in the bonds of matrimony with Irena Smith, daughter of Mr. Ira Smith, of Petworth, Ont., and resided in Petworth.

He worked with this Company until they made all assignment in 1883, when he made an engagement with the Benjamin Wheel Works of Yarker. He ranged the iron wood district through Hastings and Richmond Counties for two years. He then accepted a position with the Rathbun Company as wood and log foreman in Hastings County. The wood was all clear maple, and was used to make charcoal and chemicals, and the logs were made up in lumber for flooring and furniture. In 1895 he was transferred to the cement business. He was superintendent of the mail end of the Cement Company, which was called then Rathburne Portland Cement Company, Deseronto. These marl beds were at Marlbank. This was the first cement plant in Canada, works at Strathcona, Ont. In 1899 the Rathburn Portland Cement Company bought out the English Portland Cement Co. which was located at Marlbank, and had not been running very long. In this transaction he was transferred as Assistant Superintendent to Mr. Dan Armstrong. In 1907 this Company started to build a cement plant at Port Colborne, and in 1908 Mr. Dan Armstrong was transferred to Port Colborne, and Mr. L. Deline was made Superintendent of the Marlbank plant, then called Canadian Portland Cement Company. In 1910 due to cost of coal, which was a big item of that plant, the Company had to close it down, and Mr. M. J. Haney of the Port Credit Brick Works, who was also President of the Canadian Portland Cement Company, transferred him to his plant at Port Credit as Superintendent, and in 1913 Mr. Deline gave in his resignation to the Company, and went in business for himself as Enterprise as cement and feed dealer, and continued in this business until three years ago, when his health began to fail, and he was compelled to drop the feed end of it. In November last he motored to Port Colborne, feeling quite well. He visited with his two sons and two daughters, making his main stopping place at Mrs. Wm. Jackson's. On the 18th day of January, while visiting his son, Otto, he was taken ill and was confined to his bed. He grew worse from day to day and a general breakdown set in, and on Sunday, Feb. 1st, at 3 p.m., he passed away.

Mr. Deline was a member of the Masonic Order No. 404, Lorne Lodge, Tamworth, Ont.

Deceased leaves to mourn his loss, a wife, daughter, Annie, at Centreville, Ont.; son, Earl, at Napanee, Ont.; daughter, Fern, at Guelph; two sons, Lloyd and Otto, and two daughters, Lena and Edna, at Port Colborne.

Mr. Samuel Bell.

Merven has suffered another loss by the death of one of its oldest and most highly respected citizens, in the person of Mr. Samuel Bell, whose death took place at his home, following a protracted illness, on Wednesday, January 14th, 1925, at the ripe age of 75 years. He was born in 1849 to Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, and in March, 1874 married Miss Emily Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lloyd, of Fredericksburgh, and living to celebrate their golden wedding on March 11th, 1924. The christian influences surrounding his early life were of the best, and therefore early took his stand in the service of his Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and became an earnest member of the Methodist Church, and continued creditably in that relationship for more than half a century. To him it was a delight to recall the building of the Brick Church, Merven, in which he took part, giving of his time, labor and means to erect it, where he, with others, may meet to worship God, and rarely was his seat empty when it was physically possible for him to occupy it. He was loyal to his Saviour, to his church, his home and community, and this was shown by his consistent life, generous support of his church, the unselfish spirit to his neighbours, the love and peace in his home.

The funeral service was held in the church he helped to build, and was largely attended by sympathising friends. The Pastor conducted the service, with the Fourth Line Choir in charge of the music. But now his labours are finished but his life and influence will be long felt and remembered by all who knew him.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, his only son, Charles, two sisters and four brothers.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

She—So you gave Algernon your hand?

Other She—Yes, but I'm going to keep him under my thumb.

Many have been relieved of corns by Holloway's Corn-Remover. It has a power of its own that will be found effective.

Wife (reproachfully)—John, you are kinder to dumb animals than you are to me.

Husband (fed up)—Well, you try being dumb, and see how kind I'll be.

Worms in children, if they be not attended to, cause convulsions and often death. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will protect the children from these distressing afflictions.

A man and a woman were having a few words.

"If I had a husband like you," said the woman, "I'd give him poison."

"And if I had a wife like you," was the reply, "I'd take it."

A Corrector of Pulmonary Troubles—Many testimonials could be presented showing the great efficacy of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in correcting disorders of the respiratory processes, but the best testimonial is experience and the Oil is recommended to all who suffer from these disorders with the certainty that they will find relief. It will allay inflammation in the bronchial tubes.

"I believe," declared Pat, "that me youngest son's born to be a surgeon."

"How's heads ye thay that?" asked Mick.

"Oi can tell him using the scissors on a bob-sled at height, and before a year's out he can cut out the appendicitis."

Painless and perfect in their action, Miller's Worm Powders are always a safe and reliable remedy for children who show symptoms of worms. Their symptoms are easily recognizable in a feverish restlessness, frequently ending in convulsions. A point of notable importance is that after Miller's Worm Powders have expelled the worms, the stomach and bowels are toned up into a very healthy condition.

Barber—You're next, sir. Hair cut?

Peppery—Yes, and, here, put this in your pocket for yourself.

Parson—Thank you, sir. I don't often get a tip in church I assure you, and I appreciate it.

Peppery—I don't want you to consider that a tip. It's hush money.

Reb It In For Lame Back. — A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will relieve lame back. Backache will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in, the pain comes out and there are several reasons for saying that it is an excellent article.

Alfred (rapturously)—Now, darling, please name the happy day.

Minnie (charmingly)—Any week from next Thursday, Alfred.

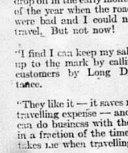
Noah (through the key-hole)—If you please, Miss, that's my regular day out. You'll have to get married in the early part of the week.

"I say, Bob, that's about an acquaintance, why did the foreman sack you yesterday?"

"Well, you know, was the reply, the foreman is one who stands around and watches his gang work."

"I know that's what he got to do with it?"

"Why, he got jealous of me! People thought I was the foreman!"



Selling—when roads are bad

"My sales always used to drop off in the early monthy of the year when the roads were bad and I could not travel. But not now!

"I find I can keep my sales up to the mark by calling customers by Long Distance.

"They like it — it saves me travelling expense — and I can do business with them in a fraction of the time it takes me when travelling."

HOW 'TEDDY' CAME

No Flourish of Trumpets Heralded Roosevelt.

Just One of the Crowd Doing Good Work in High Land, but Supreme in Quality of Leadership—Proved His Energy.

I was travel stained from head to foot, and on the front of my khaki riding skirt flared with a placket in regard of all convention a large, round circle of black axle grease, where the camp wagon had branched me for my affront of trying to climb in over the wheel, writes Natalie Curtis in the Outlook. My companions called the round stain an "Indian sun symbol," and it was not comforting to hear them jeer that nothing but a bath of gasoline could ever make the clean again.

I ran across the sandhills to the little schoolhouse to which the Hopi children trail down from the mesa top to be taught in the ways of the white man. All the white employees of the government school were busy with scrubbing brushes—so busy that they did not look up from their work as they said, "Sorry, we can't bother about anything now. We've cleaning up for Roosevelt." "But so am I," I cried. Yet they only went on scrubbing.

At last I spied a silent and empty corner cot. A man on horseback seemed to be the owner. "I am going to meet Col. Roosevelt," he said; "too busy to help you now. You can have as much gasoline as you like if you get it for yourself." I fetched a handful—cup from the schoolhouse, but I gazed at the car in despair. I was as ignorant of its inner workings as an Indian. Presently a handsome and clean-limned young cowboy in blue overalls passed me, leading some horses.

"I wonder if you could get me some gasoline from this car?" I called. "I am allowed a free hand. You see," I confided, confidentially, "we are all trying to clean up in honor of Col. Roosevelt—he is expected today some time." The young man smiled, and a few minutes later he lay in utter chivalry under the car, squirting gasoline out of a cup. I thanked him warmly and sped away. I was glad to see that he was just as weather stained as I.

As I climbed the crest of one of the sandhills I stopped again, spellbound by the wonder. A stalwart figure on a cow pony was riding up the hill, alone and unattended; without any display of trumpets or fuss Roosevelt had arrived! His sunburned face was partly shaded by a big felt hat, a red handkerchief about the chin as the bronc, and he, too, looked as though gasoline might improve his sheikhs. I waved no summons and cried "Hail to the chief!" No one had expected the great guest so soon, but it was like him to be ahead of the rest of his party.

He leaped from the saddle and we shook hands warmly. "This is cozy," he exclaimed. "But don't spill my gasoline," I cried. "Every one in Hopi land is trying to clean up for you." He laughed heartily. "You must meet my boy," he said, and called loudly, "Archie!"—and at this the bright-in overalls appeared.

"We have met today before," he said, with a smile, and glanced up sufficiently at my cap. It was nearly empty. The guest sun was drinking up all my efforts, but I did not care.

The sun was still alight the next morning when we left our camp fire but we paused for a moment to fill a bottle with hot coffee for the colonel who had made his headquarters in the schoolhouse. When we reached the schoolhouse, the colonel's room was empty. "One must indeed get up early to be abreast of Theodore Roosevelt," we told each other, rather shame facedly.

Now, to climb the Walpi trail, a steep 600 feet, ends on horseback; no pleasant task before daylight (and breakfast)! But when we scrambled on foot to the summit, tired and breathless, there stood the colonel strong and secure, among the topmost rocks of the Hopi bastion, against the "yellow line," as the Hopis call the dawn. The little incident was characteristic of his natural love of energy, his unfailing promptitude and his inborn quality of leadership.

Portia to Date.

For the first time in history a woman lawyer, Signora Cosnani, has conducted a case in an Italian court and commentators are naturally reminded of Portia and the famous case of Shylock vs. Antonio. Shakespeare may have found his idea for the scene in an Italian tradition, for the tale comes down from the fourteenth century of how the daughter of a jurist consult in old Bologna took her father's place in the law school.

But even if the tradition is based on fact, it detracts nothing from Signora Cosnani's appearance in an Italian law court, for law schools and law courts are somewhat different, and the "lady lawyer" of fourteenth dig, not appear publicly; she taught law to her father's students from behind a curtain.—Christian Science Monitor.

HAD MET HIS KIND BEFORE

"Uncle Joe" Cannon's Withering Rebuke of Lobbyist Who Thought to Make "Bluff" Good.

Joseph Guernsey Cannon, more affectionately known throughout the length and breadth of the land as "Uncle Joe," is nearing his eighty-fourth birthday. He loves his fellowman and is one of the most affable members of congress. He loves children.

But Uncle Joe hates "bounders" and lobbyists and is still young and vigorous enough to resent their attempts at familiarity, says the Washington Star.

For the benefit of a couple of men with legislative axes to grind whom he was endeavoring to impress with his own importance around the capitol, one of the well-known lobbyists held up "Uncle Joe" near the cigar counter in the house restaurant. "Hello, Uncle Joe!" he exclaimed. "Haven't seen you for some days. You sure are looking fine. Won't you have a cigar with us—one of your old favorites?"

Then the cold, steely look in Uncle Joe's eyes gave him a warning. He tried to bluff it off.

"Why, Uncle Joe, you don't seem to remember me."

But he reckoned without his host—you just can't bluff Uncle Joe. He has played the great American game too long for that. With shoulders thrown back, arms stiffened at his side, eyes piercing the presuming acquaintance, he raised himself on his toes, leaning closer and daringly toward the face of the other, and said: "No, I don't remember you. Why, if when you get to the pearly gates you don't look more familiar to St. Peter than you do now to me, he'll say to you, 'Get to — out of here; I don't know you!'"

ORIGIN OF "DICKENS NAMES"

Pursuit Long a Favorite Amusement of the Admirers of Writer of Immortal Fiction.

One of the most interesting of sentimental pursuits is the search after the origin of "Dickens names." It is specially interesting, no doubt, because nobody can prove to demonstration that his particular "solution" is the correct one, and, as a consequence, the pursuit of the name discoveries is seldom reduced, much less exhausted. One of the latest "stunts" is a possible origin for the old favorite, "Chadband." A recent writer tells how, a few years ago, to one of the small streets between Sutton and Epsom, there stood a small tailor's shop bearing in large letters the name of "Chadband." And he goes on to wonder whether Dickens, "going down by road Dorking, noticed the name, and kept it in his mind's eye," or that rumor he would have passed the very door of the shop. The writer seems to think it highly likely, while the proof that Dickens actually made the journey, was it not in the town of Dorking that there stood the Marquis of Granby inn? And was it not the hostess of the Marquis of Granby who ultimately became Mrs. Weller?—Christian Science Monitor.

Beauty in Seaweed.

Contemplating seaweed, the curator of this department in the New York botanical gardens has made a suggestion, timely with regard to the present exhibition of specimens in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, that here may be found many a charming suggestion, hitherto unnoticed by artists, for the creation of decorative designs. One is reminded of the passage in which Ruskin tells how the Greek architect found a beautiful design in the movement of sweet waters; and he wonders that Ruskin himself, with his keen appreciation of art suggestions in nature, did not deal with the varied beauty of design discoverable in the different seaweeds. Perhaps he did, and one has forgotten it; at any rate seaweed has not, it seems, yet supplied suggestion for the design of lace, tapestries, prints, and architectural ornament, and the idea adds material for the work of designers.

Mortgage on a Cat.

There was filed in the office of the recorder of deeds in Stockton, Mo., the most unusual chattel mortgage ever presented in the county. The articles mentioned to secure a debt of $40 were as follows: One shotgun, one Winchester rifle, two bulldogs, one black tomcat with white feet, named Tom. It was not specified that the guns had been used by the bride with bow, but the identification of the tomcat was considered by the mortgagee the most valuable part of the security.—St. Louis Republic.

TO RESTORE HISTORIC SPOT

City of New Orleans Taking Steps to Preserve and Beautify Bienville's Landing Place.

An effort is being made in New Orleans to restore the old historic spot around the city. With the restoration of the old Place d'Armes, the rehabilitation of the Cabildo and the Pontalba apartments which surround it, and the preservation of all as an attraction for the old French and Spanish quarter, an effort is being made to restore and preserve the landing place of Bienville, where he first set foot on the high land in 1720, at the place he was destined to convert into Nouvelle Orleans. This landing place, which lies on the river directly facing the Place d'Armes, which is now Jackson square, is covered with the railroad tracks of the Southern Pacific and public belt railroads, and with a part of the large steel warehouse belonging to the board of commissioners of the port of New Orleans.

Supporters of the Louisiana State museum have appealed to the mayor and the various civic organizations to have their sheds and railroad tracks removed at once. Insomuch as the land, clear from the Cabildo to the river itself, was expropriated some time ago to be put to historical and artistic reserve. As all the water front of New Orleans and the east bank of the river belongs to the city and state forever, the completion of the artistic center is sure of accomplishment.

ACCEPTED MANDATE OF FATE

Young English Soldier Proved Himself Worthy When Called to Position of Responsibility.

When Rudyard Kipling's "The Man Who Would Be King" was published it was regarded as an excursion into the impossible, if not the impossible. It was the Anglo-Saxon imagination accepted by the colorful Hindustani civilization.

But the sober chronicles of the war have outdone Kipling. Thorneycroft, a twenty-six-year-old British trooper, found himself stranded in Turkey after Townshend's ill-fated offensive. Nothing daunted, he accepted his predicament as a mandatory of Fate. He proceeded to rule over a territory containing 60 villages and 60,000 souls and he ended them until relieved by the martial law brought by Allenby's troops. The son of a banker and lawyer of Bristol, he acted at the test that he was of imperial fiber.

Truth is stranger than fiction. It always has been and always will be, with Tommy Atkins or his first cousin, the doughboy, as protagonist. Fresh evidence of the truth of that means adaptability, no matter what the emergency.

Marshal Joffre a Catalonian.

Possibly with more reason than the seven claimants to the birthplace of Homer, Catalonia makes out a good case for asserting that Marshal Joffre belongs to her by right of birth. The great strategist of the German first offensive is a native of Perpignan, where the Catalonian race predominates in that place and where today are found many families which still retain Catalonian customs and language. Leading business firms of Catalonia, seeking to establish a tangible claim, have appointed a committee which is to proceed to Paris and present a sword to the great warrior, unless he fulfill a promise made at the peace conference that he will visit Catalonia, in which case the presentation will be made at Barcelona. This sword, it is said, would be the occasion of a great celebration.

Mexicans Hold Strange Beliefs.

Few countries are richer in strange beliefs" than Mexico, writes Charles Bernard Nordhoff in the Atlantic Monthly. There the witches assume the eyes of cats and flit through the night on vampire wings. A belief business is done in love potions and candle flames still point the way to buried treasure. The Mexican Indian in his credulity is the domestic beasts from both the Spaniard and the Indian, and his superstitions may be traced to the most double source.

Eccentricity is not understood in Mexico. The native is a lover of fantasy, and a well-to-do man should wear a straw sombrero or carry a scrape; the peons would be the first to jeer at him.

Painstaking Work.

A French critic who complained of the lazy composition and lack of fine writing among his compatriots drew from M. Pierre Louys, the author of "La Femme et le Pantin," a pained and precise denial of the charge. M. Louys, who has not published anything in several years, says that he has been diligently occupied on a work which he rewrites and corrects a hundred times in each page. This and other works which he has not yet considered worthy of publication have accumulated until he has on hand more than 200 pounds of manuscript.

KEEPS 15,000 CARS MOVING; BUT SHE CANT MAKE SALADS

WHEN the Canadian Pacific Railway Company Office of the Canadian National Railways attended in conference in Montreal recently, one of the best "brains" around the large table in the board room at the General Offices in McGill Street was Miss Lucy Wright.

Don't infer from this that Miss Wright is one of those masculine creatures who has buried her sex and submerged herself in the idea that she wants to be a man; on the contrary, she is decidedly feminine. She is not one who thinks that women should take men's places in the world's business, but rather one who believes if a girl starts out to achieve herself a career she should strive to attain the highest point possible in that career.

"If a girl intends to get married," said Miss Wright, "she should marry a man of business and prepare for business. In the former instance learn home economics, the business of finding and managing a home and arrange to meet proper young men, but for business it is different. One cannot be a success at business executive and an expert salad maker at the same time. I know that in my case it would be a dangerous thing to put me in command of a kitchen stove."

With this brief introduction to Miss Wright in mind, picture the surprise of a factory traffic manager who strode into the offices of the Canadian National—Grand Trunk Lines at Detroit the other day and demanded:

"Where's the General Car Distributor? Show me his office."

"Here I am. I'm the General Car Distributor."

It was Miss Lucy Wright, sitting behind her neatly kept desk from which she directs the movement of some 15,000 freight cars.

After the shock of surprise had subsided the factory representative found what it was he "wanted to do" and then proceeded to a satisfactory explanation of just why the cars he had ordered had not been delivered.

Appointment of Miss Lucy Wright to the important office of general car distributor for the Grand Trunk came as a big surprise to Michigan railroad men. It is believed she is the only woman in America occupying such a position. It is her duty to keep on the wheels of Dominion freight cars on Grand Trunk tracks, supplying the demands of shippers. An idle freight car costs the railroad $1 a day, and there are 15,000 cars on the division.

Though many railroad men and shippers were skeptical when a woman was placed in charge of the distribution of the cars, all are learning to respect her ability.

Born on a Farm

Miss Wright was born on a farm near Durand, Mich., and at her father's death when she was eleven, she took active charge of the family. At twelve she was managing the farm successfully, incidentally learning the fundamentals of business.

She early decided that she wanted a business career and as she could not afford to take time off to go to business school she bought stenography books and studied at night herself.

Miss Wright obtained her first job as stenographer in the office of Attorney B. F. Hicks, of Durand, Mich., when she was nineteen.

"You notice I'm not giving any dates," she said to the interviewer, "and I'm not going to. I still resent a woman's privilege of keeping her age to herself."

The job paid $15 a week, hardly enough to pay her fare between the city and her home on the farm, but it gave her experience and at seventeen she went to work for the Grand Trunk. Except for two brief excursions into other business she has been with the road since. In 1920 she went to the Oakland Motor Car Co., taking charge of all incoming freight at the Pontiac plant. There she obtained valuable experience for her return to railroading last year as general car distributor.

MISS LUCY WRIGHT

Miss Wright has learned that her job calls for more than brains besides the mere distribution of cars.

Much to Learn

She must know crops and crop conditions. A farmer who had forgotten to make a shifting of freight cars that affected Grand Trunk as well as every railroad in America. In the autumn when the cotton of the California orange crop will influence the routine of the general car distributor's office.

Weather conditions are of as much importance to Miss Wright as to the captain of an ocean liner. An early spring, late fall or unprecedented low temperatures, all cause the use of freight cars to rise or fall in the same measure as hemorrhoids.

A corner on wheat, or corn, or cotton, or eggs, may cause suffering for Wall Street speculators. It means trouble for the general car distributor. The movement of wheat up, cars are in demand; when down, and cars are not wanted because the farmers hold on.

When industry revives the car distributor is one of the first to feel the effect.

Then comes the problem of the rise in the fortunes of La Follette, Borah and Johnson. Increased prosperity, increased wages, and the ability to buy automobiles, all are going to tell in a big way early in June because of that. Conditions will be such that the railroads will be materially taxed for cars to move the increased agricultural products and manufactured goods.

"Perhaps you'll see a more overworked woman than Miss Wright," said a friend recently, "but if you do, you'll be mighty sorry for her."

"Lucydities"

Girls who need advice most won't take it; the others will succeed anyway.

The worst enemy a business woman can commit is to confide her secrets.

Don't be an automatic stenographer; anyone can run a typewriter.

A girl who merely typewrites will always remain a stenographer; one who learns the business she is in will become a private secretary.

One can't be a successful business executive and an expert salad maker at the same time.

There isn't a position in the world that can not be filled by a woman as capably as by a man.

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Sent Woman to Bed. Great Change After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario.—"After my girlie was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could sit still or walk without pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I would have an operation but I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. I can't tell you better than to let you see it. So I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. Rosemary G. MacGregor, R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound report 98 out of 100 receives beneficial results. This is a remarkable proof of its merit. C

FINE LACES MADE BY SQUAWS

New Industry on Indian Reservations Said to Be Bringing Independence and Happiness.

As one speaks of lace making with deft fingers, it is hard to realize that the stoical squaw has the necessary digital equipment for this work. But in the Indian reservations in the far and middle West lace making is proving a means toward economic independence for the Indian woman, the New York Tribune states.

It was through a deaconess of the Episcopal church that lace making was introduced to the Indian. Until then squaws of the first Americans had not changed in the decorative arts except to make beaded garments for their braves. In 1890, however, the first lessons in lace making was given to Ojibway squaws near Duluth. Bishop Whipple of Minnesota, one of the pioneer missionaries of the Episcopal church among the redskins, early realized that the solution of the Indian problem lay in making the Indian self-supporting.

His successful were those efforts that today lace goods are maintained on ten reservations. Their exquisite examples in cutwork, needlepoint and bobbin lace have received gold medals at five expositions, and today the squaw, without neglecting her household duties, can earn from $75 to $100 a year.

To encourage just such activities among the Indians will be one of the purposes of the nationwide campaign of the Episcopal church. But to give economic independence to the squaw has not been the only accomplishment of the introduction of lace making on the Indian reservations. It has not only taught industry, but it has brought about cleanliness.

A report of the Indian Lace Industry association, named for the deaconess who introduced this work, reveals that this industry has transformed the lives of Indian women undertaking it. They can readily be distinguished from the others by their neat appearance and bright and hopeful faces.

One of smaller impression was obtained by a United States senator, who reported that he had never seen a happier lot of women. "They not only worked steadily," he said, "but actually laughed and chatted together, in strong contrast to the apathetic and hopeless squaws when Bishop Whipple called upon Deaconess Carter to be friend." It is pleasant to see a touch of the old-time arts of bendwork and basketry.

The association has a prominent shop in New York, where the sales of Indian work amount to about $12,000 annually.

Choose a Needed Occupation.

Choose an occupation in which you are at an advantage. Seventy-seven occupations insure steadier employment. Food, health, clothing, household management, thrift, teaching, child care, and nursing offer traditional employments to women. The average woman can learn to do these seventy-seven occupations with a fair certainty of earning an honorable and comfortable livelihood. If you prefer an exceptional occupation, and are qualified for it, do not be discouraged by initial failure. This is the age of the woman at work. The oldest and largest employments are constantly showing new and interesting developments in work for women. When the merchant begins a business he selects commodities to sell for which there is a demand. The worker should choose an occupation which offers steady, useful and well-paid employment. There seems no reason why many girls should not find employment in their father's business. Lady Rhondda is an example of the daughter who uses her father's partnership.—Exchange.

New Metal Produced.

A new invention, called conductite aluminum, which is said to be creating a profound impression, has been made by Dr. Georges Claude, the most famous expert in the aluminum trade, states Consul Philip Holland, Basel, Switzerland, in a recent report. The new metal is produced by putting the ordinary aluminum through a special process, by which it acquires the same mechanical qualities and properties as bronze, copper and steel without changing its specific weight. It is said that the price of the new metal can be kept within very low limits, or that, even at the present prices of other metals, it will be able, by reason of its smaller specific weight, to compete with copper and bronze very favorably. The fact that the new metal is a conductor will make it especially in demand in the electrical trade.

Chinese Masons in Victoria.

A son lion, a feature of cricket, a lamppost, and the raising of the Chinese flag, indicated to the Victorian town of Echuen that a branch of the Chinese Masonic fraternity had been formed. Chinese from all parts of Victoria attended the ceremony, and the streets were crowded with visitors. The Chinese master of ceremonies was interviewed by returned soldiers who objected to the flying of the Chinese flag alone. Australian and British flags were fit ordered to the top of the flagpole.

Curtailing the Time.

"I can't keep my watch from gaining time," remarked the man who is always fretted about something.

"Can't a jeweler fix it?"

"I doubt it. I begin to suspect that watch was made in one of those factories where nobody thinks about anything except shorter hours."

STRONG LIQUID POSITION.

DOMINION BANK ANNUAL STATEMENT SHOWS INCREASED PROFITS AND LARGER DEPOSITS

FIFTY-FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT.

The directors of the Dominion Bank met the shareholders at the fifty-fourth Annual Meeting in Toronto on January 28th, with a most satisfactory statement for the twelve months ending December 31st, 1924. In many points, indeed, the statement showed improvement over the figures for the previous year.

Notwithstanding depressed business conditions which held throughout 1921, the statement makes it clear that the Bank's funds have been fully and profitably engaged.

It is to be noted that profits were somewhat better than in 1923, that current loans increased, that deposits improved by $2,560,000 and that the Bank's strong liquid position had been maintained.

The profits for the year, after deducting charges of management and making full provision for bad and doubtful debts, were $1,144,982.22. To this amount has been added $825,-471.98 brought forward from the previous year, thus making available for distribution $1,969,457.20. This amount is disposed of as follows:—Quarterly dividends at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum, $720,000, a bonus of 1 per cent, $60,000 contributed to Officers' Pension Fund, $45,000, Dominion and Provincial taxation, $169,272.33, written off Bank Premises Account, $75,000, leaving a balance carried forward of $900,184.87.

The figure carried forward $900,-184.87 is not only some $75,000 more than was carried forward at the end of 1923, but is the largest sum the Bank has ever carried to its Profit and Loss Account at the end of any year in its history.

During the year total deposits increased by about $2,500,000 and now stand at $91,275,385.58.

An increase of $2,500,000 is noted in Current Loans, while during a year of admittedly hesitant and backward general business, appears significant of the higher prices ruling for products—especially grain, in the financing of which trade this Bank has for many years borne an important part.

It is well known that the Dominion Bank has always maintained a strong liquid position and the present statement makes it clear that this policy has been strictly adhered to in 1924. Cash assets stand at $26,953,-585.85, or within a fraction of 25 per cent of the Bank's liabilities to the public, while quickly-realizable assets are $66,560,162.15, or 51.40 per cent of liabilities to the public.

A considerable percentage of the Bank's liquid assets has always been in Dominion, Provincial and Municipal securities and other investments, and this year's statement is no exception, the assets under this heading amount to $21,967,725.60.

The capital of the Bank remains at $6,000,000 with a rest account of $7,000,000 and balance in Profit and Loss Account of $900,184.87.

The statement was well received by the Shareholders, and the report adopted by unanimous resolution.

The Bank's affairs have been audited on behalf of the shareholders by A. B. Shepherd, C.A., of Peat, Marwick & Co., and Percy C. Baxter, C.A., of Baxter, Cole & Robertson, Chartered Accountants, Toronto.

Suffered With Rheumatism for Several Years

Saskatchewan Man Completely Relieved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds of Men in Canada Have Been Relieved of Their Aches and Pains by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Oschon, Sask., Feb. 2nd, (Special).—That rheumatism is caused by disordered kidneys and that Dodd's Kidney Pills will relieve it, is again proved by the case of Mr. John Shemegg, a well-known and esteemed resident of this place.

Mr. Shemegg suffered with rheumatism for several years. One box of Dodd's Kidney Pills have given me complete relief. I strongly can be able to say a good word of your pills to all my friends."

It is astounding how many people go on suffering day after day with backache and pains, rheumatism and backaches. They suffer because they are not aware of the fact that they can get relief. Strengthen the kidneys, which are the source of the trouble and those pains vanish. Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. They heal and strengthen them so that they do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood.

BAY VIEW

The recent storms have made the roads quite bad.—All are sorry to hear of the severe sickness of Mr. John Baker; also Mr. Geo. Fleming.—Capt. E. Baker, of Toronto, and Miss Eleanor Baker, of Napanee, spent the week end at John Baker's.—Mr. Wm. Morrow and Mrs. Caswell, of Amherst Island, spent Sunday at Wellington Spier's.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Fleming's.—Sure-prise parties are the order of the day with one or two each week.

It Has Many Qualities.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is armed against many ills. It will relieve a cough, break a cold, prevent croup if it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself.

ARDEN

(For last week.)

The play put on by the Kaladar people on Friday evening last was a good success. It must be congratulated on the way they played their parts. Everyone enjoyed it very much and would welcome them any time again. The proceeds amounted to $40.00 and over.—Some of the miners have moved their families here and occupied some of the vacant houses in our village.— Miss McDonald, Principal of the school here, was ill on Monday, therefore the school was closed. She is much better now and able to be at her work again. — Mrs. Archie Hughes has returned to her home here, after spending a few days at Niagara Falls and Queenston.—Miss Lillian Bodenhour spent Tuesday in Tweed. —Mr. Stewart Gerdon recently spent a couple of weeks with relatives and friends in Toronto. — Mr. Palmer, of Madoc, was in the village on Monday. — Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Snider spent Sunday the guest of Miss Georgina Woodcock.—Mrs. Albert Marshall and family spent Sunday at Robert Monks'.— Mrs. F. E. Johnston and Howson have returned from visiting her parents in Arthur, Ont., and also friends in Toronto. — On Tuesday evening, February 3rd, the Kan-We-Kan Klub are putting on a box social and dance in the Town Hall here. Good music will be furnished. The Klub says, put in a piano in the hall. Everybody is welcome and a good time is expected. The young people want to make this a good success, and would like very much to have a good crowd. This is the first entertainment for the new year that the hall has been allowed for dancing. We can surely thank our new Councillmen and also the Reeve for the pleasure. Come and bring your friends.

A professor in a provincial university met a former student of his, who looked bronzed and well.

"Hullo!" exclaimed the professor. "You are the picture of health."

"Yes," said the younger man. "I am just back from my holiday. I gained nearly nine stone."

"Nonsense," cried the other. "I don't believe it."

"Don't you? Well, here it comes now" (as a young woman came in sight). "Will a minute and I'll introduce you."

"Whatever comes," he cried dramatically, "we shall die together."

"Ah," the woman said, "that will be company part of the way."

ODESSA

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, of Winnipeg, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Atkin Snider.—Walter Leverton, of Imperial, Saskatchewan, has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Henry, and sister, Mrs. William Henry. It is about thirty years since he moved to the West, and this is his first trip home to visit relatives and friends in all those years.—The many friends of Timothy Grift will be pleased to hear that he has recently returned from the Kingston General Hospital, and is doing finely.—Mr. and Mrs. Allen Smith, Parrott's Bay, spent Tuesday evening in boosting the Library for Mrs. Smith. — The Library Board held their annual meeting in the public reading room, on January 31st, when the following were appointed: Rev. S. F. Dixon and W. G. Clark, Trustees; D. O. Frink, Treasurer; Mrs. J. H. Babcock, President; Miss Willena Clark, Vice President, and Mrs. Hazard, Secretary. The Board is planning on boosting the Library for 1925, and are arranging a series of entertainments in order to have electric lights installed and to add, if possible, one hundred new volumes to the shelves. The first is to take place next Friday night, when a dance and euchre will be held in Town Hall. Splendid music is guaranteed for the occasion.—The Trustee Board of the Methodist Church by a unanimous vote have asked H. J. Smith to organize a choir for the public services. Mr. Smith was leader of the choir for twenty years, but resigned about six years ago, thinking that he would not be called on again. As the church at present has no choir, the people requested his services, and he decided to accept. His many friends are delighted to see him there and will appreciate his ability at his post.—About fifteen little friends of Miss Alice Holmes' were asked to help celebrate her fourth birthday anniversary last Saturday afternoon from four o'clock to seven. The birthday cake with its four candles, a lucky pie in the shape of a huge chrysanthemum with streamers, sparklers and valentines were the tea table attractions. Games and contests were indulged in right merrily and the time came all too soon for departure. Miss Doris Anderson, Napanee, was an out of town guest for Miss Alice Holmes' birthday party.

Woman, 86, Found Dead in Home.

Mrs. Nancy Forward, 86, was found dead in bed, at 10 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 29th, by her nephew, Elias W. Ruttens, with whom she lived. She had been in poor health for some time and had retired after dinner. Before he went to bed, he went to her room to inquire if she wanted anything and found her lifeless. The coroner's office was notified, but because of the snow, the body could not be taken to the morgue. Officials from the morgue went to the home Friday morning, and after an investigation, concluded that death was natural. Permission was given to remove the body without an autopsy.—Syracuse Telegram.

Baroness De Hueck to Appear in Napanee.

Under the auspices of the Napanee Musical and Literary Club, the charming young Russian noblewoman, Baroness De Hueck, will appear at the Town Hall, on Tuesday, February 16th, at 8.15 p.m. In her talk the Baroness gives a graphic account of her experiences during the Russian revolution and as a prisoner of the Bolsheviks. Later in the evening the Baroness appears in Russian court dress and gives glimpses of life at the Czar's court. There will also be several musical numbers furnished by the Club. Since this is outside the regular schedule of Club Programmes, tickets will be sold both to members and non-members. Adults 50c., children 25c. The Baroness' talk will be a great treat, of which everyone should take advantage.

NEELY'S

The Book and Stationery Shop established nearly five years ago, South Side Dundas Street, Napanee, and carried on under the name of "Neely's", is for sale.

The proposition includes the stock-in-trade, fixtures and store building.

This business has made steady progress since its inception and has reached an enviable position among the many high class merchandising stores of the town.

We have added this year a very large assortment of carefully selected Wall Paper and Mouldings and have received very flattering encomiums from pleased patrons for pictures framed.

So long as we carry on here we will strive to please by fine discrimination in selecting goods, sympathetic interest and courteous service.

6a NEELY'S.

Some people pile trash in the alley, and some keep it on their book shelves. One thing that should be found in every house, is a jar of Williams' Camphorated Mustard Cream. It does all that a mustard plaster will do, but without the blister. It is simply wonderful for use when the children require such a remedy. Its quite inexpensive, and your druggist has it for 35c. a jar.

How cold is it? The thermometer hanging outside the west window at Wallace's Drug Store has been tested with the government thermometer in Toronto, so is absolutely correct.

HOCKEY

R. M. C. 7,. Napanee 4.

The fast travelling Royal Military College hockey team, of Kingston, visited Napanee on Saturday evening for an exhibition game, and were successful in defeating our boys by a score of 7-4. The ice was somewhat sticky, due to the mild evening, and it was difficult to carry the puck along with any degree of accuracy, the result being that the disc was overskated repeatedly. There was a small crowd in attendance, but those present witnessed a very exciting game. The laurels of the play go to Goalie Osler, R.M.C. Feature, who seemed unbeatable. The Napanee forwards had, perhaps, two shots on goal to their opponents' one, but were troubled with too much Osler, who turned them aside from all angles. Fred Huffman, at centre for Napanee, was in his old-time form, and played the best game that he has shown so far this season. The periods ended 2-0, 6-2, 7-4, all in favor of the R. M. C. Mr. W. H. Roe referred the game in his usual efficient manner.

Following is the line-up :

R. M. C.—Goal, R. Osler; defence, Saunders and B. Osler; right wing, G. Smith; centre, McDougall; left wing, Smith; subs., Clarke, Mather, Wilson and Walker.

Young Irishmen at Napanee.

The second half of the Bay of Quinte Hockey League schedule will be opened at Napanee this (Friday) evening, when the Young Irishmen, of Kingston, will be the attraction. The locals defeated this team on their last appearance here, but the Irishmen have been considerably strengthened since that and will come here to-night with the determination of getting the big end of the score. Our boys are all in the best of condition and a great game can be looked forward to. The locals will have to win the second half of the schedule to get in the play-off with Point Anne for the cup. Don't miss this game, which will be called at 8.15 p.m. sharp.

106-YEAR-OLD PATIENT HAS PASSED AWAY

Joseph Dafoe, the man who claimed to be one hundred and six years of age, and who recently underwent a severe operation at the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, died at that institution on Tuesday. The funeral arrangements will not be completed till word has been received from a niece who resides at Kaladar.

The late Mr. Dafoe has been an inmate of the House of Providence for about four years and previous to that had cared for many years a river-driver on the Mississippi, Caledogie and Ottawa rivers.

A couple of weeks ago he had a severe operation and for a time showed signs of rallying from its effects, but his great age was evidently a drawback. The fact that at that great age he had been able to undergo the operation, attracted considerable attention to his case.

Higher Tea Prices Expected Any Day.

The estimated increase in the consumption of tea in 1924 over 1923 has amounted to over 39 million pounds. An increase in production of only eleven million pounds during the same period has resulted in tea prices advancing in primary markets from ten to fourteen cents per pound since last summer. The price to the consumer to-day is on the basis of much lower primary costs, so a general increase to tea drinkers is inevitable in the near future.

A man and a woman were having a war of words.

"If I had a husband like you," said the woman, "I'd give him poison."

"And if I had a wife like you," was the reply, "I'd take it."

Dye From Sorghum Waste.

The discovery of a new dyestuff in sorghum waste is announced to the French academy of sciences as of much importance. From the bridles of sweet sorghum and those of sorghum with black seeds the colouring gum is obtained; it is stated to have many very fine shades of color, ranging from pink to bright red, salmon scarlet, pearl gray, dark gray, dark brown, and khaki. The colors are described as suitable for wool, silk, leather and vegetable fibers, and for such materials are pronounced proof against sunlight and washing with soap.

Want Mud Guards on Autos.

An effort is being made in Paris to require all automobiles, and especially motortrucks, to be fitted with fenders which shall prevent the splashing of pedestrians with mud. M. Georges Lemarechand, as reported by the Paris correspondent of the American Medical association, tells the authorities that these splashes not only damage clothing, so expensive at this time, but also constitute a menace from the hygienic standpoint.*

New Alloy Resists Corrosion.

Possessing the color and appearance of nine-carat gold, a new alloy recently exhibited in England also has the property of resisting corrosion from chemical fumes or sea water. It has the ductility and malleability of its precious counterpart and a tensile strength of 20 tons per square inch. It may be rolled, drawn, wrought or cast.

HOCKEY.

Kingston 6, Napanee 5.

The second half schedule of the Bay of Quinte Hockey League was opened at Napanee on Friday evening last when the Young Irishmen, of Kingston, won from Napanee by a score of 6-5, after one of the most exciting games played here this season.

Although the evening was quite mild, Manager Blute had a perfect sheet of ice and the large number of fans present were given a real treat in the style of hockey served up.

While the locals were defeated by the smallest possible margin, their downfall was not due to lack of playing ability, as they had at least two-thirds of the play the entire evening, but to the unfortunate accident which happened their goalie, Harry Babcock, near the close of the second period, when he was struck on the upper lip by the puck, and a couple of stitches were required to close the wound.

The game started with the locals grasping hard on the visitors' goal, but it was some little time before they were rewarded, the first goal being scored by Hudgins on a nicely placed pass from Merrill, followed shortly after by a second counter when Merrill secured the puck on a rebound from Hudgins' shot and tallied. Just before time was called Jerry Jillian landed one for the Irishmen. Score 2-1.

The second period opened with Chambers in goal for Napanee, Merrill added his second goal of the evening, and the locals were going fine. Mlitz and Purdy each scored for Kingston and the period ended by Johnston putting his team in the lead by a nice shot which completely fooled Tobin. Score 4-2.

The third period was all Kingston as far as goals were concerned, and the locals certainly deserved a better fate. The Napanee forward line played all around their opponents, and time and again Johnston made his check look easy, and the diminutive youngster rained shot after shot upon Tobin, and was only rewarded with one counter near the end of the game, making his second of the evening. In this period Brown scored one and Purdy two, the game ending 6-5 in favor of the Young Irishmen. Following is the lineup:

Kingston—Goal, Tobin; defence, Brown and Millan; centre, Purdy; wings, Argyve and Lawless; subs, Mlitz and Compeau.

Napanee—Goal, Babcock; defence, Hudgins and Bentley; centre, Merrill; wings, Nephin and Johnston; subs, Chambers, Haffman and La Rocque.

Referee Leo Barrett, Belleville.

Kingston 4, Point Anne 3.

The second game of the series was played at Kingston on Monday evening, when the Young Irishmen defeated Point Anne by a score of 4-3, ten minutes' overtime being required to reach a decision.

Games Scheduled.

ANDERSON

The play given by the Bethany Dramatic Club in Anderson Church on Tuesday evening was very well attended, considering the cold rounds and inclemency of the weather. Each character played his or her part fine, and those who were not able to be in Anderson missed a treat.

— The Anderson young people are giving their popular play at Bethany on Thursday evening.—The Ladies' Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Parks on Wednesday next at the usual hour. — Mr. and Mrs. A. Parks and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. R. Carl, Dr. and Mrs. Stratton, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ackerman and Vernon took tea with Mr. and Mrs. S. Parks on Thursday evening.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Baird spent Sunday at E. Hogebone's, Conway.—A number from around here attended the Dance at Enterprise on Friday evening. — Mr. and Mrs. A. Hambly attended the funeral of the late Mrs. John Hambly in Napanee on Thursday last.—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ackerman entertained Mr. and Mrs. A. Parks and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Card Master Douglas McBride, Mr. and Mrs. R. Card to tea on Wednesday evening. — The Anderson young people spent a very enjoyable time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Joyce on Friday evening.

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON ACREAGE PRODUCTION HIGH, SAYS REPORT

Interesting Figures About Other Crops—Live Stock Census

The County of Lennox and Addington ranks third in all the province in the reproduction per acre of alfalfa for 1924, according to a bulletin recently issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This bulletin gives other interesting figures about crop production in this county which will be of great interest to them as well as to those who are interested in the development of agriculture. These figures are summarized below.

The Leading Crops.

The following is a list of the acreage devoted to the leading crops and the production :

Fall Wheat	1251	29,774
Spring Wheat	1728	35,770
Oats	45274	1,525,734
Barley	8212	247,181
Rye	1838	31,430
Buckwheat	2228	46,207
Peas	456	8,710
Beans	118	1,864
Corn for husking	2417	120,850
Corn Fodder	5738	*55,085
Flax	27	162
Mixed Grains	6496	200,573
Potatoes	2857	490,837
Turnips	67	14,070
Mangels	28	6,496
Sugar Beets	45	7,200
Carrots	65	8,125

*Tons

The above totals, excluding Indian corn, which is worked out in tons, show that the 76107 acres devoted to the above listed crops produced 2,791,783 bushels, an average per acre of 36.35 bushels.

The Alfalfa Record.

The report shows that there was 5,696 acres of alfalfa which produced 19,899 tons, an average of 3.29 tons per acre. In the average per acre production of this crop Lennox and Addington has third place in the whole province, being exceeded only by York county with 3.32 tons per acre and Stormont county with 3.30 tons per acre.

The Cattle Census.

On June 15th last there was in the hands of the farmers of Lennox and Addington live stock in the following numbers : stallions, 50; mares, 5,312; geldings, 4,544; colts and fillies, 804; sheep, 5,597; lambs, 5,954; bulls, 1,546; milch cows, 26,182; beef cows, 1,697; milch heifers, 4,861; beef heifers, 2,999; calves, 9,525; other cattle, 3,472; pigs saved from spring litters, 16,722; pigs kept or to be bred for fall litters, 2,718; all other pigs, 3,722.

Some Other Figures.

In the district there were 8734 turkeys; 3,674 geese; 5,443 ducks, and 234,609 other fowls.

In the district there were 75,455 acres of cleared pasture, 1,640 acres of summer fallow, 1,770 acres of orchard, and 323 acres devoted to small fruits.

Hay and Clover Yield

In hay and clover the counties had 74,186 acres which produced 119,430 tons, an average per acre of 161 tons. The highest average in the Province was held by Huron county with 1.88 tons per acre and the lowest by Rainy River and Kenora with 80 tons per acre.

LADIES' MUSICAL CLUB

The talk given on Tuesday evening by the Baroness de Hueck, under the auspices of the Napanee Musical and Literary Club, was of great instructive value and of absorbing interest. The Baroness gave a graphic account of her experience as a nurse with the Russian Army at the front, and later as the personal nurse of the Bolsheviki during the Red Terror. Besides the sympathy and admiration aroused by her recital, perhaps the deepest impression which the Baroness left with her hearers was that of her burning desire that her country should not be misjudged, and that the services of the Russian army for the first three years of the war should not be forgotten because of the defection which was one of the first fruits of the Revolution. In the latter part of her address, when the Baroness appeared in Russian costume, she answered several questions, especially about the religious and educational outlook in Russia, and told of the deep religious faith that persists in spite of the bitter persecution and mocking sacrilege of the ruling Soviet. The Baroness also told of amusing incidents and queer misconceptions of Russia she had encountered. Her talk throughout was lightened with flashes of humour that relieved the tension.

Mr. W. S. Herrington acted as chairman in his usual happy manner. The musical part of the programme contributed by the Club was as follows :

Piano, Prelude in C sharp minor, Rachmaninoff—Mr. Beverley Thompson.

Violin, Russian Airs, Wicnawski—Mrs. Cameron Wilson.

TIMBER BANKRUPTCY FACES NATION.

"New York, Feb. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—America ultimately will share the fate of "desolate, famine-ridden China" unless the government adopts drastic measures to conserve and restore the nation's forests, Representative Martin L. Davey, of Ohio, told the Ohio Society of New York to-night.

"Mr. Davey is known as one of the foremost authorities on trees in the United States.

"Three-fifths of the original timber of the United States is gone and we are using lumber four times as fast as we are growing it," he said. "Timber bankruptcy threatens the United States within forty years at the present rate of destruction. Conservation of the remaining supply is imperative. Reforestation on tree in 81,000,000 acres of cut over and burned forests is immediately necessary."

Dear Beaver,—The above news item clipped from Rochester, N.Y., "Democrat and Chronicle", brings home to us what Canada is doing with her forests.

While I have not statistics, we know that our countryside is being rapidly depleted of trees and thousands of acres of land left barren that will never grow anything else profitably. In our memory the Napanee River banks and ridges to the south of the town were heavily wooded, where now they are practically naked and no thought of reforestation.

The United States magnanimously took the duty off Christmas trees from Canada to save them down, at the same time putting a prohibitive duty on our wheat, and one issue of a big New York newspaper uses acres of our pulpwood. Six hundred carloads have gone across the lake from Cobourg this winter by car ferry from our own back country, and that is only a drop in the bucket.

The United States and Canada are the most wasteful countries in the world. Is it not time that we enacted some laws to husband our natural resources.

Respectfully,
ALBERT A. BARTLETT.

LATE F. S. RICHARDSON

Death has claimed another prominent citizen of our town, in the person of Mr. F. S. Richardson. He had been attending to his business as usual and although his general health had failed somewhat during the past few years, his friends had apparently no reason to fear that his end was near. On Monday morning of last week he was stricken down in his photograph gallery on Dundas street. Medical aid was summoned and he was found to be suffering from heart trouble and acute indigestion. He was removed to his residence, and everything possible was done to prefait as we are prowse it," he said. "Timber bankruptcy threatens the United States within forty years at the present rate of destruction. Conservation of the remaining supply is imperative. Reforestation on tree in 81,000,000 acres of cut over and burned forests is immediately necessary."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Geo. Blewett.

The late Charlsea Jane Blewett was born at Greenbush, Ont., Prince Edward County, September 23rd, 1848, the daughter of Peter Minaker, of that place, where she was married on September 10th, 1874, to Mr. George A. Blewett, with whom she has resided at Napanee continuously until she passed away on the 4th inst.

Mrs. Blewett was the only surviving member of her family of several brothers and sisters, of whom the late Mrs. Davidson, of Port Hope, the brothers, David and Collie Minaker, of Cobourg, were best known to Napanee people. Mrs. Bella Davidson and Mrs. J. H. Portz, of Picton, and Mrs. Charles, of Cobourg, are some of the surviving nephews and nieces.

The late Mrs. Blewett was an active helpmeet of her husband from the time of their marriage until Mr. Blewett sold his business on the Market Square, and removed to the home where they have since lived for nearly forty years. Always with a cheerful, optimistic disposition she was untiring in her efforts to help others, and since the advent of severe accident which crippled her four years ago, she has been an example of patience and faith which has been very striking to all who knew her. In fact her whole life from the knowledge of her circle of friends made the words of her Pastor at the funeral service on Friday last most appropriate, when he referred to her as one of the "choice souls" in this community.

The service at the home was conducted by the Rev. W. R. Panton, of Trinity Church, who spoke feelingly of the wonderful life of the deceased as he had seen it and heard of it from those who knew her best. A large number of friends and relatives attended the service to pay a fitting tribute to their deceased relative and friend, and the floral tributes testified to the high regard in which she was held.

Mrs. Blewett's place in the community, especially where she gave active service, will be hard to fill.

Mrs. J. W. Hambly.

Death came to a well-known home, when Mrs. John Hambly passed into eternal peace. Born at Adenew to Cyrenus Huffman and Eva Eliza Garrison, in 1862, Ida Huffman became the wife of John Hambly on Nov. 28th, 1883. Their early life was spent on a farm in North Fredericksburgh. Twenty years ago she removed to Napanee, where with her genial disposition and her husband's large circle of acquaintances, their home soon became a cheery gathering place for the cherishing of many friendships.

After a hospital illness of several weeks, in Toronto, with the full pethey. Quickly and peacefully she passed into the higher life, and her husband, Dr. K. E. Hollis, of Toronto, minister most tenderly to the deceased, and are now engaged in the beautiful office of making grief bearable to their two beloved.

Two sisters survive, Mrs. G. E. Storms and Mrs. Linton, both of Chicago. The former was present at the funeral. Of two brothers, Levi Huffman resides in Richmond, and Wilfrid Huffman at Moscow.

On Monday the demise occurred in Toronto. On Thursday, Feb. 5th, 1925, in the home on Centre street, Napanee, the body lay, beautifully embanked in flowers, and surrounded by loving relatives and friends. The funeral service was conducted by the Pastor, Rev. A. J. Terrill, assisted by the Rev. Enos Farnsworth, under whose ministry, twenty-five years ago, Mrs. Hambly joined the Church.

The remains were taken to the vault at Riverside. The circumstances call forth the greatest sympathy toward those who are bereft.

Compulsory Stopping at Crossings Would Tangle Up Motor Traffic

Ontario Motor League Is Attempting To Have Obstructions Removed and Danger Signs Placed At All Crossings.

The resolution urging the Ontario Government to introduce legislation that would make stopping before crossing railroad crossings legally obligatory did not receive as favorable a reception at the hands of the assembled delegates to the Convention of the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Ontario as the reports in the Daily papers later indicated. The resolution was referred to the executive committee not, as reported, with an expression "in favor of it", but with an expression in favor of the executive committee taking it up with the Ontario Motor League.

Arkansas, North Carolina, Virginia and New Jersey have made "Stop, Look, Listen !" at railroad crossings law. So far as the American Automobile Association has been able to obtain unbiased reports, the law does not seem to have made any material difference in the grade crossing problem. The one outstanding feature is the crossing stop law which has come to the attention of the A. A. A. has been the tremendous increase in fines levied upon motorists in Virginia when charged with non-compliance with this particular law.

The Ontario Motor League has urged that a complete survey be made of all level railway-highway crossings and asked for a wholesale clearance of obstructions. The Board of Railway Commissioners replied that this survey is proceeding continuously and as rapidly as the financial situation will permit. The question arises whether a stop law throwing all responsibility on the motorist would not have a tendency to retard the improvement work now in progress. It might reasonably be argued by the railways that since the motorist is compelled by law to "Stop, Look and Listen" before a railway crossing, to accidents, theoretically, can happen except through negligence on the part of the motorist, and that the railway companies, therefore, should not be put to the expense of improving the condition at crossings generally.

The situation on a heavily traveled highway, such at the Toronto-Hamilton highway, intersected by several unimportant railway lines, can be easily imagined. On a busy day with a continuous line of cars proceeding in either direction between the two cities, it would mean that practically every car would have to stop each time the car immediately adjacent to the crossing had to stop which would make progress between the two cities largely a matter of stopping and starting again every few seconds.

The Ontario Motor League has asked the Board of Railway Commissioners to order the placing of railway crossing danger signs at a distance of 300 feet from crossings. The Board have advised that they have not at present the authority to make such an order, but have shown sympathy with the proposal by suggesting that the League request the Minister of Railways to bring in an amendment to the Railway Act which would provide authority for the placing of danger signs at points 300 feet from the railway crossings; this measure has done, and any support which other organizations can give to this request would be helpful.

Washerwoman Owns Car.

If you live in Topeka you would often see a long seven-passenger touring car gliding down the street, the back seat piled high with baskets of washing and a colored woman at the steering wheel, says Capper's Weekly. The enamel finish of the car glistens brightly, but not more brightly than the smile of the woman at the wheel, for she is the owner of the car and bought and paid for it with washings such as now heap the back seat. Last summer, when the days were long and hot, "good drying days," her electric washing machine often accommodated as many as nine family washings in one day. If you want anything bad enough you can get it.

Claim Electrical Cure.

An electric cure for headache is one of the electrical appliances used in Germany, it is claimed. The ornamental head band is equipped with wires which carry current from a battery. The slight tingle of electricity has a curative effect, according to its inventor.

Another electric device is a little electricel rod carrying a powerful ray, which is used in the treatment of toothache. This device is used to treat diseased gums and abscesses, and is said to bring relief in severe pain.

HYDRO DEVELOPMENT IN CANADA

British Columbia Is Generously Supplied With Water-Power Resources—Present Installation

With practically two million twenty-four-hour horse-power available under conditions of ordinary minimum flow and five million during at least half the year British Columbia is generously supplied with water-power resources. The present turbine installation in this province amounts to 350,000 horse-power and this total will be largely increased by the developments now approaching completion in the Stave Lake watershed on the Kootenay and Powell rivers.

The Powell River Company has raised the height of its dam on the Powell river fourteen feet, increasing its storage capacity by 630 square-mile feet, and proposes to increase the capacity of its power plant by 20,000 horse-power. The East Kootenay Power Company has just completed a 15,000 horse-power development on the Elk river, while the West Kootenay Power Light Company has demolished its 4,000 horse-power plant at Lower Bonnington Falls on the Kootenay river and has commenced a development of 60,000 horse-power capacity, of which the initial development is to be 40,000 horse-power.

The works now in progress on the Stave river and on Alouette lake are of considerable magnitude and are designed to provide for the growing requirements of Vancouver and district, which has already a considerable amount of water-power development to its credit, the supply of electricity being maintained by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company and its subsidiaries which, towards the end of the last century, began to supply power from a steam-power station and which is responsible for the present works.

The water-power supply of Vancouver is provided from three stations, Coquitlam-Buntzen No. 1 of 42,500 horse-power, Coquitlam-Buntzen No. 2 of 49,500, and the Stave River station of 92,000 horse-power, that is to say, until recently the total water-power development supplying Vancouver and district amounted to 136,000 horse-power. The work now in progress will increase this supply by 75,500 horse-power, and it is to be obtained by erecting a station on Stave lake, using water drawn from Alouette lake, and by raising the head, adjusting the existing units, and adding a new unit to the power station on Stave river.

Briefly outlined, the work now in progress involves raising the existing dams and rebuilding the four existing units on Stave river to produce 70,000 horse-power as against their present capacity of 32,000 horse-power, adding a fifth unit of 15,000 horse-power to utilize the additional water diverted from Alouette lake and the construction of an entirely new development in connection with Alouette lake of 12,500 horse-power.

These increases involve a considerable amount of heavy construction work. On Stave river the present dam has been raised twenty feet and a new penstock installed and, in order to give stability to the higher structure, four radial tainter gates have been removed so that the concrete required for their operation could be filled in with concrete and all the penstocks openings are now provided with roller gates. The main dam has been raised twenty-five feet and lengthened sixty-six feet, the sluicing sluices filled in, a sixteen-foot concrete roadway constructed on the deck of the dam, and the power-house has been enlarged to receive the new unit. About a quarter of a mile to the east of the main dam there is another channel which was originally blocked by a small stone-filled timber crib dam, having ten fourteen-foot sluices. This has been replaced by a concrete structure 640 feet long containing ten twenty-eight-foot sluices and four tainter gate openings.

The work in connection with the Alouette development involves the construction of a hydraulic fill dam on Alouette river a short distance below the lake to raise the level of the lake a maximum of forty-five feet. The water thus stored will be conducted through a fourteen-foot square tunnel 5,600 feet long to a power-house to be erected on the shore of Stave lake.

These new developments providing as they do for extensive storage of water, not only represent a most desirable conservation of the water-power resources of this watershed, but also greatly enhance the possibilities of the undeveloped power on the Stave river at Ruskin where, when the market warrants its development, 100,000 horse-power is available.

The Department of the Interior has been particularly concerned with the Stave and Alouette developments in that the lands required for construction and flooding purposes are within the Railway Belt and are, therefore, Dominion lands. In dealing with these lands the department has required that plans be submitted for its approval and this approval has only been accorded when the department's interests and those of its other concessionaires are adequately protected.

Senator Set Altogether Too Fast a Pace for Even Veteran Bore to Follow.

A senator was entertaining some friends with stories about the Arizona desert, when a bore joined the party.

This bore was the kind of a chap that always laughs in the wrong place and spoils a story by trying to guess its climax. The senator undertook to silence him.

"Your Ferguson!" he said. "That was a close shave he had in the desert last August."

"Sunstroke, of course," said the bore.

"No, not exactly," said the senator.

"You see, Ferguson stumbled accidentally on the Cagliron—our famous spring, you know, that gushes out of the rock at freezing point and immediately begins to boil from the force heat of the sun."

"Of course, of course," said the bore. "And what happened to Ferguson? Did he fall in the cauldron and boil to death? Get on with your story, man."

"Ferguson fell in," said the senator. "But he managed to scramble out again. The peril, however, was not yet over forthim. Our Arizona air, you see, is so dry that it is intensely moisture with astonishing rapidity. Well, the boiling water in Ferguson's clothes evaporated so fast that the poor fellow was nearly frore stiff."

"I see," said the bore. "He died of cold. Well, that reminds me—"

"No, he didn't die," said the senator. "He almost died, but he had a miraculous escape. In his stiff-frozen state, you understand, he began to shiver with chill, and he shivered so hard that in a few moments he became overheated and would have succumbed to sunstroke if he hadn't providentially broken into a cold sweat."

Hiding a King's Statue.

The fine equestrian statue of King Charles I, which was hidden in London for protection during the war, has been brought to light again. The statue, which was cast during the reign of the monarch, according to reports has not enjoyed the memorial career permitted to many works of its kind. It was executed for Sir Richard Weston, afterward earl of Portland, who intended to place it as an ornament in his garden at Roehampton. But this function it never fulfilled, for it was seized by parliament during the civil war and sold to one John Rivett, a brazier, to be broken up. John, however, being a royalist, hid the statue and by selling hundreds of bronze knife handles purporting to be made from it, disarmed any parliamentary suspicions in the matter. On the restoration of Charles II in 1630 Rivett promised the statue, which was claimed by Sir Richards son, the brazier refused to yield it, and after years of dispute it was eventually presented to King Charles II and erected in the spot formerly covered by the original Charing cross.

Antarctic "Shelf Ice."

From the work of recent explorations, Sir Douglas Mawson concludes that the rock foundation on which the Antarctic ice cap rests is very irregular, partly above sea level and partly below, and that the thickness, which is very variable, may reach a maximum of several thousand feet. Under the thickest portions the static pressure at the base may be as great as one ton per square inch. Under such a cover there must be considerable accumulation of ground heat, and it is assumed that the under portion of the ice mass is moderately soft and plastic. Where the sea breaks up the ice at a rate faster than the flow, the sea front is substantially the coast line. Elsewhere, as in the Great Ross barrier, and the Shackleton shelf, the supply of ice exceeds the rate of erosion at the sea front, and the overflow from the land maintains a thick sheet of "shelf ice" extending far out to sea. The sea front of the ice cap, at the present rate of advance or flowing out, is estimated to have left the center in the seventh century of our era.

Fireproofing Concrete Columns.

We have been wont to look upon concrete as capable of resisting a great deal of heat, and it may seem strange to think of coating it with a fireproof material. However, there are conditions under which this is necessary. The bureau of standards has been investigating the construction of concrete which has passed through conflagrations, and has found that if the concrete is made with gravel, particularly siliceous gravel, there is a tendency for the stones to burst in extreme heat, which disintegrates the concrete. Accordingly it is recommended that gravel be avoided wherever possible, but if impossible the gravel concrete may be protected from extreme heat by coating it with an inch of cement held in place by a wire mesh. Plasters may also be used in which asbestos is the principal constituent.—Scientific American.

Closed Chapter of History.

The French newspaper L'Eclair, which, in one of its issues recently published a note on the seal used by Jules Favre at Versailles in 1871, has received a letter bearing the signature "Louis, prince de Bourbon." The writer protests against the expression, used by L'Eclair, "tout Louis XVI," as applied to his father, Naundorff; and the writer inclosses a certificate in which Naundorff is described as duke of Normandy, Louis XVII. Thus the snuffed of over 100 years completely to silence that particular chapter of French history. As Henry Seidel Canby remarks, "Ever since the 9th of June, 1795 the case was settled for us."

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Boston, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends. In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing:

"My family use them when ever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

MAPLE LEAF INSTITUTE.

The regular meeting of Maple Leaf Institute was held at the home of our Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. W. G. Fretts, one week later, owing to the poultry days falling on our day; it being Dec. 4th. A large crowd were present. Meeting was opened by ode and community singing, which was heartily joined in by all, followed by Lord's Prayer. The District President, Mrs. Wilfrid Haight, Conway Institute, who attended the Ottawa Convention, gave us a bright and interesting report of that Convention, which was full of excellent points to be remembered by each one present.

A sale of fancy basketry from the Canadian Institute for the Blind Canadian soldiers, was well patronized by those present, and an order was to be sent for, to be had at the January meeting, with an order for brooms also. A very pretty piece of music was then given by one of the members. Lunch was served by Mesdames W. G. Schell, C. Fretts, F. Lampkins, C. Day and I. Asselstine. A hearty vote of thanks was then given our hostess and the ladies who served.

A special meeting of the Executive was then called by the President, on January 9th, at Mrs. W. G. Fretts', at which six officers were present, and at which some very important ideas were discussed and settled upon, namely the donation the Society was about to place in Hawley and Big Creek schools. It was decided to give three games and a flag to each. A committee was then decided upon to purchase the same, Mrs. Fraser Lamphins and the President, Mrs. Wesley Cummings. Two ladies were then appointed to go before the newly elected Council of North Frederickstown, to ask them to increase the grant of $5.00 to the Society. A few other little suggestions that were offered by those present at the last meeting were talked over.

On January 26th, a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Scrimshaw, with a goodly number of ladies present. Many thanks to the gentleman who so kindly conveyed the ladies there in loads, as the weather and roads were much to be considered. The meeting opened in the usual manner. The Secretary then read the minutes of two previous meetings. The ladies who were appointed to wait upon the Council gave the report as being met with a very sharp disapproval, asking them what we were doing in the schools, when the President made known to them what we had done last year. A motion was made by one of them, but it was dropped.

Mrs. Lumpkins then on behalf of the Entertainment committee, presented her bill, what they had purchased for the schools this year, namely three Games, Parchesi, Flinch and Checkers, which we hope the children and all concerned will appreciate, for the employment of the school children during the winter months, when it is not fit for them to find recreation out of doors with the thermometer running at 38 below zero. We hope the scholars will appreciate our thoughtfulness and exercise great care in the using of them. The Jags are surely an adornment to any building, and we hope when the holidays are, we may see the proud and noble Union Jack floating on the top of the school, as it is 12 foot long. Towels and pillow cases were made for our room 17, Kingston General Hospital. Two of the members are donating red and white and piecing a quilt, which we hope to have ready for the February meeting.

A letter of thanks was read from a member who has been ill, to the Society.

The basketry and brooms were again on sale. The brooms are well worth the money, as one would decide when the members returned to their homes, each trying to protect herself from the blinding snow storm that greeted them. Lunch was served by Mesdames Wm. Cummings, Almond Scrimshaw and Wesley Cummings. A hearty vote of thanks was given our hostess, and as we left we felt it had been a profitable meeting.

One Bottle of Carnol relieved his weakness

Three bottles of Carnol restored him to perfect health

Don't let yourself get run down. When you do, your system is weakened and you are likely to take anything that is going. If you feel tired, depressed, weak, nervous, each yourself. These are the warnings to you that something serious may follow. It's at a time like this that you need a tonic,—something which will tone up your system, purify your blood, quiet your nerves, give you strength. This is the way Mr. Collins felt before he took Carnol. He says,—"I was in a run down condition. For six months, I was very weak and suffered from loss of appetite. I tried all kinds of drugs but I thought might possibly bring relief, but without success. Then I met a friend. After stating to him my condition of health I referred to different drugs I had taken without benefit. Then he advised me to try Carnol immediately. He told me not to spend another cent for worthless drugs that would not even bring temporary relief. Then I purchased one bottle of Carnol which relieved me of my weakness. After taking three bottles the blessings of health which I formerly enjoyed, were again restored to me. As a builder and upliter when weakening conditions exist, there is nothing equal to Carnol. I can boast of my health now. I cannot express or find words to praise Carnol for all the good it has done for me. I have proof of what it can do and advise all suffering under such conditions to give Carnol the first trial. A trial will convince you and if continued will bring permanent relief. It will bring back to you the lost health you once enjoyed."—Mr. R. G. Collins, 130 Richmond Street, Sydney, N.S.

A Wonder Year for Mutualists
Record Surplus of $3,500,258 earned for Policyholders of Mutual Life of Canada
Previous High Mark Passed by Half a Million Dollars

A YEAR of most gratifying results was reported to the policyholders of The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada at their 55th Annual Meeting on February 5th. In every phase of its business, the growth of Canada's pioneer Mutual Life Company was eminently satisfactory during 1924.

The real test of a life insurance company operating on the participating plan is its surplus earnings from year to year. It is, therefore, of supreme interest to our policyholders—who alone constitute the company—that the 1924 surplus earnings reached the record total of $3,500,258.

Increased Distribution to Policyholders

During the past year an increased distribution was made to policyholders of $579,967.33 more than was paid out in 1923, a total of $2,689,007.99 having been paid out in dividends. This sum is most significant when it is realized that it meant a RETURN to the policyholders of approximately 25% of premiums received by the company during the year.

Healthy Increase in Business

During the year a total of $43,224,297 of new assurances was written, representing an increase of $4,223,179 over that of 1923. This increase shows a healthy progressive expansion of the company's business—expansion as rapid as compatible with the best interests of the policyholders.

The business in force now amounts to $295,729,866 on 135,255 policies, compared with $269,982,566 at the end of 1923—a net increase for 1924 of $25,747,300, after allowing for policies revived and bonuses, as well as new business, and deducting the various terminations.

The Company's Exceptional Strength

Three effective factors contributed to the exceptionally high surplus earned for policyholders. These factors were economy in administration, remarkably favorable mortality and high interest rate on invested assets.

Despite the fact that the new policies issued for the past year exceeded that of 1923 by over 4½ millions of dollars, the percentage of income required to cover general expenses of administration was reduced from 16.15% to 15.52%.

The mortality experienced during the year was extraordinarily low, the ratio existing between actual and expected death claims being only 36.01%, as against 39.26% in 1923, the previous low record in recent years.

Likewise, in the face of a downward trend in interest rates—especially on high-class bonds in which so large a part of the company's assets is invested—the average interest yield on our invested assets was 6.41%—reflecting the satisfactory earning power of the company's investments.

The company's happy situation is further revealed in accumulated assets of $65,960,767, an increase over the previous year of $6,233,378. The consistent prosperity enjoyed by the company invites the confidence of the insuring public.

Striking Statements from Addresses

The results of the year are sufficient, you will agree, to point the moral that co-operation, scientifically employed, as it is in our case, eliminates the middle-man and his profits and, thus, assures to the policyholders a more generous distribution.
—Hume Cronyn, President.

* * *

A Mutual Company exists for the express purpose of furnishing maximum protection at a minimum cost and its success is indicated in the amount by which the cost of protection is reduced. When it is said that during the lifetime of The Mutual of Canada, $15,963,124.22 was paid in dividends to policyholders and that of this amount, the large sum of $12,870,044.23 was paid out during the past ten years, it will be self-evident that the aims of the company are being realized, and that it is functioning in accordance with the altruistic motives of its founders.

Aunt—Well, I suppose it'll be all right if your father approves, but do you really think the tramp will enjoy it?

USE HOME GROWN RED CLOVER SEED

(Experimental Farms Note).

Red clover seed has been a failure or partial failure during the past season in a great many districts where seed is usually produced. Such a condition always means danger for the farmers in Canada, particularly in those sections where severe winters sometimes interfere with our red clover stands.

The danger to which I refer is that of securing imported red clover seeds from regions where seeds are hardy for our conditions, are produced in a shortage of domestic red clover seed on the American continent always means heavier importation of foreign seed. Seed has been coming from France and Italy and therein lies, at least in part, our danger.

Tests of the relative hardiness of domestic and foreign red clovers have been conducted on the Dominion Experimental Farms for a number of years past. Without exception, French and Italian clovers have winter killed badly under most conditions, while English seed and that secured from the southern portion of the red clover areas in the United States has been less hardy than Canadian grown seed.

Seed from Sweden and the Northern States has compared quite favorably with our own.

Because of the difficulty of securing accurate information as to the origin of imported red clover seed, our Canadian farmers are urged to secure locally grown seed where possible, providing such seed can be secured reasonably free from noxious weeds. It would be much more profitable to plant a larger quantity of local seed, the germination of which was impaired to some extent, than to take a chance of winter killing in the case of imported clovers, the origin of which was not known.

THE NEUTRALIZATION OF CREAM FOR BUTTER-MAKING

Mr. W. F. Jones, B.S.A., Chief of the Division of Dairy Manufactures in the Dairy and Cold Storage Branch at Ottawa, is the author of an eight-page pamphlet that can be had from the Publications Branch at the Capital, on the "Neutralization of Cream for Buttermaking". In his opening paragraph Mr. Jones points out that the partial neutralization of the lactic acid in cream is necessary to ensure the efficient pasteurization of cream for buttermaking. The pasteurization of unneutralized cream results, he says, in a high loss of fat in the buttermilk and a poorer quality of butter owing to a higher curd content. When butter is made from unpasteurized cream neutralization is unnecessary and inadvisable. Mr. Jones proceeds to detail the process that should be followed in the preparation and application of neutralizers and the results that are obtained from the various methods of neutralization. He also explains the best way to test cream for acidity.

She Felt Like a New Woman

Had Suffered for Just a Year With Backache, Lumbago and Neuralgia.

Ontario Lady Speaks Highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sprucedale, Ont., Feb. 9th, (Special).—"I am pleased to say how much good your Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me. I have suffered with backache, lumbago and neuralgia, and I started using your Dodd's Kidney Pills I felt like a new woman. I will recommend your medicine any time." This statement comes from Mrs. G. Weonch of this place.

That Mrs. Weonch's troubles were caused by the kidneys is evidenced by the prompt and complete relief she got from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They act only on the kidneys. Diseased kidneys are the cause of nine-tenths of all the ills women are heir to.

Sound kidneys mean pure blood. Pure blood means good health.

Weak, nervous, run-down women should ask their neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

DIED ON TRAIN WHILE GOING TO HOSPITAL

While going to Kingston to go to the Hotel Dieu, Mr. John Murphy, of Erinsville, was suddenly stricken on the C.I.R. train last Friday morning and died in a few minutes. He had been suffering with heart trouble and succumbed before medical aid could be summoned. On the arrival of the train Dr. Gibson was called and he pronounced death due to heart failure.

The late Mr. Murphy was sixty-seven years of age, and was a shoemaker at Erinsville. He is survived by one brother, Patrick, of Montana, and two sisters in Watertown. The remains were sent to Erinsville.

"MAXIM SILENCER" FOR SHIPS

It Is Claimed They Will Absolutely Do Away With Noise Made by the Motors.

Eight ships now sailing the Pacific ocean are equipped with great silencers, weighing 8,000 pounds each, the invention of Hiram Percy Maxim, famous as the inventor of the gun silencer bearing his name. If successful, this newest "Maxim silencer" may realize the tendency toward general substitution of the speedier, more economical, oil-burning vessels driven by the super-powerful engines of the Diesel type, for the present-day steamers.

"The motor-driven ship is the ship of the future," Mr. Maxim said recently. * * * "However, in the past there has been one great disadvantage, the terrific noise of the motors. The new silencer we expect will solve that problem."

Mr. Maxim said that, inasmuch as his patents have not been issued, he cannot discuss the construction of his new invention. However, in general principle it is not unlike other Maxim silencers, depending on recompishing its work by absorbing the recoil and hence silencing the terrific exhaust. Mr. Maxim says it is not dissimilar in the principle to the smaller Maxim silencers on the market for several years for use on motor and power boats.

Spelling by Ear.

A simplified spelling society in London has developed a form of language with a one sound, one symbol notation of letters and digraphs. A sample of the system in operation is furnished as follows:

"Wuns upon a tym a rich lord and his wyf had a litl bol and a litl gerl boom dhat luvd veri much. Wun dai dhe good mudher bekame very ill. In a short wyl dhe mudher dhat fel ill. . . If eu dso chis I wil give each of eu a purs ov gold."

The system looks very much like spelling by ear. It ought not to require any very complicated system of rules. In fact, many people habitually spell by ear without the authority of the society's diction. There are many people who have given up further attempts at mastering English as it is spelled today, and these would welcome a phonetic reform with great joy.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

China Looks to France.

France on a field of study of a great people in a period of reconstruction and restoration is being commended to the progressive students of China by such an authority as Wang Tsing-wei, founder of the Societe Franco-Chinoise. He advises his fellow countrymen that the present is opportune for study by Chinese in France to learn from personal observation how strenuous measures are in the changing of national conditions. China, he says, with its vast population and area must, to bring about anything worthy of the name of reconstruction, rely upon the efforts of many Chinese to introduce the new civilization and to bring China up to date. He says if China can send abroad 100,000 students, then its motto should be "Let us have more."

The Way of the World.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Jones were neighbors. Mr. Smith had a garden, and Mr. Jones kept chickens. Now can you see the possibilities? Well, they didn't come off.

Mr. Smith had an only son, and Mr. Jones had an only daughter. Can you imagine what happened? Well, it didn't.

The year was a dry one and Mr. Smith's garden did not materialize. Mr. Jones's daughter came over in sympathize, and she did it so well that Mr. Smith, who was a widower and well heeled, married her. Such is life—real life.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

A schoolmaster had been giving his class a lesson in physical geography, and had explained that the world is made up of land and water. Then, in order to see if they had been paying attention, he asked, "Now, boys, can you tell me what it is land and water make?"

For some time there was silence, but presently a little boy put up his hand, and, when asked to give the answer, replied, "Mud, sir!"

Mr. Greer, who was 84 years of age on New Year's Day, has been in excellent health and this sudden illness was totally unexpected.

—The pupils of IA form of the Napanee Collegiate Institute held a delightful sleighing party on Friday night, when they proceeded to the home of Mrs. Chapman, River Road. The evening was whiled away in games, contests and dancing, after which light refreshments were served. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Chapman for the kind use of her home.

—The friends of Sylvester Conacra, who was living with his nephew, Charles Connera, up to Nov. 15th, 1924, are becoming somewhat alarmed as to his present condition and whereabouts. Mr. Conners was unsufficiently clothed to withstand any inclement weather when he was last seen, and friends are beginning to fear that he has wandered away and perished in the cold. Anyone having any information will kindly communicate with the Crown Attorney at Napanee, so that the minds of the friends may be set at rest.

—A writ of summons was issued out of the Supreme Court of Ontario at the office of the Local Registrar at Nepanee against the C. M. Petrie Separator Company, Limited, of Desoronto, and C. M. Petrie and N. T. Johnson for $10,000.00 damages for fraud and misrepresentation. It is alleged that this Company through C. M. Petrie and N. T. Johnson have been selling stock of the Company throughout this district and the action in question is to have subscriptions for stock in the Company set aside and for the return of some $2000.00 paid to the defendants by the plaintiff. Messrs. Herrington, Warner & Grange are acting for the plaintiff.

STELLA.

The continued cold weather and bad storms have prevented the farmers from doing much teaming, and they are anxiously hoping for better conditions through February. —Mr. Fred Addis will be cheesemaker at Stella factory for 1925, and will occupy the house on Main street. Mr. Addis arrived on Saturday.—Mr. Arward Burleigh died on Tuesday, Jan. 27th, after a short illness. Deceased was highly esteemed by all and was one of the pioneers. His many friends extend sympathy to the bereaved widow and two daughters, Mrs. James Strain and Miss Nancy Burleigh, B.A., who are left to mourn the loss of a devoted and loving husband and father.—The news of the death of Mr. George Roddick, of Conway, was heard with much concern here, and expressions of deep regret are heard on all sides, as he had spent many years here as clerk in the Neilson store and made many friends. To Mrs. Roddick and son, Neilson, is extended the sympathy of all.—Mrs. Percy Tugwell has returned home from Buffalo, N.Y., where she attended the wedding of her brother.—Mrs. David Caughey returned on Saturday from a visit to Montreal and Ottawa.—Mr. and Mrs. C. McMullen are visiting the latter's parents near Peterboro'.—Miss Arline Miller, of Collin's Bay, spent the week-end at home here with her parents. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hyland, of Joyceville. — Mr. and Mrs. John Kilpatrick visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray Boker, in Kingston, recently.—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fleming, of Buffalo, N.Y., are spending a short time with the latter's father, Mr. R. Kilpatrick. — On Tuesday, February 3rd, there passed to rest our oldest resident, in the person of Mrs. Jas. Montgomery, who was 98 years of age, after a short illness. Deceased had always been active and until the past two weeks had managed her home. Visitors will not soon forget her wonderful bread which she took such pride in baking herself. Those left to mourn are her daughters, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. J. Taylor, of this place, Mrs. J. Murray, of Syracuse, and Mrs. Russell of New York City, and her sons, James, of Kingston, William and John, of the Island, and a sister, Mrs. H. Fleming, of Kingston, and a brother, Robert Cochrane, of the Lake Shore. To all are extended sympathy in the loss which they have sustained. The funeral was a large one, showing the high esteem and respect of the Islanders at large.

HIS PATH ONE OF BLESSINGS

Beautiful Legend of "Holy Shadow" Might Well Serve as an Inspiration to All.

It is a French legend, so old that we do not know when it was written, or rather when it grew. We may not believe in the miracle giving, but in the heart of the story lies an exquisite pearl of truth. And thus runs the old legend.

A very long time ago there dwelt upon the earth a saint so good that the angels themselves came down from heaven to see how any mortal could live so holy and beautiful a life. They found a man going about his daily duty in simple faithfulness, diffusing an atmosphere of love as the star diffuses light, and the flower fragrance without being aware of it. Watching with eager interest, they saw that two words summed up his day. He gave and forgave.

Not that these words fell from his lips, but they were expressed in his pleasant smile, in his kindness, forbearance and charity.

Then the angels prayed to God, asking, "O Lord, grant him the gift of miracles!" The answer quickly came, "I will; ask him what gift it shall be."

So the angels asked the holy man, "Would you like to have the touch of your hands heal the sick?" But he answered, "No; that is God's work." Again they asked, "Would you like to convert guilty souls, and bring back wandering hearts to the right path?"

"No," he replied, "that is also the work of God. I pray; I do not convert."

"Would you like to become a model of patience, attracting men by the luster of your virtues, thus glorifying God?"

Still he answered, "No; if men should become attached to me they would be further from God and estranged from him. The Lord has other means of glorifying himself."

Filled with astonishment, they cried; "What, then, do you desire?"

The saint smiled, and asked in turn, "What can I wish for? That God give me his grace; with that shall I not have everything?"

But the angels insisted that he must choose a miracle, or have one chosen for him.

"Very well," he said at length, weary of their importunity, "I wish that I may do a great deal of good without ever knowing it."

How were they to carry out such a wish? Finally they hit upon the following plan: Every time the saint's shadow should fall behind him or on either side where he could not see it, this shadow would have the power to cure disease, soothe pain, and comfort the sorrowing.

And so the wish was fulfilled. When the dear old man walked abroad, his shadow, thrown on the ground on either side or behind him, made arid paths moist, gave fresh greenness to withered vegetation, brought back music to the parched, dried-up brooks, and roses to the pale cheeks of suffering little children, and diffused joy everywhere.

The saint went simply about his daily duties, knowing nothing of the blessedness of his light shadow, at last his very name was forgotten and he was reverently called "The Holy Shadow."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Ukrainians in Canada.

There are about 220,000 Ukrainians in the Canadian Northwest. They began to emigrate from their native land in the '90s. Most of them were farmers, and today they occupy whole counties in Alberta and Saskatchewan. They were not illiterate when they came to America and they have been busily educating themselves during the last 20 years.

There is a Ukrainian publishing house in Winnipeg. This concern does not merely issue a foreign language newspaper. It is gradually bringing out reprints of all that is best in Ukrainian literature. The Ukrainian farmer in Canada has a row of well-filled bookshelves such as the average American farmer might not be able to show.

Deadly Spiders.

We have in this country a small spider, commonly known as the "black widow," which is very deadly. It has red spots on its abdomen. There is no question of the fact that its bite is often fatal.

Rather odd is the fact that this species of spider is found in most parts of the world. In New Zealand it is called the "katipo." In Santo Domingo the "red rump." Not any does it kill, but the death it inflicts is inconceivably frightful. The brain is affected, and a dropsy of the skin may distort the victim's features to such an extent as to render him unrecognizable.

The Investor's Innings.

"I could paper a room with the valueless stock certificates I have bought," remarked the unlucky man.

"Don't do it. Avail yourself of a sure thing at last and paste up war savings stamps."

Dropped From the Team.

Friend—So you dropped Private Halfback from your service football team.

Soldier—Yes. He fell down in scholarship. His average last month was less than four Germans a day.—Life.

Wings.

"Birches have wings," remarked the reckonable philosopher.

"Yes," replied Mr. Dustin Star; "and I might add that they can be useful in many ways in hands of a skilled aviator."

NEEDED IN BUSINESS WORLD

Urgent Reasons for Transplanting Returned Soldiers From Army to Civil Life Without Delay.

Your cosmopolitan doughboy who has shaken hands with the king of England, danced with the princess of Roumania, learned the slang of a dozen nations and cocked a knowing eye at all the choicest sights of the Continent, may sound extremely sophisticated by echo, but wait until he lands on the United States and see what furrin travel has done for him! He has made him love, not Europe less, but home more, and he hardly tries to conceal his grand passion under a poker face. Neither, for he has been homesick and weary for months, and the Goddess of Liberty looks like an angel, and New York harbor like heaven, to his fond eyes.

As a national asset, then, the soldier is perhaps our best citizen, and because the A. E. F. as a whole is remarkably enthusiastic about its homeland and her interests, America may look to her soldiers for real inspiration in citizenship. These are the men to put into our business life as rapidly as they can be transplanted from army to civil jobs.

To make the transposition more simple and effective, the war department, through Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war, has set up the wheels of a great machine, which is working night and day to co-operate with all employment agencies for the return of the wounded soldier who has no job. But more than that, this great employment system operates for the good of America. Colonel Woods and his thousands of assisting committees believe in the doughboy and in his power of real achievement in the future national life of the United States.

Fine Memorial to Edith Cavell.

In a quarry, midway between Bodmin and Camelford, on the moors of North Cornwall, England, a memorial is being fashioned out of granite in memory of Nurse Cavell. One of the workmen is carving a wreath with arms half unrolled, holding a little child on her lap, while underneath on the base of the memorial is carved a cross. The group is symbolical of the stronger nations protecting the smaller and weaker ones, while the cross is the emblem of mercy. The whole group is carved in the form of arrows, giving a warlike appearance to the order in which Nurse Cavell belonged. Another huge block of granite near by has a big lion crouching with its head and paws bent back and its mouth wide open, while the tail is curled between its legs. The memorial, when finished, will be about 170 tons, with a height of about 40 feet. The group probably will be erected near the British National gallery.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

"Do you have to work long hours?"
"No, only the regulation length—sixty minutes each."

Ardent Wooer (a commercial traveller) Sticky love for you, Winnie, darling, surpasses anything else that can be offered in that particular line.

Holloway's Corn Remover takes the corn out by the roots. Try it and prove it.

"I should think you would get tired of going motoring alone."
"Oh, I usually run across somebody before I've gone far."

To have the children sound and healthy is the first care of a mother. They cannot be healthy if troubled with worms. Use Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

Freddie—Poor old Tom fell into a fortune last year.
Frankie—Why poor?
"He fell into it so hard that he went right through it."

Externally or Internally, It Is Good.—When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissue, toning the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will relieve affections of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

"Joe—Bill, what's a cosmopolitan?
Bill—Well, suppose you was a Russian Jew livin' in England, and married to a Chinese woman, and you had just finished an Irish stew and you was smokin' a Turkish cigarette, while a nigger band outside was playin' "The Blue Bells of Scotland", then you'd be a cosmopolitan.

The Man With Asthma almost longs for death to end his suffering. But there is only years of endless torment with intervals of rest which are thereafter fraught with fear, ceasing fear of renewed attacks. Let him turn to Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy and know what complete relief it can give. Let him but try it faithfully and he will find his asthma a thing of the past.

It was a dear old lady's first ride in a taxi, and she watched with growing alarm the driver continually putting his hand outside the car as a signal to the following traffic. At last she became angry.

"Young man," she said, "you look after that car of yours, and watch where you are going. I'll tell you when it starts raining."

Do not allow worms to sap the vitality of your children. If not attended to, worms may work irreparable harm to the constitution of the infant. The little sufferers cannot voice their ailments, but there are many signs by which mothers are made aware that a dose of Miller's Worm Powders is necessary. These powders act quickly and will expel worms from the system without any inconvenience to the child.

COAST OVER COBBLE STONES

Sport in Madeira Has Many Advantages Over That to Which Northerners Are Accustomed.

Cobble stones may not appeal to the unlimitated as ideal for coasting purposes, but they admirably serve the purpose. It all depends on how steep is the hill the cobbles pave. In other words, it isn't the material that makes the "coast," but the pitch of the slope.

Those of us who are accustomed to sliding down snow-clad hills, or tiny ascents made slippery by ice know little of the thrill a slide may possess. For some measure of the delight in the sport is found in being intimidated by the frigid air that rushes past our tingling ears and some measure of the enjoyment is entirely lost by the chills that grip our shivering bodies.

Imagine—if you can—the thrill of shooting down a hill so steep that your "sled" flies over the cobbles much as it would speed over crusted snow or an ice glare. Instead of icy air that attacks chills you to the marrow at the thought, picture yourself in springtime garments and fanned by summer breezes.

If you can imagine such a picture you will have enjoyed at least some part of the sport of coasting in an island where there is no snow or ice. Down the cobble-paved road the "sled" flies. For you there is no flesh along in breath-taking rush, then you begin to grow accustomed to the speed and the novelty of the sport and you take time to look about you. But—like most other enjoyments—just as you're begining really to enjoy it to the utmost your coasting ends.

Where is this extraordinary slide? On the island of Madeira, which belongs to Portugal, and lies in the Atlantic ocean, off the coast of Morocco.

How a Hero Died.

A dramatic incident in which a heroic young officer faced death in soldierly manner is the climax of a true story that recently appeared in Stars and Stripes, the official newspaper of the American expeditionary forces.

He was Francis M. Leahy of Lawrence, Massachusetts, and he had served in the ranks before he won his commission. He used to tell of the days when he was a cowboy in Captain Pershing in the Philippines. One day while he was resting with his men by the wayside a German shell came whizzing out of space just as the order arrived that the regiment fall in and move on.

The shell plowed up the earth and stretched on the ground several men who were just getting to their feet. It hit the two at the head of the column. Leahy was leaning and snapped it off like a stalk of asparagus. A piece of shell struck him in the back and tore its way through his chest.

"Good-by, boys!" he said, and his head sagged forward.

Then it was as if, somewhere in the universe, an invisible commander had rallied. "Attention!" Captain Leahy raised his head. With elevating voice he called the name of the officer next in command.

"Lieutenant Hanssen," he said, "the command is 'Forward!' See the boys through it!"

Then he died.

Recipient of Old Honor.

Prince Ferdinand Radziwill, who recently presided at the opening of the new Polish parliament, is a distant relative of the Hohenzollerns and one of the pillars of the old Polish nobility. The honor accorded Prince Radziwill was declared to be absolutely without political significance, but entirely a matter of custom. The prince came into the temporary presidency by reason of seniority only. He is eighty-five years old and is the oldest member on the floor of parliament. By virtue of a similar custom the youngest two members of the house, a socialist and a Catholic priest, neither of them more than twenty-five years old, acted as vice presidents and sat to left and right of the old nobleman all through the first session, assisting him in the carrying on of his duties.

Ships and Their Names.

Peace has brought with it the inclemental discussion in a section of the English press of the naming of ships, a question for the names of certain ships in the British navy. Truly my lords of the admiralty, many sea-goddesses have gone to some strange sources for the nomenclature. Not merely countries and cities have been drawn upon, but many of the creatures figuring in a menagerie have been freely utilized. Then there are the vessels named after the public schools and institutions of England, such as Uppingham, Tonbridge, Westminster, Rugby, Cheltenham, Epsom and so on. If Eton should feel jealous over the matter of its neglect it can take a kind of retorted comfort in the fact that there is a destroyer called Windsor.

Weights a Locomotive Hauls.

"How much more weight does the average passenger locomotive have to haul than it formerly did?" was asked an expert Philadelphia locomotive builder.

"Ten old wooden passenger car weighed 40,000 to 60,000 pounds," he answered.

"The latest suburban car weighs 90,000 pounds.

"The larger steel car weighs 110,000 pounds.

"A parlor car weighs 115,000 pounds and the sleeping car 140,000.

"The total weight, therefore, of the heavy Pacific type for passenger traffic weighs 280,000 to 300,000 pounds. The freight locomotives, of course, go far beyond this figure, to more than 500,000 pounds."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Canada's New Link With Alaska

IT is not many years since Alaska was a land of adventure and romance. Geographical location was indicated with a grandiloquent sweep of the arm northwards. It has always been a land of mystery, romance and adventure. It has provided the literature for thrilling tales of novelists and the stirring poems of northern bards. But even though the days of the chechahco and the sourdough is done, the brief but active span of the Dangerous Dan Magrews and the Lady Lou's, masters of historical reference, the lure of Alaska has not waned. Each is as appealing as ever to the hearts of men and women wherein a bit of romance lurks, and that means to everyone.

Alaska is no longer a far off country. It is a very near neighbor to Canada. It will be even nearer this summer. Mr. J. E. Dalrymple, Traffic Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, has announced that commencing on June 22nd, the company will inaugurate a weekly steamship service between Prince Rupert and Alaska. Cut, is being shown burning steamships, "Prince George" and "Prince Rupert," which have already established a reputation as being among the best-appointed vessels on the Pacific Coast, will be engaged in this new service.

"Going northward the ships will reach Prince Rupert at 10.30 on Wednesday morning, allowing the Monday of sailing from Vancouver, and tourists will be given an opportunity to see something of this new Pacific port, as the steamer does not continue on its northern trip until noon o'clock that afternoon. After passing Old and New Metlakatla and Port Simpson, an old Hudson's Bay Post, calls will be made at Ketchikan, a typical Alaskan town built at the foot of the mountains. Proceeding from that point the steamships will touch at Wrangell, beautifully situated near the mouth of the Stikine River and possessing many associations with the period when Alaska was a Russian possession. The next point touched will be Juneau, the capital of Alaska, and a modern city with good motor roads and many points of interest, including the Mendenhall Glacier and mines which have made this country famous. On the way from Wrangell to Juneau there will be an opportunity to see the grandeur of Taku Inlet and the famous Taku Glacier, over a mile wide and 90 miles long.

The ships will arrive at Skagway at seven o'clock Friday morning and will remain there until seven o'clock Saturday night, thus giving ample opportunity to passengers to see this famous town and to visit White Horse and the Atlin Lake District. On the south-bound journey the steamers will reach Vancouver at nine o'clock Wednesday morning, making a complete ten-day round trip.

In addition to the Alaska trip, the tri-weekly service between Vancouver and Prince Rupert will be maintained and also a semi-weekly service to Anyox and Stewart on the Portland Canal, which service has been in effect for some time past. The establishment by the Canadian National Railways of this Alaska steam-boat service will meet the demands of many tourists, and will be a fitting climax to the famous Triangle Tour, comprising Jasper National Park, the Rockies, the Great Yellowstone and the voyage through the "Norway of America."

Tanting With the Nose.

The sensation of taste, while of common and constant experience, is highly complicated in its nature. What is commonly called taste is not a simple sensation at all, but rather a complex. In addition to the actual functioning of the appropriate properly pertaining to the sense of taste, the tongue receives impressions of various other sorts, all of which go to make up this complex. As finally recorded in the consciousness, the taste of any substance has to do with its heft or roughness, perhaps with a mild amount of pain, certainly with astringency or acridity—which are in themselves further complexes of thermic and tactile sensations—and above all with smell. The reader will probably agree that the cream of coffee are entirely different from their true selves when served at inappropriate temperatures; and it is a matter of record that a portion of the keenest taste may make the most ludicrous errors if asked, blindfolded and with his nose stopped to identify substances placed in his mouth.

Famed Rest of Noted Men.

The Diamond bar, famous for nearly 50 years as a part of the old Auzerais house, at San Jose, Cal., is being fitted up for a grocery store. The Auzerais house, on West Santa Clara street, housed the presidents of the United States and was for a time the abode of a king. It was built in 1863, according to John E. Auzerais of San Jose, and the barroom was the meeting place for many of the men whose names have been written into the history of California.

President Grant was entertained at a banquet in the Auzerais house in 1870. The following spring King Kalakua of Hawaii was a guest, and in September of the same year President Hayes delivered an address from the balcony. President Harrison was a guest in 1891 and both McKinley and Roosevelt visited the famous old hotel on their tours of the United States.

Her Part.

The physician had diagnosed the young woman's case and was compounding for her a dose of drugs into the fit pot, two or three drugs into the bottle and then took up a jar of pepsin. The jar was almost empty and he had to scrape the receptacle in order filling the patient's bottle. The physician looked around for another jar. He called to the nurse, "Nurse, in a minute he was frankly perplexed, and then came sudden relief. He turned to the nurse and finished filling the bottle with water.

"Oh," the young woman's voice was very cool, "you needn't have done that. I can get in the water myself."

PAINS IN BACK AND SIDES

Ended by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pushlier, Sask.—"For two or three days every so often I would have such pains in my back and sides that I could not do anything—could not even lie quietly in bed, and my head ached, too. I was this way about three years, but was worse after I was married. I was on a farm with not a house nearer than five miles and there was not a person to advise me, as my folks live in Manitoba. My sister-in-law told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told me to try it. I took her advice and have been thankful for it ever since. After taking the medicine for three months I can say it has helped me a lot and I am doing fine. I am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to others and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. Helen Balanoff, Pushlier, Saskatchewan.

HAVE REAL CHARM

Old South Carolina Churches Well Worth Visit.

St. Andrew's, Built in 1702, Once Notable Aristocratic House of Worship—Goose Creek Edifice Also Interesting.

The charm to some places is that the changes to them come slowly, and it is the atmosphere that envelopes Charleston, S. C., a town of quaint old streets, musty churches, lovely old trees, and hand-wrought iron doors and gates that first opened to admit subjects of a British king.

One leaves all this behind and rides out over 12 miles of the roughest of country roads under trees decorated with long ghostlike strands of Spanish moss to enter a church whose doors swing open but once a year. It is St. Andrew's church, in St. Andrew's parish, and it opens once annually because this was the condition stipulated—in the original crown grant. St. Andrew's church was built in 1702. For a century or more it was the regular Sunday meeting place of rich and aristocratic Southerners who lived on adjoining plantations, and it is not difficult on a warm spring day to stand under the moss-hung trees of the church and visualize the past. The men and women dressed in gay silks and satins for church-going in those days, and they rode to service in grand style with a pair of handsome horses drawing a commodious carriage, with a negro slave on the box, and the negroes riding or walking behind.

St. Andrew's is not the only church that is opened but once a year. Goose Creek church, some ten miles away, and built in 1706, was also built under a crown grant with the same provision. With the growth of the city, known then as "Charleston by the Sea," and with better roads, the attendance at the small parish churches diminished. When the last of these plantations was reduced in grandeur and wealth by the Civil war, and the slaves were scattered all over the globe, those in whom was embodied the spirit of the past had gone to their fathers.

A love of tradition, a reverence for the past that makes Charleston charming, sees to it that the order of the royal grant is obeyed, and a rusty key is turned in a rusty lock once a year; in St. Andrew's on Easter Sunday, and in Goose Creek the Sunday after. And Charleston fills up its gasoline tanks on these days and rides out; and those who haven't automobiles or other personal means of conveyance go out by special train, for so fanatics the present dared to intrude on the past that special excursions are run by the railroad for these occasions.

Woman As a Bull Fighter.

One would scarcely thought that to enter into combat with a bull demanded more courage than any member of the gentler sex possessed. But even this dangerous calling has had its female follower. Louden Tit-Bits states, "Johanna Maerlick was the name of the lady in question. At an early age she was taken to see a bull fight in Madrid. Her feminine susceptibilities, far from revolting at the spectacle, were aroused to a keen desire and determination to emulate the prowess of the toreador. A teacher of the art was to be found in Madrid, and Johanna, on signing the Presidente: "The results of the past 12 months are sufficient to paint the moral that co-operation, additionally employed as it is in our every day life, eliminates the middleman and his profit, and thus assures to the policyholders a more generous distribution."

VARIETY SHOWER.

On January 20th, 1925, a large number of friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Coates gathered at their new home to express their kindly wishes for many years of happiness. A very enjoyable evening was spent in games and dancing until the wee small hours of the morning. The dainty refreshments were served by the bride's younger sisters. The many presents received show the high esteem in which the young couple were held. The following gifts were received at the wedding and shower:

THE MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

The recently issued 55th Annual Statement of The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada cannot fail to prove a source of deep satisfaction to the policyholders. By every test, this pioneer Canadian mutual life company has made record progress during the past year. In every phase of its business, the growth has been more than satisfactory.

Up practically half-a-million dollars, the previous high record of surplus earnings was surpassed, the 1924 total being $3,020,338. Increased distribution was made to policyholders of $379,962.33 more than was paid out in 1923. A total of $2,689,067.99 was paid out in dividends in 1924—a return to the policyholders of approximately 25% of the total premiums received by the company.

As pointed out by the General Manager in his address, during the lifetime of The Mutual Life of Canada, $15,063,134.22 has been paid in dividends to policyholders, and, of this amount, $12,870,044.28 was distributed during the last 10 years. It is clearly evident from these figures that the aim of the company—to furnish maximum protection at a minimum cost—is being splendidly realized.

The expansion of the Company's business has been very gratifying and progressive. During the year a total of $4,234,237 of new assurances was written, representing an increase in new policies issued of $4,283,719, or 11% more than in 1923. The business in force now amounts to $295,729,866 on 153,286 policies, compared with $270,985,756 at the end of 1923—a net increase of $25,747,300 last year.

The unimpregnable financial situation of the Company is well indicated in accumulated assets of $85,950,767, an increase over the previous year of $6,233,578.

Three of the factors contributing to the exceptionally high surplus earned for the policyholders were economy in administration, remarkably favorable mortality and high interest rate on invested assets. The percentage of income required to cover general expenses of administration was reduced from the previous best showing of 16.15% in 1923 to 15.52% in 1924. This reduction was accomplished despite the fact that the new policies issued in the 1924 exceeded the 1923 total by over 4½ millions of dollars.

Another record was broken in the matter of low mortality. The ratio of actually to expected death claims was only 36.01%, as against 39.26% in 1923, the previous low record in recent years. Very careful consideration of risks by the Company's officers in the field is indicated by the comparatively light death claims made in 1924. The policyholders benefit in the increased surplus thus made possible.

A third source of the increased surplus earned for policyholders was the high average interest yield on invested assets—5.41%. This satisfactory average was achieved in the face of a downward trend in interest rates, and is notable in view of the amount invested in high-class bonds in which no large profit was taken. Mutual Life's assets is invested. The Directors' far-sighted policy in investing funds was again strikingly justified in 1924.

The Mutual Life of Canada has an enviable record of development during the 55 years of existence. The principle of "Mutuality"—whereby the profit-participating policyholders receive back the entire net profit—has been abundantly justified. As remarked by the President: "The results of the year 1924 are sufficient to paint the moral that co-operation, additionally employed as it is in our every day life, eliminates the middleman and his profit, and thus assures to the policyholders a more generous distribution."

VARIETY SHOWER.

On January 20th, 1925, a large number of friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Coates gathered at their new home to express their kindly wishes for many years of happiness. A very enjoyable evening was spent in games and dancing until the wee small hours of the morning. The dainty refreshments were served by the bride's younger sisters. The many presents received show the high esteem in which the young couple were held. The following gifts were received at the wedding and shower:

Sunday School Class, silver butter dish and knife; Ruth Babcock, egg beater; Mrs. Babcock, centre piece and meat platter; Lena Binkley, celery dish; Mrs. Ferguson, roasting pan; Mrs. C. Markle, glass fruit set; Mrs. Selmes and Mrs. Shepperd, O'cedar mop; Bessie Smith, brown Rocky teapot; Arthur Smith, bon bon dish; Mr. and Mrs. Curry, half dozen tea plates; Marguerite Root and Pat Cook, glass water set; the Ford family, berry set, toaster, candle sticks, dinner plates, 8 china cups and saucers, bon bon dish, collander, custard jar, platter, lemon squeezer, egg cups, brown Betty teapot; egg slicer, quilt, celery dish mats and doilies, agate spoon; Mrs. Carr, 2 hand-painted cups and saucers; Rhoda Clough, cold meat fork and spoon; Mrs. Wallace, towels; Helen Wallace, towel; Willie Howitt, towels; Mrs. Herrington, buffet and pillow slips and towel; Mrs. Herb Daly, pillow slips; Mrs. Howard, towels; Mr. and Mrs. P. Thompson, $1.00; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Howie, pastry fork; Mrs. Charlie Plumley, fancy dish; Mrs. Hosey, flour sifter; Winnifred Knight, towels, butter dish and bon bon dish; Harold Rashaw, silver berry spoon; Mrs. Harshaw and Jean, berry set; Hazel Kellar, silver butter knife; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Babcock, cup and saucer; Mrs. Cook, table cloth; Jack Cook, salt and pepper shakers; Mr. and Mrs. Kerr, cream set and double boiler; Mrs. Davis, towels; Judy and Lorraine Clarke Markle, centre piece.

Mr. and Mrs. Coates wish to thank their many friends for their beautiful gifts and kind wishes.

Address and Presentation.

On Friday evening, Feb. 6th, eighty-five members of Forest Mills Methodist congregation and Sunday School assembled at the residence of Mr. Adam Scott to enjoy a social evening. Music, games, social intercourse, and refreshments made a time of ideal fellowship. During the evening Jean Scott was taken by surprise when the following address was read and presentation made :

Miss Jean Scott.

The congregation of Forest Mills Methodist Church and Sunday School desire to express their appreciation of your valuable services as Assistant Organist and Caretaker of our Church. We have always found you to be faithful and willing to render service whenever required. Without the help of willing hands our Church could not continue. We consider ourselves fortunate in having one whom we can always depend on to take her place at the organ, to teach a Sunday School class, or take care of our church.

We ask you to accept this wrist watch as a slight token of our appreciation of your services and as a reminder that faithful work is worthy of re-grrtion.

Hoping you may continue your good work for many years to come, and many years is the fervent wish of Forest Mills Church and Sunday School.

A mother gave her little son two pennies, one for himself and the other for the Sunday School collection. On his way to church the lad was carelessly handling the coins, when one fell through a cellar grating. The boy peered into the pit, and, seeing his penny, looking thoughtfully into his hand and then at the cellar, he remarked, "Well, there goes the collection."

They Had No Banks

IN pioneer days the general merchant often kept the money of his customers for them—there were no banks. Buying and selling were largely by barter only.

The coming of the branch bank filled an important need in every community, and today the wise farmer's business man or private individual keeps his money in the bank and makes full use of the many services it has to offer.

1925 Automobile Markers.

The 1925 Automobile markers are now available for distribution at the Coal Office of Wilfred S. Wilson, opposite the Postoffice. The markers this year are yellow figures on a black background, and the local numbers start at No. 25051 for passenger cars and No. C25051 for trucks. The prices of licenses are the same as last year for passenger cars, but there is an increase in the price for commercial cars, and particularly for larger trucks and for cars having solid tires.

Scouts' and Guides' Concert.

The concert to be given by the Scouts and Guides, with their respective junior branches, the Wolf Cubs and Brownies, will be held in the Town Hall, on Thursday evening, February 19th, because of the hockey match on Feb. 20th. The object of the concert is to give the people of the town some idea of the work done by the movements. Since the Guides and Scouts are entirely distinct organizations, although working along parallel lines, it has been necessary to secure special permission from Guide and Scout authorities to have them appear on the same programme.

MINISTERIAL CONFERENCE

DR. THOMAS LECTURES

A Conference of the Ministers in the County has been held during the week in Napanee. The conference was in the nature of an intimate study of the Life of Jesus.

Those attending, beside the local Clergy, who were all present, were : W. H. Clark, Tamworth; W. Merrill Morven; T. H. B. Anderson, Selby; W. H. Truscott, South Napanee; A. C. Huffman, Bath; H. Farmer, Adolphustown; R. J. Merriam, Enterprise; G. Nickle, Newburgh; C. J. Gall, Mountain Grove; H. B. Neil, Adolphustown; W. H. Harrison, Deseronto.

The meetings were held for two hours both morning and afternoon, while a public meeting was held each evening.

These meetings have been of inestimable value to all priviledged to attend.

How cold is it? The thermometer hanging outside the west window at Wallace's Drug Store has been tested with the government thermometer in Toronto, so is absolutely correct.

PROFESSOR SANDWELL, OF QUEEN'S TO VISIT NAPANEE

IN HISTORICAL ROOM FEBRUARY 20th

Thomas Chandler Haliburton, the most famous of British Colonial men of letters, better known as a Sam Slick, and who is sometimes called the father of American Humour, is to be the subject of a lecture on February 20th, by Professor Sandwell. Professor Sandwell by training and temperment is as well fitted to deal with this subject as any man in Canada. He is head of the department of English in Queen's, and has made a special study of Canadian Literature. He is himself a humourist of some note and will qualified to deal with such a fascinating character as Sam Slick. Here is a chance for all lovers of English Literature, all lovers of good humour and all lovers of Canada to hear a lecturer which the Society has found to special pains and expense to secure.

There is no admission fee to the lecture, and everyone is welcome.

MEN'S BANQUET.

The Men's Supper held by St. Mary Magdalene's Church on Thursday, February 5th, was an unqualified success. About 150 men sat down to the tables in the Masonic Rooms to enjoy the good things prepared. The Walter's Orchestra supplied enlivening music and community singing enlisted the co-operation of all. After the toast to the King had been duly honored, the chairman, Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, introduced the first speaker, Mr. John Elliott, of Bellville, who made an excellent and practical address on the subject of the laymen's responsibilities. The Vicar was then made the recipient of a very fine fur coat, the presentation being felicitously made by C. F. Ruttan. The Provost of Trinity College, Rev. Dr. Seager, was the next speaker and produced a profound impression by his convincing, scholarly, and attractive address. The vote of thanks to the speakers was proposed by W. S. Herrington and Harold Stevens, and that to the Orchestra and the Committee by A. M. Simpson and Albert Hill, and both carried enthusiastically. The Rev. A. H. Coleman proposed the benediction at the close.

M. C. DUNN APPOINTED AGENT AT BROCKVILLE

For Canadian National Railway — Coming Departure From Kingston Is Regretted.

It is learned that M. C. Dunn, commercial agent for the Canadian National Railway, has been appointed city passenger and ticket agent, at Brockville, the appointment to take place about February 15th. Mr. Dunn is at present confined to his home on Ontario street, suffering from an attack of pneumonia, but he expects to take over his new duties in the course of a week or ten days.

It is with regret that Mr. Dunn's friends will learn that he is to leave Kingston, but they will be delighted to learn that his untiring efforts in the interest of the railroad company have resulted in this excellent appointment.

Mr. Dunn started his railroad service in 1888, and has served in both the various local traffic departments ever since. He was first station agent at Parker, with the Bay of Quinte Railway, which was owned by the Rathbun Company, and remained there until 1912, when the Bay of Quinte interests were taken over by McKenzie & Mann, of the Canadian National Railway. He came to Kingston in the capacity of city freight, passenger and express agent,—for the Canadian National, and held that position until the amalgamation of the Grand Trunk and the G. N. R., when he was appointed commercial agent.

Mr. Dunn during the years that he has been in Kingston, has not only had the interests of the railroad company which he represents, at heart, but his desire has always been to render service to the public, with the result that he has built up a very large connection. He is an active member of the Kingston Motor Club, Kiwanis Club, Board of Trade, and the Frontenac Club. Mr. Dunn will take over the duties at Brockville, which were formerly carried on by the late Mr. Ridgeway, who held that position for a number of years. The Dunn family will reside at Kingston, Feb. 5th.

Address and Presentation

On Monday evening, February 16th, 1925, a number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McGuire, Strathcona, Ont., and presented Mr. and Mrs. Harold McGuire, of Flint, Mich., with a purse of $53.00. Mr. McGuire replied in a few appropriate words to the following address, after which a pleasant evening was spent in games, dancing, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. McGuire,—

It is with the greatest pleasure that we meet here to-night, to welcome you, after a year's absence, back to your Old Home Town.

We are also desirous of extending to you our hearty congratulations at this our first opportunity since your marriage. We assure you that it is the sincere wish of one and all here assembled, that your wedded life be long, happy and prosperous.

You know, Harold, we claim you as one of our very own boys, for this is your birthplace, and here were spent the happy days of boyhood and young manhood. Your cheerful and agreeable disposition as you went in and out among us, has made us all your friends, and when we think of you, we have very pleasant thoughts.

We regret somewhat that in your choice of location we have to give you up to Uncle Sam, but perhaps the presence of so many fine Canadian boys like yourself in the United States will make the stronger the link that binds there two nations together. We are sure you will never forget your flag.

Mrs. McGuire, we wish to assure you that we give you the same place in our community affection that we give to Harold, and we think of you as his worthy partner, sharing with him all the joys and sorrows that life may bring.

We ask you to accept this small token of our esteem, hoping for goodwill, and may it convey to you the feeling of friendship interest with which we shall always regard you. That the best things of life may be yours, in the midst of your friends in Strathcona and vicinity.

HOCKEY.

Napanee 6, Point Anne 5.

The Napanee hockey team made history in Point Anne on Friday evening last and left the natives of that burg something to talk about among themselves, when they defeated the crack Point Anne team by a score of 6-5. It just took thirty minutes' overtime to do the trick, but the locals are a bunch of stayers and came right back in the third overtime period with as much vim as they showed any time during the game.

A small contingent accompanied the boys on their journey, and were well repaid for their trouble. Notwithstanding the soft weather of the week preceding the game, the Point Anne management had a good sheet of ice and the play was fast. There were a few rough spots, but that was unavoidable and both teams suffered accordingly. The game was the cleanest, four penalties of two minutes each being handed out by the referees each team drawing two.

The first period was a merry battle, resulting in no score. Both goalkeepers were called upon to make saves and some sensational stops were accomplished. The forwards were all working fine and Napanee had a slight edge on the play but could not bulge the net.

Six goals were scored in the second period, Brant scoring No. 1 for Point Anne and L. Goyer securing No. 2 shortly after. With the score 2-0 against them our boys showed a burst of speed and clever stick handling and scored three in a row, Merrill getting the first one, McNeill the second, and Merrill the third. Before the period ended Brant came through with the goal that tied up the game again.

In a few minutes after the third period started McNeill scored his second goal of the game and put Napanee one up and just before time was called L. Goyer covered the score with a nicely placed shot from left wing. Full time was 4-4.

The first ten-minute overtime period resulted in a goal for each team, Murarde securing for Point Anne and Merrill doing likewise for Napanee.

Play continued very fast in the second overtime period and showed that both teams were in good condition for the gruelling contest. Due to the splendid work of the goalkeepers no goals were scored and the game remained a tie at 5-5.

The third overtime period had not been long under way before Hudgins lifted a long one which landed in the net, Anne Chippewa, of Sydenham, Mr. and Mrs. Keyes, of Colebrook, were at Mr. Galbraith's. — Earle Boyce has purchased a new piano. — Mr. and Mrs. Steven and Pearl, Mr. Wallace and Helen, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Boyce and family spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Freeman, Yarker. — Clarence Watson was a Sunday caller in this vicinity.

after by two for Napanee, both being scored by Merrill, and Kingston came right back with another that tied the score at the end of the first period.

The second period was perhaps the fastest one of the game, and both teams were going strong. Napanee was the first to score, the trick being turned by Naphin, and our boys were one up. This advantage lasted until almost the end of the period, when Kingston got the break and tied the score. This goal was scored on a six-foot off-side, and the overnight was a heart breaker, and incidentally would have won the game for Napanee had it been caught, as the third period resulted in no score.

In the first ten-minute overtime period the Irishmen scored, and Napanee were unable to even it up, and the game was lost.

For Napanee there was no choice in players. From the goalkeeper out the boys played stellar hockey. They gave of their best and played good enough to win. Brown was the outstanding star on the Irishmen line-up, and was ably assisted by Tobin on goal, who played one of his notable games and saved his team-mates from defeat by his clever work.

Following is the line-up:

Kingston—Goal, Tobin; defence, Brown and Millan; left wing, Lawless; centre, Purdy; right wing, A. Angrove; subs., T. Angrove and Compeau.

Napanee—Goal, Caupaney; defence, Naphin and Hudgins; left wing, Johnston; centre, Merrill; right wing, Huffman; subs., Bentley and McNeill.

Referee—Leo. Barrett, Belleville.

Point Anne at Napanee.

The hockey event of the season will take place at the Napanee Arena this (Friday) evening, when the locals take on the Point Anne sextette. The Point Anne boys are coming under the defect handed them on their own ice by our players last Friday evening, and are coming down with the firm determination to win this fixture. The Napanee outfit are going strong as well and attend the game to-night will see the best hockey match of the season, and a large crowd will be on hand. This is the last home game of the second half schedule and will be well worth seeing. Come along and give the boys the support they deserve. Game at 8. The game will be called at 8.15 p.m. sharp.

THE TOWN LEAGUE.

"B" Co. Frontenac Regiment 6, St. Pats 3.

The Militia Boys sure played some game on Monday last, when they defeated St. Pats by a merry load of three goals. The game is the first in the second half of the Town League schedule, and proved to be a great victory for the Militia Boys.

For weeks this game has been the talk in the League. "St. Pats are out to win" was the slogan. But condition and training told Monday last, and the Militia Boys were easy to hear that the St. Pats' defense man, Jim Kingston, was unable to play on an injury received in Deseronto. But St. Pats strengthened their defense by bringing Cavanaugh up from Kingston. But he did not prove effective, as Douglas kept him under hand from start to finish. Only three times did he break through the forwards, and then the support line of the Militia team met the oncoming Cavanaugh and forced him to retire.

Three times though did St. Pats enter the support lines of the Militia Boys and were successful in placing the disc in the nets. Other times the net was in danger, but the Militia boys always rallied and got the puck away.

For St. Pats, Cavanaugh, Gleeson and Normile starred. Jim's work was good, and Gleeson looks like a player for the Town line.

Douglas, in centre, played a game of games, and although laid out more by some rough handling, was able to carry on. Lucas and Fraser never failed Douglas in backing him up. Barrett and Northmore just couldn't hold Gleeson down, and time after time stopped the St. Pats. Fraser in goal played a wonderful game and looks like a good man.

The next Town League game will be played some night next week, and more should turn out to see the new players for our senior team.

N. C. I. CANADIAN CLUB

Since its organization, the Junior Canadian Club of the Collegiate Institute has had two very successful luncheons in the Assembly Room of the school. The first was held on Friday, February 6th, Dr. Seager, of Trinity University, Toronto, being the speaker. After the luncheon, which was at 12 o'clock, the guests invited by the members arrived, and the meeting was called to order by the President, Malcolm Corkill. In a few well chosen words he explained that this was the first Canadian Club ever formed of boys and girls in a school in Canada, explained the objects of the Club, and introduced Dr. Seager.

The subject of Dr. Seager's address was "Think". Describing thoughtlessness as a crime, he traced its effect on the work in a school. If thoughtlessness or lack of conscious application becomes a habit, a slipshod character develops and a striving for the superficial results ensues. But even with careful thinking, it is necessary to have a right educational foundation. In this land we are so busy with our material welfare that we are apt to slight the higher planes of thought in our younger days and teach mainly with an aim and in the light of a young and vigorous people.

Allan Walters moved, and Arthur Parks seconded a vote of thanks to Dr. Seager.

The second luncheon was on Thursday, February 12th, the speaker being Dr. Ernest Thomas, of Toronto, and his subject, "Young Canada's Outlook on the World".

Dr. Thomas introduced his subject by drawing attention to the magnificent nutrition of Edith Cavell, who said that sooner or later she would be caught and put to death. But that Nurse Cavell was actuated by something higher than patriotism and before her death said that patriotism was not enough—there must be love of humanity. Shaw's play, St. Joan, was used by Dr. Thomas to show that until the time of Joan of Arc there was no French nation and she succeeded in creating a nation.

Many people think that in order to have a strong nation it is necessary to have one language and that a nation is going to pieces if they have two or three languages. The speaker drew attention to Switzerland with three languages and Belgium with two. Political strength can be obtained by getting narrowness of character corrected by the narrowness of another. Canada is not simply a hencoop with Plymouth Rocks in one end and Leghorns in another.

Another great difficulty has been that for centuries the whole civilization has rested upon coal and iron. The fuel of the future is, as it is, if any nation or group of nations try to corner this fuel, the world is heading for another great war. We must try to look out on the world with the idea that all peoples have a right to equal opportunities.

End of Coal Troubles.

Campbell Sinton figures out that 1,000,000 horse power from sunlight goes to waste on every square mile.

Which means, writes "Girard" in the Philadelphia Press, that Old Sol sheds upon the surface of Pennsylvania the tidy equivalent of nearly 200,000,000,000 horse power.

Some fine day you will read in your morning paper that Prof. Long Head has found a way to catch that power that now runs loose. Then good-by coal strikes!

Authracite will be as valueless for fuel as little shells are for money. Sun engines will replace gasoline in your auto, steamships will need no stokers, the railroads no firemen and no coal tenders, the street railways no power house and your cellars will be rid of the dusty furnace.

What high links the stock brokers can have when the promoters list on the exchanges 10,000,000,000 of common stock in Sunlight Consolidated.

His First Pay in 15 Years.

A man who spoke with a pronounced Swedish accent appeared at the income tax office at St. Louis and exhibited two new leather cases which contained $9,000 in travelers' checks.

He said that he had just had his only pay day in fifteen years and had turned $9,000 in income tax was due. It appears that during the fifteen years he was employed on a ranch in Washington under an agreement with his employer for wages, plus board and clothes. During the fifteen years he "went to town" only twice a year and drew no money, he said, because his employer had bought everything for him.

When last month he decided to go to South America to become a rancher in his own name, his employer accompanied him to town and bought the checks for him. He was told that no tax was due from him.

Immigrants' Literary Test.

Immigrants subject to the literary test at Ellis Island now have to read thirty or forty words from the Psalms, in any language they prefer. Immigration inspectors are equipped with cards in all languages, with verses from the Psalms printed on them. All types of script are represented—German, Arabic, Hebrew, Japanese, Russian and so on, except Chinese, for that nationality is not permitted to immigrate. Lest any alien learn parrotlike the verse of the Psalm that a friend in this country had to read, the inspectors have at least forty different verses in each language one verse to a card.

I. O. D. E. BIRTHDAY PARTY

Under the auspices of the local Chapter of the I. O. D. E., a most attractive and pleasing concert and playlet was presented at the Town Hall on Friday night last, it being the occasion of the silver anniversary birthday party. The hall was filled with a most appreciative audience. From 7.45 to 8.30 Bell's Orchestra played several pleasing numbers after which the first part of the program was given, consisting of the following numbers : Violin selection, "Valse Bleutte", Mrs. Camiron Wilson; recitation, Miss Jean Paul; piano duett, "The March of the Birthday Maids", Mesdames Black and Seymour; vocal solo, "Down the Vale", Miss Olive McMillan; vocal solo, "Land of Hope and Glory", Miss Frances Dwyer; vocal solo, selected, Mr. A. F. LaSalle. The program was one of the choicest heard in some time, the applause being very generous, which the artists responded to with encores. A pleasing interlude in the program was the splendid address by Mrs. A. H. Malcolmson, whose subject, "The War Memorial" was listened to with much interest by the large assemblage.

The speaker was introduced to the audience by Mrs. A. T. Harshaw, Regent of the local Chapter, who, in a few words, expressed her appreciation to Mrs. Malcolmson for her kindness in coming to Napanee to address the members of the I. O. D. E. and their friends.

Mrs. Malcolmson, who is a very pleasing and fluent speaker, referred to the sacrifices made by Canada's manhood and womanhood in the Great War, and referred at some length to the loss in Canadian citizenship which Canada had suffered through the loss of so many of her young men. The War Memorial which had been decided upon by the I. O. D. E. was of a spiritual and educational nature and was divided up to three parts, namely, 1st, The War Pictures in the schools for the benefit of the children; 2nd, The Bursaries at the schools; 3rd, The Overseas Scholarship.

The speaker gave a minute explanation of the workings of the above and stated that up to date $400,000 had been raised, and as this year 1925 was the silver anniversary of the I. O. D. E., it was expected that the remaining $100,000 would be raised to complete the objective of $500,000. The speaker on resuming her seat was tendered an ovation.

At the conclusion of the program the Orchestra again played several numbers and at the same time light refreshments were served.

The second part of the programme consisted of a playlet, entitled "On Helpless Man !" the cast of characters being as follows : Raymond Osgood, Mr. Gerald Gleeson; Freda Dawson, Miss Helen Davy; Mrs. Pinchbeck, Miss Beatrice Baughan; the Expressman, Mr. DeVerdo Powell.

The comedy was well portrayed, each member taking his or her part in a most exacting manner.

A hearty vote of thanks was then tendered to Mrs. Malcolmson, which was unanimously carried.

The Recent, Mrs. Harshaw, and her executive are to be complimented on the very fine success of the evening, and to Mrs. Katherine Powell great credit is due to the starting and success of the one act comedy.

The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

TOWN COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday night.

The members present were : Reeve Graham, Councillors Dunbar, Howitt, Jewell, MacGregor, Roy, Simpson.

His Worship Mayor Ming presided.

A communication was received from the Board of Commence, enclosing a cheque for $57.25, being one-half the account rendered by the Hydro Commission for decorative street lighting at Christmas.

Communication from The Firemen's Association of Ontario, re compensation for firemen injured while attending fires. Left in the hands of the Clerk to write said Association for particulars.

The Maxwell McDonald case was up before the Council again. This time through a communication from the Public Trustee at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. A demand is made for the return of the $200 fine imposed on McDonald for breach of the O. T. A. at Napanee some time last year. An Order-in-Council was passed and approved by the Lieut.-Governor, giving the Ontario License Commission power to refund the fine, but the Council does not see what the License Commission has to do with it, and has referred the matter to the Town Solicitor for an opinion.

Reeve Graham reported that the Standard Gas Co. would repair the defective pavement on Dundas street, between Centre and John, on or about May 1st.

With regard to motor equipment for the Fire Department, Coun. Simpson, Chairman of Fire, Water and Light, asked for authority to get prices and information with respect to the different kinds of motor equipment used by fire departments.

Moved by Reeve Graham, seconded by Coun. Roy, that Coun. Simpson be given permission to get in touch with companies handling this apparatus, and report to the Council at a subsequent meeting.

Coun. Dunbar, Chairman Market and Police, reported that Andrew Madden, acting Market Clerk, collected $54.60 in market tolls for the month of January, and charged $27.00 for attending.

Moved by Coun. MacGregor, seconded by Coun. Howitt, that the Market and Police Committee meet and draft rules and regulations, governing the offices of Chief of Police, Night Constable and Market Clerk. Carried.

The Farmers' Dairy By-law was read a third time and finally passed.

JOHN N. LAKE DIES IN HIS 91st YEAR

John Neilson Lake, Toronto's oldest real estate dealer, an ardent worker in the Methodist Church throughout Canada, and a leader in active temperance work for over half a century, died last Friday night, in his 91st year. He had been in poor health for over a year, but, though he had to go to the poll in an invalid's chair, voted at the plebiscite last fall.

Mr. Lake had laid the cornerstones of nearly a dozen Methodist Churches in various parts of Ontario, including Sherbourne Street and Dufferin Avenue Churches in Toronto. He was chairman of the Building Committee when Victoria College was erected, was trustee for the bondholders in connection with the building of the Methodist Book Room. In his early life he was a Methodist minister, and before trouble with his eyesight forced him to withdraw he served in Aylmer, Ingersoll, Hollowille and other places.

One of the most ardent of temperance workers Ontario has produced, Mr. Lake was a leader in the Temperance Colony Movement, which in the early '80's founded a settlement in Northern Saskatchewan, far removed from spirituous liquors. From this settlement grew the present City of Saskatoon. The name Saskatoon, chosen by Mr. Lake, came from the Saskatoon berry, picked by members of the colony just after their arrival.

Of United Empire Loyalist descent, Mr. Lake was born in Ernestown, Lennox County, in 1834, and came to Toronto from Kingston by boat before the railway was built.

After retiring from the Ministry he entered the real estate business, and in 1876 was one of the three agents who looked after all the real estate work at that time transacted in Toronto. In 1882 he placed on the market the first sub-division made in the city. It was part of the James Beatty estate, and extended north of Gerrard Street and South of Carlton Street.—Parliament to Ontario.—Toronto Globe.

SPOOK IS HUNGRY

"Hant" Makes Announcement, but Can't Be Located.

Providence (Rhode Island) Citizens Have a Real Sensation in "Manifestations" Which Have Baffled Elucidation.

Residents of Pond street, in Providence, R. I., are all on edge, for the house at 207, they assert, is undoubtedly "haunted."

For a week "manifestations" have been going on there, and when it came to the point where the cellar was jammed full of curious people and a line was waiting out through the yard into the street, the police took hold. Tenants said they would move if they could only find a place to move to, and both up and down the street dwellers said if someone did not do something pretty soon they would think of moving.

It all came about through a "strange voice" which, the neighbors say, emanates from the cellar. A week ago, quoting one of the Pond Streeters, a tenant went into the cellar and was startled by the voice saying: "Give me something to eat, I'm starving."

The tenant upset his coal scuttle, but was not seen upon closed it. He did not want to worry the other tenants, so he said nothing until someone else, entering the cellar, heard distinctly: "Take me out of here."

There was a consultation; tenants laughed when they looked at each other, but they laughed when they passed the cellar stairs. A neighboring marketmun was called into consultation.

He went downstairs "to be shown" and with amazing promptness an eerie voice from behind the confines of the cellar announced: "I know you; you're the butcher."

Comparison of notes led to the observations that the voice was heard most frequently at 12 noon and at 9 p. m. Noises in the night and the report that a gas range jumped across the kitchen floor and back have all been orally chronicled to prove that there is something the matter.

Patrolman McLaughlin, the man on the beat, was called in. He heard noises and went in the second day. Then he took the matter up with Captain Higgins. They went down in the cellar together, explored the walls for pipe or duct but found no improvised speaking tubes. They looked the house over outside and discovered no resin-coated twine attached to it. All the telephones are sometimes contrived, and then they shook their heads.

Between thirty and forty persons at a time visited the cellar each day, hoping to obtain direct evidence of the "manifestations." Everybody who went away from the cellar said he heard moanings but, of course, had not expected anything intelligible from the "haunted" house with such a big crowd on hand.—Boston Herald.

Queer Plant.

"Tul-Tul," as the natives call it, is the most wonderful vegetable plant in the world.

It grows on certain South Pacific islands and in appearance is like a giant turnip, but bloodred in color.

To the white man, it is a very harsh and tasteless vegetable. To the natives, however, it is a main item of their diet. They cook it and salt it with their cocoanut and breadfruit, for it is supposed to be very nourishing. They cultivate the plant in a rough sort of fashion in large ditches or swamps.

Its most peculiar feature is that it has to be fed, and for this purpose the native children go over the island collecting all decayed vegetable matter. This is soaked in slimy pools of water and is then taken in armfuls to the plants and put in the center of the leaf-stems or on the short, thick sap from which the leaves spread out on every side.

Slowly, but surely, the decayed matter disappears, the leaves stiffen and spread out erect—signs, apparently, that the plant has dined heartily, for it really is a case of feeding a plant. There is no opening of the stem or leaves for food is easily and gradually absorbed in a silent and wonderful manner.—Boston Post.

"Beating the Bounds" by Air.

Port Melbourne has improved on the ancient British custom of "beating the bounds" of a municipality. Instead of a solemn peregrination, the mayor, Councillor Page, and a colleague flew over Port Melbourne in an airplane and then visited South Melbourne. Whether this airy way of performing a solemn duty will be the cause of civic revolution has yet to be determined and the fact that the inspection was made on a Sunday may bring down more on the heads of the pair than a distinct advantage in viewing ruity roods from the air, but Port Melbourne has no reason to regret a more minute inspection of her highways and byways.

Ready Explanation.

"Walter, it seems to me the portions have grown smaller than when I was in here last summer."

"That is only by comparison, sir; we have enlarged the place."—Boston Transcript.

Real Luxury.

"Did the bride receive many handsome presents?"

"I should say so. One the detectives took the diamonds out of was a case of eggs."

Robert, in charge of boy for misconduct, addresses the judge. "This lad smuggled a bull pup in with 'im, your honor, and it's swallered the court Testament."

His Honor—Well, well ! Don't worry the time of the Court. Tell him to kiss the bull pup and let's get on."

H. Henderson, Ross Card, Russell Long, M. P. Graham, J. W. Robinson was re-elected Treasurer, and J. L. Boyes, Secretary. Hon. Directors, E. J. Sexsmith, M.P., Dr. G. W. Morden, H. Daly, W. S. Herrington, J. G. Daly.

Hon. Lady Directors, Mrs. Geo. Switzer, Mrs. F. H. Henderson, Mrs. H. Shannon, Mrs. W. A. Daly, Mrs. (Dr.) Galbraith, Mrs. J. L. Boyes, Mrs. C. I. Mayhew, Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Miss F. Johnston, Miss Diana Miller and Miss Edna Ashley.

The dates selected for this year's Fair was September 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th, but it was found that Kingston, Renfrew, Oshawa and Peterboro' were using the same dates and it was finally decided by the Fair management to change Napanee dates to August 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th. In the change of dates the Fair is assured of a good Midway, as Brockville Fair is the week before and the Midway comes from there to Napanee.

The Fair Management considers this year's dates preferable to September, for the reason that the last six years' fairs at Napanee has either had rainy or very cold weather four years out of the six. The change of dates will give warmer weather for the night performances, which is considered necessary to have a successful Fair, and many of Lennox farmers are anxious to exhibit stock both at Napanee and Kingston.

The Horticultural Midway has been contracted for this year's Fair, and with the valuable assistance of the Directors and the many exhibitors of the County this year's Fair should be better than ever.

Last year about $2600 was paid out in prizes, the prizes for horses being $482.50, cattle $577.50, sheep $211.00, pigs $118.00, poultry $374.50, dairy products $78.65, grain and seeds $71.65, roots and vegetables $86.70, fruits and flowers $71.50, fine arts $76.50, ladies' work $83.00, boys' and girls' exhibits $159.00.

The fees for membership in 1924 was $662.00, which was much larger than any year since the Fair opened in 1915. This year's Fair was pronounced one of the best in this section, and the management feel very much encouraged.

Remember the dates, August 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, and help boost this year's Fair.

LOCALS HAVE FINE BANANA PLANTATION

W. R. and G. C. Membery Produce Fine Specimens in Lake Shipp Section

Winter Haven, long tae citrus center of Florida, and now becoming the far-famed banana capital of the state, has many fine banana plantations in and around the corporate limits, but probably no finer or that has attracted such universal attention and admiration as the banana holdings of W. R. Membery and son, Dr. G. G. Membery, well known local residents, on the Lake Shipp road, just beyond the city limits.

The plantation, consisting of three acres, lies on the north side of the road and is in plain view of the highway and the new F., W. & N. railroad, which passes within a hundred feet of the site. As such it is in view of the trains that pass by hourly, and is much admired by the tourists as they view it from the observation cars.

The plantation contains 2,100 banana stalks. They were planted on May 20th, 1924, and already stand an average of seven and eight feet high. With the exception of a small number of resets planted in September, every stalk carries a splendidly developed bunch of bananas, which averages from 30 to 50 pounds in weight at the present time. The stalks are planted 6x8 feet, are of a rich green color, are vigorous and well rooted, and have from three to eight "suckers" each. It is estimated that there are at least 7,500 of these "suckers" which ordinarily sell at from $0 to 75 cents each.

The plantation is one of the finest ever seen. It is one of the "show places" of the Winter Haven section and a refreshing example of what can be done with bananas in the local field. The variety grown is the well-known Cavendish.

The coloring of bananas has for long been a much-mooted question with some people, but not with the Membery's. The elder Mr. Membery has a dark room on the second floor of his attractive home nearby in which he hangs the bunches maintaining an even temperature of from 70 to 80 degrees. Here the bananas are colored in periods ranging from seven to ten days. No elaborate processes are needed, as the darkness and the even temperature effect the coloration in due process of time. The Membery's will color nearly 2,000 large bunches in this room during the coming season.

In addition to the banana holdings, W. R. Membery has nearly 200 papaya trees in the garden adjoining his home on Lake Shipp. They recently reseed, among them a number producing fruit that attains a length of 20 inches.—The Winter Haven Chief, Feb. 6th, 1925.

DENBIGH

(For last week.)

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Ready and their two little sons, of Webb, Sask., are enjoying an extended visit at the former's old home here, and are welcome guests of his mother, Mrs. M. Ready. The arrival of his sister, Miss Pearl Ready, of Toronto, added to the pleasant family circle. — Mr. Alfred Berger and his sister, Anna, of Toronto, are also paying a visit to their mother, Mrs. J. Rahm, who has been seriously ill, but is improving.—Miss Paul, teacher of our Continuation School, had a serious attack of pneumonia, and the school was closed a while, but she has fully recovered, and the school is in operation again. Mr. Wm. Berndt is spending part of this winter with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. John, of Adolphustown. His brother, Gustav, of Napanee, who spent a couple of weeks here at his old home, visiting his parents and other relatives, has returned to town.—P. Stein, who has been Township Clerk for 38 years, has been in poor health lately and has resigned his position, and H. Warlick has been appointed as his successor.

Comes a Tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills

Joshua Smith, Well-known Ex-Postmaster, Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Relieved Him.

Port Hood Islands, N.S., Feb. 16th, (Special)—"I used Dodd's Kidney Pills two years ago. I had poor circulation in my legs and feet. I used to have hot water tanks at night to keep my feet warm. I was able to do without them after using one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

I also had urinary trouble, but now I am quite well. My age is 80 years."

This statement is made by Mr. J. Smith of this place.

Dodd's Kidney Pills simply heal sick kidneys. They relieved Mr. Smith because his ailments were symptoms of kidney disease. When the kidneys get out of order they fail to strain the impurities out of the blood and general lassitude and weakness ensues. This condition is not only disagreeable but dangerous as well. The impurities in the blood are the seeds of disease, if they are not removed. Rheumatism, Lumbago, Gravel, Dropsy, Diabetes, or Bright's Disease may result.

The most widely advertised brands of Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil contain only 25 per cent. Cod Liver Oil. Howard's, which is much less in price, contains 50 per cent., and is therefore of double value. 35c., 60c. and $1.00 bottles, at Wallace's.

Mr. Nurich was in the worst possible frame of mind to receive the would-be son-in-law, and his reply was a decided negative.

"But," said the young man, "what is your objection to me as a suitor for your daughter's hand?"

"My principal objection, sir, is that you cannot keep her in the style in which she has been brought up."

"Oh!" said the young fellow, "At any rate, I can start in on bread and milk, the same as you did."

NICKEL BY NICKEL

Newspaper Man Dribbled His Profit to Beggar.

Little Transaction by Which Scribe Thought He Was to Make $2.65 Didn't End in Just That Desired Way.

"A newspaper friend of mine," said Mr. Goslington, "tells me of an unusual experience he has had, in fact is still having with a beggar.

"He met this beggar first about a year ago. The circumstances attending this first meeting were novel and interesting and my friend wrote a little piece about it which was printed in his newspaper and for which he received $3. As he had given the beggar a nickel he figured that his net profit on this was $2.95. But:

"A couple of weeks later he again met this beggar, who again asked for a nickel, a request that my friend did not feel warranted in refusing. I don't think he would have refused anyway, my friend being an easy mark for beggars; but having profited by his original transaction with this beggar, he felt impelled to hand over this second nickel promptly, thus reducing his net on this little piece to $2.90.

"It wasn't long before my friend discovered that this beggar lived somewhere in his neighborhood and made that part of the town his quarry; for now he used to meet him here and there by intervals. Not always, by any means, when they met did the beggar approach him; commonly they passed each other as any other two might do, with no sign of recognition; but once in a while the beggar would ask for a nickel, which always my friend gave. In this way in the course of three months he gave up 25 cents, thus reducing the net of that $3 to $2.65. Then my friend had an idea.

"He foresaw that if this went on indefinitely, as there seemed every indication it would do, the beggar would get all of the $3, which to my friend seemed scarcely reasonable. But he did think that an even division would be no more than right to the beggar, and so when the $3 got down to $2.65 he set aside, in his mind, $1.15 as a drawing account to the beggar's credit, and $1.50 to himself that when thus the original fund had been evenly divided he would stop giving and consider that he had done the square thing.

"Well, my friend tells me that, counting a nickel that the beggar drew yesterday, he has now drawn $1.40, so that now it is a question of a very few weeks only, three or four at the utmost, when the beggar will have drawn his full share.

"Then, my friend says, he is going to shut down and keep the rest himself; but what I think he will do will be to keep on paying till the whole three dollars is gone, his original profit being thus wiped out completely. I don't know what he can do then, unless he should write, covering all his experiences with this unusual beggar, another and longer story; moving then to another part of the city."

Farmer Smith possessed a colt which refused to be "broken in", although many experts had attempted to, but it refused to be coerced to the discipline of the rein and bit. At last, however, the services of an Irish horse-breaker were procured.

Paddy mounted and the horse immediately began a display of fireworks, but the Irishman remained tranquil until, however, the horse in its display of violence got its hind leg fast in the stirrup strap.

Paddy looked down at the horse's leg and exclaimed: "Bedad, if you're getting up here, shure O'm dismountin'!"

HAVE THEIR OWN JOURNALS

Almost Every Industry Is Represented in List of British Periodical Publications.

Popular papers by no means constitute the bulk of periodical literature. Nearly every business and profession has its own particular "trade journal." Probably you never knew the bill-posters had a paper entirely their own, but they have in the Pictorial and Service Billposter, remarks a writer in London Answers. Then there is Brushmaking the Hatters' Guide, the Herring Circular, the Gamekeeper, the Irish Ironmonger and the Postman's Gazette, every one of which is devoted to the interests of the particular line it names.

Some trades which you would not think could support one paper alone have their pick of several. For instance, laundry workers have four to choose from, pawnbrokers two, professional conjurers at least three, and vets quite a number. Even the beryl-ware men until recently left unentered for, there being the Bargeman to amuse him every so often. And undertakers can wax more or less merry over the Undertakers' Journal, while rag and bone collectors may watch their interests in the Waste Trades Journal. Caretakers have the Caretaker to enjoy.

Trade journalism does not stop at that. It looks after lesser known businesses and hobbies, as witnessed in the existence of the Ringing World, for bell ringers, the Bloodstock Breeders' Review, the Racing Pigeon, the British Beekeeper, Talking Machine News and the Flute Players' Journal.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Reginald B. Price, who passed away on February 20th, 1921.
God hath not promised skies always clear,
Flower-strewn pathways all our lives through;
God hath not promised sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow, peace without pain.
But God hath promised strength for the day,
Rest for the labor, light for the way,
Grace for the trials, help from above,
Unfailing sympathy, undying love.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving memory of John A. Shea, who passed away February 15th, 1923.
"Thy will be done" seems hard to say
When those we loved have passed away;
Some day, perhaps, we'll understand,
And clasp our dear ones again in a better land.
The silent grief that's in the heart,
No human life can trace;
How many an aching heart is hid
Behind a smiling face.
Sadly missed by Wife, Sisters and Brothers.

MORVEN

The League, which was held in the White Church on Friday evening, was well attended. About twenty-five of the young people of Fourth Line visited our League. The program, which was arranged by Miss Bessie Henwood, was in the hands of Mr. C. W. Miller, who made a very efficient chairman. Rev. Mr. Merrick extended a very cordial welcome to our visiting friends, and Miss Crozier gave a splendid Missionary topic. The President of the District, Mr. A. C. Baldwin, Anderson, was present, and gave a short spicy address. Light refreshments were served to all, and a happy social hour was spent. Mrs. Ernie Miller has returned, after spending a few days with friends in Napanee.—Mr. and and Mrs. Chas. E. JURIST WITH UNIQUE RECORD

Lord Coleridge Is Eldest Son of Silver-tongued Lord Chief Justice.

Lord Coleridge, whose retirement as Judge of the High Court of Justice (King's Bench division) at the age of 72, is announced in London, Eng., after sixteen years on the bench, can boast of a legal descent almost, if not quite, unique.

He is the eldest son of the "silver-tongued" Lord Chief Justice who died in 1894, and the grandson of Sir John Taylor Coleridge, a judge of Queen's Bench. There is also a great literary strain in the pedigree, for the Lord Chief Justice was the grandson of the poet, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, whose father was the vicar of Ottery St. Mary, in Devonshire, and the author of the Latin grammar known to many generations of schoolboys, which was first published in 1772.

Though the present judge, who he was elevated to the Bench in 1907, was the first peer of the realm to attain that distinction, he was not the only son of a Lord Chief Justice to become a High Court Judge.

The Hon. George Denman, son of the first Lord Denman, L.C.J., was appointed a judge of the Common Pleas in 1872. Another son of a legal peer to become a Judge was the Hon. Thomas Erskine, whose father was Lord Chancellor in "The Government of all the Talents" in the early part of the last century.

Like his father, who was Gladstone's Attorney-General in 1871, Lord Coleridge was a strong Radical in his pre-Bisleian days. Before he succeeded his father as Baron of Lords he was for nine years M.P. for the Altercate Division of Sheffield, and he resented his "Cevation" as much that, like other heirs about that time, he made an unsuccessful attempt to divest himself of the obligation.

As a judge Lord Coleridge has been very careful and patient, and the records of the Appeal Court show how good a lawyer he is.

—The next meeting of the Ladies' Musical Club will be held in the Town Hall, Thursday, Feb. 26th.

Remember Trinity Church Anniversary, Sunday and Monday, March 8th and 9th. 8a

—Mr. George MacGoun, who has rented Mr. Kirk Pringle's farm on the Hamburgh Road, is moving there with his family this week.

—About forty members of Trinity "Ready Helpers" Class enjoyed a Valentine social on Friday evening last in Trinity School Room.

—An examination for discovery took place on Thursday afternoon before Mr. W. P. Deroche in an action brought by Wm. McDonald, of Amherst Island, against the Township of Amherst Island, for $500.00 damages for injuries sustained by plaintiff by reason of the negligence of the defendants. The case will likely be tried in the April County Court. Cunningham & Smith, Kingston, for plaintiff; W. G. Wilson, for defendants.

—The Salvation Army requests the public to refuse any donations solicited by children unauthorized. When a special financial appeal is made by the Salvation Army, notification will be made through the press.

—Those of you who tuned in Star Radio C.F.C.A. on the 18th of February, and heard the "Beach" Hawaiian Troupe, had the pleasure of hearing Norman and Alice Clayton, grandsons of Mr. R. H. Allen, Napanee, Ont.

—The regular meeting of the Maple Leaf Institute will be held next Thursday, February 26th, at the home of Mrs. W. R. Smith and Mrs. Harold Brandon, at 1 o'clock. All the ladies come prepared to sew. Also bring in what sewing was given out from last meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—Miss Phinas Flake, of Picton, Ont., underwent a serious operation on both mastoids in Prince Edward County Hospital, on Monday, February 9th, at 9 a.m. Under the careful skill of Doctors Publow, Philp and Lightfall, and three nurses, the case progressed satisfactorily and well and is now doing as nicely as can be expected. Miss Flake taught school last year at Newburgh, in S. S. No. 16, Camden.

—A crowded audience listened to the programme given by the Edith Marshall Clark Company, in Trinity Church, School Room, on Monday evening last. The programme, which consisted of xylophone, hand-bell ringing and items on the cello and musical lyre, as well as vocal music and readings, was undoubtedly one of the best given in Napanee for a long time. Both Miss Edith Marshall Clark and Miss Irene Soulsby expressed the appreciation of the splendid reception they received.

—The second of a series of Euchre Drives took place at the Masonic Hall, Bath, on Friday, February 13th, in aid of the Public Library. There was a very large attendance, and all present seem to have enjoyed themselves. The winner of the lady's prize was Mrs. Clarence Thompson, the gentleman's prize went to Mr. L. Garvey, and the lone hand prize went again to Amherst Island, the winner being Mr. W. Smith. After refreshments were served dancing was kept up until two o'clock.

—Mr. Draper Dobie, of Draper Dobie & Co., 14 King Street East, Toronto, one of the most experienced and conservative mining brokers in Canada, has recently contributed to the press some very illuminating articles on Northern Ontario. His latest comparison of "Pulp and Paper With Gold", published in the Canadian Mining Journal of October 24th, and reproduced in the January number of the Canadian Club's Magazine, "The Maple Leaf", graphically presents some interesting aspects of Ontario's mineral resources. 8a

Sleep is the great nourisher of infants, and successful sleep the child will not thrive. This cannot be got if the infant be troubled with worms. Miller's Worm Powders will destroy worms and drive them from the system, and afterwards the child's rest will be undisturbed. The powders cannot injure the most delicate baby, and there is nothing so effective for restoring the health of a worm-worn infant.

COURT OF ASSIZE

The Assizes for Lennox and Addington opened at the Court House, on Tuesday last, before His Lordship Mr. Justice Kelly. There was only one action entered for trial.

Vandusen vs. Detlor.—An action brought by Marjorie Vandusen against Frank Detlor of the Township of Sheffield, for breach of promise of marriage. Judgment was given defendant dismissing the action with costs. Herrington, Warner & Grange for plaintiff; John M. Simpson for defendant.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY PARTY

The U. E. L. Chapter of the I. O. D. E. gave a birthday party in the Town Hall, on Friday evening of last week, the proceeds of which are to go to the I. O. D. E. War Memorial Fund. The entertainment was an interesting one, the musical part under the direction of Mrs. B. M. Black, and the dramatic part arranged by Mrs. Katherine Powell. The Orchestra played during the intermissions and added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

The musical programme consisted of a piano duet, by Mrs. Black and Mrs. Seymour; a vocal solo, by Miss Olive McMillan; a reading, by Miss Jean Peali; a violin solo, by Mrs. Cameron Wilson; a tenor solo, by Mr. LaSalle, and soprano solo, by Miss Frances Dwyer. A twenty minute address on the subject of the War Memorial was given by Mrs. A. H. Malcolmson, of St. Catharines.

The one-act play, entitled "Oh! Helpless Man," was bright and witty and very aptly cast. Mr. Gerald Gleason played "the helpless man" to perfection. Miss Helen Davy showed a decided talent as the young lady in the case; Miss Beatrice Baughan played the part of "Miss Pinchbuck" wonderfully well, and Mr. DeVerde Powell made an ideal "expressman". All four young people were coached by Mrs. Powell and were able to give the little comedy a finish that was much appreciated by the audience.

The birthday cake, which was appropriately decorated with silver, was lighted with candles and afterward sold to swell the fund. Refreshments were served at the intermission by eight young ladies and five little girls in silver and white passed the programmes, and made themselves very useful.

ENTERPRISE

The warm weather of the last two weeks, followed by the heavy rain, has put the wood and log cutting in the swamps out of commission, but the recent light fall of snow and cold spell has greatly improved the sugar bush. Mr. Edmond Clancy died very suddenly on Wednesday of this week.—Mr. William Reid died this week, after a long illness. Funeral services were held at his home. After service the remains were placed in the vault here. — Miss Frosla Wagar is home, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Townsend, and family.—Mrs. George Fenwick, Jr., had a serious operation on Monday of this week. —Mrs. C. W. Keech is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Fraser Stinson, at Tamworth.—Mr. Everton Smith is on duty in Toronto in his new position as a Provincial Police. He is accompanied by his wife.—Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Bell are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fenwick, before leaving for their home in Saskatchewan, next week.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

GLENVALE

The church was well filled on Sunday last, owing to the nice weather and better roads.—Mrs. J. B. Alkenbrack visited at Mrs. Geo. Jeffrey's, last week.—Miss Dobson spent the week end in Kingston.—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and Mr. Cameron, Kingston, spent Sunday at Mr. Jeffrey's.—Miss Orser, home from Queen's, Sundayed with home.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jeffrey took tea and spent the evening at Mr. B. Farr's, Monday.—Miss Myrtle Clark, away for a few weeks, has returned home.—Mrs. Geo. Jeffrey and Miss Rilla with Mrs. B. Gordon, on Tuesday.—Mrs. Butterill, of Smith Falls, at her father's, Mr. H. C. Orser.—The nice warm springlike weather makes one feel that spring is near for off.—Mr. Clifford Clark has rented Mr. W. Richardson's farm for the coming year.—Mrs. R. A. Ellerbeck underwent a serious operation in the General Hospital, Kingston, on Monday. We hope for a speedy recovery.

How cold is it? The thermometer hanging outside the west window at Wallace's Drug Store has been tested with the government thermometer in Toronto, so is absolutely correct.

KEEP OLD CURIOS

British Business Houses Have Their Own Museums.

Interesting Relics and Samples That Have in Some Cases Been Preserved for More Than a Century.

The curiosities preserved by various business houses in Britain and elsewhere would make a museum of great size and unparalleled interest, observes London Answers.

The Worcester china works, for instance, possess samples of all the various kinds of china which they have manufactured for nearly 150 years past, including examples of dinner services made for many celebrities, such as Lord Nelson and George IV.

Another Worcester firm preserves with tender care a little faded slip of yellowish paper. On it is written the recipe, now some two centuries old, which was purchased by a former head of the firm from a butler, and has been the means of creating a large business and several large fortunes.

More than one firm cherishes some similar recipe. The Sprules, who supply lavender water to half the royal families in the world; the Hanks, who hold the original recipe for marashino. Both these carefully preserve the writings which founded their fortunes.

The famous firm of Sheffield cutlers, Joseph Rodgers & Sons, show visitors a knife with 1,000 blades. Ten fresh blades are added to it every tenth year. A second curiosity of which the firm is proud consists of three pairs of scissors so minute that all three can be covered by an ordinary lady's thimble. Another Sheffield firm possesses a knife which, though only an inch in length when closed, has seventy blades, all of different shapes.

A London firm of potted meat manufacturers possesses an interesting collection of the covers of the large china pots in which potted meat used to be sold some forty years ago. These are daintily printed in color from designs by some of the best known Dutch and English artists of the time. Each is framed, and probably no other house can show a prettier or quainter collection.

Shipping firms of old standing often accumulate wonderful stories of interesting relics. One Liverpool firm possesses a huge bone taken from a whale which a good many years ago deliberately charged a ship of theirs in the north Atlantic. The steamer was badly damaged but the whale was killed.

A good many firms preserve historic machinery of one kind or another. Richard Arkwright's own spinning frame is still to be seen at the Cromford mills. It looks clumsy enough compared with the complicated and highly finished machinery of today, but it was practically the source of Lancashire's great cotton trade and unexampled prosperity.

Lizards House Pets in Siam.

Lizards live in houses in Siam, just as rats and mice do here. Some interesting facts are told by George Pratt Ingersoll, former United States minister to Siam. Among the Siamese lizards is a large one known as the "tok-ke," or tokay, about a foot long, having a black body, sometimes with white stripes, ugly, bulging eyes, and short, clumsy legs.

The tokay is not pleasant to look upon, but is in no way dangerous, and will run away when disturbed, as rapidly as his uncanny body and legs will allow him. The tokay crows with a hoarse, infernal voice quite loud some five or six times, followed by a rattle or fiendish chuckle. These large lizards are found throughout Siam in the thickly inhabited cities as well as in the uncultivated districts.

The lizards are harmless, but no one rejoices in their company, even the Siamese, who, from their Buddhist training and teaching are kind to all living things. So when a tokay is discovered in a house the Chinese servants are called, and they fly, with sticks and with glee, to the attack, and usually succeed in dispatching the reptile.

City's Many Expenses.

The surprising range of a modern city government is revealed by some of the items in the municipal budget of Philadelphia. Music for afternoon and evening concerts cost the city $15,000; meats and groceries for the municipal court, $8,000; celebrating the Fourth of July and Memorial day, $14,750; removing ashes from the city hall, $5,000. To a tide observer the city pays every year $1,000; to piano players and swimming teachers, $10,000; to a shoemaker, $800; to a collector of biological specimens, $1,000; to a barber, $300; to a masseuse, $650; to a dairyman, $600; to several plumbers, $1,200 apiece; to an entomologist, $1,000; to a stenographer, $1,500; and to an expert pole climber, $4.50 a day.—Youth's Companion.

Prints.

"Do you think these socialists will by any chance leave running half the sands of time?"

"I'm not concerned about their footprints," replied Senator Sorghum. "What we need from them now is a reliable collection of thumb prints."

A Long Way Off.

Jud Tunkins says that if they ever get the singin' school running half way amicable, mebbe he'll begin thinkin' about tryin' a soviet.

Robert, in charge of boy for misconduct, addresses the judge. "This lad emucgried a ball pap in with 'im, yer honor, and it's swallered the court Testament."

His Honor—Well, well! Don't waste the time of the Court. Tell him to kiss the ball pap and let's get on."

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Suitor—I have come to ask for your daughter's hand.

Father—Can you play bridge in the style to which she is accustomed?

The ease with which corns and warts can be removed by Holloway's Corn Remover is its strongest recommendation. It seldom fails.

Phyllis—Did Jack notice you at the dance?

Irene—Did he notice me? He walked all over me.

For years Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator has been regarded as a reliable worm preparation and it always maintains its reputation.

"What is a 'wooden wedding', Jack?" Do you know?" Mary said.

"Of course!" her brother replied. "It's two poles getting married."

The Poor Man's Friend.—Put up in an all bottles that are easily portable and sold for a very small sum, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil possesses power in concentrated form. Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

Jokesmith's Wife—Oh, Tom, baby's swallowed a dime.

Jokesmith—Playing safe, ass it were—well, never mind, my dear, I'll sell that baby for a dollar and we'll be in 90 cents.

Good-bye Asthma...Persons suffering from that extremely trying trouble known as asthma know what it is to long with all their hearts for escape as from a tyrant. Never do they know when an attack may come and they know that to struggle unaided is vain. With Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy at hand, however, they can say good-bye to their cares and enjoy life again. It helps at once.

"Darling, if you had it to do all over again would you still want to marry me?"

"My dear if I had it to do over again and decided to marry you would be the only sensible course."

Sleep is the great nourisher of infants, and without peaceful sleep the child will not thrive. This cannot be put if the infant be troubled with worms. Miller's Worm Powders will destroy worms and drive them from the system, and afterwards the child's rest will be undisturbed. The powders cannot injure the most delicate baby, and there is nothing so effective for relieving the health of a worm-worn infant.

"Yes, Mrs. Murgatroyd, you ought to save seen our Bill at the weddin'! He wasn't arf a lad; new bowler hat, hinged trousers, a fancy waistcoat, an' a frock coat, too."

"Would that 'is coat was 'e? Well, perhaps 'e ain't used to bein' so dressed up."

The Oil For The Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the farm house will save many a journey for the doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with colds and croup, and for the mature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it on the horse.

"You are of a musical family," said a merry looking bookkeeper to Tommy the other day.

"Yes," said the latter, "my grandad used to play a flute, my mother plays the piano, my sister plays a saxophone, Harry, my brother, plays a cornet, and dad is always wetting his whistle."

As a ship was leaving the harbor of Athens a well-dressed lady passenger approached the captain, and pointing to the distant hills, asked: "What is that white stuff on the hills captain?"

"That is snow, madam," answered the captain.

"Is it really?" remarked the lady. "I thought so, but a gentleman just told me it was Greece."

Tramp—I've eaten nothing but snow for three days.

Lady—Poor man! What would you have done had it been summer time?

"I say, waiter," said the angry diner, "do you know I have found several pieces of straw in this pie?"

"That's quite right, sir," replied the waiter. "You're eating cottage pie, and what you've found is part of the thatch, been so much gale lately."

A—How much milk does your cow give now?

B—Oh, about twenty quarts!

A—And how much of it do you sell?

B—Thirty quarts.

Jenks (after an absence from home)—"And so you've been a burglar while alone and unprotected. What a brave little woman you are! But what became of him?"

Mrs. Jenks—"Oh, the other burglar carried him off!"

Jenks—"Which other burglar?"

Mrs. Jenks—"The one I aimed at!"

It was a terrible night. The wind howled and whistled dismally, and the little ferry-boat, making painful progress across the river, was in imminent danger of being capsized.

The boat contained only one passenger, an old lady, who, naturally, was rather nervous of the queer tricks that the ferry-boat performed. She beached the ferryman on the arm as he passed her, and said:

"Isn't this terrible? Tell me, do you ever lose people in storms like this?"

"Oh, no," replied the ferryman in blase tones. "We always find them again next day."

BUILD YOUR MOVIE

Here Is the Scenario for a Real Thriller.

Being the True and Authentic History of Muggerby Biffgang, With Full Explanation of His Long Stay in Jail.

Synopsis of preceding chapters: Muggerby Biffgang is a dangerous criminal—a gambler for high stakes—a man mighty hard to catch because of his uncanny impersonal genius. The detectives follow him to a restaurant of underworld rendezvous, surround the place, put a squad on the roof and two under the cellar.

They go in, only to find a waiter and several customers. They search and research the place, arrest the whole bunch, only to find that Muggerby Biffgang had been the very cook who had generously given them such a piece of dried apple pie and whom in gratitude they had left behind. Things are getting desperate for the police force. Several times they have burst into his gambling den only to find nothing; no faro tables, no roulette wheel; not even a deck of Old Maid cards.

"Hear, dear! Then one day, Chinchilla, the pretty daughter of a Spanish sombrero, rushed into headquarters and informed the police of a dangerous counterfeiting den. She has heard the clinking of coins, and curses, and the police fly on the instant and it is only when they have gone 40 miles that they remember they had forgotten to ask Chinchilla where the den was.

However, they scour and find it and break in upon the counterfeiters with wielded clubs and drawn revolvers. And Joy of Jubilations! Who should be the leader of the band but the treacherous thug, Muggerby Biffgang, the great and dangerous gambler of millions! Seizing the unlawful paraphernalia, they kick the whole gang into jail. But mystery of mysteries! The only things they find in the bank are double-headed pennies. The plot is apparent. In shooting the pennies and by taking heads, the gang always played to win. Very simple. The warden of the jail asks each prisoner the same question. Question: "Can you play checkers?" Afraid that this is some sort of a trap they each say "No" very vehemently.

But Muggerby, when his turn comes, is so deep in thought that his caution deserts him and he says: "Yes" and the next day all the prisoners are released but Muggerby, who is given a year's sentence with 11 months off for good behavior.

MDLV.

"Dear warden," asked Muggerby, 20 years later, now a white-haired man, "why, when my sentence was a year, have you kept me 20 years?"

"Because, dear prisoner, you are the only one who could beat me at checkers around here, and I've kept you here until I found out all your pet moves," answered the warden, wondering why Muggerby had never asked him before.—Detroit Free Press.

Change in French Marriage Laws.

That the age of bride and bridegroom needs no longer be inscribed on the marriage certificate is a new rule in regard to French marriages. It is sufficient if they are declared of age, or over thirty, a statement of specific age being unnecessary.

Hitherto it has been necessary to have the banns posted up on the door of the town hall for ten days, including two Sundays. The latter clause in the rule has been abolished, while, if desired, the civic authorities can celebrate the marriage at the house of either the bride or bridegroom, says London Tit-Bits. Two witnesses instead of four will also in future be sufficient.

The names of the respective parents will no longer appear in the official publications. The mother of one of the contracting parties will in future have the right to oppose the marriage, a right which before was only attributed to the father.

Game Laws Working Well.

Wild duck and wild geese, since the federal migratory bird law took full effect under a special treaty with Canada and Great Britain, have been steadily increasing. They have grown more tame, too, and in places where they have found a welcome and where they have been fed and protected they now flock by the thousands. In the city limits of Oakland, Cal., there is a small lake where wild geese and ducks have been fed, and within a few years that lake, even though it be within the city, has come to be the mecca of thousands upon thousands of ducks which in previous years were unseen there.

Tree-Spraying Apparatus.

One of the developments of the fight against tree pests is a mobile power sprayer that is touring the middle west, working in certain localities only so long as its services are desired, then moving to another field. A solution containing arsenate of lead is used in the sprayer in warm weather, and one made with lime and sulphur in cold weather.—Popular Science Monthly.

Nailed at Last.

"Aren't you a bit of a profiteer on these eggs?"

"No," protested Farmer Cornstossel. "It's the hen. She insists on the most expensive food in unlimited quantities."

"Are you giving your daughter a complete musical education?"

"Well, perhaps not that, but I'm paying for one."

MONSTER PIKE A "PIRATE"

English Villagers Feasted on Fish Which Had Been Cutting Anglers' Lines for Years.

A pirate was caught and killed recently in the little old English village of Beeston St. Lawrence, Norfolkshire, and his remains were cut up and shared between the old age pensioners, who voted him very tasty, an exchange reports. The good people of Beeston St. Lawrence are not cannibals, and for the benefit of those not acquainted with the legendary lore of that part of England it must be explained that this pirate was a monster pike which terrorized the waters of the lake in Beestone for upward of thirty years.

The pike, which had the reputation of being the most artful fish in the world, earned the name of "the pirate" because of his predatory raids on fishermen's lines whenever they hooked anything. Anglers came from miles around to try and catch the freebooter, but the fish was too clever for the most expert piscator.

According to stories told over mugs of ale at the village inn the "pirate" was hooked only once, and in a vicious rage he broke the line and escaped. Yet the honor of catching him goes to a young ex-soldier who had been pike fishing only four times in his life.

The night of the capture they held a pussying contest in the village as to the actual weight of the "pirate," the prize being the fish itself. He weighed 26 pounds 1 ounce, measured five feet and had a girth of two feet.

JUST PULLED UP IN TIME

Timpkins' Abrupt Change of Subject Hardly to Be Wondered at Under the Circumstances.

The shaded lights, music in the distance, sweet perfumes from the costly flowers about them—everything was just right for a proposal, and Timpkins decided to chance his luck. She was pretty, which was good, and also he believed, an heiress, which was better.

"Are you not afraid that some one will marry you for your money?" he asked gently.

"Oh, dear, no!" smiled the girl, which an idea never entered my head!"

"Ah, Miss Lisconbe," he sighed, "in your sweet innocence you do not dream how coldly, cruelly mercenary some men are!"

"Perhaps I don't," replied the girl calmly.

"I would not for a moment have such a terrible fate befall you!" he said passionately. "You are too good, too beautiful. The man who wins you should love you for yourself alone."

"He'll have to," the girl remarked. "It's my cousin Jennie who has the money—but I've been to have and to be mixed. I haven't a penny myself."

"Oh—er"—stammered the young man—"what glorious weather we are having, aren't we?"

Gone Lower.

Several of our Hoosier school buildings are named after noted American citizens of a generation or more ago. Recently at a community meeting at one of these buildings the speaker spoke of the spirit of the man, whose name the building bore, hovering over the school. The children seemed much impressed, then later it took the next day to show how deeply some had been moved.

The principal sent two youngsters to the basement to see to the furnace. In the absence of the janitor. They came rushing up a few minutes later saying that they had heard a "terrible noise" down there. The principal laughed at them but another boy arose in their defense. "I bet I know what it is," he said. "I bet it's that man's spirit around here again. Only this time instead of being at the roof it's down in the cellar."—Indianapolis News.

Changed His Mind.

He was well up in the sixties and always got a lot of pleasure out of walking. He would often say: "Not city people don't get out enough and walk."

In his short stay in the city he stepped into his son's downtown magazine shop and said: "I just walked down from Thirty-fourth street." With pride he added: "That's not bad for a young fellow like me! And, by the way, your wife gave me this note and said for me to stop and get these things. Where is this store?"

"That's the department store just a square up the street—this street," replied his son.

"A department store! Where is that errand boy you have around here? I'm too tired to walk up there," replied the old man.

Slow to Learn.

"This newly made millionaire is an uncouth fellow."

"So he is. Yet he frequents the most fashionable restaurants."

"That's why I said strange that he is so backward in acquiring a polish. The mere contemplation of a faultless dinner ought to give him some ideas of deportment."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Light in the Window.

The transport had entered New York Harbor. On board was one lone returned soldier among the homeward bound. As the ship passed the statue of liberty he was absolute silence, when suddenly the dusky daughter broke the quiet by remarking: "Put your light down, honey, I'se home."—The American Legion Weekly.

Blankets will not shrink if washed this way—

To keep your blankets soft, fluffy and unshrunken—wash them in Lux. Blankets of fine wool, wool nap, wool and cotton—you can trust them all to the gentle Lux suds.

Wash blankets this way:

A rich live suds is essential throughout the washing of blankets. To obtain this, use two tablespoonfuls of Lux to every gallon of water in the washing.

Dissolve the Lux thoroughly in very hot water, whisking it into a thick suds. Add cold water until lukewarm. Put the blanket into the rich suds, souse it up and down, and squeeze the suds through the entire blanket. If suds die down, add more Lux, taking care that it dissolves before you put the blanket in again. Press the suds through the soiled spots if any, but never rub the blanket.

Rinse in three or more lukewarm waters, of the same temperature as the suds. Fold evenly, run through a loose wringer and hang dripping. Never wring tightly. Pull gently into shape at intervals when drying. Do not expose wet blankets to extremes of heat or cold.

Ordinary common bar soap or chips shrink wool, and coarse and yellow it. Lux is mild and pure, and entirely free from any ingredients that could harm or shrink wool fibres. Lux keeps your blankets like new.

UNCLE SAM KNOWS HIS BOYS

System of Finger Print Identification Makes Errors in the Navy Impossible.

"King Solomon," said the navy recruiting officer, "was the original identification expert. Remember how, when two women claimed the same child, he threatened to give each of them half the child to carry away? And how the one who didn't wish the child harmed was adjudged the real mother? Well, the navy recruiting service borrowed King Solomon for its staff, but it handles similar problems every day in the week. Twins recently applied for enlistment. Their mother had never been really sure which was Tom and which Harry, and informed the recruiting officer that she never had known whether she were spanking the right one. Five minutes afterward she was assured that her boys would never get mixed again. How? Finger prints.

"Loss of memory (aphasia) and such rare causes of 'loss of identity' are easily handled in the navy. Uncle Sam knows his boys not only by their middle names, but also by the little lines engraved on the tips of their fingers. It's an absolutely up-to-date safeguard for the boys in the service and their families. For the matter of that, the whole navy system of caring for its men has been perfected to the finest point. Diet, exercise, medical and dental attention, all are arranged in accordance with the latest information on the subjects. It takes good men to man good ships."

WOMEN OF WARSAW HID PETS

Cats in Plenty Produced, However, When Red Cross Supplies Were Periled by Rats.

A picturesque story of the war comes from Warsaw, where all the cats but one disappeared. One went about the city and saw never a cat. So completely had the cats vanished that when the Red Cross warehouse, just outside of Warsaw, became overrun with rats and mice, to the serious damage of food and clothing stored in it, almost every other expedient was thought of and tried before it occurred to anyone that perhaps there might be a cat or two still left somewhere in the community. Then some official of the warehouse mentioned to a Polish workman that if a cat could be found the animal would be a great help in protecting the Red Cross property; and from here, there and everywhere came the wives of the citizens and the citizens themselves, each carefully bearing a treasured cat. As the story goes, there seemed to be as many cats offered for duty in the Red Cross warehouse as there were rats and mice at work in it. The emergency had overcome the unwillingness of the people to admit that they were guarding their pets, and after a guardian had been chosen for the warehouse the cats again disappeared from Warsaw.

DUG GRAVE FOR CATERPILLAR

Resourceful Ant Performed Last Rites and Probably Provided Future Source of Food.

A lady seated on a porch one summer day witnessed a performance by one of those industrious little creatures, the ants, that she would hardly have credited if she had not observed it for herself.

As she rocked back and forth near the edge of the porch she noticed a dead caterpillar lying on a hill of sand below the house. It was a fat caterpillar and doubtless in life had been a vivid green color, but now it was faded and rusty looking. Large stones surrounded the mound of sand, and presently it appeared that there was another spectator of the caterpillar's last sleep. A huge ant ran up over the stones, back and forth, nearer and nearer, encircling the caterpillar several times, as though on a hasty tour of investigation. Apparently satisfied, it then disappeared, but not for long; it had only been surveying the situation from different angles. It selected spot near a big stone, it and deuly began making queer movements in the sandy clay. Digging—that is what it was doing.

With eager haste it threw up little bits of sand with its legs, and so fast did it work that a little hole began to show itself in the sand. The lady leaned over the balustrade of the porch and watched with eager interest.

Was it possible that the industrious little insect was digging a grave for the caterpillar? And, indeed, se it seemed. Without a moment's rest it dug and dug, the sand forming little piles all around it. In what seemed an incredibly short time a deep hole appeared in the sand and the busy ant desisted in triumph.

But now was to come the hardest part of all, and if I had not been an eyewitness I should not have believed that an insect could have accomplished such a task. With an occasional shove, and many pulls, it drew the caterpillar's body along until it hung over the yawning hole. Then the ant disappeared down the opening, and I held my breath. What would happen next?—Had she given up her project? Had un-nowly slow in the body of the big caterpillar began to move downward into the hole, and I real ized that the clever insect was below and drawing it down. In a few seconds the entire caterpillar had disappeared from view. Then the busy ant returned to the surface and again began its subnature shoveling, only this time the sand was thrown back into the hole. The burial was finished—but wait—not quite complete. From somewhere near another ant had appeared upon the scene and together they carried tiny stones and placed them over the mouth of the hole as though to mark the place. Then the busy ants disappeared, to look for further industry.

I am told that the ants sometimes bury caterpillars for a clue, to serve as future food for their young.

It has been said that those who do not believe in the overruling providence should watch such actions as these on the part of ants and bees.—Kathleen Wheeler Ross in Our Dumb Animals.

Irish Linen Industry.

Irish linen acquired national importance in the seventeenth century. During the reign of Charles II the extension of the Irish woolen manufacture appears to have made such rapid strides that the jealousy of English manufacturers was aroused. Consequently, an act was passed by the British parliament prohibiting any export of wool from Ireland, except to England and Wales. Not content with this, another act was passed later forbidding any export whatever of wool or woolen manufacture from Ireland. The woolen trade being thus reduced to the quantity required for home consumption, rapidly declined, and its place soon taken by linen manufactures.

The old Irish name for flax was thin, closely resembling French lin, the Latin linum and the English words linen and line. Linen thread yellow was much worn by the ancient Irish, the brughaids, or farmers, being obliged to dress in practice the cultivation of flax.

The Similarity.

Ray Brighte was explaining Christmas eve at the Thompson kindergarten at Terre Haute. His little daughter is in the kindergarten, so he was very careful to change his voice and actions as much as he could. But when he went to slip on his Santa Claus suit he forgot all about the white handkerchief around his neck which he wore to keep his collar from rubbing the bell underneath.

And after the party was over and he had again donned his citizen's clothing he went after his little daughter. Happily she said, "Oh, daddy, Santa Claus was here a little while ago," and then her voice became sympathetic, "and, oh, daddy, he has boils on his neck, too."—Indianapolis News.

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Letter from Mrs. Ayars Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Spring Valley, Sask.—"I took the Vegetable Compound before my last confinement, when I got to feeling so badly that I could not sleep nights, my back ached so across my hips, and I could hardly do my work during the day. I never had such an easy confinement and this is my sixth baby. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the 'Farmer's Telegram' and wrote you for one of your books. We have no druggist in our town, but I saw your medicine in T. Eaton's catalogue. I am a Farmer's wife, so have all kinds of work to do inside and outside the house. My baby is a nice healthy girl, who weighed nine pounds at birth. I am feeling fine after putting in a large garden since baby came. She is as good as she can be.) Yours is the best medicine for women, and I have told about it and even written to my friends about it." — Mrs. ANNIE E. AYARS, Spring Valley, Sask.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system so that it may work in every respect as nature intends. All druggists sell this dependable medicine. Give it a trial. C

LOCATED THE MISSING SHOES

Pascenger Who Had on Wrong Pair Admitted Thinking That They Felt "Pretty Tight."

Mr. D. of North Pennsylvania street tells of a near tragedy, or something akin to it, which occurred a few days ago on a morning train coming in from Chicago, relates the Indianapolis News.

He had occupied an upper berth, and when he arose found that his shoes had disappeared. A pair not his own were where his should have been, but they evidently belonged to the occupant of the lower berth.

The porter was called, but his most diligent search failed to locate the missing shoes. The train was rapidly speeding toward Indianapolis, and with visions of arriving stocking-footed, Mr. D. was in a most unenviable state of mind.

About that time a portly little man sauntered down the aisle, stopped and began to assemble his possessions preparatory to detraining. "What's the excitement?" he inquired, becoming interested in the search.

"Why, this man's lost his shoes," said the anxious porter. "You don't suppose you-all might 'a' mistook them for yours, do you?"

Then the portly party took a look at his feet and discovered that he had.

"Well," said he, considerably chagrined. "I thought that the pesky things felt pretty tight."

And then there occurred a hasty exchange of shoes just as the train pulled into the station.

MAKE SKILLFUL AUTO DRIVERS

African Natives Conduct Vehicles Along Jungle Trails After Short Term of Apprenticeship.

It is natural that since automobiles have found their way into every part of the world, the drivers would vary in appearance, and in attire or lack of attire, according to the customs of the countries in which the motor car is called to do service. If you were to walk along the road leading from the west coast of equatorial Africa several hundred miles into the interior, for instance, you might see a motor truck, plowing through the jungle, and in the chauffeur's seat, driving with peculiar and cheerful abandon, would be a west African native. And from the appearance of his driver's uniform, it would be evident that the high cost of clothing would bother him not one whit. These natives become full-fledged chauffeurs within three or four weeks from the time they see their first motor vehicle. The trucks, of which there are about 200, maintain regular schedules as feeders to a large steamship line plying between west African ports and Europe and America. They are loaded with men and supplies on the inland trips, and with cocoa products, palm oil, hides, and rubber bound for the coast.

Parasite Spreads Disease.

A peculiar disease that is still confined chiefly to certain river valleys of Japan, but suggests possibilities of breaking loose as a widespread epidemic, has been a subject of recent investigation. It is known as "sura-gaimmushi," and is transmitted by the "okamushi," an insect parasite of certain field mice. It is a fever striking by similar to typhus and Rocky mountain spotted fevers. The investigators have learned that its chief occurrence is in the months of June to October, which is the time of development of the insect carriers, and the season when the peasant victims of the disease are brought into contact with the mice. The mortality, though very variable, sometimes exceeds 50 per cent. Under existing conditions, bites by the insects cannot be wholly avoided, and cutting out the bitten part does not prevent the spread of the virus, while such remedies as iodine, mercury, arsenic, quinine and dyes have proven ineffective. The only hope of stamping out the disease seems to rest in the extermination of the field mice.

Repairing U-Boat Damages.

If British shipbuilding has not yet reached pre-war figures the world has done wonderful things in ship production in the last twelve months. The total tonnage launched was 7,144,549, according to Lloyd's Register, and the British share was 1,629,000 tons. The feature of the returns is the expansion of shipbuilding in the United States and in Japan. The former appears at the head of the table with 57 per cent. of the world's output, and more than twice the tonnage built in the United Kingdom. Japan, with 611,900 tons launched, has built more shipping in one year than it did in the 22 years to 1913.

Far-Seeing Woman Reformer.

In noting the fact that Susan B. Anthony was born a hundred years ago, it is interesting also to remember that every considerable reform of which she was an advocate has come to pass, says the New York Sun. She fought for the abolition of slavery, for total abstinence and for equal suffrage. Slavery disappeared when she was still in her most active years. When she died, in 1906, many of the states had agreed with her views on prohibition and voted for women.

A Last Resort.

His Wife—Mercy me, Hank! You shavin'? I thought you was goin' to wear them whiskers for a sheigh.

Mr. Leaghrush—I was goin' to, but we've lost two good table knives an' I've looked every place else for 'em.

ODESSA

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Dougherty and little son, Keith, spent Thursday the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dougherty. — Mr. Hughes and two daughters, of Harrowsmith, spent the week end the guests of Mr. Hughes' sister, Mrs. Ashley.—Mrs. Munch and daughters, Helen and Pearl, of Strathcona, Manitoba, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Griff.—Fred Bennett, of Port Perry, spent a week recently the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Dougherty. — There was an error in the description of the costumes worn at the masquerade dance on Feb. 6th. Mrs. Pooke represented Sister Dora in nurse's costume, and Mr. Pooke Lieutenant. Among the other handsome costumes were Mrs. Bruce Smith, Red Cross Nurse; Mrs. Bert Hamm, Queen of Hearts; Robert Hamm, Provot; Mrs. Courtland Snider, Colonial, and Dean Babcock, Chinese. A few of the younger set who added greatly to the brightness of the affair were, the Misses Ilene McCormac, Verna Benjamin, Mary Giddy, Thora Frink, Reta Hagerman, Irene Giddy and Marguerite Metzler. — Mrs. A. E. Huggard delightfully entertained a few of her little daughter Betty's playmates Saturday evening, at a Valentine party. Dainty refreshments were served from a table beautifully decorated with hearts, streamers and flowers. Those present were Marguerite Clark, Miss Valentine; Doris Babcock, Red Cross Nurse; Marian Emmons and Mabel Burnett, Queen of Hearts; Barbara Foster, Miss Pierette; Elsie Wallace, Nurse; Marie Oswald, House Maid; Maud Cairns, Midnight; Ada Heath and Betty Huggard, Flower Girls.—Mrs. Donald Thompson, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jack Long, Oshawa, returned to her home last Friday.—Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ball, who have been living near here for the past three years, are moving to Moscow.—Mr. and Mrs. Orange Babcock attended the funeral of Mr. Babcock's uncle, the late Mr. William Greer, Napanee, last Sunday. — The many friends of Mrs. Robert Cairns are pleased to hear that she is recovering nicely from her recent illness. —Mrs. Don Vrooman is moving to her brother's, John Ferguson, near Murvale.—Mrs. George Ettineer and daughter, Georgetta, of Odessa, spent a few days the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith.

FOURTH LINE

(For last week.)

We are glad to say that our severe cold weather has a very high fever at time of writing, which has favored us with a most welcome thaw, followed by a nice rain, filling wells and cisterns to their fullest capacity.—Sunday School was held on Sunday morning, a large number being present.—The Volunteer Workers' Class held their devotional meeting on Friday evening last, most all the members being present. Miss Orma Haig and Mr. Cecil Denyes delivered two essays. A topic was a missionary talk on Dr. Grenville, a well known missionary.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shillington entertained a number of their friends on Friday evening last. — A number of our citizens spent Saturday in town, taking advantage of the nice weather.—A few from here attended the dance and euchre party held at Odessa Town Hall, on Friday evening last, under the auspices of Odessa Public Library. The report was "a good time".—Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wilton returned home, after spending a month with his sister, Mrs. Herbert Smith, of Odessa.—We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Fenton Reid is quite ill at time of writing. We hope for a speedy recovery.—Sunday visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur VanSlyke at Mr. Tom Freemantle's; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sproule and family at Mr. Horace Denyes'; Mr. and Mrs. Anson Hagerman and family with friends at Wilton; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith and family at Mr. Sheldon Parks'.—Mr. and Mrs. Gunn, of Belleville, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. James McFarlane, Jr.—Mr. D. F. Aylsworth called in our midst one day recently.—Mr. and Mrs. Horace Denyes and Jean took tea with Rev. and Mrs. Merrick, on Sunday evening.—Mr. Clarence Menor has installed a radio, and are being entertained until the small hours in the morning. —Mr. Clifford Frink having had the misfortune of cutting his foot with an axe, is able to be out again. — We were sorry the snow-mobile passed by so quickly Sunday evening, as a number would like to see it perform more in deep snow. However, the "last-mobile" will soon be on the road again, and we know how they perform.—Miss Marguerite Reid, of John Hagerman, Jr. and Mr. Karl Denyes were guests of Miss Hazel Reid, Sunday evening.—Mr. James Robson has succeeded so far in keeping the roads open in Odessa this winter.—Mr. Cecil Denyes called at Mr. Byron Jackson's, one night recently.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McFarlane, Jr., gave a delightful tea to a number of their friends one night recently.—The baseball players will hold their annual meeting directly. Watch this paper for further dates.

MORVEN

(For last week).

The Missionary meeting and Ladies' Aid, which was to have been held at the home of Mesdames Mullett and Clark, on Wednesday afternoon, has been postponed for one week.—The League will be held in the White Church on Friday evening at 7.30. It is the missionary meeting for the month, and is in charge of Miss Bessie Hawkins.—The Rev. and Mrs. Merrick entertained several of their friends on Thursday evening.—Mrs. Claude Knight, Napanee, spent a few days caring for her mother, Mrs. Robt. Dunnett, who is ill.—Mrs. W. S. Clark, Switzerville, spent several days at Mrs. Henwood's.—Mrs. J. F. Lake left on Saturday to visit friends in Oshawa and Brighton. — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stone spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Alva Sagar, Violet.—Mrs. Elmer Amey, Desoronto, visited her mother, Mrs. McGinness, recently.—Mrs. S. P. Bell has moved to Switzerville to reside with her son and his wife.—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bell.—Mr. and Mrs. Barnes, of the Fourth Line, attended the service on Sunday evening.

Euchre, Dance, and Presentation

On Thursday night of last week the boys of St. Pat's Hockey Team gave a euchre and dance in the Parish Hall, which was well attended, and everybody enjoyed themselves to the full. During the course of the evening the Rev. Father O'Connor made a presentation to Mrs. Harold McGuire, who was formerly Miss Frances Killoran, of Napanee, and who now resides in Flint, Mich., of a half dozen 1847 Rogers "silverdor" knives and forks. Rev. Father in his address said it was his pleasure to be the one to convey the good wishes of the friends of Frances, and their deep appreciation for the past kindness not only in the Church exercises and doings that we have had in the hall, but especially in the work of the Church of God. He said she was always ready to give her services and her time voluntarily and cheerfully, and her example has always had a certain amount of influence in the respect and appreciation of her good and kind and modest character.

Father closed his remarks by hoping that Mr. and Mrs. McGuire would live for many years, and that their lives will be blessed by Almighty God with happiness and with Divine peace. Mrs. McGuire was very much surprised, but replied appropriately and thanked her many friends for their kindness.

OBITUARY

The Late William Greer.

Another one of the older residents of Napanee passed to the Great Beyond on Thursday night, February 12th, in the person of William Greer, Esq., who has been a familiar figure on our streets for the past sixty years. Mr. Greer, although eighty-four years of age, was enjoying his usual good health, when on Saturday evening, February 7th, he was suddenly stricken with paralysis of the right side just as he had finished his evening meal. During his short illness he was conscious of what was going on around him but was unable to talk, and suffered considerable pain.

The late Mr. Greer was born in Scotland, of Scotch and Irish parents, on January 1st, 1841. The family came to Canada when he was but six years of age and located at what is now known as Ernesttown Station. Deceased resided there until September, 1861, when he was married to Miss Katherine Duffin, of Odessa, and they moved to Portsmouth, where he engaged in ship carpenter work. About three years later they moved to Odessa, and in 1866 they moved to Napanee. During that year he took an active part in the Fenian Raid and highly prized the medal that was later issued by the Government of Canada.

The following year he purchased the land on Water street and erected a home, where he lived until his death. Mr. Greer has been a valued employee at Light's factory for over forty years, with the exception of short intervals, and, despite his advanced years, he remained at work until five o'clock on the day he was stricken, performing home apparently in as good health as when he left at noon. Of late years he has worked from choice, and has more than once told the writer that he was more contented when doing something and did not believe in an able man remaining idle. He was an exceptionally clever workman, his handiwork ornamenting many homes and public places in town and county, perhaps the most prominent and artistic piece of his work being the altar in St. Patrick's Church, Napanee.

In religion deceased was a Methodist and in politics he was a Conservative, being also a prominent member of the Orange Order.

The funeral, which took place from his late residence on Sunday afternoon, was largely attended, the members of the Orange Lodge in Napanee attending in a body. Service was conducted by Rev. A. J. Terrill, B.A., B.D., after which the remains were placed in Riverview cemetery vault to await interment in the family plot. A large number of beautiful wreaths were sent from sorrowing friends and relatives, as well as a profusion of bouquets and sprays, which testified to the high esteem in which deceased was held.

He leaves, besides his sorrowing widow, three sons and one daughter, all of whom were with him during the last illness. The children are: Messrs. Arch. Greer, Watertown, N.Y.; Fred Greer, Oneida, N.Y.; George Greer, Napanee, and Mrs. William Tout, Toronto.

The family have the sympathy of their many friends and neighbors in their bereavement.

William E. Reid.

In the death of Mr. Wm. E. Reid at his home, in the Seventh Concession of Ernestown Township, on February 16th, 1925, the community has lost a well known and most highly respected member. He was born on a farm near Enterprise, the son of Robert Reid, (who died in 1904), and his wife, Elizabeth Dowdle (whose death occurred in 1917). Of their family of seven sons and three daughters, all but one son (who died in infancy), lived until the present time; the death of Mr. Wm. Reid, who was seventy-four years of age on Nov. 22nd last, being the first break in the family circle since the passing away of the father and mother. He was a member of Knox Presbyterian congregation at Reidville, and for over fifty years he had been a member of the Enterprise Lodge of the Loyal Orange Association. His death was caused by a serious weakness of the heart, which at his age gave little hope of recovery, and after an illness of over two months, he came to life's close in the peaceful confidence of that Eternal life which is the gift of the Redeemer to all who trust in Him who is "the Resurrection and the Life".

He is survived by five brothers, James, of Napanee; John, in Manitoba; Wilson, at the family home in Camden; Thomas, of Kingston; R. S. Reid, of Tweed, and by three sisters, Mrs. Wm. Brown, of Tamworth; Mrs. Jennie Shack, of Kerrobert, Sask., and Miss Libbie Reid, at home.

The funeral service, which was attended by a large number of relatives and friends, was held at his late residence, on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 18th, conducted by Rev. W. H. Clarke, Pastor of the United Methodist and Presbyterian congregations, and Rev. R. J. Merriam, of Enterprise, and his body was placed in the vault at Enterprise, until the burial in the family plot in Reidville cemetery. —

Robert Reginald Nugent.

The fact that God giveth and taketh away was fully realized on Friday, February 13th, 1925, when Robert Reginald Nugent (Bobby), who had been sent to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Nugent, Newburgh, for four short months, was pinned from our midst. God took the little blossom from this world of sin and trouble, and planted it in the garden above, where all is peace and love.

Bobby was stricken with meningitis early in December, and on December 24th was taken to Kingston General Hospital. During January the disease subsided and a complete recovery was being looked forward to. However, later, secondary hydrocephalus developed and the little fellow's constitution was so weakened from meningitis that he could not overcome the latter disease.

All that tender nursing and medical aid could do, was done, but to no avail. Dr. A. E. E. Mounce, of Newburgh; Dr. T. M. Galbraith, of Napanee; Dr. R. C. Martin, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Dr. R. R. McGregor, of Kingston, attended Bobby during his illness. Miss Meyers, Mrs. Martin, Miss Down and Miss Hiltman were his kind nurses.

The funeral was held in Wesley Methodist Church, on Sunday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, the service being conducted by Rev. Geo. Nickle. Bobby leaves to mourn, his parents, a little sister, Dorothy, and loving grandparents.

BETHANY

The weather man is on his good behavior again, the roads are good, and everyone is busy.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Spencer entertained a number of friends on Monday evening.—The union Sunday School service at Bethany on Sunday was well attended, there being about sixty present. — Mrs. W. Conger has been quite ill, but we are glad to report she is much better again.—The play given by Bethany Club is spoken of very highly by all who have seen it. They were at Deserento on Tuesday evening, and expect to go to Adolphustown in the near future.—Mr. John Hambly, Bath, spent tover Sunday with his mother.—Mr. Chas. Conger is moving to his new home on River Road.—A good many have colds around here.

Address and Presentation

On Friday evening, February 20th, 1925, a good party of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mc- Keown, and presented them with a beautiful Bible and Hymn Book, be- fore their departure for their new home near Napanee. Mr. and Mrs. McKeown thanked their friends in a few appropriate words, after which a social time was spent in music and games. The following address was read by Miss Willa Nickle :

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

Dear Friends,—It is with sincere regrets that we learn of your de- parture from our midst. We know that we shall miss you. During the time of your residence here you have become a part of our community life so that now we your Wesley friends, feel we owe an evening with you to learn of your wholehearted- ness in every good enterprise. We have appreciated your interest in the Sunday School, your regular at- tendance at church and your co- operation with the league.

We cannot express our feelings, but we would like this gift to convey the thought we fail, to express, and this use of the Bible we pray will think of your Wesley friends. Then in your new home may you will have the love of health with tem- poral and spiritual blessing.

Your Wesley Friends.

USED THE CONVINCING WORD

Story of Traveler and the Cab Horse Used as Object Lesson in Good Salesmanship.

"So you let him get away, eh?" said the proprietor with mingled bitterness and philosophy. "And you had him right to the point. Your sales talk was good, right up to the last minute, when you omitted the convincing word."

"Looks that way."

"Sure does. You remind me forcibly of the case of a colored hack driver down south. One day he and his dilapidated cab and moth-eaten horse were all asleep by the curb. It was noon. Ten minutes till time for the train and the station was a mile away. A fat traveling man of middle age came sweating along toting two heavy grips and hastening toward the station. Seeing the cab idle, he called to the driver:

"'Hey, boy, can you get me to that train in ten minutes.'

"'Dunno boss; dis hyer hoss he putty tolable ole. He was in de shiny, boss.'

"'Was he in the war? I was in the cavalry myself. Get into that cab and I'll get that horse there in time.'

"The driver got inside and the traveling man mounted the driver's seat. As he did so he yelled "'tention!" The old horse stuck his head up for the first time in twenty years—all ditto. Charge!" yelled the fare sharply. He charged. Away he went, striking fire from the boulders. The outfit reached the station just as the train did. Halt!" yelled the fare and leaped from the seat as the horse came to a skating stop. Tossing $1 to the astonished occupant of the cab, the traveler ran to his train.

"That negro driver was the most astonished man in twelve states. He had seen a miracle occur right under his nose."

Six May Listen In.

Six persons may listen in to radio concerts simultaneously and with rubber-tube ear pieces instead of the more expensive amplifiers and loud-speaking horns. A Pennsylvania man has designed a nickeled-brass attachment, shown in Popular Mechanics Magazine, that fits into the ear apertures of two receivers and possesses six branch tubes, to which the half dozen listening contrivances are affixed.

Worthy Citizens.

It was one of those overheard conversations:

"Yes, they're a fine couple, regular 100 per cent Americans. They're doing pretty good now, too, and they're saving so's the boy can go to college later on."

"What business is he in?" the second talker inquired.

"Oh, didn't you know?" the first one replied. "He's in the bootlegging business."

BRIGHTON DEGREE TEAM VISIT NAPANEE

The spacious lodge rooms of Argyle Lodge, No. 212, I.O.O.F., was the scene of a very delightful function last Thursday night, when the Initiatory Degree Team Staff and Officers of Brighton Lodge, No. 362, were entertained by the officers and members of Argyle Lodge. The function was in the nature of the first 1925 rally, the attendance being the largest in years and the local committee, consisting of Bros. R. C. Root, W. H. Roe, Geo. Winters, J. Birrell, and J. W. Thompson are to be congratulated on the excellent manner in which the program was presented.

The visiting team together with quite a delegation of Brighton brethren reached Napanee on the six o'clock local and proceeded to the Paisley House, where they were tendered a most excellent dinner.

After a short time spent in nightseeing the visitors repaired to the Lodge Room, where in the presence of a large number of brethren the Initiatory Degree was conferred in a most creditable manner.

Following the conferring of the degree Bro. F. J. Bradley, P.G., who was recently transferred to Brighton by the C. N. Railway, and who was a great worker in Argyle Lodge during his residence in Napanee, was presented with a beautiful ring and address in appreciation of his past services, the presentation being made by Bro. W. H. Roe, N.G.

Bro. Bradley was taken completely by surprise and in a few words expressed his appreciation for the handsome gift and the address and said he would always remember and cherish the fine and pleasant hours spent with the brethren of Argyle Lodge.

At the conclusion of the regular lodge session the visitors and members adjourned to the assembly hall where a most elaborate banquet had been prepared and was in waiting.

After full justice had been done to the many good things provided the meeting was called to order by Bro. W. H. Roe, N.G., who in a few words expressed on behalf of Argyle Lodge a hearty welcome to the visiting brethren, for their kindness in coming to Napanee and also for the beautiful degree which had been exemplified earlier in the evening.

The following program was then proceeded with: The King, proposed by the chairman; responded to by singing the National Anthem; community singing; chairman's address, Bro. W. H. Roe, N.G.; vocal solo, Bro. A. F. LeSalle, violin solo, Miss Dorothy Scott; Grand Lodge, proposed by Bro. J. W. Thompson; Oddfellowship, proposed by U. M. Wilson, P.G.P., responded to by Bro. Bro. W. R. Tanton, P.D.D.G.M.; Xylophone solo, Mr. Don Scott; vocal solo, Bro. A. F. LeSalle; Brighton Degree staff, proposed by Bro. F. S. Scott, P.D.D.G.M., responded to by Degree Master and Captain of the Brighton Lodge; piano recital, Bro. Geo. Switzer; "Our Visitors," proposed by Bro. D. B. Wilson, responded to by visitors; selection by the Orchestra.

The addresses given by the special speakers for the occasion, Bros. Rev. W. Cox, P.G. Master, was a masterly one and was listened to with the closest attention by the large assemblance.

Rev. Cox, who is a very fluent and witty speaker, responded to the toast of the Grand Lodge of Ontario and alluded to the great good fellowship been derived from the fraternal visitations which were inaugurated last summer by the present Grand Master, Bro. Anderson, of Lindsay.

The musical portion of the program was excellent, the soloists, instrumentalists and orchestra adding greatly to the success of the evening. At the conclusion of the program which was both profitable and pleasing, the members formed into a large circle and, led by the orchestra, made the building ring with the old time and favorite parting song, "Auld Lang Syne" which was brought to a conclusion one of the best nights in the history of Argyle Lodge.

New Alloy Resists Corrosion.

Possessing the color and appearance of nine-carat gold, a new alloy recently exhibited in England also has the property of resisting corrosion from chemical fumes or sea water. It has the ductility and malleability of the precious metal and a tensile strength of 20 tons per square inch. It may be rolled, drawn, wrought or cast.

The high school janitor was making distillery passes at a large globe when the principal came in.

"At least, John," said the latter not unkindly, "dust off the Pacific Ocean."

INDIAN OFFICER HOME ON LEAVE

Capt. Ham, of Napanee, Had Thrill In Panther Hunt

St. John, N.B., Feb. 23rd.—Captain D. M. Ham, of Napanee, Ont., was a passenger on the Canadian Pacific Steamship Montcalm, which arrived here Saturday from Liverpool. He is attached to the Indian Army, being in command of the second and third Madras Regiments, and is returning to his home on 19 months' leave of absence after forty years' service. He was in the Indian Army during the big rebellion of the Mopplahs but his units had not been involved in quelling the fanatics. At the present time he said, conditions in India are quite settled and no uprisings were anticipated.

Shortly before leaving India, he succeeded in killing a panther. He brought the skin home with him as a souvenir. Speaking about his hunting trip he said it had been exciting as his first shot had only wounded the ferocious animal and he was forced to climb a tree as darkness was descending and he feared the panther would take to cover and leap on him, before he would have a chance of killing it. He remained in the tree until daybreak and then tracked the animal to find it had been mortally wounded and had died during the night.—Montreal Star, Feb. 23rd.

MOTOR REGISTRATION SHOWS BIG INCREASE

More Than 300,000 Vehicles Now Carry Ontario License Plates

Official 1925 figures show that the number of motor vehicles owned in this province now exceeds the 300,000 mark, the net increase since the beginning of this year exceeding 30,000.

It is worthy of note that this year shows more motor vehicles registered in Ontario than in all the other eight provinces of the Dominion combined, the total for the whole country being under 600,000.

A trend of the times may be seen in the fact that although the number of motor cars has shown a decided increase, the number of motorcycles has dropped off.

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA.

The stories in the March issue of Rod and Gun in Canada are sure to get the interest of every sportsman. Staking All on Horse Sense, by E. Dalton Tipping, Western Experience by Donald Graham, The Tenderfoot by Roderick O'Neill, are a few of the entertaining stories contained in this number. Canada's Wild Buffalo by Maxwell Graham is an article brimful of interesting and valuable information on this subject. In addition there are the regular stories, That Tent and Thirty-Five Below by F. Y. Williams, Slightly Sensational by Martin Hunter, Some Adventures With the Great Horned Owl by Ionnyeatte Dale, and Emergency Rations and Queerly Shod, by J. W. Winson, which cover a variety of subjects. The Editorial department, editors, W. C. Motley, R. P. Lincoln, C. S. Landis and M. U. Bates, have brought their department up to their usual high standard, helping to make the fifth number of this the best yet. Published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

Tasting With the Nose.

The sensation of taste, while of common and constant experience, is highly complicated in its nature. What is commonly called taste is not a simple sensation at all, but rather a complex. In addition to the actual tasteforming of the apparatus properly pertaining to the sense of taste, the tongue receives impressions of various other sorts, all of which go to make up this complex. As finally recorded in the consciousness, the taste of any substance has to do with its heat or coolness, perhaps with a mild amount of pain, certainly with astringency or with pungency—which are produced by their complexes of thermic and tactile sensations—and above all with smell. The reader will probably agree that ice cream and coffee are entirely different from their true selves when served at an inappropriate temperature; and it is a matter of record that a person of the keenest taste may make the most ludicrous errors if asked, blindfolded and with his nose stopped, to identify substances placed in his mouth.

Famed Rest of Noted Men.

The Diamond bar, famous for nearly 50 years as a part of the old Azzerotz house, of San Jose, Cal., is being fitted up for a grocery store. The Azzerotz house, on West Santa Clara street, housed five presidents of the United States and was for a time the abode of a king. It was built in 1863, according to John E. Azzerotz of San Jose, and the barroom was the meeting place for many of the men whose names have been written into the history of California.

President Grant was entertained at a banquet in the Azzerotz house in 1870. The following spring King Kalakua of Hawaii was a guest, and in September of the same year President Hayes delivered an address from the balcony. President Harrison was a guest in 1891 and both McKinley and Roosevelt visited the famous old hotel on their tours of the United States.

Her Part.

The physician had diagnosed the young woman's case and was ready to prescribe for her a bottle of medicine. He put two or three drugs into the bottle and then took up a jar of pepsin. The jar was almost empty and there was not enough pepsin to finish filling the patient's bottle. The physician looked around for another jar. He didn't find one, however. For a minute he was frankly perplexed, and then some sudden relief. He turned to the faucet and finished filling the bottle with water.

"Oh," the young woman's voice was very cool, "you needn't have done that. I can get in the water myself."

HIS UNSEEN GUEST

Waitress Tells of Experience in Serving Ghost.

Old Gentleman May Have Been a Little "Off," but Her Notion Is That He Had Recently Lost a Loved Grandchild.

Jane, who has worked in one particular section of the lunch counter of one of the great New York hotels since the day it was opened, is the best waitress that ever set down a dish without a spill or a clatter—so say the discriminating. Her deftness, her quiet manners, her promptness—above all her unfailing politeness—stamp her as one apart from the sisterhood. She was serene and composed while she dealt with one of those peckish, snappy men who had dropped in under the impression that because one sits on a stool in this excellent place it is cheap. It isn't. He was a little ashamed to fuss about the prices, so he fussed about everything else. But at last he departed, and serene Jane permitted herself a weary smile.

"You have to get along with all kinds, don't you?" remarked a patron.

"Indeed, yes," said Jane, "I served a ghost yesterday morning."

"An old gentleman came in quite early, for breakfast. He was beautifully dressed; I think he was one of the hotel guests; at least he came in that entrance. He chose a stool and when somebody tried to sit beside him, he said, 'Pardon me, but can't you see that seat is taken?' He ordered toast, soft boiled eggs and coffee. Then he turned to the vacant stool and asked, 'What would you like, my dear?'

"He paused as if an answer. Apparently he heard one, for he said to me with a smile, as if amused at the notion, 'A piece of pie and a cup of weak coffee with milk and some rolls.' There weren't any pie at that hour and so he ordered sliced peaches. I thought all these things and arranged them on a tray. By that time people were moving away from him. He buttered the rolls at the vacant place where he ate a bite himself. Then he made his own breakfast. I thought there might be a scene about the two checks, but no. He added them up aloud and correctly, counted out the change in his hand; left a tip in front of each place and then asked for a paper cup. In it he put an unbroken roll. Then he paid the cashier and went out. They found the paper bag with the roll in it outside on the steps."

"Could you make out whether he thought he was talking to a man or a woman?" asked the patron.

"I thought it was a little child," said Jane lightly. "He always talked down when he spoke to it, and he buttered the rolls, and the pie order for breakfast was childish, too—I thought. And Jane's eyes seemed a little misty. "I thought maybe he had lost a favorite grandchild."

Unkind Remarks.

In haste to catch a street car before the conductor closed the door, a man dropped a two-pound package of sugar in the street. The sack burst; the granulated cane was ruined. He had to wait for the next car and to hear what the vox populi exclaimed over the disaster. Here's some of it:

"Just wait until his old woman meets him."

"His crushed oats will taste foggy for three weeks."

"Sweeten the corner where you are."

Moral: Carry a basket.

It Was.

"The law ain't nigh as flexible as it ought to be?" grumbled the landlord of the Petunia tavern. "There's a whole lot of cases that it can't begin to cover properly."

"What is one of them, for instance?" asked the guest.

"Why, right here, tomorrow, a life insurance agent is going to be tried for calling an old stock seller a liar, and I'll be dod-blasted if I see how, according to law, they can both be stuck?"—Kansas City Star.

ANALYSIS OF HON. W. F. NICKLE'S SPEECH

Toronto, Feb. 19th—Analysis of the speech delivered in the Legislature last Tuesday, by Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General, discloses a long list of pronouncements, any one of which would have earned front-page prominence in the press. Mr. Nickle, although chief interest centered about his treatment of the proposed O.T.A. amendments, which are not yet before the House, dealt with a number of important matters, including hydro and unemployment aid. He spoke for three hours and a half, to a full Chamber and crowded galleries, and the daily press at best could only reproduce the high spots, and not all of those.

Well known as a temperance man personally, the Minister's presentation of the Government's proposals will no doubt go far in carrying conviction as to the Government's honesty of purpose in the minds of those who have refrained from hasty criticism, pending a knowledge of the full details of its proposals. Some of his points are given in condensed form below:

The people of Ontario, if one may judge from the increasing volume of liquor sales at dispensaries, are in danger of becoming a hard liquor drinking people, through the avenues of doctors' prescriptions, the bootlegger, strong native wine sold legally, and illicit distilling.

The proposed beer of 4.4% absolute alcoholic content is not intoxicating, according to the highest scientific authorities. These authorities Mr. Nickle quoted from for nearly an hour. The effect of so much of the beer as a person can consume in an hour is about the same amount of "unsteadiness" as induced by the caffeine contained in two cups of coffee.

It has become absolutely imperative to afford some redress or relaxation from existing conditions, or the Temperance Act is doomed.

It is virtually impossible to enforce the Act at present in certain places, because of the atmosphere of adverse public opinion, and it is necessary to restore respect for law in Ontario.

The Government's proposals are in the interests of practical instead of a theoretical temperance. The principle of the Act has not been interfered with.

If all the scientists prove to be wrong, and the new beverage produces intoxication, vendors will be prosecuted, because the Act is not being altered to permit sale of intoxicating beer in the province.

"If I had the power," said Mr. Nickle, "some God-given gift, so that by some piece of legislation I could sweep away all the evils of intemperance, I would do so. But the functions of a public man must be those of a practical idealist. We do not live in such a world of romance. If conditions remain as they do today, if some case is not given to the O.T.A., the act will be driven to extinction because I believe men are forced into being whiskey drinkers because they can't get a lighter drink. We have tried to find what could be done to provide a palatable beverage, without producing intoxication and the experiments of science proved it could be done. I have been most impressed by a petition of workmen to this Government; calling for such a beverage, and I know that France by the use of light wines and beer has produced a temperate nation.

"The liquor problem must be fearlessly faced. It is not suggested that this Bill will be the last word in temperance legislation. As a temperance man I look forward to the day when temperance will be more respected than to-day and when a theory will not be mistaken for a fact. We will not alter the law respecting intoxicating liquor, but will change only the legal definition of what that is. We have been guided by the light of science and if science fails there will still be prosecutions if the new beer intoxicates. That is why we have not said that beer up to a certain strength may be sold. We are standing by the principle of the O.T.A.

"The problem is complex but I have faith in the people of Ontario." (Prolonged applause).

In his closing remarks, Hon. Mr. Nickle gave what will probably be found to be a fairly good outline of some features of the bill. The daily press has largely overlooked the significance of this passage. The Attorney-General said:

"The weakling, either the chronic drunkard or the dipsomaniac, must be treated as a sick man, cared for and cured and taught that he must work to maintain his family. Those who will not respect the spirit of the legislation, but traffic in strong waters to the disadvantage of their fellow citizens, must be taught respect for the law by imprisonment without the option of a fine and if conducting a place of public resort the offending place must be placarded and closed. Drivers must take precautions that their goods are well made and do not exceed the statutory strength; must be plainly marked and if infraction takes place the right of selling should cease. Youth, in the period of development, must be protected from the possibility of impairment until physical maturity has been attained and judgment established.

"Education as to the dangers and effect of undue indulgence must be resumed and efforts must be put forward to make all understand the possibilities of indulgence that may become habitual. More must be heard of the permission of religion and law of the coercion of the law. Moral suasion must again be emphasized and the individual made to feel that he has a duty to himself to overcome temptation and to his fellows to protect them from possible evil.

"Those responsible for securing respect for the law, as well as those interested in our traditions and institutions, must bring their influence to bear again to establish the respect for the pronouncement of legislation as expressed through our statutes, must frown down evasions, perjury and fabrication of evidence that at times frees the guilty to the scandal of the body politic."

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

HEAD OFFICE - - MONTREAL

A Statement of Remarkable Progress

Extracts from Directors' Report

Your Directors present their fifty-fourth Annual Report with unusual satisfaction. The rapid expansion of operations, and the steady upbuilding of resources, which have so markedly characterized the Company's transactions in previous years, have continued during the past twelve months, and at a greatly increased rate of progress. . . .

The figures herewith (printed) show the growth which has taken place in the volume of the Company's operations, and in its resources. The increase as to profit-earning power and financial strength is more impressive.

As profits actually paid, the sum of $6,861,421.69 has been delivered during the year to policyholders under this heading.

As to provision for the future, the Company's position has been materially strengthened in all directions.

There has been a further upbuilding of the life policy reserves. Heretofore policies issued prior to 1903 have been valued on the basis of assuming three and a half per cent. interest, as the discounting rate for the Company's obligations, but this year the entire life assurance contracts have been valued at three per cent., the extra amount thus set aside being $1,111,087.

There has also been a strengthening of the Annuity Reserves. Recent investigations have shown a progressive increase in the average lifetime of annuitants. A special annuity reserve of $750,000 has this year been set up beyond the amount required by the Government standard.

The Company's Head Office and branch buildings and other real estate, have been written down by $750,000.

The Contingency Reserves have been strengthened by the addition of $1,000,000 taken from the earnings of the year. $1,000,000 of this amount going to the fund to provide for possible fluctuations in the market value of our securities, raising that fund to $2,000,000, and $1,000,000 going to General Contingencies account, raising that to $2,500,000. These contingency accounts then amount now to $7,500,000.

After making these heavy allocations, the undivided surplus has yet been increased by $1,000, bringing it to a total of $22,107,358.

The Company is, of course, in a position to increase its already generous scale of profits to policyholders, and your Directors have pleasure in announcing, for the 25th year in succession, that such an increase will be made.

While many factors have contributed to this remarkable showing, the most noteworthy has been the large earning from investments. As has been mentioned in previous reports, it has for many years been the policy of the Company to invest in long-term bonds and similar choice securities, in order that by this means the high rates of interest then prevailing as a result of the abnormal conditions produced by the war, might be protected into future years. This policy is now bearing fruit. Current rates of interest, though still very satisfactory, are materially lower than those of former years, and as a consequence there has been a marked rise in the quotations for most of the securities owned by the Company. During the past year some of these increases in value have been capitalized by sales, and a profit of $1,931,150.65 has been realized from this source. In addition there has been an increase of $6,351,287.89 in the market value of the securities still held. Although most of this increased value is unrealized appreciation, and does not enter directly into the realization of interest rates to a more normal basis, it will be noted that the Company has earned $4,000,000 of the amount in its contingency accounts, as already explained.

The rate of interest earned during the year on the sums invested was less than 6.28 per cent., exclusive of profits from sales. This is a substantial increase over the rate of the previous year, and has resulted from our having realized on some of our holdings of government and other bonds which had risen to high figures, the proceeds being then reinvested in securities yielding better returns.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Would-Be Diner—Waitress, please find out if your colleague from whom I ordered a steak some time ago is still employed here.

No one need endure the agony of corns with Holloway's Corn Remover at hand to remove them.

Boss—But you asked for a day off a month ago because your wife was dying, and now you ask for another for the same reason.

Clerk—Can't help it, sir; I am very sorry, but you can never depend on my wife for anything.

An Oil Without Alcohol. — Some oils and many medicines have alcohol as a prominent ingredient. A judicious mingling of six essential oils compose Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and there is no alcohol in it, so that its effects are lasting.

"You always appear to be worried about your housekeeping," remarked the sympathetic friend.

"But, really," retorted the housekeeper, "there are only two occasions when I am really worried. One is when I haven't a servant, and the other is when I have."

The Oil of Power.—It is not claimed for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil that it will remedy every ill, but its powers are so various that it may be looked upon as a general pain killer. It has achieved that greatness for itself and its excellence is known to all who have tested its virtues and learned by experience.

Jackson was on the spot when the explosion occurred. He was blown up, and they couldn't find a trace of him. When he called the foreman said quietly:

"He's gone, mum."

"Gone?" said Mrs. Jackson. "For good?"

"Well, in that direction.

If Miller's Worm Powders needed the support of testimonials they could be got from mothers who know the great virtue of this excellent medicine. But the powders will speak for themselves and in such a way that there can be no question of them. They act speedily and thoroughly, and the child to whom they are administered will show improvement from the first dose.

"How did you get the turkeys the officer found in your possession?" sternly asked the Police Magistrate.

"I—I—I raised 'em, your Honor," stammered the prisoner.

"Tell me the truth."

"That's the truth, your Honor," persisted the crime-stained creature. "I reached down through a hole in the roost."

Women and Asthma.—Women are numbered among the sufferers from asthma by the countless thousands. In every climate they will be found, helpless in the grip of this relentless disease unless they have availed themselves of the proper remedy. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought new hope and life to many such. Testimonials, sent entirely without solicitation, show the enormous benefit it has wrought among women everywhere.

Aunt—Can you explain wireless telegraphy to me, Arthur?

Arthur—Well, if you had a very long dog, reaching from London to Liverpool, and you trod on its tail in London, it would bark in Liverpool. That's telegraphy. And wireless is precisely the same only without the dog.

"Any good going to that factory for work?"

"Sure! Just go in at the gate that has 'Keep Out' on it, and cross the yard. Then you'll see a door with a 'No Help Wanted' sign. Go right in, and there'll be another door in your left with 'No Admittance' on. If you see a big man in there with a bull-terrier targing him, that's the foreman. He only speaks Rumanian, but you'll understand him."

A young man who fancied himself as an artist bestowed a great deal of time and care on the production of a picture representing a cow grazing in a field.

He showed it to a great painter in order to ascertain his opinion of its merits.

The latter, after looking it over for a minute or two, handed it back to his friend, saying: "The ship is not bad, but you've made the sea much too green."

No Trick at All.

"And, my young fellow," said the professor to his pupil one morning, "how did you find yourself this morning?"

"Well," replied Johnnie, "I just opened my eyes, and there I was."

Word Coinage of War.

"Don't be a 'dud,'" said the lad, half-coaxingly, half-contemptuously, to a schoolmate upon whom he was urging action to which the other opposed resistance. Thus a word used colloquially as designating shabby clothes or semi-valueless effects acquires a meaning but indirectly traceable to the original. A remarkable number of new words, either applying to new inventions or to be classed as "soldiers' slang," came into being during the war and have been recognized in a 1919 dictionary. Presently philologists will be exploring a search for roots, and certain among them will be duly incorporated into our language, while others will drop out as words of occasion only.

Her Friends Gave Her Up

"I was badly run down after having 'flu, pneumonia and pleurisy," writes Mrs. Baxter

To have 'flu alone is surely bad enough, but to have 'flu with pneumonia and pleurisy is in most cases fatal. Even 'flu itself after it has run its course leaves the system in a weakened, depressed, nervous, run-down condition, but few are able to fight 'flu, pneumonia and pleurisy, and live to tell the tale. No wonder Mrs. Baxter was given up when she had 'flu, pneumonia and pleurisy. No wonder after having had these dreadful afflictions she was terribly run down. The mystery is how she ever survived. But we will let Mrs. Baxter tell you her story in her own way.—"I wait to tell you what Carnol has done for me and mine. I was badly run down after having 'flu, pneumonia and pleurisy. My sister advised me to try Carnol. She used it both for herself and her daughter and both were completely relieved. I have now taken five bottles of Carnol and can say I never enjoyed better health. My daughter is also taking it for a spring tonic. I advised a neighbour to give it to her little girl who has had bronchitis from birth and she is getting well. We all praise your wonderful medicine and only hope it will do as much for others as it has done for me and mine. A long life to Carnol!"—Mrs. E. E. Baxter, R.R. No. 2, St. John County, New Brunswick.

Carnol is a wonderful tonic and gives marvellous results in all weakened and run down conditions, because its ingredients are the finest tissue, nerve and blood builders, and are known to every doctor in the medical profession, full particulars of which will be found in every circular accompanying a bottle of Carnol. 6-2t

THE SCOUT AND GUIDE CONCERT

Under the direction of Miss Helen Herrington, District Commissioner of the Girl Guides, formerly Secretary for Canada, an entertainment was given in the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening of last week, which was a great credit to the leaders of the Scout and Guide movement in town. The curtain rose on the woodland haunts of the Brownies, disclosing Miss Somebeekers sitting under their ancestral toad-stool. In a short time, what appeared to be a swarm of Brownies and Gnomes were occupied in games and dances, which showed the excellent training of their Commissioner. The games were taken from the Cecil Sharp collection of old English Games and Dances.

The second part of the programme was a demonstration of Wolf Cub feats, which caused great excitement and amusement. The final number was a playlet, which carried a moral worthy of Scouts, why are supposed to devote their lives to the doing of good deeds. Scouts Wilson, Stevens, Stalker and Grange played their parts well, and Miss Herrington portrayed the orphan girl who inadvertiantly gave them the clew to the beginning of all Scout laws. Mr. Goldwin Smith took the part of King Arthur who summoned one of his knights to typify each Scout law,—honor, courage, purity, kindness, etc. The entertainment was of great interest to all lovers of children. The chairman for the evening, Mr. Willet Deller, is the President of the Scout Troop Committee.

IN MEMORIAM.

In fond and loving memory of Egbert and Ford Thompson, whom God called to Him us, March 1st and March 13th, 1923.

They have gone from our gaze like a beautiful dream,
We scarce can believe it how strange does it seem.
We would give all we had,
Though it cost us great pain,
To gaze on the faces of our dear ones again.

They have gone across the river
To a shore of ever green,
How we long to see their faces,
But the river flows between,
And our aching hearts are calling
Through the shadows dark and grey,
For the dear ones who have left us,
Just two years ago to-day.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers. 9ap

'OLD FASHIONED MOTHER'

On Friday evening last the young people of Hay Bay staged the first performance of the drama, "An Old Fashioned Mother", at the Hay Bay Church, to a packed house. The play was written by Walter Ben Hare, and the acts of the play took up two full hours, and in that two hours there was many a laugh and many a heart throb, artfully in combination to emphasize the wonderful power of a mother's all abiding faith and love.

Miss Jean McCabe, playing the part of Deborah Underhill, the Mother, was letter perfect. Here was a long hard part, but her acting was perfect throughout. Miss Prinken, the leader of the choir, was caustic and withering in her remarks, and received much applause by her interpretation of the widow of Old Bill Pindle. The village gossip, impersonated by Miss Annie Chalk, was also much appreciated and started many a laugh. Miss Bessie Chalk, in the part of the village Belle, quite naturally filled the bill. Miss Marjorie Parks, as Gloriana, the hired girl, was another hit with the audience. The daughter of the widow was played by Miss Jean Robertson, and was well done. Mr. Clare Sexsmith in playing the Prodigal Son, acted the part to perfection, as also did Mr. Ward Nolan, in presenting the elder Brother. Jonah Quackenbush was ably impersonated by Mr. Rae Sexsmith. Mr. Guy Hayes, as Jerry Gosling, made many a laugh by his everlasting offers to swap some thing—even to his girl. There was nothing funny in the part of Enoch Rone, the Outcast, and that made it all the harder to play, but it was well acted by Bert Kendrie. Wilfred Sharp made a good sheriff in both action and looks.

The singing by the village choir was unusually good, they only made one discord and that was plenty.

Violin music between the acts was furnished by Misses Sexsmith and Thompson, of Napanee.

Taking it all in all these young amateurs of Hay Bay picked out a hard long dramatic play, a little above the average, and they must have worked hard, for their scenery, their costumes, and lastly their acting, was a long way above the average, and if you don't believe the writer, ask anyone who was there last Friday night.

P.S.—Oh, yes, something I came near forgetting, the proceeds were $50.00.

Serve and Deserve

The reason for our growth to a store of city size is easy to explain. It is expressed in the thought that has controlled this business every day of its existence.

SERVE AND DESERVE

To deserve the confidence of the people, we are serving them daily to the limit of our powers. We are studying their habits in order to anticipate their wants. We are designing, planning, rejecting, improving,—not once or twice a season, but every day, with one sole end in view—to give customers what they want, at a fair price.

Kirsch Flat Curtain Rods Make Your Curtains Hang Perfectly

Flat Curtain Rods have completely altered the curtain rod business. Ninety-five per cent. of all curtain rods sold are flat rods. The Kirsch Manufacturing Co. were the original inventors of the flat rod. The demand in Canada was so great for these rods, the makers were forced to open a factory in Ontario.

We are distributing agents for Napanee and vicinity for these celebrated rods.

For this season the factory has made a great improvement in the finish of their rods. When buying ask to see the "stipple" finish, which comes in Brass and White. This rod you'll find more beautiful, more artistic and more durable in finish. Owing to the enormous demand for these rods, manufacturing costs have been cut to the minimum. Ours are priced as follows :—

Ordinary sizes, in single rods, 25c. each.
Ordinary sizes, in double rods, 50c. each.
Ordinary sizes, in plain finished rods, 15c. each.

—Rev. Father McCarthy, Parish Priest at Centreville, passed away on Saturday night, after a brief illness. The deceased was well known in Napanee, where he had a host of friends who will regret to learn of his passing. The late Father McCarthy had been Parish Priest in Centreville for more than fifteen years and was beloved not only by his own congregation but the whole community at large. The funeral took place on Tuesday morning at Centreville Church.

—The concert given by The Gleaner Dramatic Club, in Benjamin's Hall, Yarker, on February 19th, under the auspices of L.O.L. 932, was a decided success. Despite the inclement weather and bad roads, one of the largest crowds of the season turned out to enjoy the play, entitled "An Old Fashioned Mother." The play was nicely rendered and was enjoyed by all. Following the concert a light lunch was provided for the Club by the Committee of the Lodge. The Lodge wish to thank the public for the splendid support given them.

WEDDING BELLS.

Bond—Cline.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, 431 Clendenan Avenue, Toronto, when Elsie, only daughter of Mrs. Cline and the late Hiram Cline, was united in marriage to Allan Edwin Bond, son of Mrs. Bessie Bond, Toronto. Rev. D. T. L. McKerrol, Victoria Presbyterian Church, officiated. The home was artistically decorated with palms and spring flowers. The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, was becomingly gowned in white kit-ten-e-ar crepe. Her embroidered bridal veil was arranged in coronet style and ornamented with orange blossoms. The bride carried a shower bouquet of Butterfly roses and lily of the valley, and wore the groom's gift, a tiara of pearls. Miss Lena Graystone, as bridesmaid, wore a frock of powder blue georgette and carried Richmond roses. Miss Marjorie Watson, as flower girl, looked very pretty in peach crepe de chine with an old-fashioned nosegay of Sweetheart roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Fred Bond. Miss Gladys Davies presided at the piano, and during the signing of the register Mr. Albert David sang. After congratulations, buffet luncheon and toasts, Mr. and Mrs. Bond left on a trip to the States, the bride wearing a French coat of golden brown silk parvelin, trimmed with seal, and French hat with veil. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Bond will reside at 421 Clendenan Avenue. Out-of-town guests included the grandfather of the bride, Mr. H. Meng, Napanee, and Miss Maude Hurst, Detroit, Mich.

Four Good Reasons Why
It is to your advantage to buy Wall Paper at Hooper's, and not from the big city stores :—Easier to select from the larger piece shown; if quantity purchased is not sufficient for the room, you can get more without delay; if quantity purchased is more than is required for the room, you can return the extra rolls. Quality and design considered, the prices are right. A free sample book for the asking. We wish one to be in your home.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONCERT

The Young People of St. Andrew's Church gave a splendid concert on Monday evening, the proceeds of which are to go towards paying for the new piano. The weather prevented the audience from being a large one, but those who attended were most appreciative.

Mr. Alan Ker, of Belleville, who gave his services for the evening, sang three numbers, each of which was encored insistantly. Mr. Ker possesses a lovely rich baritone to which it was a delight to listen. He was accompanied by Miss Fenn, organist at St. Andrew's Church, Belleville, who played with a delicacy and finish which was a pleasure to hear. Mr. Jack Caldwell gave a tenor solo, which was greatly appreciated; Mrs. Arthur Kimmerly sang "Mother Machree", in a pretty soprano voice, and was enthusiastically encored. Mrs. Valkman also gave a solo in her usual sympathetic way, and also a duet with Mrs. Dennis, who sang the contralto part.

Two instrumental duets were given by Miss Katherine Henderson and Miss Beatrice Milligan, and Mrs. Dennis and Mrs. Reid. A number was played by Mrs. Fred Hosey and Miss Georgie on Hawaiian Guitars; a saxaphone solo by Billy Templeton; and several orchestral numbers by Mr. MacGregor's Sunday School Orchestra.

ODESSA

Mrs. H. J. Smith entertained a few friends last Tuesday evening at her home on Ferguson avenue, in honor of her mother, Mrs. George Watts, it being her birthday anniversary. A very enjoyable time was spent, with vocal and instrumental selections and games. A delicious supper was served by the hostess. Mrs. J. G. Ettinger was among the guests and returned to her home in Kingston on Wednesday morning.—The annual meeting of the Farmers' Club, for the election of officers, was held last Thursday afternoon in the Masonic Hall. — William Daugherty opened his cheese factory on Feb. 16th, about two weeks earlier than usual. — Mrs. William Amey, Wilton, spent a few days last week the guest of Mrs. S. Storms. — Mrs. R. Lee, of Toronto, who attended the funeral of her uncle, the late William Greer, Napanee, visited her brother, Mr. Orange Babcock, before returning home.—Max Kenyon, of Kingston, spent Thursday at his home.—The play staged in the Town Hall last Thursday night, under the auspices of the Odessa Community Club, entitled "The Little Clodhopper," a musical comedy in three acts, was a wonderful success. The large hall was filled to capacity and the receipts at the door amounted to $87.00. — The electric lights have been installed in the Public Library, as a donation from Mr. J. H. Babcock, the owner of the electric power house. There are four lights in the reading room, two in the book room, and one in the living room of the Librarian, Mrs. Babcock. This gift has been very much appreciated and improves the appearance of the place wonderfully. About twenty years ago this building was presented to the village by Mrs. Margaret Breden Hamm, now Lady Sharp, London, England. It will be interesting to her friends to know that she is spending the winter at her walnut ranch, Whittier, California.—A number of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sprowle's friends met at their home last Monday night for a little surprise party. A very pleasant time was spent with music, dancing and cards, and an abundant supply of good things to eat brought the event to a close. — The euchre and dance held in the Town Hall on Monday night, in spite of the disagreeable weather, was a great success. The prizes for progressive euchre were won by Mrs. Don Simmons and Elwell Emmons. The music was furnished by the Odessa three-piece Orchestra, and was well worthy of praise. The receipts at the door amounted to about seventy-five dollars, to be used in the Library Fund. Mrs. J. H. Babcock, the President of the Board, gave an interesting account of the Library's financial standing.

ADOLPHUSTOWN

David Pollard, of this place, killed an active live parter snake while it was crossing the road from the grave yard to John Duffett's residence, on Saturday, February 21st, 1925.

I killed a chicken snake near Winter Haven, Florida in February, 1923, and thought that remarkable. But now let anyone beat Mr. Pollard's experience in Canada.

It has been thawing ever since the 8th of February, and as I write this, the 23rd, it is raining hard. Our climate will be easier in future, as this planet is turning southward in its third motion, which makes one revolution in every one hundred and seventy-five thousand (175,000) years.

We have been, right here, many times at both Poles, and the Equator, during the immense time this planet has been revolving since its construction.

FRED MEMBERY.
Adolphustown, Feb. 23rd, 1925.

ANDERSON

The heavy rains have taken a great deal of snow and left the roads in a very slippery condition. —Miss E. Anderson, of High Shore, is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. S. Parks.—Mr. and Mrs. G. Parks and family and Mr. and Mrs. S. Parks and family spent Sunday at A. Parks'. — Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ackerman visited Kingston on Tuesday.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Hambly and Kenneth, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ackerman and Vernon were Sunday visitors at W. Baird's. — A number from around here attended service at Trinity Church on Sunday evening.—Mr and Mrs. G. Johnston spent a few days last week visiting friends at Picton.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

What of the woman whose husband has decided that he need no longer court her? This is the intriguing theme of the First National production, "SINGLE WIVES," in which Corinne Griffiths and Milton Sills are co-featured for the first time on the screen.

Also a good Comedy.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

"MANHANDLED" deals with the problems of life in New York as the shop girl finds them, and Miss Swanson, in the role of Tessie McLean, runs the whole gamut of emotions, trying the white lights of Broadway. And a Special Comedy.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

A fist fight that will stand out in motion picture circles as a standard was staged by John Bowers and Alan Hale during the making of sequences for "THE CODE OF THE WILDERNESS," a David Smith production. Also a 2-reel Comedy.

Coming March 9th and 10th, "PLASTIGRAMS." Something new. Don't miss it.

EUROPE TAKES TO "TYPISTS"

Business Men There Are Gradually Laying Aside Steel Pen and Using Modern Methods.

Without a typewriter an American office would be an office, but a relic of a past age. But Europe has been writing with pen and ink, and is just waking up to the typewriter, remarks the Golden Age. In France the courts are working on the problem whether a document such as a deed or a mortgage is legal if written on a typewriter.

The world war taught Europe many things, among others to value the typewriter. Prior to the conflict the proprietors of the American writing machine output that was exported was 35 per cent to 40 per cent; now it is 50 per cent. The modern young lady going over the water much faster in Europe could get the credits necessary to correct the unfavorable conditions of exchange. When the great boom that she expected have been made, the situation will be improved and a much greater volume of typewriter exports is looked for as a result of the credits. Europe needs many other kinds of modern office methods. She will be helped in effecting this improvement, because the prices were untold high before the war. Improvement is the order of the day, and the tendency will become ever more marked as the golden age comes on.

NEED OF SPECIAL TRAINING

Youth Starting in Life Must Remember That This Is an Age of Specialists.

We are living today in the age of specialties in almost every line and occupation. Some men who goes out to earn his own living is definitely employed in some one line. He is a specialist in that line, or should be. It is true that he can earn good wages at the unskilled and low hope for a higher calling. But unless he fits himself by training, experience and study for something higher he will soon find he has a blind alley job.

A boy does not always realize that school life becomes humdrum to the healthy boy. He wants to get out and get into the world and earn money. He is not to be understood that the training he is receiving now is fundamental. He is fitting himself for life. He is likely to be reasonable if his parents have reasoned his conference, and if they can show him that studies and tests he will be the better by combining in school.—Rev. Ian Gray Wallace, in Christian Herald.

Coastal Defence of China.

The movement of Peking it is said, has completed coastal defence plan for China, according to which the whole Chinese coast will be divided into three sections. The first will be Chihli, the coast of Kiangsu and Chekiang, the coast of Fukien and the coast of Kwangtung. A general defence commissioner will be appointed for each section, and he will be held responsible for the maintenance of peace and order in his own section. He will also control all ships entering his section.

The first, the second and the training squadrons will remain their present stations, under the direct control of the navy department. The navy ministry contemplates appointing Admiral Li Tingchaing as commissioner for the Gulf of Chihli, Admiral Lin Chaopin for the Kiangsu and Chekiang section and Admiral Liu Kunsheng for Fukien. As in Kwangtung, the commissioner will be appointed after the north and south have been reunified.—East and West News.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Dependable Help for Mothers

Port Greville, Nova Scotia.—"I took your medicine for a terrible pain in my side and for weakness and headaches. I seemed to bloat all over, too, and my feet and hands were the worst. I am the mother of four children and I am nursing my baby.—the first one of for I could nurse. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before the baby's birth, so you can see how much it helped me. I cannot praise it too highly for what it has done for me. I took all kinds of medicine, but the Vegetable Compound is the only one that has helped me for any length of time. I recommend it to any one with trouble like mine and you may use my letter for a testimonial."—Mrs. Rose McCulley, Port Greville, Nova Scotia.

Before and after child-birth the mother will find Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a blessing.

Many, many letters are received giving the same sort of experience as is given in this letter. Not only is the mother benefited, but these medicine pass on to the child.

No harmful drugs are used in the preparation of this medicine—just roots and herbs—and it can be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

96 out of every 100 women reported benefit from its use in a recent canvass among women users of this medicine. G

BOTH CLAIM HONOR

Dispute Over Location of First Press in Northwest.

Minnesota and South Dakota Each Firm in Belief That They Are In Possession of Historic Old Relic.

The location of the first printing press in the Northwest is being disputed by two states, Minnesota and South Dakota, says a dispatch to the Minneapolis Journal.

The historic printing press, an old Washington hand-press, which, it is claimed, printed the first newspaper in the Northwest, is now in the hands of the Minnesota Historical society. The Minnesota contention as to the history of the press is substantially as follows:

"Its active career began back in 1836, when John King of Dubuque purchased it in Cincinnati. He arrived in Dubuque with the new press on May 1, 1833, after a tedious trip on a river steamboat. The first issue of this paper, the Dubuque Visitor, appeared on May 11. It is said that the Visitor was the only paper north of St. Louis and west of the Mississippi river at that time.

The press, in 1843, for some reason or other, was sold to three representatives of a slack concern, J. Allen Barley, Daniel Bendit and Nelson Derby, who latter was to become Wisconsin's first governor. These men took the press across the river to Lancaster, Wis., to print the Grant County Herald, of which L. O. Schrader was the first editor.

"The Herald passed finally into the hands of James M. Goodhue, a lawyer by profession and a fighting editor of the old school. Goodhue in the spring of 1849 shipped his press up the river to St. Paul, Minn., where he founded the Pioneer, which years afterward became the Pioneer Press.

"In 1853 the press passed into the hands of Jeremiah Russell, who took it to Sauk Rapids to use in printing another pioneer venture, the Frontiersman. After that it changed hands frequently. It printed among other publications the Sauk Rapids Pioneer, published by Thomas Muhlenberg, state adjutant general. The material of this publication was later sold to the Lindbergh Swedish newspaper. Shortly after this old press found its last home in the state museum in St. Paul.

"Gov. Samuel J. Albright, associate editor of the St. Paul paper, purchased the press in 1858, carried it 400 miles across the prairies to Sioux Falls, Dakota Territory, where, July 3, 1859, he established and printed the Dakota Democrat.

"During the Indian hostilities of 1862, Sioux Falls was abandoned and the Indians took possession of the place. They found the old press and broke it to pieces. The settlers found the fragments but could not put it together again. Senator R. F. Pettigrew of Sioux Falls is understood to have secured the plate and made from it a doorstep.

"The South Dakota story has been verified satisfactorily so far as the South Dakota department is concerned, by Governor Albright, who wrote in regard to it that 'it was so stated, so understood and, I believe, so published upon its removal to Dakota.'

"But, on the other hand, is the Minnesota museum stands a press which is claimed to be the one in dispute. This one is simply constructed and from its appearance might have printed every pioneer newspaper in the Northwest. Whatever the true story of the identity of the press may be, it is well worth contention."

The Right Man.

One day as Dan Beard was going up the elevator in the high Flatiron building in New York city at the rear of the car was a messenger boy with his arms filled with a score of bundles all of the same size.

Peering over the top of the ambuscade, he fixed his eyes steadily upon Mr. Beard. The national scout commissioner of the 400,000 and more Boy Scouts of America knew the signs well enough to realize that something was dropping through the boy's mind. He asked the lad what he was thinking about.

The boy replied: "I was just thinkin' that you look like a friend o' mine."

"What's your friend's name?" asked the man who is the friend of all boys.

"Dup Beard," said the messenger.

"I am Dan Beard," replied the commissioner with a smile.

"Gosh!" was the only reply of the astonished boy, who dumped his bundles under the feet of the amused passengers and brought his right hand up to a stiff salute."

Aerial Police for Germany.

Germany has a network of aerial police patrols organized to prevent the migration of capital from Germany in addition to fighting against criminals generally. A landing place for aeroplanes is already being laid out on the Swiss frontier. Similar establishments are planned for Hamburg, Breslau and other towns.

Supply and Demand.

"The supply exceeds the demand now before us," began the ponderous constituent.

"We've got more questions on hand just now than we really need," interrupted Senator Sorghum. "Come around with an answer once it a while."

"GOOD OLD DAYS" RECALLED

Century-Old Ledger Unearthed in Marietta, O., Makes Some Rather Interesting Reading.

Marietta, O., in 1797 paid $400.00 for the maintenance of the government, according to a ledger just brought to light from its hiding place of many years.

December 28, 1797, was the date of the first entry in the book. Six years later Ohio became a state.

The country at that time was three times as large as it is today. The tax duplicate showed a total of $1,310. In the territory allotted to Washington county in 1797 were the towns of Marietta, Gallipolis, Middleton, Adams, Waterford, Salem and Bellepree now Belpre.

Six collectors were appointed, with headquarters in Marietta, and these men made their rounds in the "wild land" at the risk of their lives for a wage of $2.55. Indians surrounded the county, and in some instances the villages, so the tax collector was often lucky to return "body whole."

In 1798, according to the ledger, the district was divided into nine sections, instead of six, and nine collectors were chosen. Names of the men are given and their places of residence. The commission chose a board of three members and named a chairman in that year.

Meetings were held at the home of Joseph Buell, a Revolutionary war hero, and a member of the original Ohio company which settled in Marietta, the first town in Northwest territory.

Judges received 75 cents a day whenever they worked on the bench, the ledger records show. There were quarterly sessions and a judge for each session. Six cents a mile was paid a judge for each mile traveled. The foreman of the grand jury received 60 cents a day and the jurymen 50 cents and 3 cents a mile for travel to and from court.

Disbursements for advertising in Atlantic coast and New England town papers are mentioned in the ledger, showing advertising was a necessity in that day.

Roumanian Military Men Dandies.

The Roumanian, at least the civil resident, is extremely fond of perfume, scented soap, rouge, cosmetics and other artificial aids to beauty. This applies not only to the women but to the men.

The average young Roumanian says a recent traveler, is powdered, rouged and often, it is said, corseted! His habits mark him for a good deal of rubbing on the part of foreign officers and visitors. In dress he is as faultless as a Beau Brummel and in manner as polite as a Lord Chesterfield. He is seen at his best on Saturday or Sunday afternoon on the Calea Victoria (the Fifth avenue of Bucharest).

Dressed in a sky-blue uniform, gaudily trimmed with red, high patent-leather boots with silvered spurs that clink musically as he walks, glistening sword at side, white kid gloves and many military decorations, he makes a striking figure.

Answered the Purpose.

The assignment in the English composition class at Scipio was the superlative of the feminine adjective. It was when the teacher gave out the masculine term. All was going lovely, Duke with the answer duchess, nurse and marchioness, but "lord" brought no answer until Johnnie stumbled on to his answer out of his everyday vocabulary—"body."

Reopening Irish Copper Mines.

The old copper mines of Ardmore, in County Waterford, Ireland, are to start working again. Engineers state that the cliff still possesses rich lodes of copper ore, and the Dromm hills have workable deposits of coal. It is proposed to start work at once with 500 men.

HOBO IS "IN BAD"

Knight of the Road Confronted With Hated Work.

High Cost of Living Has Made It Hard for Itinerants to Pick Up an Easy Existence—Not Like Good Old Times.

No other art has suffered greater deterioration than price mailpaulation than that of kitchen panhandling, and a wail is now going up from a thousand hungry all over the quiet land. Even the price of soup, which is occasionally used, though not encouraged, promises to make an American hobo look like a mud-bedraggled soldier after a long vigil in a cootie-ridden trench.

This year's convention, in a sense, will be memorable inasmuch as the ever has substituted the art of soliciting and many novel and startling suggestions as to how to live and travel without work will be presented by scores of delegates, hailing from every section of the country. "Jungle" philosophy likewise has undergone a great change and the high cost of living has only served to rub a sore into open when the hand of industry during the war created a boom era. Even the trunks "underneath," combed the "blind baggage" and pawed over by the sleepers and day crashers of ten thousand trains.

War's brutal order to work reared and hovered, it is true, but it did not crush the spirit of the hobo cult nor deprive the hobo of his wits. The passing convention will be a parade of sits, in fact, largely devoted to the question of "How to get by with prices so high."

Many a sigh will go up from a thousand bosoms when the old order of things is mentioned. Five years ago every hamlet, town and city in America had a "jungle," or conventional rendezvous for hoboes, where they could cook their own "mulligans," "slop" and shoot dice to see whether they would hop a train for north, south, east or west and whence they could evade the surveillance of the "bulls."

But today things are different. Five years ago it was tolerably easy to approach the kitchen door, if the dog was tied up and the backyard showed no traces of a wood pile, deliver a reminiscent tale of woe and mother, to the kindly housewife and come away with beefsteak, pie and cake. It was easy five years ago to "smooch" the ordinary bucolic sojourner for the price of meat, potatoes and onions with which to "stew up" a mulligan.

And five years ago it was possible for certain of the hobo gentry to talk the sergeant restaurant keeper out of a meal and sidestep the dish pan. But nowadays it appears to the American hobo that there are but three words in the lexicon of the average citizen—"work" and "beat it."

Hobo gentry possessing no nourishment in job lots these days. The approved plan is to band together, each many individual decorations, he makes a striking figure.

WILL AGAIN HONOR MAGELLAN

Quadricentennial of His Famous Voyage Likely to Be Appropriately Observed in 1921.

March, 1921, will be a good time to visit the Philippines, for it will then be an even 400 years since Fernando de Magalhaes, as he was named in his native Portuguese, although better known, as English usage afterward changed it, by the name of Ferdinand Magellan, first visited the islands, discovering and taking possession of them for the crown of Spain. And plans are now under consideration to celebrate that anniversary in a way to outdo any celebration ever held in the Orient. One will hear, no doubt, a great deal about Magellan in the next 12 months, and the first navigator of the Pacific will reappear in newspaper columns and magazine articles; nor is it unlikely that his counterfeit presentment will peddle over the Philippines in a proper pageant. The celebration, indeed, comes at an appropriate time, for the Pacific ocean is only just assuming reality in the thoughts of the great majority of Americans, and it provides historic background against which the modern islands can display their products, their development, and their opportunities for the investment of American capital. Like Columbus, Magellan was not seeking new lands for Spain. He set out on a far voyage from the Atlantic to the ocean that Balboa had seen some years earlier on the other side of the continent, and having passed through the straits of Magellan, he believed that he was steering for the Moluccas, or Spice Islands. And so, incidentally, he found the Philippines.

COMES OF ANCIENT FAMILY

Danish Minister to Iceland Traces Origin to Period When Man Born in America.

Information has been received from Copenhagen that the Danish consul-general in London, J. E. Boeggild, has been appointed Danish minister to Iceland. Mr. Boeggild is widely known in America, having been Danish consul in San Francisco and Chicago, consul-general in New York and commercial adviser to the Danish legation in Washington.

Mr. Boeggild seems especially fitted for this post, as he has Icelandic blood in his veins. On the maternal side he is descended from the Helmbo family of Iceland, which traces its origin back to Thorfinn Karlsefni, one of the famous Norsemen who discovered America nearly one thousand years ago.

Karlsefni, of whom a statue was recently erected in Philadelphia, was the first white man to settle in America, spending two years in "Wineland," where his wife, Gurida, gave birth to a boy, who was called Snorri. From Snorri descended a numerous and distinguished lineage, among whom is numbered the Icelandic family, and the new minister to Iceland can thus lay claim of being descended from the first white man born in America.—Detroit News.

Cock With Oil on Warship.

The Hood, the monster mystery battleship, launched from Clydebank the other day, is fitted out with a liquid-fuel cooking galley. For several years past the use of oil fuel has been common in the British navy for propulsion purposes, but its employment for cooking is quite an innovation. The galley referred to is capable of cooking for 1,200 men. The heat is obtained by means of special burners which consume the oil under pressure compressed air being used to atomize the fuel. The result is a white flame of extraordinary heat and cleanliness, which leaves no residue whatever and is easily controlled. There is an entire absence of smell—a usual disadvantage in cooking by means of oil—and there is no chance of the food being contaminated.

The Earth's Crust.

The most important scientific investigation of the past year in any country has probably been the attempt to measure the earth's crust. We know very little about the shell on which we live. Scientists have been studying the problem in Hawaii, Tuscany and Switzerland, where the opportunities for investigation are especially favorable. Many data new to science have been collected, covering the shell, its composition and probable age. Still other tests have been made in New Jersey, where a great reservoir concentrates an immense weight of water on a limited area, and instruments have been devised to measure the movement of the earth's crust under this weight. New data have thus been thrown on the action of volcanoes.

Hardest Tool-Steel Yet Discovered.

When a tool becomes dull, time is required to sharpen it, and time in a machine shop is expensive. A tool steel has been produced which will hold its edge saves both time and money. Eleven years ago Professor J. O. Arnold, of Sheffield, England, invented the alloy of steel in which the metavanadium was introduced to provide a cutting edge superior to that of other steels. As a result very rapid production became possible. He has now produced a steel of even greater cutting power in which the alloy molybdenum replaces the tungsten present in all vanadium-alloy steels, forming six per cent of the steel instead of the eighteen per cent of tungsten. He eclipses the cutting power of all its rivals.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

GAMBLED WITH GRIM DEATH

The old overland journey from Edmonton, Alta., to the Klondike was a trail of tragedies. A weather-beaten skeleton of an old wagon of the prairie schooner type, the woodwork rotted and only fragments of the wheels remaining, recently was found in the rugged Liard river country. On a piece of tattered canvas that once had been the wagon cover, printed in black paint in letters a foot high half effaced by the rains and snows of years were the words "Klondike or Bust."

Many stories are told by old-timers of the arguments who found tragedy instead of gold on the north trail which began at Edmonton. Thousands of men from all parts of the world flocked to the town in 1896 during the Klondike rush. They outfitted at the Hudson Bay company two-story frame store which then was considered the greatest store in western Canada. Today, when the company has thrown open all its lands to farm settlement and is centering its energies on the fur trade and general merchandising, a big modern department store rises on the site of this ancient emporium in the heart of Edmonton.

Turning their faces toward the Yukon, the gold-seekers struck out on a perilous journey of 2,000 miles across an untracked wilderness of forests, muskegs, mountains and mighty rivers. Of the thousands who started, only a few ever reached their destination. Many turned back disheartened to Edmonton. Many beat back to civilization by way of the British Columbia coast. Still greater numbers were swallowed up in vast unknown northern land never to be heard of again. They gambled with death who traveled that trail.

From time to time in succeeding years the bleaching bones of the adventurers who followed their dreams over the rim of the world, the battered relics of old camp outfits and the wrecks of wagons and pack saddles have been found in lonely northern places, grim reminders of the old days when men went mad for gold.

Omens of Good Luck.

It has been explained that we need to be prepared for bad luck, but that good fortune does not require to be guarded against.

All the same, it would certainly add to the cheerfulness of life in general if lucky omens were more widely known, says a writer in London Tit-Bits. How much brighter things look to us if we have reason to hope that something good is coming to us!

Everybody, of course, knows that it is lucky to pick up a bit of iron or coal. So it is to pick up a pin if its head is toward you; if not, let it lie.

It is a sign of good fortune to put on some garment inside out, but only if it is done by accident and the garment is allowed to remain reversed during the day. William the Conqueror put on his mail shirt back to front on the morning of the battle of Hastings, and we all know what luck he had on that occasion.

If you find your keys or other steel article resting, do not be surprised about it; it only shows that somebody is putting money by for you.

It is lucky to be followed home by a stray dog. Still better is it if a stranger cat comes to stay at the house. Speaking of cats, pessimists, of course, assert that when it tears the furniture with its claws it is a sign of rain; but others hold that she is "scratching luck" to her masters.

Female Trees.

After nearly twenty-five years of argument and discussion about the abatement of the cotton nuisance, the city commission of Albuquerque, New Mexico, has ordered the cutting down of all female or cotton-bearing cottonwood trees within the city limits.

A large proportion of the shade trees of many western cities are cottonwoods, writes Aldo Leopold in the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The individual trees are of two sexes and the female trees bear annually a most prolific crop of cotton, which acts as a mechanical irritant to sufferers from hay fever, and which during the months of June and July litters the streets, screen doors and plastering with unsightly masses of soiled cotton.

Seek American Rule.

The people of the Virgin islands are begging to be Americanized. Now that they are under the American flag they have a right to be dissatisfied with the old Danish laws and customs. One of these makes it necessary for a man to have an income of $200 a year in order to vote. This law gives only about 300 people in the islands a chance at controlling legislation.

Strictly Correct.

Ernest and Henry go to a minister's home every day to do little odds and ends for him. One day Ernest came home and said: "Mother, me and Henry were over to the minister's house today." "Ernest," I said, "you should have said, 'Henry and I,'" to which he quickly answered, "Well, I got there ahead of him."

Watering the Garden.

Remember that a good sqgking once a week is more beneficial than light sprinkling daily. Be judicious in your use of the hose. Leafy vegetables do not mind having their tops soaked, as well as the roots. But fruit bearing plants and vines, like tomatoes, eggplant, cucumbers, squashes and melons should not have the tops soaked at all. It washes away the pollen in the blossoms and is apt to cause blight and fungous diseases.

Don't water the garden in the heat of the day. Wait until late in the afternoon and when it has been given a good soaking it will have time to soak into the soil to enable you to rake up the surface easily next morning, preventing the soil baking and receiving the moisture. Regular soakings for the ever-bearing strawberries and other small fruits, followed by mulching, will prolong the fruit bearing season and improve the quality. Too much watering of grapevines tends to cause an excess of cane growth but a reasonable amount is desirable.

There might be an excuse for using an inferior sow if you already have her on the place, but we can not think of one single excuse for ever using an inferior sire.

Until breeders mate animals whose factors determining predicting ability are known to be for high production only, they are going to get many low and medium producers from parents that are from high producing ancestry.

New Perch for the Fisherman.

A new sport followed to some extent along the Pacific coast is that of fishing from airships of the "Blimp" type. The fishermen ascend to a height where they can readily spot a school of fish and then they descend and drift along with the fish. Hovering over the water they pull in the fish as fast as they can throw over their lines.

Origin of Manitoba.

The name Manitoba sprang from the union of two Indian words, Manito (the Great Spirit), and Waba (the "narrows" of the lake). This strait was a sacred place to the Cree and Sauteurs, who called them "Manito-Waba," or the "Great Spirit's Narrows."

Halloween.

The celebration of Halloween dates back to ancient holiday combining classic mythology, Druidic beliefs and superstitions of that far-away time. The change to a social anniversary was gradual and finally became a recognized time for general merriment.

PLANT MORE TREES.

Six and a Half Millions Trees To Be Given Free for Planting in Ontario

The purpose of this distribution is to assist farmers and landowners in the province to improve their woodlots and to reforest waste portions of their holdings. On most farms there are a few acres which might be profitably be devoted to the planting of trees, such as steep hillsides, sandy or gravelly areas, swamp land and fields cut off by streams or railroads. Such areas may be set out with trees at little trouble and expense, which will add value to the property, and be a useful addition for small amounts of timber and fuel. Also, in some sections of the province where the land is all of good agricultural worth, and little forest remains, it would be profitable to plant a few acres with trees.

Trees Supplied Free for Forest Planting.

The Forestry Branch advises that those undertaking waste land planting make a start of one acre the first year. Two acres will be the largest area for which the Branch will undertake to furnish planting material free in any one year. Larger areas may be planted by arranging to continue the work in successive seasons.

Trees should be spaced from five to six feet each way, preferably six feet. Only in rare cases is it necessary to plant trees five feet apart or less. At five feet spacing an acre will require 1,742 trees. At six feet spacing an acre will require 1,210 trees. 3,500 trees is the largest amount which will be given free to one landowner in any one year.

Trees Supplied at Cost for Forest Planting.

Where the landowner has several acres of waste land which he desires to reforest, and where he is able to plant more than 3,500 trees in one year, he may procure an additional quantity at $4.00 per thousand.

Assistance Given by Forestry Branch

The Forestry Branch, in so far as the means at its disposal will permit, will assist in the growing of forest plantations or woodlots, by giving advice as regards the choice of species and mixtures, the selection of suitable areas, their preparation, methods of planting and care after planting.

Prospective planters, if they so desire, may send in a description of the property to be set out with trees, showing the location of roads, existing woodland, streams, buildings, fences, hills and any other local features, as well as the soil or soils on the area. If possible a sketch map should be drawn showing the above features, after which the Forestry Branch will give advice regarding the kinds of trees best suited to the area and their arrangement.

The Owner's Obligation.

The owner must do any necessary preparing of the area, plant the trees at his own expense, care for the plantation, fence it from animals, and when necessary, protect it from fire by some effective means.

He will be expected once each year to fill in and return a questionnaire report on the trees, which will be supplied by the Forestry Branch.

All trees are sent express collect from the Government Nurseries, the cost of shipping being paid by the person receiving the trees. 1,000 to 2,000 trees will range from 100 to 200 pounds in weight, and if the applicant desires to know what the express charges will be, he should find out from his local express agent the rate per 100 pounds from the nearest nursery. It is not considered safe to ship trees by freight and the Branch cannot accept transportation charges.

All trees are sent out in the spring, usually during the latter part of April.

The Ontario Forestry Branch does not ship trees for any purpose in the autumn.

How Trees May Be Obtained.

Persons interested in tree-planting should write to the Ontario Forestry Branch, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, stating the particular kind of work they propose doing. An application form will then be supplied, which should be filled out carefully and returned to the Toronto office.

No fruit trees, ornamental trees or shrub trees for town or village lots are distributed. Trees suitable for permanent planting in hedges or along fences are not supplied. The material available is intended primarily for waste land planting.

Location of Government Nurseries.

The Ontario Government maintains nurseries for growing trees in Norfolk County, at St. Williams, on the C.N.D., approximately 15 miles south of the Town of Simcoe; in Durham County at Orono, on the C.P.R., one half mile from the village; in Simcoe County, at Midhurst, on the C.P.R., or Missing, on the C.N.R., five miles from Barrie; in Prince Edward County, at the Sand Banks, Bloomfield, C.N.R., nine miles from Bloomfield; in Grenville County, at Kemptville, C.N.R., at the Agricultural School, and in Timiskaming District, at New Liskeard, T.N.O., at the Experimental Farm.

In so far as the supply of species will permit, shipments will be made from the nursery situated nearest by rail, to the express office of the applicant, and the name of this nursery should be stated on the application form. Persons who live within reasonable distance of one of the nurseries, and who can fetch the trees themselves, are encouraged to do so and this fact should also be stated clearly on the application form.

STRATHCONA

(For last week.)

The weather man has been flinging much more favourably weather lately, and a few autos are on the road again — sure harbingers of Spring.—Mrs. Bruce Finlay is in Moscow this week, on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. W. J. Patterson.—Mrs. Roy McLean has crossed the border for a few weeks to visit her daughter, Mrs. Jackson. — Mr. Wm. Ballance had a wood bee on Tuesday of this week.—On Monday evening a large number of friends of Mr. Harold McAdaire met at the home of his father, and presented him and his bride with a handsome purse of money. The evening was spent in games and various amusements, and those present had a very enjoyable time. All wish Mr. and Mrs. McGuire bon voyage through life.—The ladies of the village held a quilting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Ballance, on Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments were served, and a sociable and pleasant afternoon was experienced.—Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Finlay and family took tea at Jas. Wilson's, on Sunday evening.

YARKER

(For last week.)

The recent thaw has been a great benefit to the roads, as the snow was very deep, but at present the roads can go on any of the roads with little difficulty.—With three sawing machines in our village, the wood piles are fast disappearing.—W. A. Martin is spending a week in Campbellford on business.—Mrs. Hicks, of Sydenham, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. Martin.—George Deare, on the sick list for a few days, is somewhat better.—Mrs. F. O'Neill entertained a number of her women friends on Wednesday evening.—Dr. Walsh, of Kingston, was a caller in our village on Wednesday.

Says She Suffered For Seven Years

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Relieved Her of Her Troubles

Mrs. Nellie Bagan Found No Relief In Her Hospital Treatment, But Dodd's Kidney Pills Brought Speedy Relief.

Gilbert Plains, Man., Feb. 23rd, (Special)—"I have been using Dodd's Kidney Pills at different times and must say that they are the best for those who suffer from kidney trouble. I had a lot of trouble for years and was in hospital for quite a while, but it did not do me much good. I feel quite different now since I have been taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. I would advise every man and woman who has a trouble from head to knee to try them." This statement comes from Mrs. N. Bagan, a well known resident here.

Dodd's Kidney Pills as a tonic and family medicine are without an equal. When you feel tired and run down the chances are you have it. Keep your kidneys are at fault.

When the kidneys become clogged or out of order, the circulation becomes sluggish, the impurities are not strained out of the blood and the result is weariness and lack of energy all over the body. Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial and see for yourself.

To Excavate City of David.

The proposed excavation on the site of the City of David in Jerusalem, were discussed recently at a meeting of the Palestine Exploration Fund at the rooms of the Society of Antiquaries, in London.

Dr. D. G. Hogarth, who presided, said that the occasion was epoch-making in their history, and they were on the eve of undertaking the excavation of the City of David, which had long been their ambition. He pointed out that there might not be much in it, because it was a rocky hill, but he reminded them that the excavation of the pockets of earth on the Acropolis Hill at Athens gave up a most interesting collection to the Athens Museum.

The Dean of Westminster had written saying that he had the highest hopes of the work. The Palestine Government assured them of its assistance, but had said that the fund should have £5,000 in its possession before anything could be done. They had themselves, and through the British Academy, £2,000. Mr. Charles Masterman had given £2,000, and Viscount Burnham £1,000.

They started this under very fair auspices, and he gave a promise that no one's prejudices would be outraged.

She Wanted 'Em Specific.

Tillie Clinger says the reason she didn't last long as salesgirl at the jewelry counter was because when a man came in and said he wanted something nice for his baby she asked him if his baby was a boy, a girl or a chicken.—Dallas News.

"My Wife Handles the Money"

The wife deposits —so a business man writes us. "She can do it better than I. Each pay day she always deposits our savings first. We never buy anything unless we have the cash to pay for it and each year our savings are growing."

In a joint account A Joint Account in the name of husband and wife allows the wife to deposit or withdraw money during her husband's absence or when he cannot get to the bank during business hours.

For the children, too A Savings Account for the children will teach them the value of keeping their money, thus helping them to form the habit of saving.

Over 40,000 Every Day.
The Bell Telephone Company's Annual Report seeks to explain the steady increase in the use of the Long Distance telephone by pointing to the press volume of calls which that the modern merchant is extending over the telephone. The explanation is certainly borne out. Some wonderful examples have been cited of what can be accomplished by telephone when careful plans are laid beforehand. The daily average of Long Distance messages is now considerably over 40,000.

Most New 'Phones in Homes.
The Annual Report of the Bell Telephone Company points out that for a net gain of 36,607 telephones for the year 1924, it was necessary to install no less than 128,872 instruments, of which 78,265 were subsequently taken out or transferred. This is no doubt a fair index of what might be termed the business and residence turnover during the year. Of the net gain in telephones, 77 per cent. consisted of services installed in homes. 9a

Last Hockey Game of Season.
Owing to the lack of ice on their open-air rink, at Point Anne, the management of the team from that place have decided to play their home game of the finals in the Boy of Quinte Hockey League in the Napanee Arena, and in consequence of which the Young Irishmen, of Kingston, and the Point Anne team will cross sticks here tonight. This will be a real hot game, as the possession of the beautiful cup, emblematic of the championship of the Bay Quinte League, hangs in the balance. Both these teams are playing of top form and the game will be worth going miles to see. Terry Milton and Lloyd Broden will be with the Irishmen, while the Boyer brothers will be on the Point Anne lineup. Don't forget, this (Friday) evening, at the Napanee Arena. Game called at 8.15 sharp. A large crowd will be on hand. Come early and secure a good seat.

Marysville Man Had Feet Frozen.
W. McAuley, a resident of the Marysville district, near Bellrocks, was taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, late Tuesday night, suffering from a rather bad case of frostbite, and while he was resting easily as could be expected Wednesday afternoon, his physicians have not yet decided whether he will escape amputation of at least several toes. Mr. McAuley was working for a farmer in his home district, and had gone Tuesday afternoon to a rear barn to feed some cattle which were kept there. In doing so he got his feet wet. This rendered him more susceptible to frostbite, and when he could get back to the farm home he found that his feet were badly bitten. He was given first aid at the home where he worked, and then taken to the Hotel Dieu.

Its Greatest Values Cannot Be Copied

The Chassis Is Patented

As its Coach Body changed the whole trend to closed cars, so the Essex Chassis likewise forecasts the mechanical design of the future.

Essex provides stability without unnecessary weight. It has economy without sacrifice of performance.

It is low priced without disappointment in looks or reliability.

It is more than up-to-date in design. It is in advance of any car with which its price can be compared.

It is built on the Super-Six principle, by Hudson workmen in the Hudson shops.

In quality Hudson and Essex are alike. The patents which make the Super-Six the most enduring, smoothest motor and give it all advantages sought in eight cylinders, prevent any from copying its chassis as has been so generally done in copying the Coach body.

CAMDEN EAST

March came in like alion, with a big snow storm. On Thursday and Friday of last week we had terribly high winds.—Mr. David Patterson, a former resident of this village, died in the Kingston Hospital on February 26th, and the remains were brought to Camden East that night on the 7 o'clock train, and were taken to Mr. D. K. Saul's. The funeral was held at the Methodist Church at 2 o'clock, on Saturday. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Nicklin, and the remains were laid in Williams' vault until spring, when they will be interred in the family plot. A large number of people attended to pay their last respects to a man highly respected in this vicinity. Deceased was 53 years of age and a bachelor. He leaves to mourn his loss three sisters. — Mr. Norman Blakely has returned home from Northern Ontario, where he spent the past winter in the shanty. — Mrs. Sherlock spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith, at Bicknell's Corners East. — Mrs. Alva Emberley, of Bicknell's Corners East, spent Sunday last with her sister, Mrs. John McGarvey, who is able to be out again, after her illness.—Mrs. J. OBITUARY

The Late Geo. A. Blewett.

Another of the old residents of Napanee passed away on Thursday last, February 26th, 1925, in the person of the late George A. Blewett, who was born in Napanee, July 10th, 1845.

The late Mr. Blewett was the eldest son of John Blewett and Mary Johnston, his wife, who were one of the pioneer families of Napanee.

In his lifetime he saw the development of nearly all the great inventions of the last century and the growth of Napanee from a village to its present state with its up-to-date modern life. The limited privileges of the pioneer life were most marked by way of contrast with all the advantages of our present civilization which have become common facts of existence.

Mr. Blewett received his early education at Newburgh Grammar School and later attended Business College in Toronto, which at that time was a comparatively small place.

Mr. Blewett's first venture was in the bakery business, to which he added a fancy biscuit department which assumed large proportions and became a success from its inception. This business was afterwards sold to Mr. W. A. Baker, and Mr. Blewett then conducted a wholesale flour business here.

After that, with his cousin, Henry Blewett, he was interested in a large lumbering business in Buctouche, the environment of the American City did not appeal to him, and after a year's experience he withdrew from the business and returned to Canada, though frequently visiting Boston in the subsequent years.

On his return to Canada he obtained a position as travelling salesman through Ontario, Quebec, Maritime Provinces, Newfoundland and the British West Indies, for a large milling establishment, but after a time he returned to Napanee and took over his father's mercantile business, which he continued till after the latter's death. He then sold out and resumed his occupation as Travelling Flour Salesman for the Campbell Milling Co. of Toronto, which position he followed until a serious illness befell him in Pictou, N.S., when his physicians advised his retirement from business. He then returned to Napanee and lived retired.

At the time of his death he was the oldest member of Napanee Lodge No. 86, I.O.O.F., one of its charter members being the Veteran's jewel presented to him by the Lodge some few years ago. He was a member of Mount Ararat Encampment No. 16, I.O.O.F., and a member of the Masonic Order.

He was a life long Conservative, always taking an active interest in the affairs of the party, and in the old days was known to travel miles to return to Napanee to exercise his franchise.

Son Sonel camp is one of the results of Mr. Blewett's love for outdoor life and in the summer will be partially assisted by the activities of Mr. Blewett and his good wife, and with his splendid help Napanee and life was made most enjoyable for the campers and many citizens of Napanee.

—On September 10th, 1874, Mr. Blewett was married to Clarissa Jane Minaker, daughter of Peter Minaker, of Greenbush, Prince Edward County, Ontario, and the recent death three weeks before Mr. Blewett, was a sad blow to him.

Mr. Blewett was a faithful member of Trinity Church for over fifty years and was a regular attendant at the Church services when in Napanee.

He will be very much missed, not only in his church and fraternal associations, but by the citizens who were accustomed to greet him as he passed up and down our streets in his daily perambulations.

The surviving members of the family are Mr. Fred. J. Blewett, Mrs. E. E. Bradman and Mrs. Frank Spafford, all of Toronto. The sympathy of the citizens goes out to them in their sad bereavement.

Campaign by County Regarding Redistribution

The Warden of this County, Mr. John L. Smith, has inaugurated a campaign within this County to bring to the attention of the Ontario Government the attitude of the local people regarding Redistribution.

The Premier of Ontario has stated that in any Redistribution Bill brought before the Legislature the County boundaries will be preserved as far as possible. It is the purpose of this campaign to emphasize the necessity of preserving for the County of Lennox and Addington electoral representation, instead of having this County cut up as was recently done for Federal election purposes, with slices going to Prontenac and Prince Edward Counties.

The County boundary of the County of Lennox and Addington should be the basis for any newly formed constituency. The fact that the County is dependant for considerable support from the Provincial Government for educational and road purposes, and for the administration of justice, makes the matter of proper representation from this County one of great importance.

The following returns from the last general election show the total number of eligible voters in the County of Lennox and Addington as 11,868, and curiously enough the County of Frontenac had exactly the same number. The number of votes cast in each County, by local municipalities, was as follows:

County of Lennox and Addington.

Petitions and Resolutions Regarding Redistribution

At the meetings of the various Municipal Councils held this week, the Councils of Bath, Newburgh, Camden, North Fredericksburgh, South Fredericksburgh, Richmond, Sheffield and Napanee, all passed Resolutions urging the Ontario Government to keep the County boundary of Lennox and Addington intact, in case a Redistribution Bill is brought before the Legislature during the present session. It is understood that this question is to be taken up by the various Municipal Councils in the County when they meet later in the month, and also by the County Council at its March session.

The Premier of Ontario has stated that in case there is a redistribution, the County boundaries will be preserved as far as possible. However, to impress the Government with the attitude of the people of Lennox and Addington in case this County should be involved in the redistribution, a petition is being circulated throughout the County to keep the County of Lennox and Addington on the map.

This is a question of vital importance to every resident of the County, irrespective of political affiliations and everyone should assist in every person and organization. The officers and members of both the Liberal and the Conservative local associations are lending their support, and a committee of the Napanee Chamber of Commerce is handling the petition in the town. The petition left Mr. Nickle, one of the branches of the various banks in the County and citizens should put their shoulder to the wheel and sign as many possible so as to have them available for forwarding to the Government at an early date.

The petition reads as follows :—

To the Government of Ontario.

We, the undersigned Electors of the County of Frontenac and Addington, respectfully petition :

That in the event of any contemplated changes being made in the present constituency of Lennox and the present constituency of Addington, the County boundary of the County of Lennox and Addington shall be made the basis of any newly formed Constituency.

TOWN COUNCIL

Council Chambers,
Napanee, March 2nd, 1925.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor Ming in the chair. MM

Members present—Reeve Graham, and Councillors Simpson, Dunbar, MacGregor and Howitt.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read, and on motion were confirmed.

Mr. R. H. Paul appeared before the Council and showed them a plan of proposed alterations that he wished to make to his automobile service station on Dundas street east. He wished to erect a canopy over the gasoline and oil tanks, the roof of which will project over the street line about seven feet, although the tanks will be moved back from their present location and placed on his own property.

On motion the above matter was referred to the Streets Committee to investigate and report.

Mr. Frank Maracle was present on behalf of the members of the Napanee Band. He said they were in need of two cornets, and they were willing to purchase one instrument if the town would procure the other one, and the band would turn both instruments over to the town. Referred to the Town Property Committee, with power to act.

Dr. Morden was present and extended a cordial invitation to the members of the Town Council to attend luncheon at 6.30 p.m., and a lecture at 7.30 p.m., in the Armouries, on Tuesday evening, as guests of the Junior Canadian Club of the Collegiate Institute.

The Mayor thanked Dr. Morden and the Club for their kind invitation.

Communications.

From the Dominion of the Empire, asking for a rebate of $8.00 paid for use of the Town Hall. On motion the request was granted.

Mr. John Ayres, of Gas and Fuel Plants, Limited, had been in town recently and interviewed members of the Council re the establishing of a gas plant in Napanee. At present they have several plants in operation, one of which is in Belleville. According to an item in a Toronto paper this Company is negotiating to erect a plant in Whitby and are also now prepared to furnish gas at $1.25 per 1000 cu. feet.

On motion this communication was laid on the table for further information.

From W. A. Littlejohn, City Clerk, Toronto, asking that the Council co-operate in petitioning the Ontario Legislature to look into the reason for the high price of gasoline.

On motion the Clerk was instructed to write Mr. Littlejohn, concurring in their efforts.

The Clerk informed the Council that the account of Mr. Lilley, being $200.00, on behalf of Maxwell Macgregor, Limited, re the T. A., has been ordered refunded to the Public Trustee by the Attorney General's Department.

From Robt. J. Reid, Kingston, asking for payment of an account, $4.00, for conveying an indigent patient from Kingston Junction to the Hospital. As this Council knows nothing of this account no action was taken.

From Wm. Maracle, asking for position as caretaker of Disposal Works, at a reasonable salary. Referred to the Town Property Committee to report.

The Auditors' Report for the year 1924 was presented, and referred to the Finance Committee to report.

A resolution was passed petitioning the Ontario Legislature, in the event of a Redistribution Bill being brought up at this session of Parliament, that the boundary lines of Lennox and Addington be maintained as at present.

A letter of appreciation from Mr. Chas. Graham, Chairman of the Finance Committee, presented a report of the expenditure to date of the different committees, and also stated that $6,565.09 of last year's taxes were still outstanding. On motion the report was adopted.

Reeve Graham informed the Council that the usual work was going on on the streets. They had had more than the trouble with snow and water, and also some sewer trouble, but were not doing any more at present than is really necessary.

A by-law to borrow money from the Standard Bank, from time to time, as needed, up to $50,000.00, was given its several readings, signed, sealed, numbered and finally passed.

Accounts.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid :

The accounts of the Auditors, Wilfred S. Wilson and W. F. McLaughlin, $60.00 each, were referred to the Finance Committee, with power to act.

An account of Robt. Light, $12.50, (Poor and Sanitary), was referred to the Clerk, with power to act.

On motion the Council adjourned.

SIR GEO. E. FOSTER AT NAPANEE.

DELIVERS ELOQUENT ADDRESS IN ARMOURIES.

Sir Geo. E. Foster, K.C.M.G., made a hurried trip to Napanee on Tuesday, when as the guest of the Junior Canadian Club he interested a large and appreciative audience in the Armouries.

The Club met for supper at six-thirty and had as their guests besides Sir George Foster, members of the Board of Commerce, the School Board and the Town Council. At the table there were no addresses, the Club adjourning immediately to the main body of the Armouries, where an audience of about six hundred waited the advent of the speaker.

On the platform, besides the distinguished guest, an Dr. Morden, Principal of the Collegiate; Dr. Ming, Mayor of Napanee, and Mr. Malcolm Corkill, who is President of the Club, acted as Chairman.

On opening the public meeting a musical number was rendered by the Collegiate Orchestra, after which the chairman introduced the speaker. He referred to the long parliamentary career of the guest, and of the very distinguished services he had rendered the country.

On rising to speak Sir George complimented the organization on its initiative and energy, and expressed the hope that it might continue to exert a lasting influence on the life of the community. Passing on he told of the formation in England first, and then in the other parliaments of the Empire of a Parliamentary association, whose object it was to weld the Empire more closely, if possible the divergent parts of the far flung Empire.

Last year twelve members from Great Britain, eight from Canada, four from New Zealand and eight from Australia, met in Southampton, where they took the steamer for South Africa, and spent over two months there studying the people, the resources and the problems of the country.

The speaker, who has lost none of that old time eloquence which has moved vast audiences in former political campaigns, showed that he had got a grip of the fundamental problems confronting South Africa. He stated these in a clear and convincing language, which was interspersed by passages descriptive of the scenery and the landscape which would be hard to surpass.

The problem facing South Africa is a race problem. A minority of the white race are seeking to govern a country the majority of which is black. Consequently restrictions have to be placed on the black, restrictions which would not be tolerated in a country of one race and one color. In Cape Colony the blacks and whites have an equal franchise, in the Orange Free State and the Transvaal the blacks are denied the vote, while in Natal, though the blacks have the vote it is not exercised by them. This leads to difficulties which will only become the more acute as the blacks become more numerous.

The speaker paid a splendid tribute to the Empire Builder, Cecil Rhodes, whom he referred was the foremost Britisher of his day.

An interesting part of the address was the comparison between Canada and South Africa, which are different in their political organization, in their industrial life, their natural products and their people.

The speaker brought vividly before the audience the diversity and the complexity of the British Empire, and he need that there is for a better understanding and a deeper sympathy of one party with the problem and advantages of the other.

For over two hours Sir George Foster kept the attention of the audience and when he resumed his seat he was given a spontaneous ovation which lasted much longer than what is usual in such cases.

On motion of Mr. Denike Fennell and Miss Hilda Daly, a vote of appreciation was extended from the audience through the chairman to the speaker, who made a brief and fitting reply.

The meeting was closed by singing the National Anthem.

No. 1087 THE PROPRIETORS

EGYPTIANS HAD FIRST FAIRS

Custom Which Has Become Universal Had Its Origin in the Land of the Pharaohs.

Though country fairs, to us of the metropolis, mean nothing more than a bit of local color on how the other half of the world lives, they are still an important feature of the social and commercial intercourse of many rural communities, where the facilities for reaching large centers are not yet very greatly developed. And so they could seem to be just an adaptation to natural needs, which they were from the very beginning, ages and ages ago. But then they were natural needs of a very different order.

It was among the ancient Egyptians that they started. At the periodic overflow of the Nile, which laid waste almost the entire Nile valley, the people in the affected areas would flock with their produce in barges to the festivals of various kinds which were always being held in the large cities or in the vicinity of the great temples. Here they found a ready market for whatever they had brought with them and many diversions to while away the time until they could go back to their homes. It is interesting to note that it is still the custom among the Hindus and other Asiatic races to flock periodically to the great markets during festival times.

In the early days of the church these celebrations were assigned to the festival day of the patron saint of the town in which they were held. The church yard was then given over to tradesmen for the display of their wares and refreshments were served. Because the inhabitants of the town were supposed to spend the night in prayer to the patron saint, the festivals at this time were called wakes, but as Christianity waned the religious element was discarded and the term "fair" adopted.—Chicago Journal.

New Fad for Collectors.

Americans are collectors of a good many things from buttons and postage stamps to costly works of art, but so far as known none of them makes a specialty of locks of hair. It is different in England, remarks the Indianapolis Star. Recently a lock of Napoleon's hair was offered at auction and brought $80. It had been given by Napoleon's valet to the captain of the British company on guard at St. Helena at the time of the emperor's death, and had been in his own possession and that of his descendants since the event.

The very next day among the effects of a recently deceased admirer of Admiral Nelson being offered for sale was a lock of the British admiral's hair. It went for $75. It came originally from a barber shop on Bond street, where it was then, and still is, the custom to preserve and tag the clippings from the heads of illustrious customers. The continuance of the fashion as well as the auction sales indicates the existence of a demand for such relics in England. The preservation of such locks for commercial purposes is a point American barbers missed, probably because there is no demand, for since the wearing by women of brooches containing locks of hair went out of fashion it is not known that "human documents" of this sort are treasured, at least in collections. Certainly they would hardly bring much at auction.

The Ways of Children.

Nothing can stagger a child's faith; he accepts the cleanest substitutes and can swallow the most staring incongruities. The chair he has just been besieging as a castle or valiantly cutting in the ground as a dragon, is taken away for the accommodation of a morning visitor and he is nothing abashed to see mamma sitting there with a stationary coal scuttle; in the midst of the enchanted pleasance he can even

M. A. SILLS, Clerk. J. A. YEOMANS, Reeve.

BY-LAW NO. 5, FOR 1925.

A By-law providing for the commutation of statute labor, in the Township of North Fredericksburgh.

The Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Township of North Fredericksburgh enacts as follows:—

Whereas this Municipal Council of North Fredericksburgh is authorized by 4 Ed. 7, c. 25, sec. 7, to abolish by By-law all statute labor, be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the Township of North Fredericksburgh.

1. That from and after the date of the passing of this By-law, no statute labor shall be performed or assessed against any person resident, or assessed in this municipality.

2. That this Council shall in each and every year in lieu of statute labor levy such amount as may be necessary upon the rateable assessment of the municipality to be expended on the construction and maintenance of the roads and bridges of the Township.

3. That all existing By-laws in this Township relating to statute labor, or parts of By-laws contrary to or inconsistent with the provisions of this By-law are hereby repealed.

4. That a copy of this By-law be forwarded to the Department of Public Highways of Ontario within one month of the passing thereof.

Passed this 2nd day of March, 1925.

M. A. SILLS, Clerk. J. A. YEOMANS, Reeve.

BY-LAW NO. 6, FOR 1925.

A By-law to provide for expenditure on roads in the Township of North Fredericksburgh during the year 1925.

Whereas the regulations of the Department of Public Highways of Ontario require that the expenditure on Township Roads, under the Ontario Highways Act, 3rd amendments thereto, shall be provided for annually by Township By-law,

Therefore the Council of the Municipal Corporation of the Township of North Fredericksburgh, enacts as follows:—

1. The sum of $1000.00 is hereby appropriated from monies raised by the Township for expenditure on construction on the roads in the said Township during the year 1925.

2. The sum of $1700.00 is hereby appropriated from monies raised by the Township for expenditure upon maintenance and repairs on the roads in the said Township during the year 1925.

3. That said monies shall be expended under the direction of the duly appointed Township Road Superintendent.

4. All work on which the said monies shall be expended shall be performed in accordance with the last revised regulations respecting Township Roads, issued by the Department of Public Highways of Ontario.

5. The Clerk shall transmit two certified copies of this By-law to the Deputy Minister, Department of Public Highways of Ontario, within thirty days after the passing thereof.

Passed this 2nd day of March, 1925.

M. A. SILLS, Clerk. J. A. YEOMANS, Reeve.

FEED AND CARE OF COWS

SOME POINTS IN SUCCESSFUL DAIRYING.

Dairy Cows Performs Double Duty In Supporting Herself and Producing Large Quantities of Food Stuff for the Human Race and Must Be Cared For Accordingly.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

There is too much waste in many dairy stables, cowsheds and cowyards not giving the cow a chance to do her work. Tied up all winter long, any feed that she gets must be brought to her; it is the raw material with which she works. The cow can not create milk out of nothing, so if the feed supplied is not sufficient for production then she will be as an idle machine in the factory, no production. Cows that are underfed never made any money for their owners, and might better not exist.

The successful dairyman treats his cow in a way that will insure health, comfort and production. Some fail because they stop after providing just enough to give health and comfort. They should go all the way and provide for production. The overhead in the same. Work the cow machine to capacity that she may give you a production that will pay for feed, labor and also give a good profit.

A cow that yields 8,000 pounds of milk in a year produces within that period more food products than are contained in the entire body of a fat bullock weighing 1,200 pounds. While the cow is producing the 8,000 pounds of milk she maintains her own body and she also supplies the substances for the growth of her unborn calf. Quite a heavy task and all the energy used in the life processes comes from the feeds that are supplied to her, she cannot create anything, her function is to convert vegetable feeds to flesh and milk. When food is not supplied in sufficient quantity the cow is helpless. And so we see so many poor emaciated, starved cows during the winter. All of which would be willing workers if their owners could see the point, and supply feed in abundance that the animals could do the work of producing milk, butter fat and young.

The successful dairy farmer

1. Uses cows of dairy type, temperament and breeding.

2. Treats his cows gently, keeps them contented, in comfortable quarters and follows a regular daily round of feeding, cleaning and milking.

3. Weighs and records the production of each individual, discards those that fail after having a fair chance.

4. Feeds a clean, wholesome, well-balanced ration during the winter and good grass and clover with grain as needed during the summer.

5. Gives the cow a six weeks' vacation period with liberal feed allowances between lactations

6. Provides comfort at time of calving, is prepared for milk fever and mammitis. Feeds sparingly for first few days and gradually brings up to full feed in two weeks' time.

7. Provides light, ventilation, clean water and salt during period of stabling.

8. Protects his cows from the cold winds of winter, the excess heat and dies of summer. Provides a shelter of trees or shrubs near at hand.

9. Uses the clovers, red, sweet and alfalfa with corn silage to form the bulk of the ration.

10. Watches both ends of the machine, knows what goes in and what comes out. Values both and strikes a trial balance frequently. Asks the question, "Who is at fault? Why the loss?" or "Why the profit?" and has horse-sense to admit his fault, if he is at fault—and credit the cow if she is entitled to credit.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College.

What Dairymen Are Looking For.

Dairy farmers producing milk for the city trade depend largely on the half and half type of farmer-breeder for their supply of cows. These specialists in milk production are the wideawake business type of men. They know feeds, cows and markets. When they go out to buy more cows up and down the country side roads, this is what they look for:—Cows with dairy temperament, feed capacity, well developed milk organs, constitution, vigor, freedom from tuberculosis, mastitis and abortion.

Dairy temperament is indicated by a wedge-shaped conformation, freedom from marked coarseness, alertness, activity and bright eye.

Feed capacity is indicated by a long deep roomy middle, broad muzzle, strong jaw, and well-developed salivary glands.

Well-developed milk organs are indicated by an udder of good size and quality, well attached forward and high up between the thighs, large well-placed teats, and large veins running forward on the abdomen.

Constitution and vigor are indicated by a good heart girth and a good width through the region of the heart, a healthy condition of the skin and hair.

Freedom from disease is best indicated by the application of the tuberculin test and also the contagious abortion agglutination test.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College.

Dairy Notes.

Raw milk as delivered to dairies is not likely to remain sweet longer than 12 to 24 hours, whereas when pasteurized and cooled it will be good and sweet for two or three days. This is a decided advantage for the milk dealer and also for the housewife who is frequently troubled with sour milk when the produce is handled in a raw condition.

The new French Enamel White Paint is the greatest advance in paint manufacturing of recent years. Absolutely will not turn yellow. One coat covers where two are ordinarily required, and it costs no more. Ask for a demonstration, at Wallace's, Napanee agents.

Times Have Changed.

There was recently disfovered, in the archives of Winchester, England, the old Winchester County Book, the following entry: "1625, 30th December. Taken from the cofer thirty shillings for the apprehending of six poor boys, that went to Virginia." These must truly have been the "good old days," before people were bothered about the cost of living. One cannot help wondering what the descendants of these six adventurers going to America would think, if they were given only five shillings and told to go and buy themselves an outfit today.

Mrs. Leeman says: "Carnol saved my life—many thanks to Carnol"

But read her letter. It tells her story better than we can.—"I feel it my duty to write you about your wonderful medicine Carnol. In January I had an operation for appendicitis. The pain I suffered before the operation and the loss of blood afterwards left me so weakened and run down that I wasn't able to go about on my feet. I just had to be around all the time. The doctor said I was to take iron for my blood for it was so thin. I had anemia and folks said I had only a short time to live. Carnol saved my life—many thanks to Carnol. I have gained about ten pounds in three months. After every meal I used to have indigestion and heartburn so bad that the pain was intense. A dose of Carnol would give me immediate relief. Now I am absolutely cured of both. I had severe headaches and pains across my back and they have also disappeared.

This is how I started using Carnol. I asked a friend about Carnol. She said it was awfully good. Her doctor had recommended it to her to take after she had been in bed for months and she was completely cured. I called up our druggist and asked him about Carnol. He recommended it but said he was just out of it and wanted me to take a bottle of beef, iron and wine, but I said, 'No, I want Carnol.' So he said he would send and get me some. Just as soon as it came I commenced to take it and it has renewed my blood and given me a wonderful appetite. I never have to take a laxative with this medicine. I cannot recommend your medicine highly enough. It is just exactly what the system needs."—Mrs. Wilson H. Leeman, Ivanhoe, Ont. 9-2t

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, David J. Thompson, who departed this life March 6th, 1922.
Gone but not forgotten.
Deep in my heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest;
In a memory's frame I will keep it,
Because he was one of the best.
Friends may think I have forgotten,
When at times they see me smile;
But they little know the heartache,
That the smile hides all the while.
For it is not the tears at the time that is shed,
That tell of the heart that is torn;
But passionate tears in after years
And remembrances silently borne.
Sadly missed by Wife and Family.
10a

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Flassie B. Young.
Come from us but leaving memories,
Dwelt on our hearts we take away;
Memories that will always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.
Memories that will always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.
Death we hear the angels calling,
She is here, the one we love:
Just a little while before us,
In the heavenly home above.
Sadly missed by Parents and Brother.
10ap

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear sister, Vera Callaghan, who departed this life March 9th, 1922.
Dead! can we forget her?
Dead! can we cease to love her?
Memories that will always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.
Gone from us but leaving memories,
Dwelt on our hearts we take away;
Memories that will always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.
Sadly missed by Sister and Brothers.

For the Horses.

We know of no better mixture than Milling's Improved Compound Iron Powders, a blood purifier, worm destroyer, tonic, kidney and cough remedy in one. Freshly prepared at Gibbard Drug Store.

The Sunday-school teacher was telling her class that they ought to do at least one act each week to benefit someone else happy.

Tommy to one boy she said, "Have you made anyone happy this week, Bobby?"

"Yes, miss," the boy replied. "I went to see my aunt, and she was happy when I left."

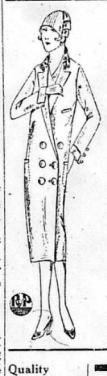
FOX SERGE REEFERS FOR YOUNG LADIES FROM 2 TO 6 YEARS. PRICED $3.95 EACH
No mother can be more satisfied with her young daughter's appearance than when clad in a smartly cut Reefer Top-Coat.
Our Spring range is just that well-set-up coat that fits as well as it looks. Their brass buttons, notched lapels and flapped pockets certainly stamp them as being correctly tailored. Each is lined through with mercerized twill.
Fox Serges are guaranteed to wear, to wear splendidly, and at $3.95 each, we will guarantee them exceptional values.
These are suitable for boys as well as girls. Come in Navy only.

GIRLS, NEW SPRING STYLES IN MIDDIES HAVE ARRIVED
The longer regulation styles are again being stressed. For present wear these come in long sleeve styles with sailor collars. Collars and cuffs may be of middy jean or detachable flannel.
We are featuring the "Admiral" Middy, which is recognized as being unsurpassable in quality of fabrics, styles, workmanship and values.
Flannel Collars, $2.00 and $2.25.
Flannel Collars, in yoke styles, $2.75.
N. C. I. Middies, $3.75.



DOUBLE AND SINGLE BREASTED TAILORED COATS ARE CONSIDERED SMART FOR SPRING WEAR
In Fashion's Hall of Fame for Spring, the Tailored Coat stands high. These Coats are so trig and smart in appearance they are nigh non-describable. The woman or miss with artistic eye will appreciate the many outstanding features that are "tailored-into" these coats.
The Prince of Wales models, with half-belts in back, shares honors with un-belted flare back tailored styles.
Our Spring and Easter assemblage of Tailored Coats are made from a magnificent range of all wool fabrics. Neat checked tweeds as well as finely napped cloths are used exclusively.
Colored Silken Handkerchiefs floating gayly from top-pockets add color and dash to these already exceptionally attractive garments.
Obtainable in Women's and Misses' sizes.

T. A. After a thorough discussion of the whole situation, the following was passed as the judgment of the committee, and a copy forwarded to each of the local members:—

Napanee, Feb. 28th, 1925.

We, the members of the Executive of the Lennox and Addington Prohibition Union, qualified voters of the constituencies of Lennox and Addington, reflecting all shades of political opinion and representing a prohibition majority of about four thousand, meeting in Napanee to-day to discuss the present situation, do most vigorously protest against any attempt to weaken the O. T. A. by the introduction of an amendment permitting the sale of stronger beer, and we do call on our representatives in the Ontario House, Mr. Hambly for Lennox, and Mr. Mack for Addington, to protest on our behalf. And we do further pledge ourselves to support in any future election only those men who are of known prohibition convictions, and who will bind themselves to work for a bone dry Ontario, and for the retention of the O. T. A. in its present form as the first and most effective step in that direction.

Mrs. Ed. Wilson, Mrs. Nathan Miller, Mrs. T. Symington, Mrs. D. Murney Park, Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, Mr. A. H. Card, Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, Mr. R. B. Allen, Mr. Alf. McCutcheon, Mr. Rockwell Parks, Mr. C. A. Wiseman, Mr. R. W. Longmore, Mr. E. J. Corkill, Mr. W. R. Pringle, Mr. E. Ming, Rev. A. J. Wilson.

The instructor at the rifle range was becoming sarcastic.

"Really, Private Bullett," he snapped, as the recruit again shot wide of the mark, "I don't believe you could hit a furniture van."

"Well, you can't talk," retorted Bullett. "You missed a train yesterday."

FORTUNES IN PRISON CELLS.

Business Conducted From Behind the Bars.

A portable tea-making machine has been placed on the market by a man named Wunnenberg, and is being manufactured at the rate of two hundred a month.

Wunnenberg, a German, states that he invented his new machine while serving a three-year sentence in the Federal prison at Atlanth, Georgia, for violation of the neutrality laws.

Wunnenberg is by no means the only man who has made money in prison. Joseph Swezck, a Bulgarian, but, like Wunnenberg, an American citizen was sent to five years' penal servitude for burglary, and while serving his sentence in the Maryland State Prison invented a device to be used in the manufacture of boots. As soon as he was released he was offered a position at £1,000 a year with a firm of bootmakers, and with the royalties which have accrued is now a very wealthy man.

A banker named Zucca was arrested in Paris for what was politely called an "irregular financial transaction." He was found guilty and imprisoned at Fresnes. By bribing a warder he got into communication with a former clerk and started a scheme for getting small investors to subscribe for Lottery Bonds.

Business went extremely well, and the new establishment was soon employing ten clerks while Zucca, in his cell, was coining money at the rate of £60 a day. But something happened and Zucca was tried all over again, given a fresh sentence, and placed in another prison, where he will have no opportunity to corrupt his guardians.

Talking of finance in a cell brings to mind the notorious case of Alphons. Stephani, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in Dannemora Criminal Asylum for the murder of Clinton Reynolds, a well-known New York lawyer.

Although adjudged insane, Stephani has a amazing financial instinct, and his trustees, acting on his advice, have invested his money so that the four thousand pounds which was his original capital is now nearly fifty thousand.

But though a rich man, Stephani, being "civilly dead," is unable to touch one penny of his property, and his greatest daily luxury is a tin of condensed milk.

Another insane criminal, an artist named Todd, who died many years ago in the Criminal Lunatic Asylum of Broadmoor, had some of his pictures exhibited in London. They were of wonderful quality, and in the opinion of some critics equal to those of Watts. Todd painted many pictures, a number of which were sold at good prices, and he also did excellent paintings in Broadmoor, which are still to be seen there.

In the French penal settlement of New Caledonia convicts who behave well are allotted land, and allowed to farm on a profit-sharing basis. Years ago Pere la Capisaire, having a passion for farming, bought land and transported for life, and sent to the penal island.

He showed an extraordinary genius for agriculture, and for years past has been making at least a thousand a year. Guido Casali, an Italian, sent to prison for the murder of a barrister at Perugia occupied his time in writing a play, a tragedy based on his own crime. This play was afterwards purchased by the great actress Eleanora Duse, and has proved a money-maker.

"PERFECT" MAN GETS ROAST

London Writer Refuses to Envy Women Who Are "Blessed" With Such a Life Companion.

Every one envied a certain lady because it was apparent that she had such a perfect husband.

True enough, the gentleman neither drank, nor loafed at other women, grumbled, nor did he spend any time away from his wife except when at business.

Yet the woman who "possessed" this model of perfection found him a most irritating companion, with whom she was forced to spend her life, says London Answers. For instance, if she got worn out trying to pacify baby, which was fierce, and eventually lost her temper with the child, her husband would come in, take the little one in his arms and amiably try—and often succeed, as a fresh person sometimes does—to work the oracle with calmness.

That would be all very well if he didn't put on the "See how much better my method is" air, which is most tantalizing.

Perfect men are so anxious to obtrude their perfection upon their womenfolk that they often defeat their ends. They spend money on seats for the opera or buying little presents with no knowledge of whether such will be the most acceptable or desirable gifts.

It is because these men are so good in intentions that their wives drop quarrelsome on the carpet or storm a bit when things go wrong; for these flawless, "respectful" men have a lot of good qualities to hamper their faults!

The man who never raises his voice to complain rarely softens it to wife with loving words of praise.

Shells Still Flying.

Residents of the devasted districts of France are still finding fresh bursts of shell and shrapnel.

The new source is caused by the small grass and swamp fires, which frequently set off the shells that have been piled up to be hauled away and exploded in some safe place.

Mal. H. C. Greene of Boston had a thrilling ride and narrowly escaped a hurt when a shell burst in the fire at St. Quentin to Lisen as a result of one of these fires. A French woman who was in a car have possession shell exploded and considerable damage has been done.

In the east, desolate fields, thousands of unexploded shells have been picked up by German prisoners, and though there are details hauling them away and exploding them in remote valleys every day, there are still long rows of them everywhere. Some are from locomotives and from small fires where battlefield rubbish is being burned occasionally set fire to patches of dry weeds, and the accidental bursts are numerous.

Brazilian Church 100 Years Old.

Christ church of Rio de Janeiro, which soon will celebrate its centenary, is said to have been the first Protestant church to be built in South America.

It was erected to provide a place of worship for the English community. Two restrictions were placed on the church, the exterior was to resemble a dwelling house and not a temple, and no bells were allowed. Out of this compromise grew the religious liberty which now exists in Brazil.

Today there are two Anglican dioceses and 40 churches in South America.

Stability and quality of English goods has again been proven in B. B. White Lead. Insist on your painter using the best, B. B. Lead, Pure Linseed Oil and Turpentine, at Wallace's Drug Store.

WORKING GIRL'S EXPERIENCE

Read How She Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Arnprior, Ontario.—"I must write and tell you my experience with your medicine. I was working at the factory for three years and became so run-down that I used to take weak spells and would be at home at least one day each week. I was treated by the doctors for anemia, but it didn't seem to do me any good. I was told to take a rest, but was unable to, and kept on getting worse. I was troubled mostly with my periods, I would sometimes miss for two months, and when it came it would last around two weeks, and I would have such painsat times in my right side that I could hardly walk. I am only 19 years of age and weigh 118 pounds now, and before taking the Vegetable Compound I was only 102 pounds. I was sickly for two years and some of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken a bottle of it I felt a change. My mother has been taking it for a different ailment and has found it very satisfactory. I am willing to tell friends about the medicine and to answer letters asking about it."—Miss HAZEL BERNDT, Box 700, Arnprior, Ontario.

A day out each week shows in the pay envelope. If you are troubled with some weakness, indicated by a run-down condition, tired feelings, pains and irregularity, let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound help you.

SELECTING DAIRY COW

TEMPERAMENT, FEED CAPACITY, CONSTITUTION AND VIGOR.

These Are the Points Which Should Receive Attention and This Article Tells What to Look For Under Each of These Heads.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

When a man is in need of dairy cows and goes out to search for animals that are likely to be profitable to him there are a number of things to be kept in mind. A cow is a cow, but comparatively few are real high producing profitable cows. The purchaser should depend on his own judgment, and not on statements of owners unless such statements are backed up by carefully kept records of production.

Cows with "dairy temperament" have thin necks, sharp withers, prominent vertebrae, hips and pin bones; thin fleshing thighs and a general body conformation that is wedge-shaped no matter from what angle it is viewed. Dairy temperament is also associated with alertness, marked activity, and lack of all coarseness in the individual.

Cows with "feed capacity" show plenty of room or middle for the storage of feed. They are long and deep between the shoulder and the hook bones, wide between the forehead, broad muzzle, and large jaw with full well-developed salivary glands.

Cows with "constitution and vigor" are wide through the heart region, have a big strong heart, a strong circulation of blood to all parts of the body. This condition is usually reflected in the healthy condition of the hair, oily secretions of the hide and well-developed, prominent veins on the under side of the abdomen and on the udder, face and neck. Constitution and vigor is also shown in large bright eyes, large nostrils and a general alertness.

Cows with "well-developed milk organs" can boast of, the following characteristics:

Udder well attached to the body and not pendulous.

Udder tissue pliable and soft to the touch, free from coarseness, hard areas or lumps.

Udder good size, extended well forward and high up behind.

Large veins running from the anterior attachment forward and well into the abdomen.

The skin covering the udder is soft and pliable, teats are of a good size to fill the hand and are evenly placed.

Don't forget the producing dairyman is not likely to sell his best dairy cows. Cause that have faults are most likely to be offered for sale. If you can see her milked so much the better.—Publications, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College.

High and Low Testing Milk Compared With Mixed Milk.

This question has been raised as to whether milk with varying fat content when mixed, as is done at the cheese factory, would give results that average between high and low testing lots made up separately, as is done in the creamery system.

Four tests were made by dividing lots of milk as delivered to the O.A.C. Dairy Department from farms in the surrounding Guelph, between two vats, one of which tested high in fat and the other comparatively low in fat. Each vat contained 450 pounds of milk. From each 150 pounds were taken and mixed in a third vat. Altogether 1,200 pounds of milk were used in each test. The average percentages of fat in the milk were 3.35, 3.27 and 3.55. The yields of cheese per 1,000 pounds of milk were, respectively 102.6, 94.62 and 97.60. The theoretical yield of the mixed lots is 98.61 pounds of cheese which is within one pound of the actual. This difference is accounted for by differences in moisture content of the cheese, difference in shrinkage and in losses due to handling the milk, curd and cheese. The average scores of the cheese were 88.48, 86.61 and 88.74 respectively for high, low and mixed lots, indicating that in the opinion of the expert judge there was not much difference in the quality of the cheese.

Conclusion.—These tests show that mixed lots of milk containing varying percentages of fat are likely to be made into cheese averaging fairly closely to what would be obtained if the lots were made separately into cheese.

Sweet Clover Butter.

The tests made in butter-making during 1924 with milk from cows pasturing on sweet clover was conducted with milk from farms where sweet clover was the only pasture. The butter was made in small lots in the Farm Dairy at the O. A. College and was scored by the Official Butter Grader for the Province, and in other years no flavor could be detected in the milk, cream or butter which might be attributed to sweet clover feeding. Five lots of butter were made altogether, one from raw cream churned sweet, one from raw cream ripened with a culture, one pasteurized without culture, one from pasteurized cream to which culture was added and then ripened. These conditions cover practically all that are likely to be met with on the farm or at the creamery. The butter was held in cold storage for two months before it was judged, in order to allow any flavors to develop that might be present. Sweet clover is a valuable pasture crop on dairy farms and should not be condemned by cheese or butter manufacturers.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. College.

THE SPLICING OF ROPE

MAY SAVE THE FARMER MUCH TIME AND TROUBLE.

Rope Is Made of Cotton, Hemp, Jute and Flax—Strength of Manilla Rope — Short, Long and Side Splices — Rope Halters Are the Strongest.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Rope for stock halters, hay fork and grain carrier equipment, the tying of animals or materials, hoists or holding is used on every farmstead. A knowledge that will enable the farm boy to tie quickly the various knots and hitches will save much time and reduce the possibility of accident on all operations where rope is used. The ability to quickly splice a broken hay fork rope at the time when it is most needed will save hay, time and trouble.

Rope Material.

Rope is made of various materials such as cotton, hemp, manilla fibre, jute and flax. The rope most frequently used on the farm is made from hemp, imported from Manilla. Common rope is generally composed of three or four strand. The four-strand grade is stronger than the three-strand of equal diameter.

Strength of Manilla Rope.

The safe load for the various diameters of manilla (three-strand) rope is about one-sixth of the actual breaking load. For three-strand manilla rope of one inch diameter the safe load is under 1,000 pounds, while the breaking load is nearly 6,500 pounds. Half-inch rope should not be subjected to a load greater than 225 pounds if it is to last and give service. The breaking strength of half-inch manilla rope is 1,620 pounds. A three-quarter inch rope can be expected to carry 525 pounds as a safe load, or 3,600 pounds with very great risk to both material and operator. Rope should not be used over small pulleys or runs if it is to last and give good service. Many of the hay fork pulleys used are less than eight inches in diameter, and are very hard on the rope, causing heavy strain, wear and early destruction. Rope pliability to rope, while increasing the rope's resistance to weathering, reduces the strength from twenty-five per cent. Rope should be kept dry.

The Short Splice.

The short splice is of great service. It is quickly made and strong. The weaving of the strands of two threestrand ropes together in the form of a splice increases the diameter at the point of repair to the extent of making this type of splice objectionable if the rope is to be run over pulleys. To make a short splice, unravel the ends of the two pieces of rope that it is desired to splice or fifteen inches if the rope is one inch in diameter, or less if working on a smaller rope. After unravelling wrap the ends of the strands to prevent them untwisting. Bring the strands together by tying by pairs with an overhand knot, the strands from opposite ends of the ropes being joined by the other. This done, the work is completed by weaving the strands into the rope in both directions, using a spike or marlin and pointed wooden pin to open the strands. The free ends are passed under every other strand for a distance of six or eight inches each way from the centre of the splice. This done the remaining ends of strands are cut off and the work completed.

The Long Splice.

This type of splice is used where it is desired to make a union of two pieces of rope and still retain nearly the same diameter at the splice. A long splice in a three-strand rope will be composed of not more than four strands at any one point, and the length of the union is very much greater than in the short splice. To make a long splice count off sixteen turns from the ends to be spliced and mark by tying with a strong twine. Unlay the rope ends down to the point of tying and force the ends together to begin the splice. Proceed it further by unlaying one strand from each rope end and filling in with one of the loose strands. This accomplished, three of the loose strands will be much shorter than formerly, and the ends can be woven into the rope as with the short splice and the third strand developed. The strands can then be cut off and tucked in out of the way, leaving a long smooth splice.

The Side Splice.

The side splice is frequently useful where it is desired to join two ropes of the same or different sizes. It is extensively used in halter making. This splice should always be made so that the pull is in the same direction as the spliced in rope strands.

Rope Halters.

Rope halters of various types and sizes can be easily made by any handy farm hand. The rope halter has the advantage of greater strength over halters made from leather or cotton rope. Up to cost of the material a rope halter is very low—the purchase cost of one rope. The work of making it is done on wet or stormy days.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Care of Strawberry Plantation.

The care of the strawberry plantation after the fall months will determine very largely the size of the crop next year. Clean tillage should be maintained. It is especially important to keep down the perennial weeds, such as plantain and dock.

No farmers' organization can continue to live that is managed arbitrarily. It is likely to succeed only as members develop a living, active spirit of good will which must be manifested in its board of directors.

Tea is no longer a luxury, but a part of our daily meals. For that reason just as much care should be used in its selection as in any other article of food. To safeguard yourself and family serve Daly's Good Tea on all occasions. For sale at Wallace's.

LIVED UP TO HER MOTTO

Indianapolis Woman Had Made a Rule and Intended to Let Nothing Stand in the Way.

She is one of Indianapolis' most successful business women—naturally, too, one of its best-natured ones. And her three small nephews idolize her quite as much as do her business associates. One afternoon she had promised them a party out in the country and a veteran and marshmallow toast by the fireplace of their old country home. But for two days it rained and that afternoon it was raining, too. The three youngsters piled into her office, their faces all full of disappointment. But she smiled at them. "Get your waterproofs," she commanded.

"Why, are we going?" they asked in amazement.

"Why, of course," she mimicked their tone. "My car can get over worse roads than that."

They rushed away after their coats and the woman next her began to protest against her making this trip. "It's something that isn't necessary," she began.

"But it is something that is necessary," the other interrupted. "It's the recreation I'd planned and my recreation is as necessary as my work. It keeps up my morale. You know that a rain like this couldn't keep me away from my work and couldn't let it keep me away from my play. That's the motto I've adopted for life, and it's a very efficient one, too."—Indianapolis News.

COWS KNEW THEIR MISTRESS

Woman Who Had Lost Pets Had No Trouble at all in Proving Ownership of Them.

A happy reunion took place at the union stockyards, Hern's island, Pittsburgh, an exchange declares, late the other evening, when Mrs. P. J. Riley of Fox Chase road, O'Hara township, rescued her four stolen cows, awaiting their doom at the hands of the executioner.

During a heavy rainstorm the other afternoon the animals were stolen from the pasture and driven to the stockyards and sold. County detectives traced the cows, but among the hundreds of other "bossies" were unable to identify them. Mrs. Riley was sent for. As she stepped into the big pen a stampede among the animals for a time threatened serious consequences. When it had subsided, the detectives who were with Mrs. Riley were amazed to see four of the cows pushing toward the woman, thrusting their heads against her shoulder, the animals zoned into amused soft expressions of relief. Overjoyed, Mrs. Riley grasped each around the neck in turn, stroking their glossy coats and petting them.

When their mistress left the big stock pen, the cows followed her as obediently as household pets would and when last seen were wending their way to their home on Fox Chase road with their mistress.

Valuable New Metal.

A new invention, called conducting aluminum, which is the result of engineering, a profound impression, has been made by Dr. George Giulini, the most famous expert in the aluminum trade, states Consul Phillip Holland, Basel, Switzerland, in a recent report. This new metal is produced by putting the ordinary aluminum through a special patented process, by which it acquires the fine electrical qualities and capacities as bronze, copper and brass without changing its specific weight. It is said that the price of the new metal can be kept within very low limits, so that, even at the pre-war prices of other metals, it will be able, by reason of its smaller specific weight, to compete with copper and brass very favorably. The fact that the new metal is conductive will make it especially in demand in the electrical trade.

Valuable Tool Chest.

War created many ingenious devices, developed in the tribe of stress to aid the fighting men on the battle front, but capable of adaption to the needs of peaceful industrial armies. One of these is a mobile tool chest, described in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It resembles a field artillery caisson, in which are packed implements and supplies in great variety and quantity, and is recommended for building contractors, lumbermen, road builders and others who require a compact, easily moved tool carrier. Among the articles packed in the box are saws, handsaws, mallets, wedges, hammers, pliers, wrenches, extra handles for axes and picks, ropes, pulleys and wires besides many others.

Naughty Arthur.

David and Arthur shared a bed together, but did not get along well in doing so, for nearly every night there was some disturbance between them. "Well, what is the matter now?" mother called from the foot of the stairs one evening on hearing loud talking in their chamber.

A little voice floated down to her: "I can't get into bed, 'cause Arthur's all around in it till he's all unmade it."

Animated Conference.

"What's going on in the parlor?" asked the old friend who had come in the back way.

"Meeting of our own foreign relations committee," answered Mr. Cumrox. "Mother and the girls are taking up the family affairs of my eldest daughter, who married one of those overseas nobelmen."

FEATS OF SLEEP-WALKERS.

Rarely Come to Harm Unless Abruptly Awakened.

Sleep-walkers, though they often move in most dangerous places, save a London paper, very rarely come to harm unless they are abruptly awakened. But in one case recently a lady fell out of a window in her sleep, awaking to find herself lying in the courtyard below the window.

Somnambulists are supposed to be able to see with their fingers when sleep-walking. Extraordinary as this may sound, it has been proved over and over again that a sleep-walker who takes the precaution to put on gloves, before going to bed, will never walk in his sleep. The gloves should be firmly fastened at the wrists.

Another preventive of sleep-walking is to put upon the carpet by the side of the sleepwalker's bed a strip of sheet metal, iron or zinc, wide and long enough to make certain that in getting out of bed his feet will rest upon the metal. The sudden chill is bound to awaken him.

Yet doctors say that sleep-walking is more common in cold countries than in hot, as that if you are given to sleep-walking you should are to it that you are thoroughly warm in bed.

Another odd fact is that fair-haired people are more given to sleep-walking than dark-haired folk.

The feats of sleep-walkers are sometimes absolutely amazing. While seated asleep, men have been known to saddle and ride horses, to walk for miles, to thresh corn. One, a Californian, actually swam two miles down a river and continued his sleep upon the bank after leaving the water.

Another, a schoolgirl, anxious to pass an examination, rose night after night, lit a candle and studied, yet was totally unconscious of what she had done, and amazed to find that she knew her lessons when to all appearance recollection she had not yet opened the book.

Oddest of all, perhaps, was the performance of a tradesman at Elsworth, who one morning woke to find that, in the night, he had stripped all the paper off the walls of his bedroom.

A Bird Monument.

In Salt Lake City, Utah, is one of the two monuments in the world to the sea gull, erected in honor to the memory of birds. This monument commemorates the fact that during the year 1850 the original settlers in Utah were saved from starvation by sea gulls.

A year after their arrival the settlers were alarmed to observe that their crops were being devoured by myriads of crickets and grasshoppers, which overran the country until it was as if it had been scorched by fire.

Attempts were made to stop the plague, but without results." At that time the nearest point of civilization was 1,000 miles away, and it seemed as if the people must be starved.

Prayer was resorted to, and one day, as if in answer to their appeals, there appeared a great flock of sea gulls, which proceeded to devour the pests, and it was not until the "enemy" had been completely annihilated that the gulls took to their wings and disappeared.

The monument commemorating the event was unveiled in 1913.

Jack of All Trades.

Although President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard university no longer takes an active part in the conduct of the institution he has been characterized as "Professor of Everything." A man of wide acquaintance overheard the following conversation of two rural folk at Bar Harbor a few days ago:

"There goes Professor Eliot."

"Who?"

"Professor Eliot of Harvard college."

"What's he professor of?"

"Well, I dunno, but I guess he's professor of the whole darn thing."

Best Thing to Do.

The theatre was in an uproar. "They're calling for the author," said the stage manager.

"No, I can't make a speech," replied the man responsible for the play.

"Well, just go in front and tell 'em you've written it."

"I saw an Ad – in the street car"

Not long ago I saw an ad in the street car, Soaking takes the place of rubbing'. The next day I sent for a package of Rinso and tried it. I was delighted with the result and now wash my children's clothes without any effort whatever. They soak themselves clean in the Rinso suds. I just had to write and tell you how 'wonderful' I think Rinso is and have told several of my friends to try it.

It is wonderful for scrubbing floors. Without a doubt the best thing I have ever used. I also cleaned my enamel sink with it and it is splendid."

The foregoing letter is but one of the many received by the makers of Rinso from women everywhere, all raving about this wonderful, better way to wash clothes—the Rinso way.

HELD IN MOCKERY

"Kangaroo Courts" Instituted by Australian Convicts.

Prisoners at Botany Bay Said to Have Invented Idea to Relieve the Monotony of Their Existence—Spread to United States.

Kangaroo court is an expression which, however strange it may be to the layman, is familiar to most United States marshals, post office inspectors and the police forces of large cities, remarks a writer in the Detroit News. What it really stands for is explained by a post office inspector who has had much experience with offenders and criminals.

It appears that in a number of the larger prisons in this country the prisoners, from time to time, are accustomed to hold what they call kangaroo court, and that every notorious criminal in the United States is probably not only familiar with the term, but has no doubt presided often enough as judge or prosecuting attorney in this religion, or perhaps has been tried for some of the numerous mock charges that are preferred against those who have the misfortune to be hailed before such a tribunal.

Such a court is held only in the great prisons of the country, being entirely unknown in the country jails.

The institution of kangaroo court seems to date back some 40 years in the United States.

In the days when Australia was a penal colony the convicts at Botany Bay, by way of amusing themselves and relieving the monotony of prison life, used to organize a sort of mock court at which the shrewdest and often the worst criminals of the lot presided as judge, while others acted as jurymen, prosecuting attorneys, bailiffs, criers and the like.

At such trials the prisoners were wont to take on recent arrivals from England on all manner of mock charges, such as snoring too loudly, washing their faces with soap, and so on. If it was found that among the batch of new-comers, convicts just from the old country, there were several who possessed money, court was immediately convened and the ones suspected of having funds were haled up on the charge of having red hair or wearing box-toed shoes.

The trial was held with mock gravity and decorum, and in the end the prisoner would be found guilty and fined whatever amount he was known to have on his person for the offense charged. The money thus obtained would be divided among the old, long-term convicts, who would buy tobacco and other luxuries with it, while the victim of this form of extortion would have no recourse except to await the time when he himself got a chance to preside as judge or sit on the jury at the trial of some new arrival.

It was called kangaroo court because in those days the Botany Bay convicts spoke of themselves as kangaroos, an animal very abundant, as everybody knows, in Australia.

The institution, as well as the term, traveled from Australia to England, whither it was brought by returning Botany Bay convicts, whose terms had expired. It had a short life in England, however, where it was speedily discovered by the jailers and turnkeys and broken up; but it was not long afterward that it found its way into the prisons of the United States, where it has remained ever since.

Girl Advertises for "Dates."

An advertisement which, the advertising department of Columbia university's daily newspaper, Spectator, says is the legitimate appeal of a young woman, appeared recently in the publication as follows:

"Are you bound by convention? A Columbia girl from out of town, cultured, well bred and fairly good looking, wishes to make the acquaintance of several men in order to be introduced at Columbia functions. She is entirely unconventional and is willing to meet the men half way by paying all expenses. Strictly confidential. Address B 36, Spectator."

The students who publish Spectator, the New York World says, profess ignorance of the identity of the young woman or whether the number 36 had any reference to the age or figure of the advertiser.

Hundreds of masculine students are awaiting replies from her, the advertisement having been well answered.

First Sight of a Pig.

Along the hard, dry, wind-swept road in a suburb came a drove of pigs—a most unusual spectacle in London of recent years. From the by-streets the children of the poor came hurrying to see, and it was clear from their comments that many of them had never seen a pig before.

"Look, Lizer!" cried one of the smallest among them. "Look, there's a pichald one."

"Course there is, stoopid," said Lizer, who was clearly well versed in natural history. "Where else do yer think they get streaky bacon from?"—London Chronicle.

PLACES BLAME ON MERCHANT

According to English Visitor, He Is Responsible for Extreme Styles Adopted by Women.

The more important question underneath the clothes question is what sort of appeal the new "audacious" styles are intended to make, or do make, says the Boston Transcript. Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale's entertaining talk on this question starts off by saying frankly: "I do not believe that dress is based on a sex appeal." She thinks it is rather the reflection of a class appeal—the attempt to display wealth.

After democracy had done away with man's lace cuffs, frills, wigs, velvet cloaks and such ostentatious luxury of attire it became bad form for a man to show his class by his clothes, and so he advertises his prosperity by dressing up his wife.

"The modern American wife," says Mrs. Hale, "is nothing short of a shop window for her husband; she shows off his success. I speak of the average human critter, of course, not of the intellectual man. The cause of the inherent snobbishness of overdress comes from aping the thoughts of the old society system of Europe. Our education in dress here in America has come from the merchant who has goods to sell; we don't know where we are today, trying to wear all the styles these merchants are willing to sell us. We do not wear flimsy materials because we are trying to make a sex appeal, but because it is to the interest of the merchant to sell us something perishable."

What terrible creatures these women are who think and know how to speak! The mistake was in letting them learn the alphabet!

NEVER LET GO OF SUITCASE

Former Congressman, on Visit to France, Proved Himself Superior to Adverse Circumstances.

Dudley Doolittle, who used to be in congress from Kansas, recently returned from Europe, where he went on a secret mission for the United States government.

While in France, Mr. Doolittle had the unusual experience of reuniting around several hundreds of battlefields with a seventy-six-pound suitcase clasped firmly in his arms. Shortly after Doolittle landed in Paris, and just before he started for the battlefields, the handle broke off his suitcase, which contained a number of valuable documents and papers which were almost as heavy as hardware samples. There was no porter around to help Doolittle into his automobile, nor was there any around during the ensuing ten days of his trip. Therefore, there was nothing for him to do but to clasp the suitcase firmly to his chest and get the best view of the battlefields that he could from behind the obstruction.

Doolittle says that he got so used to viewing war scenes from behind the suitcase that in order to enjoy movies of the war now he has to take a suitcase before the motion picture theaters with him and hold it on his lap throughout the performance.

Montaigne Had Idea of "Tanks."

While the court of inquiry is so busily engaged in weighing the various claims to original authorship of tanks, and while discussion on the subject is going on in sundry capitals, a French writer, brushing aside Wells and his "Anticipations," points to one of the fathers of literature, Michel de Montaigne, as the man to whom medals and laurels are really due. There is a prognostication in one of the Essays of the entry of combatants into battle inclosed in bastions "just like those which the ancients caused their elephants to carry." There is the germ of the tank invention right enough, but that it should have taken so long to germinate may not inconceivably be regarded as invalidating Montaigne's claims to the Croix de Guerre.

Needed, Coaching.

Volumes have been written about the poor English of high school pupils, but an eighth grade teacher believes that another chapter should be added to one of the volumes. When she began to plan for a basketball team at the building she asked the high school principal to send her a high school athlete for coach. The principal promised.

A few days later the new coach made his first visit to her building. They talked over plans for the winter's athletics, and then he made ready to leave. "I guess there's nothing more to tell you except to have your easydicts for the team all lined up by next Wednesday night," he said.—Indianapolis News.

Much Argentine Wool Bought Here.

The United States is Argentina's best customer for wool, according to the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. For the wool season of 1915-16 Argentina exported 452,598 bales to this country, or 51 per cent of Argentina's entire exports of wool. For 1916-17 the United States took 223,467 bales, or 64 per cent. For the 1917-18 season 209,528 bales, or 75 per cent, were shipped to this country.

Men and Women Put Their Faith in Dodd's Kidney Pills

They Have Proved Their Value by the Relief They Have Given For Over Thirty-five Years, and Have Friends Everywhere.

Marieville, Que., March 2nd, (Special)—Every corner of Canada holds at least one person who swears by Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have been relieving kidney troubles all over this vast Dominion for more than thirty-five years. They are specialists. They relieve only kidney trouble and those diseases that spring from disordered kidneys. That's as far as they grow more popular every day. Listen to what Dame T. Cavignon says about them.

"It gives me pleasure to send you this certificate. I was so weak I often had to stay in bed. I was nervous and only got a little sleep at nights. My doctor had told me that weakness was bringing on consumption. A few boxes of your marvellous Dodd's Kidney Pills sufficed for me to completely recover my health."

Dodd's Kidney Pills purify the blood and pure blood carried to all parts of the body means new health and increased energy all over the body.

BELL ROCK

The sudden leaving of the snow and breaking up of the roads caused great disappointment for many who had planned work for another month at least.—Our local M.P., Mr. W. Your Farm is a Business Proposition

YOUR farm is as much a going concern as a factory, a dry goods store or a railroad system. Your farm is as dependent as any other business on a policy of sound, forward-looking financing designed to meet the various situations that occur in the life of a farmer.

If you will regard your farm in this light—as a clean-cut business proposition—you will find it helpful to form a connection with the Bank of Montreal—a bank that has served the farmers of Canada for more than a century.

Each of our 600 branches has the strength and stability of the entire organization.

Address and Presentation

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 24th, the many friends and neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Lachland Campbell gathered at their home to bid them God speed on their departure.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in music and games, during which an address was read, and Mr. and Mrs. Campbell presented with an easy library table and fern basket.

Mr. Campbell, in his usual cheery manner, thanked his friends for their kindness, and all joined in singing, "They Are Only Good Fellows".

Following is the address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Lachland Campbell.

We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered together this evening at your home, feeling it is our duty to show in some small measure our loyalty and devotion toward you and your family before you take your departure from among us. Your cheerful and agreeable disposition has won you worthy friends, and we therefore hate to lose you from this neighbourhood. Your going has been the scene of many social and happy meetings, and we were always received with that welcome smile so well known to all.

Although you are not going any great distance, still we will miss you in our social life, in our business life, and in our church work. Your willingness to give your time and service in all good works for the benefit of the community, caused but make us realize that what is our loss will be others' gain.

As a small token of our regard we would ask you to accept this library table and fern basket, not for their real value, but for something to remind you in after years of your faithful friends at Croydon.

Trusting you may both be spared to enjoy long life and perfect health, we will bid you adieu, and may God be with you is the wish of your many friends.

PAUL'S

The wonder of Wallpaper nowadays is not alone the vast variety of designs in perfect taste! It is not alone the exquisite color harmonies and fascinating patterns and authentic textures, like silk and damask and tapestry and fine leather. The wonderful thing is the slight cost of making a room elegant, in the fine sense of the word. Whenever you like to call, we will be pleased to show you all that we imply here. Or if it is not convenient for you to come here, we will be glad to call at your home with our NEW sample books. Opposite the Royal Hotel.

EMPLOYEES BUY SHARES

By way of encouraging thrift and stimulating the interest of employees in the Company they work for, the Bell Telephone Company has made it easy for telephone workers to become owners of shares in the Company. As the Annual Report discloses, no less than 7,110 employees have subscribed for stock to the amount of 23,694 shares. As the Report says, the Stock Purchase Plan has fulfilled the purpose for which it was created—to stimulate thrift and enable employees to become owners in the business. 10a

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On Thursday evening, Feb. 12th, a number of neighbours and relatives from Marysville and Empey Hill met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Shane, near Deseronto, before their departure for their new home, and Miss Violet, and presented them with a rattan tea-table, a fancy work basket of rattan and a smoker's outfit. Although greatly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Shane thanked their friends, in a few well chosen words, and extended to all a cordial invitation to visit them in their new home. An enjoyable evening was spent in cards and dancing. Just before lunch was served, the following address was read by Mr. Thos. Curry, while Mr. F. Oliver presented the gifts.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Shane,—We, your friends and neighbours, have taken the liberty of invading your peaceful home this evening, in order that we may express to you something, not all, (that would be impossible) of our feelings of respect and love, upon the eve of your departure from our midst.

We could have wished you to abide with us to the end, but it is something of a solace for us to know that you are removing but a little way, so that we may retain the pleasing prospect of looking into your faces, at no great intervals of time, in the social circle, and renewing the fellowship with you that we have prized so much.

You have ever been good neighbours and kind friends, always ready and willing to lend a helping hand in time of need, and we feel that it would be very ungrateful on our part to allow you to leave the old neighborhood without showing some appreciation of your kindness. Therefore we ask you to accept our gifts as a token of good will from those, your friends, who have assembled here to-night, and in leaving us you may be assured that you are carrying with you our best respect, and heart's desire, that you will in your new home have health and prosperity, not forgetting the friends of the old neighborhood.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours,

CLARENCE PENNY.

HOCKEY.

Young Irishmen Win Bay of Quinte Trophy.

The Young Irishmen, of Kingston, defeated Point Anne in both games of the finals for the championship of the Bay of Quinte Hockey League, and will retain possession of the Cup for another year.

The first game was played at Napanee on Friday evening last, when the Irishmen won out by a score of 5-2, after a game that was replete with thrills and productive of good hockey.

The second game was played in Kingston on Monday evening, when the Irishmen won again, the score being 4-2.

Geo. T. Walters, of Napanee, refereed both games in his usual satisfactory manner.

Napanee 4, Deserento 2.

In an exhibition game of hockey at the Arena on Tuesday evening the local team defeated Deserento by a score of 4-2. The game was keenly contested and was greatly enjoyed by those present. We understand the Deserento boys intend entering a team in the Bay of Quinte League next season, and they have the nucleus of a good sextette.

Wedding at Bath.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at "The Knoll", Bath, at the residence of the bride's parents, on Wednesday evening, March 4th, 1925, when Miss Lena Bernice, only surviving daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawrence, was united in marriage to Mr. Alpheus Moon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Moon, of Conway. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the members of the two families concerned by the bride's uncle, Rev. Dr. James Lawson of Ottawa, who performed a similar service for Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence over forty years ago. After the wedding supper, the happy couple took train for Toronto, where they will be the guests of the groom's sister for some time. After their return they will take up residence on the groom's farm, near Bath.

STRATHCONA

As the weather man has been impartial in the distribution of his favors we think your readers will not be particularly interested in this subject. But our 'burg is as busy as a bee. Housecleaning and moving show signs that our citizens believe spring is here. — Mr. Storey has moved from the brick house at Mink's bridge to Napanee; Mr. Thomas Hanley from Mr. William Ballance's house, north of the village, has also moved to Napanee, and it is reported that another citizen intends moving his family from his present residence into Napanee, that they may enjoy the advantages of town life. — Mr. George Pybus moved on Wednesday from Mr. John Pybus' house to the one vacated by Mr. T. Hanley. — Mr. Roy McLean has been missed from around our station and streets all week. Mrs. McLean also has the influenza, but under the skillful treatment rendered by Dr. Mounce we are glad to announce that they are both improving. The C. N. R Supply Agent is in charge. — The W. M. S. held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. George Finlay, with a good attendance and an interesting and profitable meeting. — Mr. W. J. Finlay visited Montreal last week, looking after the output of the Strathcona Paper Co., Limited. This week the same business has taken him west, and he is now in Toronto. — Next Sunday Sabbath School will meet in the church at 2 p.m. The most important question is the subject of study, namely, "The Resurrection," or "If a man dies, shall he yet live again"?—Now we are sorry to have to report that death has visited our village and called Mrs. Spencer, the mother of Mrs. McGarvey, formerly from Cloyne. The deceased was 75 years of age and although being very frail and residing only a few months in our midst, yet her faith in God, and its results in disposition and character, won for her the high esteem of all. Mrs. McGarvey and her husband have the sympathy of all our community. While the neighbors will miss a friend, she will feel more wonderfully the loss of mother. As soon as our pastor, Rev. G. Nickle, learned of the condition of Mrs. Spencer he was present with his gospel message, prayer and sympathy, and conducted the funeral services from the home, where a short service was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Amos Storey has returned from visiting friends in Napanee. — Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gordanier visited Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bell, Bath, on Friday.—Mr. W. R. Purdy, Dearborn, Mich., attended the funeral of the late Mrs. W. Kelly, Napanee, and spent a couple of days calling on friends.—Mrs. S. A. Winters has returned, after a two weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Clayton Garrison, and other friends in Oshawa. — Mrs. Jas. Curran visited her friend, Mrs. J. S. Fralick, recently.—Mr. Fraser Robinson was renewing acquaintances in our neighborhood last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Storey and Mrs. Weese spent Thursday at Mr. Willis Unger's. — Miss Lulu Mills spent the week-end with Miss Marguerite Reid, Fourth Line. — Mr. D. R. Hicks is confined to the house with a severe cold. — Mr. J. Ayl. Bell has been very ill for the past week, suffering from severe heart attacks. — Mr. Wm. Wood and daughter, of Windsor, arrived on Wednesday to spend a few days at Mr. Bell's.—Mrs. Wm. Valleau, Moose Range, Sask., visited the W. M. S. meeting held at Mrs. Alex. Mills' on Wednesday and addressed the gathering in her usual pleasant manner.—The League will be held on Friday evening in the White Church, in charge of the Missionary Department.

OBITUARY

Dr. S. J. Mellow.

It is with sincere regret that we record the death of Dr. S. J. Mellow, on Thursday, March 4th, 1925. He will be greatly missed in his professional capacity and as a citizen.

Dr. Mellow was born September 19th, 1859, at Morven, near Napanee. After his Public School course, he attended High School at Napanee, took his Normal course, and taught school for three years at Camden and Sillsville, Ont. He then went to Queen's University and took his medical course, graduating in 1886. He first practiced medicine at Bath, Ont., staying there three years. While residing at Bath, Dr. Mellow married Miss Bertha Louise Armstrong.

Shortly after their marriage, Dr. and Mrs. Mellow moved to Bay City, Michigan, where he remained for five years as a resident doctor. In 1894 Dr. and Mrs. Mellow moved to Port Perry, where they have since resided.

Since coming to Port Perry, Dr. Mellow has taken an active part in the affairs of the town. He was in the Council for a number of years, and was Reeve for a term. Perhaps his greatest interest was shown in his service to the Board of Education of which he was a member for some twenty years, and at one time became chairman of that body. He was also a member of the Library Board, and has been President of the Board since the change from an Association to Public Library, taking a leading part in promoting the building of a War Memorial Library.

While public affairs were of importance, Dr. Mellow's practice grew steadily and in this field he will be most seriously missed. It will be difficult for the community to get along without his constant, skilful, and painstaking service.

Dr. Mellow was fond of sport, and his recreations were lawn bowling, tennis and curling. He maintained his own tennis lawn, and made the tennis lovers welcome in the use of it. He was a member of the Curling Club, he leaves a gap hard to fill.

The outstanding features of Dr. Mellow's life have been his untiring industry and his sincerity, coupled with excellent judgment of men and affairs.

Dr. Mellow is survived by Mrs. Mellow and their three daughters—Mrs. Merrin Letcher and the Misses Helen and Francis Mellow, also by six brothers and sisters, all of whom were at the funeral—Mrs. D. H. Hugh, of Sillsville; Mrs. Jas. Y. Mellow, Bath, Ont.; Felix Mellow, of Kingston; Mrs. W. B. Hoach, Sillsville, Ont.; Arthur W. Mellow, Sillsville, and Dr. F. E. Mellow, Uxbridge.

The funeral services were conducted on Saturday afternoon by Rev. Wm. Higgs, and Rev. Mr. Thornley, and were very largely attended.

The many floral gifts were a striking tribute to the high esteem in which the Doctor was held. Besides the flowers sent by the immediate relatives, and those the tributes of private friends, there were beautiful gifts of flowers from the following bodies:—Port Perry Lawn Bowling Club; the Council of the Corporation of the Village of Port Perry; Port Perry Board of Education; Port Perry Public Library Board; the staffs of the High and Public Schools, and Ontario County Medical Association.

Mrs. William Norris.

On Wednesday, March 11th, 1925, there passed away at her residence, on Piety Hill, Mrs. William Norris, wife of William Norris, a life long resident of the town.

Mrs. Norris was a daughter of the late John McLaurin, who for many years directed the lumbering interests of the Rathbun firm at Strathcona in the days when the employees there numbered over a hundred, and when Strathcona was one of the busiest places in Eastern Ontario.

With the cessation of the lumbering business Mr. McLaurin and family moved to Gananoque, where they remained for a few years. Nellie McLaurin as soon as she was old enough returned to Napanee where she continued to reside until the time of her death on Wednesday, 1922 she became the wife of Mr. William Norris.

Throughout her life Mrs. Norris was a devoted worker in St. Andrew's Church, teaching in the Sunday School, taking part in the W. M. S., and acting as the Secretary of the Ladies' Aid.

For some months she had been ailing from a malady from which there was little hope of recovery. But throughout her long illness she remained as patient and cheerful as was her custom. She gradually got weaker during the last week and finally passed away on Wednesday morning.

There remain to survive her Mr. Wm. Norris, her husband, of Napanee; her sister, Ellen, an aunt, Mrs. McLaurin, a niece and nephew, Miss Muriel Dingle and Gordon Dingle, all of Toronto.

The funeral will be held from her late residence, on Friday, at 2 p.m., thence to the Riverview cemetery.

John George Rembough.

There passed to rest on Sunday evening, March 1st, 1925, John George Rembough, only son of the late Joseph Rembough and his wife, Sophia Clancy, (Jackson). He was born at Centreville, Ont., Canada, January 3rd, 1855. Most of his life was spent there and in Enterprise, where he was a prosperous farmer. He served his Township of Camden for nine years as Reeve and Councillor.

Five years ago he came to reside in Brookfield, N.Y., where he made many friends. Two years ago he was stricken with that dreaded disease, cancer, from which time he suffered patiently until death relieved him.

In 1880 he married Lucinda S. Card, youngest daughter of the late Alpheus Card, of Hallowell, Ont., who survives him. He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, one son, Carlos Card, Camden East; one daughter, Mrs. Alicus S. Card, of this place; one brother, Cornelius Jackson, and one sister, Mrs. Amelia Wilson, both of Enterprise, Canada, and six grandchildren.

The funeral service was conducted at the home on the afternoon of March 4th, by Rev. T. L. Bolton, who spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family. The body was placed in the vault to await interment in the spring. — Brookfield, N.Y., Courier.

KILLED BY FLYING ROCK

Struck on the head by a jagged piece of rock hurled from a blast Mr. Smith Dowerman, a former well-known resident of Deseronto, was fatally injured at 3.30 on Saturday afternoon at the quarry of the Canada Cement Company at Point Anne, and died some time later in Belleville Hospital, without having regained consciousness. After the warning whistles for the blast had been sounded the unfortunate man sought shelter in a frame building near by. When the blast was effected a large piece of rock was thrown through the side of the building, striking the late Mr. Dowerman on the temple.

The injured man was rendered first aid immediately and was later removed in the company's ambulance to the hospital at Belleville, where death ensued. He was very well known in Deseronto, where he is survived by a widow and a grown-up family, and his tragic death is greatly lamented.

Bell Rock Quartz Assays $250 a Ton, is Report From There

That thirty years of prospecting and stripping on the property owned by Mrs. Sophie Williams, near Bell Rock, has at last uncovered gold and silver to the value of $250 a ton, is the story which is current in that district.

The principals in the discovery declined to discuss it, but the neighbors who have watched the work which has been carried on for years past, and have, from time to time, heard stories of the wealth of the samples taken out, believe that at last research, which has been carried on for nearly a generation, has brought it forward, and that the district will become a gold and silver centre soon as sufficient work has been done to bare the quartz which carries mineral of such value.

Mrs. Williams was one of those who refused to discuss the "find", being more anxious to find out any further information about the mine, but it is the belief in the district that she is preparing to develop the mine to its limit in the very near future.

Naturally the story has created a great deal of interest in the Bell Rock district, and developments there will be watched with interest.

YARKER.

The robins have arrived, which looks as if we would not have much more winter.—Most of the ice is now open for cars now.—F. Garrison is having decorative repairs to the Benjamin property, which he purchased, and will soon be ready to start work. Mr. Freeman is making preparations to build a barn soon.—Those on the sick list are: Mr. and Mrs. R. Curl, Geo. Deare, Mrs. Roy Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Freeman, Mrs. R. Lee, but we are glad to report all are improving.—The farmers of this district will have a chance to visit the Better Live Stock Train, which is touring the Province of Ontario. This train will arrive at Yarker on the morning of March 24th, and will be here for three or four hours, to hear addresses and lectures by all who may come. This will be a rare chance to the farmers, and they should avail themselves of this opportunity, which is the first that ever came to this town.—Walter Simpkins, of Chicago, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Martin, and spent the week-end in Kingston with his son, Earl.—Mrs. W. Wilson, Toronto, visited her parents for a few days, returned to her home on Tuesday.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

BETHANY

It looks as if spring is near. Some have tapped, and report sap running freely.—Mr. Adams and family moved to Deseronto on the ice.—Mr. Earl Hewell, while hauling logs to Mr. McFarlane's sawmill at Deseronto on Saturday last had the misfortune to have his team run away, and one of the horses was hurt so badly that it had to be killed. Mr. Howell lost his right hand crushed some between the logs, but otherwise was unhurt.—Mr. and Mrs. James Davis entertained on Tuesday evening. — Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller returned home on Monday last, after spending some time with their son at Oshawa.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Miller and daughter, Helen, returned with his father and mother. Mr. Miller has been quite poorly since Christmas.—Mrs. Simpkins has been in bed with pleurisy; we are glad to hear she is improving.—Mrs. W. Conger is visiting for a time with her son, Mr. C. Conger, River Road.

NEWBURGH

Mrs. Jacob Peters passed away on Monday night, and her funeral was held on Wednesday, March 10th, from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dorval Peters, Kingston. Burial to take place at Sydenham. Sympathy is extended to her aged husband who survives her. Mr. and Mrs. Peters lived in Newburgh for a number of years, and moved to Kingston a few weeks ago. Mr. Frank Peters, Newburgh, is a son.

Mr. John Grant and son, Rufus, were visitors at Mr. John Switzer's, over Sunday.

Mrs. Melbourne and son, Rose, of Empey Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins were Sunday visitors with Mrs. Ferris.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Scott, of Kingston, were in the village on Sunday.

Mrs. Rendell, of Napanee, spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Cummings.

Walter Paul and family, of Wesley, visited on Friday last with their aunts, Misses Hannah and Eliza Paul.

Mr. Albert Clancy is writing from Tampa, Florida, states that he is enjoying the Southern climate.

The Mission Band concert held in the basement of the Church on Thursday evening last, was well attended, over $22.00 was added to the treasury. The program consisted of readings, dialogues and pantomime.

Miss Shepley, of the High School staff, was in Kingston on Saturday last with her sister, a student at Queen's.

Mrs. Shier has received word of the illness of her brother, Dr. J. P. I. Clancy, of Saskatoon Hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis. His friends here hope for his recovery.

Miss Marguerite Wartman presided at the organ at the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, in the absence of the regular organist, Miss Ramsay, who was ill.

Mr. John Cameron has recovered from his recent severe illness.

Miss M. Cameron spent Tuesday in Napanee.

Miss Hannah Paul conducted the service in the Union Church at Camden East, on Sunday morning.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

CAMDEN EAST

The weather is somewhat warmer, with local showers.—Some are tapping their bushes and making syrup.

Mrs. Stephen Hawkins returned home from Smiths Falls, where she was visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Craig, and for a few days in Napanee, and Mrs. Jas. Youmans have returned home from Collins Bay, where they have spent a few weeks with their daughter, Mrs. Saundercook. — Miss Agnes Smith, of Conway, has returned home on Tuesday last, after spending the past week with her relatives, Mr. Jas. Macdonald and family, south of the village, also with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Macdonald, Bowerville.—The Good Time Club had a very enjoyable evening at the home of Mr. D. K. Saul, on Friday evening last, there being a large crowd present.—Miss H. M. Paul, a returned missionary, of Newburgh, spoke in Camden East Methodist Church on Sunday morning last, to a fairly good crowd. Her talk was very much appreciated by the congregation.—Mrs. S. Brien has returned to Kingston for treatment.—Miss Ethel Macintosh, Mrs. Brick's niece, who spent the past winter with her, left on Tuesday for her home in Almonte. — Mr. Charlie Wright and wife have moved into the Patterson house on the four corners.—The many friends of Mr. Kenneth Amey, of this village, who operates a garage, will be glad to know that he has so far recovered from his recent operation at the Kingston Hospital, as to be able to keep the County boundary intact for purposes of representation at Toronto, and any citizen who has not yet signed one of these should see that his or her name is on as soon as possible.

The County Council which meets next week is to take up the matter. The Township Council of Amherst Island also passed a resolution supporting this petition, in addition to the other Municipal Councils mentioned in our paragraph last week. The slogan in this campaign is "Keep our County on the Map", and it is hoped that by next week to have several thousand names from all over the County on these petitions.

DESERONTO MASONS HEAR HISTORY TALK

Harry Linney, of Bracebridge, gave an address, Tuesday night, to Craig Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Deseronto, on "Origin and Growth of Freemasonry". The talk was illustrated. From the formation of the first Grand Lodge in London, England, under Anthony Sayer, in 1717, when there is evidence that individual lodges of Masons had operated for years, to the institution of Nova Scotia Lodge, No. 1, Halifax, under Erasmus James Phillips, in 1749, and the organization at Quebec in 1759 of some seven or eight lodges formed in the militia regiments and giving obedience to the Grand Lodge of Canada, Masonic growth was traced in word and picture form.

Then followed the faces of Wm. Jarvis, G.M.; Robt. Kerr, D.G.M.; Jas. Fitzgibbons, Geo. Adams, J. H. Dunn, Zina Phillips, Andrew Napier MacNab, Simon McGillivray, Bernard Townsend, Jos. Beikie, G. T. Bidout, and many others who were identified with the Craft in its first days and responsible for its continuance, as well as the first meeting places and other incidents of deep interest—the civil and military attainments many of these early characters, such as Wm. Jarvis, the first Provincial Secretary under Lt.-Governor John G. Simcoe in 1792; Jas. Fitzgibbon, a captain in the militia and commissioner under Governors Simcoe and Maitland; Robt. Kerr, a military surgeon and magistrate; S. Herrington, K.C., for the Napanee bar; Andrew N. MacNab and his activities in 1837 during the W. L. Mackenzie uprising, when MacNab was knighted.

This and the concurrent history of Upper and Lower Canada was traced, showing how the Craft had always been closely identified with every branch of Canadian life.

The inception and growth of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario from 1855, when W. M. Wilson was G.M., to the present date was given, followed by local Masonic and many old faces and names recalled.

Mr. Linney gave the same address to Mount Sinai Chapter, Napanee, on Wednesday evening.

COUNTY ROADS AND TELEPHONE POLES

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, Chairman D. W. Mc-Intyre, K.C., presiding, held sittings at the Court House, Napanee, on Friday, 6th inst., to try the application of the Camden Independent Telephone Co., Limited, against the County of Lennox and Addington, pursuant to Section 7, of The obstruction on Highways Removal Act. S. Herrington, K.C., for the Telephone Co., T. A. Wilson for the County.

The object of this application was, if possible, to put the cost of removal of telephone poles on Newburgh Road upon the County.

Mr. Herrington put in as witnesses Thos. J. Winter and E. H. Nugent. Mr. Wilson called no witnesses, in fact simply filed as exhibits, certified copy of County Road By-law passed in 1905, under Highway Improvement Act and Order-in-Council of 1907, approving of By-law. Mr. Herrington based his argument on the legal standing of the County in the premises and argued that the County had exclusive jurisdiction over this road and that the Telephone Co. were practically trespassers and were not rightfully on the road. After Mr. Herrington had made his argument in reply the Chairman decided in favor of the stand taken by the County, saying that however much the Company might be entitled to sympathy he would have to decide that in law the contention of the County was correct and that the Company was not rightfully on this highway.

Warden Mr. J. L. Smith and Chairman County Roads and Bridges Committee, Mr. G. H. Young, and Chairman County Finance Committee, Mr. Ross Ketcheson, and County Road Superintendent, Mr. T. V. Anderson, attended the hearing and expressed themselves as pleased with the result, as it would now be clear to the County Council what County rights were in respect of the over 75 miles of County Roads in this County. It would now be easy for all Rural Telephone Companies to see that their poles are so placed as not to interfere with the construction and maintenance of County Roads or with the drainage thereof. As to the poles of the Bell Telephone Co. the Dominion Statutes apply and fully safeguard the interests of municipalities.

KILLED BY MOTOR CAR

Miss Celia McAlister, of 449 Church Street, Toronto, was struck and almost instantly killed by an automobile driven by Charles Dee, of 17 Connaught Avenue, Toronto, at 9 o'clock Saturday evening. Dee was placed under arrest.

Miss McAlister had been in her room at the rear of a house after half past eight she left to visit some friends on Maitland street. While crossing from one side of Church street to the other it is said that she stepped from behind an automobile, parked at the side of the road, into the path of the car driven by Dee.

She was knocked some distance by the impact. P. C. Gigan of number 7 Division, Toronto, was first on the scene, and later removed to St. Michael's Hospital, but she died on the way. Dee was admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000.

Miss McAlister was born in Richmond, Ontario, about fifty-one years ago. Surviving her are two nieces, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Collins, of 177 Woodbine avenue.

Miss McAlister was a sister of Mr. Randal McAlister, of Richmond. Her remains were brought to Napanee on Tuesday for burial.

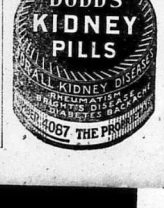
A Cockney holidaymaker was amused at a signboard, which read, "This farm for sale."
Always ready for a little pleasantry, he asked the farmer's wife when the farm was to sold.
She stared at him steadily for a few moments, and then answered, "Just as soon as the man comes along who can raise the wind."



SUPERSTITIONS OF THE SEA.

From Time Immemorial Sea Birds Have Been Sacrosanct.

Many strange superstitions from the distant past are inherited by the sailor, and even in these modern days of steel and steam his outlook is still influenced by them.

From time immemorial sea birds have been regarded by sailors as sacrosanct. Woe betide the man who slays one of "Mother Carey's Chickens!" The fate of the man who shot the albatross is well known.

But there are other superstitions concerning sea birds. Many sailors, for instance, believe that they are the wandering souls of evil-doers condemned to continual movement. Some believe they carry the souls of mutineers of lost ships, plaintively crying in the still watches of the night until their bodies shall be carried to the land for Christian burial.

The small grey gulls which flit swiftly up and down the Bosphorus near the Golden Horn, skimming close to the surface of the water without ever seeming to alight, are said by sailors to be the souls of wicked captains of ships sentenced to wander thus till the Day of Judgment.

Rats foretell disaster by leaving an ill-fated ship just before she sails. They have often been seen swarming along the hawsers securing the ship to the wharf.

The possession of an infant's caul is regarded as a certain protection against drowning and it is a fact of melancholy significance that during the late war the price of cauls went up considerably.

At table if a glass tumbler is inadvertently struck, a sailor will instinctively put out his hand to prevent it from ringing out and say "Save a drowning man."

Cats are lucky, especially black ones, but dogs are not as they are regarded with favor. Scots fishermen say that to mention the name of a dog will bring on a storm, and that the wind will come from the direction in which a dog points his nose when it howls.

Icelandic fishermen regard it as unlucky to have a dog near their nets or boats, while in Cornwall stories are foretold by the appearance of a spectral dog.

Among Oriental Perfumes.

The Orient and perfumes are inseparably connected in the occidental mind. Travellers state that these perfumes in actuality are not always agreeable under too close contact.

The shops of the perfumers are always interesting, however, and one of the greatest are to be found in the "Mousky" quarter of Cairo. As we enter the dim, narrow alley-way, says a visitor, we are at once assailed by all the perfumes of the East; spices, ambergris and attar of roses predominating.

The scent shops—themselves are merely holes in the wall, like small rooms with the front wall missing, raised two or three feet above the ground.

The shopkeeper squats inside the entrance of his shop, leisurely puffing his "nazghili" and awaiting his customer. There is no fuss or hurry; all is calm, and dignified.

The shop we chose to visit is famous the world over for its perfumes and of amber-scented cigarettes.

We are now given some of the famous perfumed cigarettes to smoke, and our host produces some ambergris to show us.

A piece about the size of a tennis ball is worth $2,500. He tells us how every year he sends men to the coast of Zanzibar to find this ambergris. Meanwhile, he is dabbing the various scents on our clothes for us to try. There are about a dozen different kinds, all highly concentrated. Some of the best known are jasmine, lotus, verbena, ambre, attar of roses, and one which favored by the Egyptian ladies, called "Harem."

They are by no means cheap—the smallest bottle, which is about three inches high, and two inches in circumference, costing $2.50. When our purchases are completed, we leave smelling like bouquets of flowers, and very highly scented ones at that.

An undergraduate at Cambridge, contrary to regulations, was entertaining his sister, when they heard someone on the stairs. Hastily hiding his sister behind a curtain, he went to the door and confronted an aged man who was revealing the scene of his youth, and was desirous of seeing his old rooms.

Obtaining permission, he looked round, and remarked: "Ah, yes, the same room." Going to the window he said: "The same old view." and then, peeping behind the curtain, "The same old game!"

"My sister, sir," said the student.

"Oh, yes," said the visitor; "the same old story!"

THE WEEK IN THE LEGISLATURE

Toronto, Marth 7th.—The Address having been duly carried, at the end of three weeks' debate in the Legislature, by a majority of 53, and the Government's proposed Temperance Act amendments thus upheld in principle, decks were cleared for the budget, and Hon. W. H. Price presented his annual statement on Thursday, holding the floor for nearly three hours. W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal Leader, resumes the debate on Tuesday, and if he cannot find something to criticize, it will be through lack of information. This financial statement was probably the most open-faced ever presented in the Legislature. If any detail of revenue or expenditure was omitted, either from the speech itself, or the Public Accounts tabled concurrently, no one has yet detected the fact. The Accounts, though reduced in size at a saving of some $10,000, embody a number of improvements, and are particularly clear, concise and well indexed. The fact that the treasurer is sending a copy to every newspaper in the province would seem to point to a clear conscience and a certain sense of satisfaction. In his speech, he put it this way:

"The Ordinary and Capital Expenditures are clearly marked, and statements which give additional information are indicated in the margin. For the first time in the history of the province the deficit is shown in figures, and not left to the individual to decipher for himself. No one is left in doubt as to what is charged to ordinary and what to capital. The figures are there, clear as the noonday sun. There is no interest smothered in capital account, and the Drury Government's "Capital and Extraordinary" column is now a matter of history. There is presented to you in these public accounts an honest statement, and I invite honest criticism. The figures are clear. He who runs may read, and every dollar of our expenditure is accounted for in the various departmental statements."

* * *

The financial statement can only be referred to briefly here. While the deficit of $15,000,000 in 1923 was cut to $8,468,764 in 1924, certain items of revenue are showing a decrease, and even with the maximum curtailment of expenditure, only one-third of which is now controllable, the treasurer finds it unwise to make a more favorable estimate for the present year than a further deficit of $3,000,000. This is based on estimated revenue of $45,500,000 and expenditure of $49,570,000. The annual interest burden of the province is now over $16,000,000, the funded debt standing at $285,319,000. With a continuance of rigid economy in the departments, and co-operation of members of the Legislature and the public, the treasurer hopes for a balanced budget in 1926.

* * *

Increased revenue is anticipated in the Public Works department, owing to trade conditions, and racetrack and amusement tax are not expected to yield as much as heretofore. In addition, every deficit, however reduced, means borrowing and increases somewhat the interest charges which must be met. Interest payments last year, for example, were $2,662,000 more than in the year before. Over and above all these things, the treasurer is determined to make a start on a sinking fund which will begin to pull down the provincial debt and with it the interest burden. This was talked of by the previous government, but nothing definite was done, and Col. Price feels that Ontario will not be financing upon a sound business basis, any more than any commercial concern would be, until provision is made for sinking fund. It will take about $3,000,000 a year, and although the conditions outlined above are not encouraging, he proposes to apply the sinking fund commencing with the close of the present fiscal year, October 31st, 1925.

* * *

It is clear that new taxation is necessary to achieve this object, and at the same time keep down the deficit to a point where heavy additional borrowings will not be required. The new imposts are to take the form of a three-cent gasoline tax, already announced, and also the increase from the former to bring in about $2,500,000 in the present fiscal year and the latter $2,200,000, with perhaps a revenue of $3,000,000 each in the first full fiscal year. Details of the beverage tax are not yet forthcoming, except that it is to be collected at point of manufacture, and will likely apply to all soft drinks, including the "near" beer. It has been said that gasoline and alcohol mixtures, but the government is going to couple them for taxation purposes anyway.

* * *

In closing his speech, the treasurer made an appeal for co-operation in economy; in the collection of everything due the province, and also in connection with the departmental audits of which there have been 56, brought about by the fact that since Confederation there had been no audit of provincial receipts. It is not an easy matter," he said, "once you get your expenditure down to a certain point, to cut it down. It is necessary to have the co-operation of members, and instead of municipalities criticizing us, or we criticizing them it would be a great deal better for us to get together and see where we can all cut down. We are in the hands of the people. If the people want more expenditures, and press the Government for them, it makes it difficult to economize. All the taxation we proposed we have got to have, to conserve our resources for those who come after us, and I believe if we get the co-operation of the Legislature in doing what is necessary, next year I believe we will be able to show continued and greater improvement."

* * *

The Government had 57 majority, on Wednesday, when the debate on the Address closed, and Mr. Raney's sub-amendment, regretting the proposed Temperance Act amendments, was put to the House. The Labor group of three, and no less than seven Liberals—Proulx, Wallis, Macgeau, Tellier, Pinard, Bradkin and Belanger — voted with the Government that rural representation should not be lowered unduly, and while it was the intention to keep the House wishes of very "dry" ridings by supporting the sub-amendment. These, however, reverted to the Government when the main motion was put. This included an amendment by Hon. George S. Henry which had the effect of wiping out the Sinclair amendment charging the premier with "breach of faith", and there was no division on the latter. As a result of the carrying of the Henry amendment, the "humble address" to the Lieutenant-Governor now contains this paragraph: "This House receives with satisfaction the announcement of the decision of Your Honor's advisers to introduce legislation which, while maintaining the principle of the Ontario Temperance Act, will provide such amendments thereto as will help destroy the illicit traffic in liquor and create a greater respect for and observance of law and order."

* * *

All shades of "wet" and "dry" opinion found expression before the final vote. J. A. Pinard (Lib., East Ottawa) moved for sale of liquor under government control, and although his amendment was held not anticipate a resolution by F. W. Wilson, of Windsor, now on the order paper, and was withdrawn. Mr. Pinard forced an evening session of the House to present his Resolution. Then Karl Homuth, (Labor, South Waterloo) sprang an amendment to the effect that citizens should be afforded opportunity to purchase liquor for medicinal purposes only, without a doctor's prescription. This motion also held to be out of order, in that it anticipated government policy, and was withdrawn. The premier declined to say exactly what the government had in mind, but there is a growing impression that the amendments will include some method of reducing or doing away with the admitted abuses in connection with the prescription system.

There is no doubt that the matter is under consideration by the Cabinet, and both Hon. W. F. Nickle and Premier Ferguson expressed themselves strongly in the debate upon the farcical nature of this method of distributing liquor.

Seldom, if ever, has there been such an outburst of enthusiasm in the House, as was provoked by Premier Ferguson's speech in closing the debate. Following a brief review of some of the main items of the Government's activities, the Prime Minister dealt at length with the Temperance Act situation. He contasted the records of the Liberal and conservative parties, and alluded to the fact that the mid-criticized, threefifths clause of Sir James Whitney's time was afterwards warmly approved by those who had condemned it.

Mr. Ferguson summarized the matters which had to be taken into consideration by the present Government.

"There was," he said, "the question of doubt at the time the bill was introduced in 1916. There were the respective votes and falling-off in support between 1919 and 1924. There was the gradual increase of sales of dispensaries, and those in closer touch than I am say the sale at dispensaries is only a fraction of the consumption. Then we have a record developing in known quantities of home brew proposition. We had to examine the situation from every angle. We had to deal with it as a practical business proposition. We had to speak the way that could do the most good for our people.

"Now the government gave careful consideration, keeping in view the position we had taken with the public the necessity for an honest endeavor at law enforcement and improvement in the moral atmosphere of this province, and realized that if a drink, palatable, drinkable, satisfying could be bought within the law, we would provide for it. In the legislation, and, after careful inquiry, the attorney-general reached the conclusion that 2½ per cent. of alcohol by weight was well within the limit of intoxication.

"Our conclusions," he said in closing, "ensure, we believe, the maximum public support of the Act and of the minimum of organized hostility. Our confident hope is that adoption by this House of the suggested amendments will restore respect for law and order and end strife, which is becoming a menace to the peace of the community. The paramount thought this Government has in mind is the public good. We desire by every means in our power to promote the moral welfare of the province. We hope this legislation will have that result. We ask the support of the general public. We ask the sympathetic co-operation of all interested in the temperance movement. We are undertaking a most difficult task under present conditions. We are being criticized by those who are opposed to any attempt to promote temperance primarily, but with a view to defeat of this government. This Government realizes that situation, and while we propose to carry out our pledge to have temperance sustention and keep it ever in the forefront of our activities, yet at the same time, knowing as we do that throughout all history, temperance movements will not progress to the Conservative Party, we propose to retain that position in the minds of the people of Ontario and to deserve their confidence in the future."

* * *

It is customary for members to applaud a speaker by desk-pounding. When Premier Ferguson finished at six o'clock on Wednesday, his supporters were by custom to the winds and cheered, long after he sat down, even the galleries broke the rules and joined in the outburst.

* * *

Preliminary work is still going on in connection with the redistribution bill. Instructions are in injury by Mr. Sinclair, the premier said on Thursday that the skeleton measure would be ready for the House by Tuesday, and sent to a special committee, the Conservative of the whole House, but that body could get down to work if it waited for the data now being compiled by the Chief Electoral Officer. An interesting point brought out in the discussion was the fact that population figures are being obtained with a view to bringing the 1921 census figures up to date. This will have a tendency, perhaps, to strengthen the claims of certain large urban centres for increased representation, but the prime minister emphasized the feeling of the Government that rural representation should not be lowered unduly, and while it was the intention to keep the House at its present strength of 111, rather than see rural representation unreasonably cut, the addition of one or two members would be made.

* * *

The Church Union Bill, or Bills, may occupy the center of the stage this week. The bill sponsored by A. M. Rankin, of Frontenac, is ready for the Private Bills Committee, and Attorney-General Nickle, who is chairman, has expressed a hope that both sides can express their views before the committee upon the one occasion. There is some expectation, however, of a bill from those opposed to union, by which non-concurring congregations may hold church property until such charges formally vote themselves into the United Church. The real battle may not come for another week.

ONTARIO BETTER LIVE STOCK TRAIN

A Special Train of thirteen cars; 7 cars of Live Stock, and 6 cars for demonstration and lecture work, is touring Eastern and Northern Ontario, from March 19th to May 11th, 1925. For stopping points see special advertisements.

The Canadian National Railways, and the Canadian Pacific Railway are supplying the Trains, and with the T. & N. O. Railway are operating the Train free of charge to the Ontario and Dominion Departments of Agriculture, which are supplying the staff and equipment.

The primary purpose of the Train is educational. The Railways and Departments of Agriculture realize the importance of "Good Live Stock" in its relation to the general prosperity of agriculture, and with the cooperation of all parties concerned, this Train is made possible. The Live Stock exhibit will consist of Horses, Beef Cattle, Dairy Cattle, Sheep, Swine, and Poultry. Special exhibits of Wool, Bacon, Seeds, Feeds, and Fertilizers, have also been arranged.

Two very high class horses, one, a heavy draught gelding, loaned by the Cooksville Shale Brick Company, and the other an express type gelding loaned by the City Dairy Company, Toronto, will be used for demonstration work. The Dairy Cattle exhibit containing both cows and bulls in Eastern Ontario, will be particularly attractive, containing such noted animals as "Sir Francy Mercena Burke", that famous holstein bull owned by D. A. McPhee, Vankleek Hill. This bull will be remembered from the Junior Championship at the Provincial Dairy Show, Syracuse, in 1923. F. M. Rutherford, Bonar Law, is loaning for Eastern Ontario, the noted Ayrshire Show bull "Robin Hood of Springbank", formerly owned by J. L. Starsell, M.P. A very high class Jersey bull that, A. T. Little, London, is counting as a show prospect has also been secured. In addition one car is given exclusively to each of the following:—Beef Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Poultry and Dairy Products.

A competent staff of Demonstrators and Lecturers has been arranged so that everyone may enjoy a profitable visit to the Train.

LITTLE SHIPS.

Salvage Ships Called Upon to Do Huge Tasks.

The biggest ships do not always do the biggest jobs. Indeed, the ships that take on some of the most important duties have to be quite small, as, for instance, the lifeboat. If the lifeboat were very big she would not be handy enough for her main task of effecting rescues in the stormiest of weather.

It often happens that a ship's great size is her undoing. In a terrible "norther" like the "grey beards" of Cape Horn—a very long ship might break through her ends being lifted simultaneously by two seas—with hardly any lifting power under her middle.

Salvage ships are often called upon to carry out huge tasks. And they are never very big, but they are a mass of the finest and best-kept machinery possible. Little salvage ships have been known to raise and bring to a floating upright position some of the biggest. But, of course, they have to enlist the services of floats, lighters, tugs, and so on, as well.

Then there is the tug. If she were large she would be unclean, small, handy and powerful as she is, she can pluck a great unwieldy ship through very intricate channels and put her safely to sea. A tug is practically all boiler and engines.

Could a large ship speed to the Baltic and, in one night, work wreck and disaster amongst an enemy fleet as did an eighteen-foot motor boat during the great war?

Then there are certain ugly little under-canvassed craft in the Thames known as trows. They are just like small barges, though the rig is somewhat different. When a huge steamer fails to get her anchor from the bottom, and has to slip anchor and cable, the trow will go out and pick up that mighty hook and massive chain and deliver it to the owners.

Last, but not least, the tiniest ship of all—the Welshman's coracle. This little craft can be carried on the back, and yet it will carry its owner safely on the breast of a turbulent and swirling river.

Find Gold in Trees.

There is gold in them trees. Tests have been made by taking the wood of certain trees, burning to ashes and assaying same, and in a few cases found that the ashes of almost all trees showed traces of gold. The darker the wood, the more gold there was. Ashes of the black iron weed contained from four to ten shillings worth of gold per ton. The metal tends to collect in the trunk near the roots, and the quantity naturally depends upon the sufficiency existing in the soil in which the trees grow.—Toronto Telegram.

To Write Well.

For a man to write well there are required three necessaries: to read the best authors, observe the best speakers, and much exercise of his own style. In style, to consider what ought to be written, and after what manner he must first think; and exceptate his matter, then choose his words and examinate the weight of them, and take care in placing and ranking both matter and words that it may be comely. Its Greatest Values Cannot Be Copied

The Chassis Is Patented

As its Coach Body changed the whole trend to closed cars, so the Essex Chassis likewise forecasts the mechanical design of the future.

Essex provides stability without unnecessary weight. It has economy without sacrifice of performance.

It is low priced without disappointment in looks or reliability.

It is more than up-to-date in design. It is in advance of any car with which its price can be compared.

It is built on the Super-Six principle, by Hudson workmen in the Hudson shops.

In quality Hudson and Essex are alike. The patents which make the Super-Six the most enduring, smoothest motor and give it all advantages sought in eight cylinders, prevent any from copying its chassis as has been so generally done in copying the Coach body.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

"What can a man do after he has sown his wild oats?"

"Grow sage, of course!"

Corns cripple the feet and make walking a torture, yet sure relief in the shape of Holloway's Corn Remover is within reach of all.

"Why are you asking me for help? Haven't you any close relations?"

"Yes. That's the reason why I'm appealing to you."

Mothers can easily know when their children are troubled with worms, and they lose no time in applying a reliable remedy — Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

Higgs—"How is old Perkins getting on?"

Jiggs—"Well, when I saw him last he hadn't got a shirt to his back."

Higgs—"Oh, poor chap! Where did you see him?"

Many children die from the assaults of worms, and the first care of mothers should be to see that their infants are free from these pests. A vermifuge that can be depended on is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only expel worms from the system, but act as a health-giving medicine and a remedy for many of the ailments that beset infants, enfeebling them and endangering their lives.

"Uncle, how old are you?"

"I'm nearly a hundred now, sonny," said the oldest inhabitant.

"You've been using tobacco all your life, haven't you?"

"No, I can't exactly say that. I didn't begin to smoke till I was eleven."

An Oil That is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was put up on the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole contingent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

A certain musician was so proud of his degree that he was careful to put "Mus. Doc." after his name on every possible occasion. One day a little girl called upon him.

"Please, sir," she began, "aren't you a doctor of music."

"Yes, my dear."

"Well, Billy Ayre has trod on his mouth-organ. Can you mend it, please?"

An Oil for All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it is excellent. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicines and be amongst those taken on a journey.

"It is my belief, and I venture to assert it," declared the lecturer, raising his voice, "there isn't a man in this audience who has ever done anything to prevent the destruction of our forests."

A rather timid-looking man arose in the rear of the hall and said,

"I——I've shot woodpeckers."

Coughers Attention. To be relieved from the terrible suffocating due to asthma is a great thing, but to be half-prepared for the future is even greater. Not only does Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy bring prompt relief, but it introduces a new era of life for the afflicted. Systematic inhaling of smoke or fumes from the remedy prevents re-attacks and often effects a permanent cure.

"You did?" he charged.

"I did not!" she denied.

"You did!" he repeated.

"I did not!" she flung back.

"Well," said Hubby, "one of us two is a very capable romancer. But there is one thing which prevents me from saying which one."

"Modesty!" I presume," retorted wife. And he gave up, beaten.

After morning service the family dined, and churches and their procedure came in for criticism.

Father criticized the sermon, Mother disliked the blunders of the organist. The eldest daughter thought the choir's singing was atrocious.

But the subject had to be dropped when the small boy of the family, with the schoolboy's love of fair play, chipped in with the remark, "Dad, I think it was a jolly good show for a penny."

One Day Late.

The workers-elect of the little town where I worked in a grocery store near the depot had arranged for a well-known speaker to give an address in our theater one evening. The evening arrived, the hall was crowded, but no speaker appeared, and everyone was disappointed. The following evening just after the train came in a stranger appeared in the store and asked where Mr. ——— was to speak that night. I replied that he was to have spoken the night before, but added, "The big boob didn't come." Just then one of the leading women of the town came in and recognized the man as the speaker who had been expected the night before. Needless to say, I soon found work in the back of the store which needed immediate attention.

Terrible Effect of Prohibition.

The wives of two Muncie factory workmen were discussing the effect of prohibition on their husbands.

"When John comes home on Saturday noons nowadays with his pay envelope and turns it over to me," said one, "I always deals him out fifty cents for spendin' money and he spends it for himself."

"And what did he do in the old saloon days?" asked the other.

"In them terrible days," said the first, "when John turned over to me his pay envelope on Saturday noons, I used to give him fifty cents for a little spendin' money for himself, and soon he'd be back with a growler of beer for the two of us, bless his heart."—Indianapolis News.

FOR JOY OF GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Crandall, Manitoba.—"When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not regular. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable always and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living. I saw so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. Every month after taking it I got stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old chum in the East. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back aches so much, and that she is going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter and I hope some one will be helped by it."—Mrs. Jos. H. Kidd, Box 56, Crandall, Manitoba. G

IN MEMORIAM.

In fond and loving memory of Malcolm A. McQuaig, whom God called from us on March 15th, 1921.
The one we loved the best is now at rest,
His true, fond heart is still;
The hands that would have helped us best
Now lie in death's cold chill.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Malcolm,
That we do not think of you.
When the evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting all alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing,
If dear Malcolm only could come home.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To the grave that holds you dear,
Where we laid our darling Malcolm
Just four years ago to-day.
Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Sister and Brother. 11ap

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. Isaac Cook, who died March 16th, 1920.
Gone but not forgotten.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has re-called the bloom his love had given,
And though the body slumbers here,
the soul is safe in heaven.
—Husband.

"Tableaux of Fashions"

WILL FEATURE

Our Spring Merchandise Openings Which Are Being Held March 19th, 20th, and 21st Thursday, Friday, and Saturday

This season we are instituting a departure from regular custom and will introduce the new styles, fabrics and colorings to you by a series of specially planned merchandise exhibits, strategically placed about the store.

We especially invite all our customers to come to our store and visit these "Tableaux of Fashions", as all the merchandise displayed will be from the designing tables and work-rooms of our most prominent Canadian manufacturers.

This event will be Napanee's Greatest Exposition of Spring Fashions, and will be unparalled in authoritative grandeur.

BY CABLE FROM PARIS

The silhouette is unchanged in the first models shown at the Paris Spring Openings. Lines are straight, waist is high, low or suppressed, skirts are short and moderately full, with fullness introduced below the hips by means of gathered and circular panels. Ensembles and tunics are continued. Marked use is made of Printed Crepe and Printed Chiffons, alone or with plain Colored Wool Fabrics. Kashes and Wool Jerseys are combined with Crepe-de-chene in sports costumes. Heavy Guipure Laces are featured on sheer chiffon dinner gowns. Colors are dark or neutral for street wear, and brilliant for evening.

SPRING STYLES STEAL IN WHILE WINTRY BLASTS BLOW

We may shiver and freeze while wintry blasts blow, but surely one's thoughts must turn to Spring or to the question of Spring Styles and Spring Wardrobes. From the work-shops of our great Paris style creators come a flood of speculator new styles in a magnificent range of interesting materials and brilliant colorings.

Two silhouettes practically cover the mode for Spring and Summer. One is entirely straight line, superbly tailored, while the second is a combination of two-thirds tailored and one-third flare. The flare effects come at the bottom of the dress or tunic.

"Ensemble" styles and effects are being particularly stressed for Spring by all the leading fashion creators in Paris, New York, Montreal and Toronto. These "Ensembles" while really a two-piece garment, perform three distinct functions.

Other whims and fancies for Spring exploit the continuance of tunics, waist-lines are non-existent or placed low on the hips, skirts are short, while sleeves remain long, short, or not at all. Neck-lines of all types are being used, while attention is being given to the knotted cravat. Wide belts of cloth and leather are a part of most sport costumes. Strikingly combined colors add pleasing variations to all types of Spring wearables.

ALL EYES ARE FOCUSED ON SPRING MODES IN MILLINERY

Again, the curtain is drawn back, and in Robinson's Spring Tableaux of Fashions you will find assembled all that is authoritative in Spring head-wear.

Again, "the crown of fashion" has been awarded to small, snug-fitting hats with towering high crowns. With picturesque grace they captivate the mode, and come assembled in a varied range of beautiful materials and colorings.

Much, however, of the small hat's successes must be given to the cleverness in the way which "brims" are applied. Though small and only covering a side or a front, their effectiveness is very marked.

Ribbons intricately manipulated, flowers in cluster formation originality applied and bold dignified ornaments are used to further enchant and beautify.

Fine Milan Straws, Georgettes, Straw and Silk combinations and Felts are seen in all the brilliant new shades as Thistledown, Jade, Yellow, New Blue, Sand, Cocoa, Brown, Navy and Black.

Character of Future Naval Attack.

Rear Admiral W. F. Fullam summarizes the method of naval attack of the future as: Plunging fire from long-range guns; attack by bombing from aircraft; attack by submarine mines; attack by torpedoes fired either from submarines or destroyers or by torpedo planes. He believes that aircraft will become increasingly a determining factor in ranging and he believes that any power or fighting power will be largely dependent upon control of the air and that the fleet which secures this control must win, other things being approximately equal.—Scientific American.

Germany's Air-Post Plans.

Negotiations are being carried on between German and foreign firms with the object of securing Germany's participation in an international air-post service. Regular air-mails between Berlin and Copenhagen are expected to begin shortly, and arrangements are being made with the other Scandinavian countries. An important part of the service will be the conveyance of "airgrams" to relieve the telegraphic service. The shortage of gasoline in Germany at present is restricting the use of aircraft for mail purposes.—Scientific American.

TELEPHONES IN ONTARIO AND QUEBEC

Although 1924 was a period of very exiet general business, the Annual Report of the Bell Telephone Company, the number of telephones increase by 50,607. The total of Bell telephones now in service in Ontario and Quebec is 536,846. This is a very creditable development of this great utility. Add to this total approximately 146,976 telephones operated by independent companies, most of which connect with Bell exchanges, and you have a development for the two provinces of something like 12.9 telephones per hundred inhabitants.

SAND HILL.

It is many a long day since the people of Sand Hill celebrated one of their old-time teamestings, but last Thursday evening, March 5th, saw the revival of one of the real old-time church festivals, when people from everywhere came to patronize this event, in ever increasing numbers. It is somewhat amusing to recall some of the criticisms made by the more pessimistic ones, "that teameetings had gone out of date, and that plays and such like were the special demand of the hour". Had some of these been living in the neighborhood of the church, their doubts and fears would have given place to a great surprise, when shortly after six, streams of wagons, buggies and cars commenced to gather-at the church, and by 7 p.m., the building was full to the doors, although the tea was not to be served until 8 p.m.

On and still on they came, until there was scarcely standing room for any more. One would not have been surprised to have found such a congested crowd both noisy and dissatisfied, but the opposite was the case, for by some means the spirit as of old fell upon all, and everybody seemed to try to make merry and jolly and free, and so along this line it was a howling success.

The young men of the community handed around the eats, and great as the crowd was, inexhaustable was the larder, and everybody ate until weary of the job.

Then followed the musical program. The Hay Bay Choir, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sexsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Sexsmith, Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson, Mrs. A. C. Parks, Mrs. Jay Gould, Mr. F. Huyck, and organist, Mrs. W. B. Nolan, rendered some very fine selections, which were enjoyed immensely. Freddy Berry gave a cornet solo, accompanied by Mrs. Fennell. Mrs. Ezra Huffman sang a solo, "Mother's Song". The Misses P. Trusco tt and M. Huyck sang a duet in character, entitled "The Merry Lingeralas". Miss P. Truscott and Rev. Mr. Truscott sang a duett, "The Gipsy Countess". Nina and Gladys Sherwin and Edna Fennell gave a splendid trio, entitled "Chinese Cousins". Recitations were given by Gladys and Nina Sherwin. Mr. Truscott gave a reading, entitled "How to Cook a Husband".

It is not possible here to say all that could be said about this program. Every number was a special and very warmly greeted. Much praise, however, is due to the faithful and devoted people of this church. All the lady folk worked with a will and a zeal. The men, too, were all in the swim, resulting in a magnificent entertainment, bringing to the treasury nearly $65.00.

AND THEY ALL "STOOD PAT"

While Mr. James Corbett, Who Had Manipulated the Deck, Sat Apart and Laughed.

In a club much frequented by men of the theatrical business, a poker game which began as a mere pastime grew, by degrees, to an undesirable intensiveness. The chaps who usually "sat in" were all friends and fellow laborers in a none-too-lucrative occupation. They agreed among themselves that there must be no more raising of the limit and no more reckless betting. The game must be one for amusement only. On the night when this agreement was solemnly concluded, they sat down and cut for the cards. Jim Corbett brought them. "I'll just sit and look on for a while," he said. "May take a hand a little later."

One man took the cards out of the box and threw around for a deal. The dealer shuffled them and passed them for the cut. Then he dealt a hand while the banker was giving each man his checks. The first man after the deal bet the limit. Every man of the seven around the table came in, each "lifting" the pot for the limit.

"Say," said Corbett, "I thought you fellows were going to play light. That's a fine way to start out."

This evoked not even a response from the players. Each was sitting tight and covertly eying his neighbors. The dealer asked the first man how many cards he wanted. He stood pat. Every player around the board looked startled. Then the next man stood pat. And after him the next and finally all seven. It was at that moment that some one observed Mr. Corbett apparently about to choke in his secluded corner. Corbett had combined 25 per cent of four separate decks, so that the 52 cards he had handed the players were all spades. Each man had a pat flush when the betting began.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

LESSON IN FRANKLIN'S LIFE

Great American Statesman and Patriot Rose to Immortal Fame From Humble Beginnings.

On the 17th of January, in 1706, Benjamin Franklin was born at Boston. His father was a soap and candlemaker, his mother, the daughter of a Quaker poet of Nantucket. When Benjamin was ten he was taken from school and set to work in his father's factory. He soon grew tired of labor and opened a printing office in Philadelphia. He pursued the career of printer and publisher until 1730, when he was made clerk of the Pennsylvania assembly. This was the beginning of his public career, and he rose steadily until he became one of the most striking figures in America. In France, when he was sent there as ambassador after the Revolutionary war, he became as widely known and loved as in his own country.

He Got the Job.

The colonel of a recruiting regiment in France charged the adjutant with selecting a suitable soldier to serve as orderly at his hotel. The adjutant consulted the company list for the proper man and finally found one who had been an elevator boy in a hotel—a smiling, gracious darkey, neat and respectful.

When the man reported the colonel impressed upon him the necessity for tact.

"Do you know just what I mean by, tact?" he asked.

"Yas, suh. W'en it comes to tac' I'se right on de spot. Why, cunnel, jus' las' week I went into the bathhouse near mah billet, an' fount' one of de mademselles there. I jest stepped back an' says, 'Pardon, mousieur?' Now of dat warn't tac' den I don't know what is."—The Home Sector.

Not at Home.

I was busy cleaning my gas stove when the door bell rang. I was just about to open the door when I saw it was our pastor. So I stood back behind the door and told my little son, Louis, to open the door and tell him I was at the store.

But he pushed the door so far back that my tops stuck out from under the door, and when Louis told him I was out, he laughed and said: "All right, sonny, but the next time your mamma goes out, tell her to take her feet with her."

I have a chain on the door now.—Exchange.

Coral's Varying Colors.

Genuine coral may be red, pink, white, blue, yellow, green or black, the last being the rarest and most highly prized. The next valuable is the red coral, which is susceptible to a high polish and is most in use for jewelry, being the coral of commerce. Corals are roughly classed under two heads, the horny corals and the lime or stone corals. To the former belong the red and black forms and the white to the latter. Red coral is chiefly found in the Mediterranean. The corals found on the Atlantic coast of Florida are the lime, or stone corals, which are true reef-building forms.

Good Reason.

"You needn't be alarmed about woman running for office, now so many of them can vote."

"Yes, but they couldn't do it in the present style of skirts."

"Uncle, how old are you?"

"I'm nearly a hundred now, sonny," said the oldest inhabitant.

"You've been using tobacco all your life, haven't you?"

"No, I can't exactly say that; I didn't begin to smoke till I was eleven."

About the time Fyrnne's wife appeared the Queen and her ladies had taken part in a pastoral at Whitehall. Charles I. contributed Prynne's poem a reflection on the Queen and had the poet summoned before the High Tribunal, which condemned him to stand in the pillory, to have his ears cut off, to pay a fine of 5,000 pounds and to life imprisonment. After spending seven years in prison Prynne was released. He began again to write, but no one would publish his efforts. NEEDED A MASTER

German Official Helpless in the Absence of Orders.

Burgermeister's Case Typical of the Lack of Initiative Resulting From the System of Militarism So Long in Vogue.

The burgermeister of B—— am Rhein was a person who looked like a white rat that had been thoroughly soaked and shaved. And he had the faculty, which all Germans have, of congealing his cords and muscles at a moment's notice, and could assume the rigor of an epileptic in the presence of superiors. To watch him slide into your office, uncover his teeth, espy you, and suddenly straighten himself up in obedience to an unspoken Achtung, was an impressive experience.

The American general's aid, appointed to this particular suburb of Coblenz, often wondered why the arrest of every vital function should be considered polite. He distrusted that German salute. It was too much like playing 'possum.

When the burgermeister came into the ortskommandatur, the aid told him that, in so far as he behaved himself, he would have nothing to fear from the American army; and that in so far as it didn't interfere with the satisfaction of American interests, he was to continue governing the town as usual.

The burgermeister stiffened himself and withdrew.

The aid was pleased. His first official act, he felt, had been kindly, yet firm, but not too harsh. If he had his way, B—— would not suffer as northern France had suffered. He was going to show these boches that the Americans weren't there to terrorize, or to Americanize, but simply to occupy territory according to the terms of the armistice.

But he could not see the scene in the burgermeister's office overhead—the holding of cheeks in hands, the striking of chests, the weary and rapid breathing of bewilderment, the groans of despair. And the next morning, when he went to the ortskommandatur, he was met by a request that he grant an audience to his German colleague. It was 10 o'clock, the exact hour of yesterday's meeting.

He granted the request, and in a moment the shaved rat slid in through a slit in the open door and ran his tongue over his pink lips. His little black eyes shone like shoe buttons, and he kept scratching the palms of his hands.

He wanted to know if the Herr Oberleutnant had any orders for him. The Herr Oberleutnant wanted to know why.

"Ach!" cried the burgermeister, "before the armistice I became we had a government. Now we had none. How, then, can I run the town for B—— as I used to run it? There is no one to tell me what to do. If only the Herr Oberleutnant would express his wishes!"

The aid narrowed his eyes and looked at him disgustedly.

"Have the streets cleaned," he said, and turned to his work.

The face of the burgermeister was radiant. He had found a boss.

In less than thirty minutes a platoon of boches was assembled in the street before the ortskommandatur. Every other man carried a broom at right shoulder arms and the rest at left sides a shovel. The burgermeister stood on the steps of the building, with a pencil in one hand and a long list in the other, and checked off their names.

Then, "Hup!" said the burgermeister.

Out of the ranks jumped four men, saluted, and faced the platoon.

"Hup!" said the first of the four; and a little squad of brooms and shovelers faced to the right and marched off briskly northward.

"Hup!" said the second of the four; and another littlesquad trotted off, to the east.

"Hup!" said the third, and "Hup!" said the fourth, and soon all points of the compass had received their squads. And the voice of the gefreite was heard in the land. Clouds of dust hung over B—— am Rhein, shovels clanged on the cobblestones, brooms scraped the roadways. The town was being cleaned.

The burgermeister stepped into the burgermeisterei and jabbed his pencil three times into his right ear. "So-o-o," he said with pride and satisfaction.

And from that day on the aid gave him orders punctually at 10 a. m.—George Buss, in Atlantic Monthly.

Ireland Again.

Two Irishmen were walking along one of the main thoroughfares in Glasgow when they noticed a large placard in the window of a shop with the words: "Butter! Butter!! Butter!!" in large type written on it.

"Pat," said Mike, "what is the meaning of them big strokes after the words?"

"Och, ye ignoramus," says Pat, "sure they are meant for shillelahs, to show it's Irish butter."—London Ideas.

Business Training.

Serious consideration is being given to the need of higher commercial training when London university proposes to collect $2,500,000 to establish a course in commerce, that is to say, to create a commercial faculty, scholarships, traveling clerkships, erect buildings and get a library. The need of higher commercial training impresses the British.

REFUSES TO BE COMFORTED

Given Remedy for Potato Bug Pest, Presents Dips Up Another Tale of Woe.

A Kansas City farmer has proposed a scheme for doing away with potato bugs so simple that it seems ridiculous. Perhaps not much dependence is to be placed in agricultural suggestions offered by a Kansas City farmer, Kansas farmers should command instant respect, but we would not be inclined to have faith in a Kansas City farmer much more than in a Manhattan farmer. However, this hint may be taken for what it is worth. The Kansas City idea is that all that is necessary to keep the potato bugs away is to plant one bean in the hill with the seed potato. It seems that the bugs hate beans.

Perhaps they do. Anyway, in our own experience we can testify that we have never seen potato bugs feeding on bean vines. It would be a logical assumption that they will not venture into the presence of beans. So far as we have observed there has not been a potato bug in our garden this season. Perhaps, that is because we did not plant any potatoes. But gardens develop or encourage all kinds of bugs besides potato bugs. That is one of the harassing experiences of about every amateur gardener. And if it is not bugs it is something else. Just as you get your garden growing along come a couple of calves or a herd of cows and eat off the tops of everything. The bovine tribe seems to have a peculiar fondness for young corn. Only a person with bitter experience can fully appreciate the significance of that old nursery appeal to Little Boy Blue to blow his horn on account of the cow's being in the corn.

Between the pests that bite the roots or mastisate the leaves and those that eat or trample the plants it is mighty hard to raise growing things.—F. H. Young in Providence Journal.

SEE BEGINNING OF NEW ERA

People of Helgoland Will Welcome Return of Visitors to the Unfortunate Little Island.

The change which dug a huge fortress a hundred feet deep in the cliff, covered them with gun emplacements and girdled them with a labyrinth of walls fifty feet thick was a curse and a doubtful blessing, and Helgoland must have found her transformation into the most notorious and sinister speck of land in the world a severe strain on her zeal for the fatherland.

When the war actually came a few fisherman were exiled for the war long and all shipped off to the mainland and the island was given over to the guns and the gunner. It is now thrown open again, and a beginning has been made with the dismantling of its mighty forts. The inhabitants will cheerfully see the last of the guns, and apparently they would like, even to be quit of German visitors, but they hope quite reasonably, that the island's final disappearance may be at least delayed. They foresee the great seawalls the Germans built.

This might well be done, for Helgoland and its lords will be a lobster for the curious, and there would be a certain rough justice in the fact if its people lived in the future by the world's interest in its shellfish just that has cost them so dear.

Coolies Pass Through Canada.

When the big blue funnel liner Tyndareus cleans from Southampton docks to proceed to Vancouver, B. C., where, in addition to further cargo awaiting her at that port, she will be joined by some 1,000 Chinese coolies, who are being returned to their home country by the British Indian Trade Departments, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The Chinese are among several thousands of coolies utilized as laborers back of the lines during nearly the entire five years of the war and they are being returned to their homes through Canada, which will mean that they will have circled the globe when they debark at Hongkong, since they were taken to Europe through the Suez canal and the Mediterranean.

Church Gets Precious Relics.

The mainmast and spars of the Shirley, flagship of Admiral Farragut in the civil war, will be erected on the grounds of a church in Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., if the plans of the congregation are approved at the New York surveyor's office. The church was founded years ago with the prize money won by Farragut in the capture of Confederate blockade runners. On learning that the old Hartford is to be dismantled to the scrap heap, the members of the church consequently been aroused to make every effort to secure this unusual and desirable souvenir.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

MASTER OF ART OF WOOING

Missourian Gives Out Some Pointers That May or May Not Be of Value to Others.

There are experts in all lines, but shall not a man who can persuade eight women to marry him rank as an authority on matrimony? According to the Missourian who is locked up in the Tombs as a confessed bigamist, the way to a woman's heart is through her higher emotions. "I appealed to the best in women always," he says, "and never to their lower instincts."

Women also, this artist in love discovered, "like to be swept off their feet by those who woo them; they love no patience" with the dawdler. Nor did he find that it was essential for the wooer to be handsome or more than mildly dressed. But these, of course, are old precepts in the manual of courtship. Ugly men have often been great rakes, and ardor is traditionally effective in sweeping the reluctant fair "off their feet." His main contribution to the art of love, and it is one worthy of Ovid, is that of the potency of an appeal to the higher nature of woman.

But is "the best" in women a fixed quality, or does it vary and require to be diagnosed in the individual? That is no doubt a difficulty that will confront ordinary wooers. Is the highest feminine nature compatible with matinee tickets and tea dances, or does it incline seriously only to more elevated interests? Is a love compatible with lengthy motor excursions? Or is it only by leaving the problem about as it was for less successful suitors to whom the mystery remains of other men's every mastery of an art of which they fail to learn the rudiments.—New York World.

CAUSES OF BROKEN ROMANCE

London Newspaper Points Out Two Reason's Why Love's Young Dream Is Rudely Shattered.

Engagement breaking is in season.

"The marriage arranged between Captain X and Miss Y will not now take place." That cold print end to romance can be read any day now in the society columns of the papers. It is becoming a habit.

Experts who study these matters declare that the percentage of broken engagements is much lower than it was, and they set down several reasons, says the London Daily Express. The main one is:

The great khaki illusion. (a) The woman: "You would not believe how different he looked in his position out, my dear. I simply couldn't do it." (b) The man: "She was awfully charming as a driver in the Women's legion, but when I saw her in one of the new evening gowns—well, it just couldn't happen."

The house famine is given as another cause. Two young people who believe themselves to be twin souls go out and try to find a future home. It is physically impossible for any person's temper to stand the strain of prospective house-hunting. They quarrel, and there is another broken romance.

Cleaning Rusted Tools.

Elbow grease is usually the best thing to use when cleaning rust from steel, but the following manner has also been suggested: Fasten the steel rightly to a piece of zinc by means of wire and place it in a pan containing water to which sulphuric acid has been added. Leave it there until the rust has disappeared. If the article is very rusty add a little more acid from time to time. The process by which the rust is removed is electrical. The steel being in contact with the zinc short-circuited battery cells are formed, and the rust is reduced to iron again by electro-chemical action. The steel will become darkened by the process, but will regain its brightness if rubbed with sweet oil or a mixture of petroleum and kerosene.

Safer.

At an Indiana high school the other day the athletic society was putting down tickets for ball games on sale. One of the most popular boys in the senior class came up to the desk at which the treasurer was being sold, bought two, had his name inserted in the blank on one of the tickets and then reached for the change.

"But you haven't told us whose name to write on the other ticket," protested the ticket seller, "and the rules of the association require that all ticket purchasers have their names on their tickets."

Now, the senior had planned to pass the favor of his company along to several girls. "Well," he drawled, "if you have to write something in that blank, just write anonymous."

New and Stronger Bricks.

More substantial walls may be constructed with a new type of brick, patented not so long ago by a retired contractor of the southwest, and known as self-bending and interlocking, the inventor states. On one side of each brick are two circular, bevel-edged hosses, while on the reverse side, in the same exintive positions, are two depressions into which the bosses fit exactly. The brick is recommended for domes or arches, chimneys or hollow walls.—From Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Seeing Herself.

"Hurry, wife. We'll miss the elevator."

"Hurry, eh? I think I see myself."

"In that case, you'll have to stop and make a long inspection."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

For a good lasting job, you require a Varnish that will dry hard, give a good rich gloss that won't darken hardwood floors, that will stand the most severe usage, and that is right in price. Copalline fills all requirements perfectly. For sale at Wallace's, Napanee Agents.

A $5,000 Guarantee of Purity goes with every bar; and, according to the makers, this Guarantee has never once been challenged during the whole lifetime of Sunlight Soap.

"It's perfectly obvious, too, that when every particle of a soap is pure cleansing material—and not loaded with adulterants and hardening materials—then that soap has more cleansing power and does more work with less labour. A little of it goes a long way. In short, it's really economical.

Fluid Lifts Loads.

A scientist has invented a fluid that when released expands at a rate that, when translated into power can perform wonderful feats in the way of lifting loads. At present its chief application seems to be in the lifting of motor cars to allow of the mending of punctures. The piston jack is placed under the axle and to the jack is attached a small bottle about one foot long and containing about three and one-half pounds, equipped with a valve at one end. The bundle is turned slightly and the car is promptly lifted off the ground. The little bottle contains about a pint of fluid, the power of the expanding liquid rushing through a pipe and strikes the piston of a jack with irresistible force. Lifting the ordinary automobile is child's play to this wonderful bottle.

If this is true, and if bottles of great size could be constructed one might move great buildings being lifted from their foundations and pent toppling to destruction; if a 2½-pound bottle can lift 12,000 pounds, what would not a one-ton bottle accomplish? It would seem, indeed, that there is no limit to the weight that could be lifted, given the proper apparatus to apply the power.

The tremendous expanding force of the fluid in the bottle, the inventor says, can be turned to other purposes besides lifting weights. Ice can be made with it, tires inflated in three seconds, fires extinguished (for the escaping gas smothers flame) and sparkling drinks carbonated at very low cost.

With one little bottle in the car, the motorist can jack up the vehicle, inflate the new tire and make himself a cool, sparkling drink. To refresh himself after his exertions, so the inventor says.

Another Link With the Past.

Eight hundred years ago the parish church of St. Mary at Warwick, England, was taken into royal favor by Stephen of Blois and made into a collegiate establishment of canons, under the patronage o fthe great Earldom of Warwick.

But the original building dated much earlier, to pre-Norman times, though of it there remains nothing more than foundations.

The Dissolution of the Religious Houses under Henry VIII. and the temporary triumph of Puritanism left their respective mark upon the edifice; but these and more were wiped out by a great fire in 1694. Out of Wren's best pupils restored everything in the best manner, having the magnificent Beauchamp Chapel as a pattern and ideal, for the fire had happily spared it.

This gem of ecclesiastical work was founded by Richard Beauchamp, thq earl in 1442, and took 21 years to complete. Rich in Gothic ornamentation, exquisite in outline and detail, it has been described as the most gorgeous sepulchre of a subject in England. Here many a warwick lies—de Newburgs, Beauchamps, Nevilles—while Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, who lived at Kenilworth and men who fought at Crecy.

Here is possibly the smallest piscina extant, with a wooden top or mouth, believed to be unique in that respect.

Civil War Bills Bring $2.80.

"Let me have some real money for these things," said a stranger at the paying teller's window at a Santa Barbara bank, as he tendered a handful of tattered and worn Civil war currency. The teller counted out the worn papers and found the face value was $2.80.

NAVY LIBRARY WORTH VISIT

Apartment in States, War and Navy Building at Washington Should Appeal to Tourists.

The navy library, in the state, war and navy building, is a lovely place to soak up atmosphere. Like the building itself, it is thirty-three years old. When it was built England, France, Spain and Italy presented the marbles of porphyry, sienna and malachite with which the walls are paneled. Mexico sent the pieces of onyx which encrust the gallery. The round stone over the door came from the ruins of Pompeii. The cosmoscope in marble who visits Washington will enjoy a cult here.

In the center of the large room, lined with shelves of weighty tomes on naval matters, there is a large and important green-topped table. Around this table sat the strategic board of the Spanish-American war. Here also the naval advisory board for the great war made their secret plans and experiments. Edison, Mazda, Miller and many others conferred over it, with the windows carefully darkened and a guard before the door.

There is a quaint side to the library, too. A little white-haired lady can be seen any time, flitting about the shelves of dark, heavy books, or cutting and pasting busily in her corner by the window. This is Miss Mason, daughter of a former secretary of the navy. She has been in the library 26 years. If you happen in near noon she may give you a cup of tea on one corner of her desk.

And of all charming places to have an unexpected cup of tea, with a sweet little lady, this quiet nook among the books is recommended.

TWO TRAVELERS CAME BACK

According to Army Captain, Mules Returned From That Dim and Undiscovered Shore.

The regimental morning report is a fearsome document. On it appear all the changes in status of men and animals for each preceding 24 hours. It happened in an Ohio regiment once that two mules fell ill one night. The veterinarian gave his verdict of hopeless, and the captain of the supply company accordingly made the proper entry on the morning report: "Two mules, from duty to dead."

But under the care of the grizzled old stable sergeant the mules recovered and next morning the captain found them alive and kicking. Now, entries made on the morning report can never be erased, which made the situation embarrassing for the captain. However, he was a man of resource, and the next day's report carried the startling entry: "Two mules, from dead to duty."

Shrub May Prove Valuable.

Two years before the war, as the story is told, two German chemists applied for permission to experiment with the plant life on a great semi-arid ranch in central Mexico. Their request was granted, with the understanding that they furnish a complete report of their findings. The two chemists worked feverishly, and chiefly on a squat, odorous shrub called "gobernadora," long reputed to possess medicinal properties. Suddenly they disappeared; what they had discovered was never known. Now, after experiments with this same desert shrub which they have found in drier parts of New Mexico, chemists of the United States department of agriculture believe that they have discovered another alkaloid to add to the list which already includes morphine, quinine and cocaine. Bicchemist and pharmaceutical properties are now under investigation.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Trapper's Tomb a Log Cabin.

A humble log cabin which stands in a trackless forest near Lake Athabasca, in western Canada, was once the home of a fur trapper, its builder. Now it is a tomb, sheltering the frozen body of the former occupant, who died there, alone and unaided, nearly two years ago. To investigate the cause of the trapper's death, a fearless member of the royal northwest mounted police journeyed to the desolate scene in midwinter, braving the terrors of the wilderness for months before reaching his objective, situated miles from railroads and civilization. The corpse was in a perfect state of preservation, due to the cold, dry air, and was not moved from the bunk on which the trapper passed away.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Last Resort.

An eminent engineer said in our hearing yesterday that in Italy the workers are giving two hours of their time as a free gift to the state. They realize that increased production means ultimately increased wealth. In Germany there are signs of the same spirit among the colliers. But in old England the following story admirably illustrates the industrial situation: Two miners were discussing the minimum wage. "Say, Bill," said the first, "what's this 'ere minimum wage?" Bill spat. "The minimum wage! That's what we gets for goin' down; an' if we wants ter make any more brass we goes and does some work for it."—London Morning Post.

City Markets.

Of 227 cities in the United States having estimated populations of more than 30,000, more than one-half (128) had municipal markets in 1918 according to a bulletin on the subject recently issued by the census bureau.

A Clergyman, conducting the burial service over a person, came to "this our beloved—" But he did not know if he was burying a man or woman, and turned to one of the mourners with the question, "Brother or sister?"

"Neither, sir, only a friend," was the bewildering reply.

W. E. Topliff has received word that his son, Dr. E. E. Topliff, Superintendent of Nelson and Sandon Hospitals, British Columbia, who has been taking a post graduate course in New York, sailed from St. John's, N.B., to complete his studies in Vienna, Austria. Dr. Topliff will be remembered by many, as he graduated in Medicine and Arts at Queen's University in the 1919 class. He was with the medical staff who volunteered to spend two years overseas and continued his studies on his return.

The contest for membership of the Community Club of the Odessa Methodist Church closed Tuesday night by a very enjoyable event at which about three hundred and fifty members sat down to a supper prepared and served by the losing side. Great praise is due Miss Ruth Cairns and her members for the elaborately decorated tables and fine supper put on for the winning side. A vote of appreciation by the winners was tendered by Mr. Holmes, manager of the Royal Bank, to Miss Cairns and the go-getters members, and responded to by Mr. Dean Babcock, in a very appropriate way. This closes six weeks of Tuesday evening programmes prepared and put on by local talent of members of the Community Club, which is undenominational. The Pastor, Rev. S. F. Dixon, is a very enthusiastic and energetic community worker, and has ideas which have been of great assistance to the young people of the community.

George Crawford Tells What Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Did For Him

Quebec Man Relieved of Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble.

Standen, Que., March 9th (Special)—Another tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills is sent to us by Mr. G. Crawford, a well known resident of this place. He says: "It is with pleasure that I let you know your Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me good and I am well satisfied with the results. My trouble started from a cold. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing and I had a bitter taste in my mouth, especially in the mornings. Rheumatism also troubled me. I am now taking your Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and find them very good. When I feel my stomach bad I take them and get instant relief. My age is 76."

Dodd's Kidney Pills not only relieve the pain or else that is causing the most distress, but they put the kidneys good working order and all the impurities and poisons are strained out of the body.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets keep the stomach free from trouble. They are a natural remedy, digesting the food while the stomach rests and recuperates.

A boastful traveller in the village inn was trying to "stuff" the yokels.

"Speaking of chickens," he said, "reminds me of an old hen my father used to have on his farm. She'd hatch anything. Once he let her sit ball to a lemon. Why, one day she sat on a chunk of ice and hatched out a pint of hot wated!"

"That doesn't come up to a hen my mother had," remarked one of his hearers. "They fed her on sawdust once, by mistake. Well, she laid ten eggs, and sat on 'em, and when they were hatched, I'm dashed if nine didn't have wooden legs, and t'other was a woodpecker."

"Owe my life to Carnol," says Mr. Sinclair

Following a railway accident, after other medecines failed, he got relief from two bottles of Carnol.

The following letter needs no comment from us. We leave Mr. Sinclair to tell you about his experience in his own words.—"I was very much run down and nervous following a railway accident some years ago. Medicines failed to give me any real help, so I decided to try Carnol. I did not have any faith in patent medicines, but a friend of mine said Carnol was far superior to any other of the so-called patent medicines. 'Give it a trial,' he said, 'and let me know the results.' I am glad to say this wonderful medicine has done for me what no other medicine has done, and it therefore gives me great pleasure to give this evidence in favor of Carnol. I would advise all business men who feel, after the strenuous life of the world, that they need a building up tonic, to take Carnol. It is only by giving it a fair trial that they will know its splendid qualities.

After using the first bottle I noticed a marked improvement. My appetite improved and after the second bottle I could eat like a horse, even raw potatoes and onions would be as welcome as apples. I slept like a log and after a refreshing sleep, I was able to take up the strenuous work of the hustling insurance agent. This work calls for considerable nervous energy in closing business and I can say, with confidence, Carnol has no superior in the medicine line. I would suggest that your company give this letter a most conspicuous place, so that everyone may know what a great medicine is before the public as a restorative tonic and flesh builder. I say, with all confidence, I owe my life to Carnol. Nothing equals this 'medicine.'—Gordon M. Sinclair, Chatham, N.B. 1-24

CAVE MEN LIVED IN EGYPT.

First Remains Have Been Discovered on African Continent.

An archaeological find, which promises to be an event of the first magnitude, is reported from Egypt.

The remains of cave men have been there, the first ever discovered on the African continent. The bones were found by Dr. D. E. Perry and reported by the British Royal Anthropological Institute. They were discovered near the town, Gaubel-Qurub, on the east bank of the Nile in Upper Egypt.

The discovery opens a strange vista into the past of the dark continent. The bones are not those of people such as we know, but of men of the cave man breed, low of forehead and dull in mind. There are no cave men to-day. They are all extinct.

This newly discovered prehistoric race lived in the Pleistocene age, during or before the age of ice. At that time the land of Egypt was much nearer sea level than it is now, and the Nile meandered through meadows filled with herds of African buffalo, breats no longer found in northern Africa. There were many swamps also, and these abounded in crocodiles. The bones of both these creatures have been found with those of the men.

There seems to have been quick-sands in those days in Egypt, in which the prehistoric hunters would sometimes stick and drown. Many of their bones have shells of fresh water oysters sticking to them, showing that they lay in the swamps where they perished for untold years.

Then, half a million years or more ago, Africa began to rise. The land of Egypt has been slowly elevated, but the Nile has worked vigorously to keep its channel clear. The river has cut a trench ten miles wide and 300 feet deep from one end of Egypt to the other since the cave men lived there and has transported many cubic miles of debris to the sea.

The meadows are drained now. The river has cut 300 feet below their level and has left them with dried mud banks, high and dry. At the same time the rainfall has failed, so that what were once green fields are now parched deserts.

Dr. Perry found the bones in a pit dug by the Egyptians of an early Pharoah's time. Some energetic person had scoured the desert for miles around and had gathered a great pile of bones together, to be burned as an offering in a grave. Some of the human skulls are well preserved and will greatly increase scientific knowledge of the races of men who made Egypt.

Shrub May Prove Valuable.

Two years before the war, as the story is told, two German chemists applied for permission to experiment with the plant life on a great semi-arid ranch in central Mexico. Their request was granted, with the understanding that they furnish a complete report of their findings. The two chemists worked feverishly, and chiefly on a squat, odorous shrub called "gobernadora," long reputed to possess medicinal properties. Suddenly they disappeared; what they had discovered was never known. Now, after experiments with this same desert shrub which they have found in drier parts of New Mexico, chemists of the United States department of agriculture believe that they have discovered another alkaloid to add to the list which already includes morphine, quinine and cocaine. Bicchemist and pharmaceutical properties are now under investigation.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Trapper's Tomb a Log Cabin.

A humble log cabin which stands in a trackless forest near Lake Athabasca, in western Canada, was once the home of a fur trapper, its builder. Now it is a tomb, sheltering the frozen body of the former occupant, who died there, alone and unaided, nearly two years ago. To investigate the cause of the trapper's death, a fearless member of the royal northwest mounted police journeyed to the desolate scene in midwinter, braving the terrors of the wilderness for months before reaching his objective, situated miles from railroads and civilization. The corpse was in a perfect state of preservation, due to the cold, dry air, and was not moved from the bunk on which the trapper passed away.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Last Resort.

An eminent engineer said in our hearing yesterday that in Italy the workers are giving two hours of their time as a free gift to the state. They realize that increased production means ultimately increased wealth. In Germany there are signs of the same spirit among the colliers. But in old England the following story admirably illustrates the industrial situation: Two miners were discussing the minimum wage. "Say, Bill," said the first, "what's this 'ere minimum wage?" Bill spat. "The minimum wage! That's what we gets for goin' down; an' if we wants ter make any more brass we goes and does some work for it."—London Morning Post.

TWO TRAVELERS CAME BACK

According to Army Captain, Mules Returned From That Dim and Undiscovered Shore.

The regimental morning report is a fearsome document. On it appear all the changes in status of men and animals for each preceding 24 hours. It happened in an Ohio regiment once that two mules fell ill one night. The veterinarian gave his verdict of hopeless, and the captain of the supply company accordingly made the proper entry on the morning report: "Two mules, from duty to dead."

But under the care of the grizzled old stable sergeant the mules recovered and next morning the captain found them alive and kicking. Now, entries made on the morning report can never be erased, which made the situation embarrassing for the captain. However, he was a man of resource, and the next day's report carried the startling entry: "Two mules, from dead to duty."

It is hoped the ladies of the town will take advantage of this sale of beautiful and useful articles as the opportunity comes so seldom. 11a

Address on History Of Masonry.

Members of Mount Sinai Chapter, No. 44, R.A.M. Arch Masons, Napanee, at their regular meeting on Wednesday evening, had as their guest Mr. Harry Linsey, of Brantford, who gave an address on "Origin and Growth of Freemasonry". With the assistance of lantern slides the history of the Craft was traced and those responsible for its growth pictured. Mr. R. Taylor, F.P., was in the chair.

PAUL'S

In our enthusiasm for our wonderful range of Wallpapers, of which we have been speaking in this column, we have been neglecting to mention the other lines which we handle, and with which the name Paul's has for more than a quarter of a century been so closely connected. Not only is our Stationery and School Supply business and stock increasing daily, but we have the most completely equipped plant for Picture Framing in this town. A large range of the popular priced S. & S. novels and all the newest magazines are always on hand. 11a PAUL'S.

He Made $190.

Abram Finklestein made a trip to Kingston, duly armed with a doctor's prescription for a bottle of his favorite brand. He presented the slip of paper at the government liquor store and got his bottle. Just to find out what the stuff was all right, he took a drink. Then he thought of the risk he was taking by carrying the bottle home; if it was found on his person the fine would be $200 and costs, so he said to himself "here's where I can make $190 easy". Therefore he consumed the contents and threw away the bottle, and it only cost him $10 and costs, when he got home, for being drunk. Moral—It is cheaper to get drunk, than to use a little liquor occasionally.

NEELY'S

Secondary in importance to the fact that the Business known as Neely's Book and China Shop, will Lock, Stock and Barrel) is For Sale en bloc, is the Display of Wallpapers shown in that department. The effect of the completed job is obtained by "hanging" as many samples as desired with the natural result; pleased and enthusiastic patrons. We particularly stress the two-tone inch semi-trimmed papers, though we stock the narrower as well as the wider products.

We frame pictures every day and will be pleased to show mouldings and finished work.

Our Lounge is comfortable, with "Welcome on the Mat".

Trinity Church Anniversary Services

The seventy-fifth Anniversary Services of Trinity Methodist Church held on Sunday and Monday, were a complete success in every way. Crowded congregations listened to the inspiring preaching of the Rev. Harold Young, M.A., B.D., of Peterboro', at the Sunday services, and to his illuminating address on Monday on "Thoreans' Three Chairs". The musical part of the services was in the hands of Professor Baird, who was ably assisted by Mr. A. C. Chapman, Miss Katherine Baird and the Trinity Choir. The annual dinner was served by the men of the congregation, and over five hundred people sat down to enjoy the good things provided. The financial returns reached $1865.00.

A VAST OUTLAY.

Some idea is gained of what an enormous job it is to look after the telephone requirements of the community when we learn from the Bell Telephone Company's Annual Report that additions to the Company's property in 1924, made up of land, buildings, central office equipment and outside plant, cost nearly sixteen-and-one-half millions. Net additions to plant amounted to $12,060,022.00, the difference being chiefly old plant displaced.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY LECTURE

Canadian Confederation and the United States

Mr. R. G. Trotter, of Queen's

Just at this time when delegations from the Maritime Provinces are besieging Ottawa for relief from economic depression and whispering "annexation", it is the good fortune of Napanee to have secured Dr. Trotter, of Queen's, to discuss the whole subject of "Canadian Confederation and the United States". Dr. Trotter is a lecturer in constitutional history at Queen's University—one of the newer professors, and Napanee may well feel honored in having the privilege of hearing him.

The lecture is free to all, is held in the Historical rooms over the Library, on Friday, March 20th, at 8 o'clock.

On Good Friday, John Duxbury, the Prince of Entertainers, will be in Grace Church, afternoon and evening. 11a

ST. PATRICK.

The time and place of St. Patrick's birth has been warmly discussed and disputed by writers.

Though Usher, Ware, Colgan and other ancient writers state that he was a native of Scotland, this has been fully exploded by the research and learning of Dr. Lanigan, who has proved that he was unquestionably a native of Boulogne-sur-mer, in France.

He was an archbishop, first primate, and chief apostle of Ireland, and that he separated the Irish from the worship of idols and spectres, and conquered and destroyed the idols which they worshipped, and expelled demons and evil spirits from among them, and brought them from the darkness of sin and vice to the light of faith and good works.

St. Patrick died on the 17th of March, in the year 465, at the age of seventy-eight years.

OVER SIXTY WAYS TO SERVE CHEESE

That Canada will soon take its place with the nations that are the largest consumers of cheese seems assured considering the steady increase in its consumption in the past few years since the Kraft-MacLaren Cheese Company, of Montreal, introduced the five pound box. The Kraft Company were the originators of the popular Individually-wrapped cheese without rind or waste, in the five pound wooden box, and while the original procedure has had many imitators, none have been able to produce a cheese of the same uniform quality and flavor because the Kraft process is protected by patents. The Company does not make cheese, therefore, it is not competing with the cheese factories. But it purchases Canadian cheese in enormous quantities, thus keeping the cheese factories busy and adding to their prosperity and that of the farmers. Kraft Cheese is simply a scientific blending of these manufactured cheeses by means of the patented Kraft process which absolutely controls the flavor.

The company has just issued a beautiful recipe book showing over 60 different ways in which cheese may be served. Many of the dishes are illustrated in natural colors. A copy may be obtained, free, on writing to the company in Montreal, mentioning this paper.

CUSTOM HATCHING.

The M. B. Mills Co. are now ready to do your hatching in any quantity up to 2500 eggs at one time, and at a lower price than last year. Why not let us hatch your chicks, thus doing away with all work and worry. We have already had several hatches, our last one, March 8th, producing 135 fine healthy chicks from 210 eggs set, and not one weakling.

We also have on hand a large stock of Baby Chick Feeds, Feed Troughs, Water Founts, etc.

Let us do your hatching and secure for you the best results.

Bring us your eggs and in 22 days we will have your chicks ready to take home, with the right feeds, etc., to raise them satisfactorily.

We also have Incubators and Brooders for sale. Come in and let us help you clear away your doubts.

CAMDEN EAST

We are having quite cold weather at time of writing.—Mr. T. Dunwoody, of Newburgh, spent several days last week with his brother-in-law, Mr. E. W. Longmore, and some other friends in the village. — Mrs. Ellen Lucas spent a day in Kingston last week, visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Ainsley.—Several in this vicinity have the grip.—Mr. Edgar Salisbury, Mr. Clarence Boulton and Mr. Lorne Williams have returned home from Toronto, with their diplomas, where they attended the School of Instruction.—Mr. and Mrs. John McCreary, who have spent the past three months with relatives in this vicinity, started on Monday last for their home in Winnipeg. They will visit relatives in Toronto en route.—Mr. Fisher, Deputy Reeve, and John Judd, Councillor, of the Township of Camden, were calling in the village on Thursday last.—Mrs. D. B. Amey is in care of her mother, Mrs. Bell, who is seriously ill.—Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hinch, of Kingston, spent last week end with his mother and brother. They are all packed to move to Kingston, where they will reside in the future, where Mr. Hinch has secured a good job with Greene Brothers.— Miss Ellsemere, of Kingston, spent last week end with Mrs. J. W. Stewart and Mrs. John McCreary.—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. John McCreary and Miss Ellsemere spent Sunday evening last with Mrs. Robinson. — The many friends of Mrs. T. Allere are glad to see her improved enough to return home from the Hotel Dieu, where she underwent a serious operation. Hope she may continue to improve.

ROBLIN

We believe Spring is here by the "chirp" of the robin and the "caw" of the crow.—A large crowd attended the variety shower for Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, at their home, Robindale, last Wednesday evening. — Miss Eva Guess spent the week-end at her home in Sydenham. — Mr. Melville McCutcheon called at Mr. D. Hasher's on Sunday evening. — Miss Marion McLaughlin spent the week-end with Miss Mary Kimmett.—Misses Marie and Jean Paul spent the week-end under the parental roof. — Rev. and Mrs. Wilson left on Monday to spend the week with friends in Toronto.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whiteman left on Wednesday, of Shannonville, spent a few days this week visiting friends and relatives. — Mr. Ralph Wilson, of Toronto, was the week-end guest of Mr. John Cook, Sr., Forest Mills. — Mr. Archie Morgan was a Sunday evening caller at Mr. Milton Hughes'. —Mr. Percy Morgan called at Mr. Stanley Lasher's on Sunday evening.—Mr. Manley Hart .at Mr. John Schermerhorn's, Jr.—Mr. Elgin McAllister at Mr. Ed. Hart's.—We were glad to see so many out at church last Sunday night and hope to see an increase every Sunday. We expect to have the choir in their place next Sunday night.—We have something to look forward to in the near future. The Missionary Circle of the Methodist Church are going to have a box social in the Orange Hall, Friday night, March 27th. A good programme is being prepared. Girls, bringing boxes, admitted free; gentlemen, 25 cents. Come, young and old, and enjoy a good programme and good eats.

The M. B. Mills Co. are now ready to do your hatching in any quantity up to 2500 eggs at one time, and at a lower price than last year. Why not let us hatch your chicks, thus doing away with all work and worry. We have already had several hatches our last one, March 5th, producing 155 fine healthy chicks from 210 eggs set, and not one weakling.

We also have on hand a large stock of Baby Chick Feeds, Feed Troughs, Water Founts, etc.

Let us do your hatching and secure for you the best results.

Bring us your eggs and in 22 days we will have your chicks ready to take home, with the right feeds, etc., to raise them satisfactorily.

We also have Incubators and Brooders for sale. Come in and let us help you clear away your chicks. Flint, 2 blocks South of Postoffice. Phone 165. 11b

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA.

Facts and fiction for the sportsman, interesting and of a wide variety, are offered in the April issue of Rod and Gun in Canada. The initial article, The Shanty Up By the Gens-de-Terre by Alden Griffin Meredith, is a tale of river prospecting warranted to hold the attention of all who read it. In The Motoring Legions Are Coming, Wm. G. Irwin heralds the influx of summer tourists into Canada. Bonnycastle Dale and J. W. Winson again discourse interestingly on wild bird life and F. V. Williams and Martin Hunter add their quota of good reading. The Guns and Ammunition is up to its usual standard of excellency and includes articles on the Varmint and the Early Remington rifles. In Fishing Notes, Robert Page Lincoln takes up the question of different lures to be used for fishing, and the other departments, stories and sketches, all deal with some seasonable subject interesting to the sportsman. LETTERS OF SYMPATHY

Enterprise, March 6th, 1925.
Miss Libbie Reid,
Enterprise.

Dear Miss Reid,—We, the members of the Woman's Institute of Enterprise, wish to express our sincere regret in the passing of your brother. We have nearly all passed through the same trial in the loss of a loved one. We fully realize what it means and when we say those words you know they are sincere and heartfelt.

No doubt you will miss your brother very much, as he was so attentive to his home, and you always felt his ready welcome when you returned from being away. As days go by you will notice his vacant chair, and will feel sad and lonely at times, but when you think of the suffering he endured so patiently during his last illness, you could not wish him back. You feel he has overcome the last enemy, death, and is now resting peacefully and happily in the Home God has prepared for him. What a happy thought. May we so live that when we too overcome the last enemy we may hear our Saviour say, "Well done, good and faithful, enter thou into the joy of the Lord".

Again extending our deepest sympathy, we are your friends and sisters,

The Woman's Institute.

Enterprise, March 7th, 1925.
Miss Libbie Reid,
Enterprise.

Dear Miss Reid,—We, the members of Camden VIII. and Croydon Auxiliary, wish to convey to you our heartfelt sympathy in the loss of your brother. We know He who careveth and taketh away can heal the wound. We trust you will be resigned to the will of God who doeth all things for those who love and put their trust in Him. We are sure you will lean on Him through all your trouble.

Signed on behalf of our Auxiliary,
Mrs. Stanley Wagar,
Cor.-Secty.
Mrs. R. J. Wilson,
President.

All Night With Asthma. Everyone knows how attacks of asthma often keep their victims awake the whole night long. Morning finds him wholly unfitted for a day of business, and yet, business must still be carried through. All this night suffering and lack of rest can be avoided by the prompt use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which positively does drive away the attacks.

A certain public house in Glasgow displays on the door the notice :—"Football results received here."

One Saturday evening a young man entered, purporting one whose face looked as though it had been run over by a steam-roller.

"I've received fifty results here!" said he.

"Yes, we do," said the barman.

"Well, here's one free the Celtic Park. Ye micht keep him till he comes t' his'sel !"

TOWN COUNCIL

Proposed Enlargement of Collegiate—Estimated Cost, $57,700

The regular meeting the the Council was held in the Council Chamber, on Monday night.

Members present — Councillors Dunbar, Howitt, Jewell, MacGregor, Roy and Simpson.

His Worship Mayor Ming occupied the chair.

A letter was read from the Bell Telephone Co., complaining of trees in town that interfered with communication over their wires, and requesting permission to trim up same. Referred to Street Committee.

The Finance Committee reported that the Auditors' Report was examined and found correct, and recommended that the Auditors be paid their fees. Report adopted.

The Ladies' Musical Club, through Coun. Jewell, asked for the use of the Town Hall to hold practice in, for an entertainment they propose to give, and what fee there would be charged. Referred to Town Property Committee, with power to act.

The following accounts were ordered paid :—

G. G. Loucks, Poor and Sanitary	1 00
The Fair, Poor and Sanitary.	4 45
F. E. VanLuven, coal	14 75
C. A. Anderson & Son	50
Madole Hardware Co.	1 60

Two accounts of Boyle & Son, for supplies dating back to November, were referred.

Reeve Graham entered and took his seat.

A request from the Salvation Army to allow that body to hold a tag day on Saturday, May 2nd, was granted.

Moved by Coun. Simpson, seconded by Coun. Jewell, that the thanks of the Council be tendered Dr. Morden and the members of the Young Canadian Club for the invitation to become their guests at the luncheon recently given in the Armouries, when the Hon. Geo. Foster was the speaker. Carried.

Coun. Simpson took the opportunity to eulogize Dr. Morden, as Principal of the Collegiate Institute, for the interest he is taking in the students, not only in educational work, but along athletic, social and literary lines.

A committee of the Board of Education appeared before the Council in respect to the proposed extension and improvements to the Collegiate Institute. The estimated cost of the work, according to architect's plans submitted, is $57,770, and the School Board urged the Council to provide this amount.

At a previous special meeting of the Council the necessity for enlarging the Collegiate Institute, on account of congestion and overcrowding, was outlined in a statement from the Board of Education.

Coun. MacGregor, seconded by Coun. Howitt, that a by-law be prepared, pursuant to the request of the Board of Education, to raise the sum of $50,000 for improvements and extensions to the Collegiate Institute. Said sum to be raised by way of debentures, to cover a period of thirty years, and to bear interest at 5 per cent. per annum, payable half yearly. Said by-laws to be considered after the Board has completed its plans and specifications; and called for, received and considered the tenders for the permanent improvements to be made.

Coun. Roy said he could not support this motion. The School Board should get plans from different architects, compare them, and see if extensions that would satisfy requirements could not be built for less money.

Dr. Morden replied, and stated that plans had been submitted from three different architects, and the Board had selected that of the Gowanlock firm as the best to meet the demands of the school. These plans were approved by the Ontario Department of Education. The actual cost depended upon the tenders for the work.

After some discussion pro and con, the yeas and nays were called for and the motion was carried.

Mr. Dunkley, of the Municipal Road Spraying and Oiling Co., interviewed the Council in respect to oiling the streets this year. The price quoted was 12c. in tank cars delivered, for liquid asphalt. This did not include spreading.

The Committee who were given power to enter into a contract with the Standard Bank company, on behalf of the Council, to oil the streets.

Coun. Simpson took the Council of 1923 to task for transferring the Town's account from the Merchants Bank to the Standard Bank without reasonable cause, or in his opinion, for no cause whatever. He moved the following resolution :

That a by-law be prepared and submitted to the Council at its next meeting, transferring the accounts of the Town of Napanee from the Standard Bank back to the Bank of Montreal. Carried.

On motion the Napanee Band was granted the sum of $55.00 to purchase new instruments.

THE WEEK IN THE LEGISLATURE

Toronto, March 14th.—A budget debate disposed of in five days ! That is what the wind-up on Tuesday next means. It is probably a record in the history of the Legislative Assembly. Less than two days would have sufficed for the contributions of Opposition members, and even these speeches were for the most part singularly devoid of criticism. Last session, Hon. W. H. Price brought down his budget on February 19th and the debate continued until March 5th, a period which has been common for uncounted years. The Provincial Treasurer has taken pride in presenting the Public Accounts in clear and concise form, and accompanied the familiar blue book by a three-hour address which was fully explanatory. Nevertheless, the remarkable absence of criticism upon any important feature is a fine tribute to the Treasurer's work and the administration of the Government in general. The party leaders are to speak on Tuesday, which will provide some interesting material, though no one expects such sensational disclosures as came last year in the Treasurer's closing speech, with respect to the bond deals of the previous administration.

* * *

It has been mentioned that criticisms have been few, from the Opposition side. The fact is that this session there is much more business and far less politics, than is usually the case. "That is the way things should be discussed in this House—on a business basis," remarked Sam Clarke, Liberal member for West Northumberland, and dean of the Assembly, in his address of Thursday evening. No more striking illustration of the new atmosphere could be quoted than the attitude of F. C. Biggs, former minister of highways in the Drury Government. In the debate he declared the budget "a business-like job" and the Treasurer "a good man on the job". The Minister of Mines, Hon. Charles McCrea, he described as one well trained for his position. He said the aim of the Minister of Highways, Hon. George Henry, was to "give the people the best possible value for the money," and expressed personal appreciation for the work of the department's engineers in the Hamilton district during the year. He suggested that no one would care to spend $2 of the new gasoline tax if it meant a return to the road conditions of a year ago, and his remark was approved by applause. Mr. Biggs specially commended the work also of the Minister of Health, Hon. Dr. Godfrey, and that of other heads of departments. All of which is first-class testimonial from one who can by no means regarded as prejudiced in favor of this Government.

* * *

The Treasurer's bill, providing for the acquisition by his Department of Succession Duty-exempt bonds, when held by an estate of $25,000 or more, went through the House without difficulty. Hon. Mr. Price estimates the saving to the province for the year at $25,000 to $35,000 a year, and some Opposition members thought it would be more. W. E. N. Sinclair suggested that the Treasurer, in stopping the passing of these securities for any large estate to another, to avoid succession duties, was not dealing fairly with investors, but the Liberal leader added, somewhat humorously, that he was "strong on this branch of faith stuff" and did not press his point particularly as E. Bray very warmly approved the bill on behalf of the Progressive group. There are over $4,000,000 of these securities still outstanding, although an issue has not been made since 1917 with the exemption clause.

* * *

The House received with much enthusiasm an announcement by the Prime Minister on Tuesday that the Government, in view of favorable reports received from the mining country, had decided to authorize an immediate start upon extension of the T. & N. O. Railway into the Porcupine gold and copper districts. The work will involve building 37 miles in the Province of Quebec—an extension of the Government-owned branch built under Nipissing Central federal charter. Transportation is now very costly and laborious, although augmented by a private company's airplane service, and the new line, as well as giving work to several hundred men, will result in a great deal to the mining industry in the new field. The Government hopes that the extension will also prove a paying venture to the provincial railway and estimates that it will be complete by December of this year.

* * *

A bit of legislation bequeathed to the Government by the late administration is to be cleaned up in the House this year, in the case of the 1923 amendment to the Medical Act bringing drugless healers were opposed explanatory. A bit of legislation bequeathed to the Government by the late administration is to be cleaned up in the House this year, in the case of the 1923 amendment to the Medical Act bringing drugless healers were opposed to the practice of medicine". Regulations were to be framed, under the amendment, governing the admission to practice of future graduates in drugless healing, but it has been found impossible to interpret the new legislation to the satisfaction of those concerned. Attorney-General Nickle held a long conference on Thursday with representatives of the Board of Examiners of Osteopaths and chiropractors, and stated afterward that new legislation would be framed.

* * *

With the Premier at the helm, the House on Friday almost cleaned up a fairly heavy order paper. About 50 questions by members were disposed of by the Ministers, a batch of public and private bills advanced and five Government measures given consideration or put through committee of the whole, several more remaining to be subject to no opposition. The second for Attorney-General H. W. H. Price's amendments to the Succession Duty Act and Audit Act, and also the Treasurer's bill authorizing the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to guarantee payment of certain Eagleheart debentures. It is not very long since Friday afternoon brought a remnant of members together for the purpose, apparently of the opening prayer, for little else was done. It has become the heaviest business day of the session.

* * *

Benish Bowman's bill to deal with animals running at large in unorganized districts led to discussion of a somewhat larger subject, the desirability of unorganized townships assuming municipal duties when able to do so. Premier Ferguson pointed out that Hon. James Lyons and previous ministers had grappled with the problem but it was hard to determine a population unit or other basis upon which residents of these districts should begin to take charge of their affairs and pay their way. The Government has expended millions each year for roads and schools in the north country, and there is no question but what it has all been worth while, but the Prime Minister intimated that some means would have to be found to encourage organization, though probably not at the present session.

IN MEMORIAM

Loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Richard Richardson, who departed this life for a better one, March 19th, 1922.

She bade us all a last farewell,
Good-bye to every one.
The Heavenly gates were opened wide,
A loving voice said "Come".
Worthy of everlasting love
From those she left behind,
A better mother never lived,
Nor one so true and kind.

I. O. D. E. DANCE.

On the evening of St. Patrick's Day the local chapter of the I. O. D. E. gave a dance in the Masonic Hall, which was greatly enjoyed by all who attended. The dance hall was beautifully decorated with green and white lights, shamrocks and green and silver flags. The card room, where eleven tables were in play, was also prettily draped in green and silver.

Mrs. A. T. Harshaw and Mrs. J. E. Robinson received, and the Walters' Orchestra furnished the dance music. Mrs. Deroche and Mrs. U. M. Wilson were in charge of the card room, where prizes were given to the winners. At midnight, refreshments were served, Mrs. Arthur Caton being convener of the committee. The young gentlemen of the Yuvana Club were most kind in assisting with the decorating and also in serving. One of the features of the evening was the Shamrock Dance, which took the place of the regular moon-waltz.

—The regular meeting of the Maple Leaf Institute will be held next Thursday, March 26th, at 1.30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Ray Perry. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Will the ladies come prepared to sew. The Institute also wishes to extend their gratitude and appreciation to the North and South Fredericksburgh Councils for their recent donations.

The teacher had been giving a lesson on the cat's eyes. She had laid stress on the fact that the cat can see in the dark. She now began to question the children.

"What can the cat do that I cannot?" she asked.

One bright pupil shot up his hand and gave the following answer:—

"Please, miss, wag its tail."

An Oil That is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

ARE A FEATURE OF

OUR SPRING STYLE REVUE AND MERCHANDISE OPENINGS WHICH ARE BEING HELD THROUGHOUT THE STORE THIS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

This season we are introducing the new styles, fabrics and colorings to you by a series of specially planned merchandise exhibits strategically placed about the store.

We invite our customers to especially visit our store for this important event. It will enable you to become thoroughly conversant with the modes—materials and colors which are considered "The Vogue" for the seasons we are just entering.

"Tableaux of Fashions"

In each of our numerous departments you will find a Tableau of Fashions, or in other words, very special displays of the new Spring merchandise.

This merchandise has been gathered from the best sources of supply—it represents the best efforts of many countries. Only those lines which represent outstanding values were permitted in our Spring assemblages.

We invite you to visit our store this week-end, which is especially garbed in Spring array.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE SPRING "SILHOUETTE"

The slender tube-line silhouette, so much admired in Paris and New York, those two great highways of Fashion, is again being sponsored. Quite frequently a below-the-knee flare is becomingly combined. Waist lines are non-existent or placed low on the hips. Sleeves come long, short or not at all. Skirts are shown in shorter lengths, while belts are conspicuous by their absence on all types of garments except sports-wear.

Ensemble costumes and effects stand out as the newest thoughts in Spring styles.

Tunic and over-the-skirt styles dominate the blouse field.

Throughout the whole gamut of fashions, tailored influences permeate.

"A SEASON OF MANY COLORS"

Rich and exceedingly handsome are the Spring shades introduced under the names of,—

Russet	Rose-wood
Tile	Cedar
Papoose	Spruce
Brick-dust	Grey
Chamois	Sea-Hawk
Rubber	Drapeau
Castor	White
Sand	Navy
Gingersnap	Black

FANCY SOARS IN MODISH HEADGEAR FOR SPRING

The Spring Hat, like the robin, is one of the earliest indications of the new season's arrival. Women are always glad to be "off with the old love and on with the new" and the "new" has much to offer in the way of contrast from other seasons.

Again the "Crown of Fashion" has been awarded to small, snug-fitting hats that exploit crowns which soar to unexpected heights. So keen are these hats for additional height, they insist on having all their trimmings perched on the peak. Side trimmings, however, and even front ones, have a unique arrangement of flowers, ribbons, feathers and ornaments.

"Brims", though small, are nevertheless most effective. They are slashed, curved and bent and do all possible to make the "out-line" most becoming.

Excellent effects are gained this year by the use of color and fabric contrast.

In Millinery, as in all other lines, "Color" plays an important part. Shades as Thistledown, Canary, Drapeau, Oakwood, Jade, Rust, Navy and Black are outstanding.

Old Uncle Eben Jones went into a life insurance office and requested a policy.

"Why, smile," said the president, "you are too old for us to take the risk. How old are you?"

"Ninety-seven come next August," said the old man, and added coolly, "If you folks will take the trouble to look up your statistics, you'll find that might few men die after they're ninety-seven."

—A grand ball will be held in Centreville Town Hall, on Friday evening, April 17th. B-Happy Orchestra will furnish music. Admission $1.00 a couple. Lunch served at 11.30 p.m. Everybody welcome. Come and have a good time. 11c

—A very successful Church Tea was held Wednesday, March 11th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Gordon, Edmond Street, Deseronto, under the auspices of the Woman's Guild of St. Mark's. Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Stanton welcomed the guests to their comfortable home. Mrs. Radcliffe presided at the tea table in the dining room, ably assisted by Miss Violet Smith, Miss Flossie Hall, Miss Beatrice Rixen and Mrs. Harbard and Mrs. Foster. The home-cooking table an excellent one, was in charge of Mrs. Geo. D. Smith, and was well patronized. During the afternoon, in the drawing room, Mrs. V. G. Pearce played several delightful music selections on the piano, which were much appreciated. The Tea was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

NYE WAS 'WAY OFF

How Humorists Were "Stung" in Business Venture.

Anecdote James Whitcomb Riley Used to Tell, Dealing With the Wiles of the Publisher—All They Got Was a Feed.

Among the many comical stories told of James Whitcomb Riley's experiences with Nye was the history of a book called "Nye and Riley's Railway Guide," which gave them inground personal and legal experience with publishers. From their first tour in 1886 their fancy ran riot with the idea of a comic railway guide for just such poor, ill-fated travelers as they themselves proved to be, for the man, as they wrote in the introduction, "who erroneously gets into a car which is misdirected and must get out and scrubbed by people who take in cars to scrub and laundry."

"Nye and I," Riley used to say, "thought a little book made from our readings might perhaps stanch a long-felt public want. In fact, we grew enthusiastic as our eyes swept the prospect. Nye, indeed, thought there was money in it. I remember that, in his optimism, he wrote: 'Let us make some money, be gosh, and put it in our inside pocket. It feels bully.' Riley always chuckled reminiscently at this point in the story.

"Well, we went to Chicago to look for a publisher, and there we found one Ketchem & Skinnem who had a sign on the door, 'Drop MSS. Here.' We dropped ours and went away feeling pretty good."

Riley then told of a long wait, during which they wondered whether the manuscript would be accepted; then how glad they were to find the book on sale at the news stands, and finally how they paid a visit to the publishers to inquire timidly into the matter of royalties. The door was locked. Some months later, in response to their letters, came an invitation to a banquet given by the publishers in their honor. Hopefully they presented themselves. "As we filed in to dinner Nye whispered to me, 'Think they'll hand us checks with the cigars?' Well, when the cigars were passed at length the publisher at the head of the table pushed back his chair, put his finger tips on the cloth, beamed on us, and said:

"'Gentlemen and publishers, we have met to do honor to our two illustrious humorists tonight in an unusual way. We appreciate their humor, especially that which has made our book so successful. And in token of our appreciation we now present to them one hundred shares apiece in our great company. Ahem—I believe that is all!'

"It was all. Nye and I hoped at first for the best, but neither of us secretly could find any market for our shares and the company never paid any dividends before it went out of business."—Harper's Magazine.

His Fortunate Investment.

Sosthene Gallais, former wholesale oyster and ice cream dealer, who entered into business in St. Louis as a scissors grinder, and who accumulated a fortune estimated by his family at $3,000,000, through investment, several years ago, of $20,000 in Oklahoma land on which oil later was found, died recently at his home in Tulsa, Okla.

Gallais' rise to riches is one of the most interesting of the many oil romances in Oklahoma. His original investment had lain dormant for years and he did not know that oil had been discovered on his land until he received his first royalty. Since then his wealth had increased by leaps and bounds until it enabled him to become the largest individual property owner in Tulsa, caused him to erect a 10-story office building there as a monument to the city near which he found his wealth and carried him into affluence.

The Kaiserin's Baggage.

The kaiserin seems to have been more fortunate than some queens in the matter of luggage in her flight to Holland, since her luggage, though described as rather shabby, was apparently plentiful. As a rule escaping queens have been badly provided. When Charles X and his entourage were turned out of France one who went down to see them remarked that they had nothing in the way of "furnishings." though they had money. Louis Philippe and his queen crossing the channel as Mr. and Mrs. Smith, were ill-provided, and there is the case of the ex-Empress Eugenie, whose message to a friend when she reached England was "Come to me; I have nothing—not even a handkerchief!"

Decay of Mourning Wear.

Nothing is more remarkable in our social life at this time than the rarity of conventional mourning, says London Daily Chronicle. There are millions of bereaved people in these islands, yet it is uncommon to encounter anybody who wears the "furnishings" of the suits of woe. We have found a juster way of showing respect for the dead than by changing the hue of our clothes. Only at the two extremes, east and west, will you now discover a woman wearing widow's "weeds."

Crowns to the Discard.

Dentistry—What seems to be the trouble today? Your face is all swollen.

Patient—Why some of my teeth have started a revolt and have picked on the crown you put on my back tooth.

Practically every floor finisher uses and recommends Johnson's Floor Wax. Polishes easier and wears longer. Wallace's, special agents for Napanee.

Onyx Paint, any color, $1.20 per quart, at Wallace's, Napanee agents.

Brown had been the victim of a practical joke from his friend, so he at once proceeded to get level.

Going to White's house at midnight, he hammered at his door.

After much battering, a head popped out of the window above the door and asked what he wanted.

"Do you know that one of your windows is open ?"

"No—which one ?" asked White.

"Why, the one you're sticking your head out of, old man," replied Brown. "Good 'night."

As Good Friends as Ever.

We will not be angry, nor disappointed, in fact we will consider it a great favor, if, before buying Wall Paper elsewhere, you will give us the opportunity of showing you our new Spring designs, with prices. At Hooper's Drug Store, morning, afternoon or evening.

Alabastine contains no glue, is therefore sanitary; covers over any surface—plaster, paper or wood; mixed in cold water, it is more convenient. We sell and recommend Alabastine for walls and ceilings. Wallace's, special agents.

FRANCE'S WAR HEROES

WHAT HAS BECOME OF THEM SINCE END OF WAR?

For These Mutilated Men the Country Does Out a Little More Than 5,000,000,000 Francs a Year—Not Allowed to Beg In Streets.

"Where are France's mutilated and what has become of them since the end of the war?" This question is heard on all sides in Paris, has prompted an investigation which reveals that there are in France close on 1,500,000 ex-soldiers who have lost limbs in the war, become either partially or totally blind or are to say suffering from shell shock.

For all these men the French Government pays out a little more than 5,000,000,000 francs per year in pensions. A special ministry known as the Ministry of Pensions has had to be created to handle all these cases, while in every department of France a school for the re-education of all these victims of the war has been founded.

Exact figures of this country's mutilated soldiers is not known, for they were continually dying, claiming many men unable to survive the terrific wounds received in battle. It is estimated that on an average 30 die each month. No matter what degree of mutilation, every soldier who was given back to civilian life in any way disabled has injured receives a pension, and pensions ranging from a few hundred francs to 9,000 francs (or 360 francs a month) are paid to each man, or having become totally disabled pensions are not see in any great numbers in France for many reasons. The first and probably the principal reason is that wounding men in France do not care to show their injuries and by every means possible attempt to lose any mutilation. The act of making artificial limbs in France having reached such a degree of perfection, it is often easy for a man to conceal from a casual observer the fact he wears an artificial leg, and consequently has free of charge to the Government.

Another reason is that men mutilated in the war after having passed through a period of convalescence become employed, in country districts, and prefer to remain in obscurity to that in Paris, where the difficulty of moving around crowded streets is only increased by that of passing to obtain mount high flights of stairs. In all there are about 150,000 mutilated ex-soldiers in Paris, many of them so dreadfully disfigured that they dare not show themselves while some, about 10 per cent of the total, are cared for in their homes supervised by the Office National des Mutiles. Those who do move around in Paris are rarely to be seen in fashionable districts as visited by Americans. Their limited means oblige them to seek shelter in outlying districts where foreigners are practically never taken on sightseeing tours.

Those in houses where they pay a small rent for the care and assistance given them are usually those suffering from commotion or shell shock and who, once again, have become mentally deranged, several having been struck dumb by bursting shells.

There are 2,500 blind ex-soldiers in Paris and in several other country. Those who had never before they joined the French army have entered it with their families and live there into the country, while many of the blind go to Paris in order to keep themselves and those dependent on them have found employment in homes and clubs where they are taught the art of making various crafts which are sold by the homes for the benefit of the blind workers. Like their comrades who have lost limbs in the world war, the blind do not care to have any one notice their terrible loss and as much as possible refuse to appear in public places.

The schools for the re-education of the blind in France teach the manufacture of brushes and chairs, how to read and write Braille, typewriting, printing, piano tuning and even commercial classes for the more intellectual.

Every Government office reserves a certain number of occupations for the mutilated and a bill is at present before Parliament which tends to make it obligatory for all commercial concerns to employ mutilated soldiers to the extent of 3 per cent. of their staff.

On no account whatever does the Government allow mutilated soldiers to beg in the streets and so-called war heroes with one sleeve or three in the streets are but impostors.

A Fortunate Warning.

"Charles," said a sharp-voiced woman to her husband in a railway compartment in the Old Country, "did you know that you and I once had a fortune in a railway accident? Never heard of it," replied Charles in a subdued tone. "I thought you hadn't; but don't you remember it was that pair of slippers I presented to you before we were married that led to our union? You remember how nicely they fitted—don't you? Well, Charles, one day when we were going to a picnic you had your feet up on a seat and when you weren't looking I took your shoes and put on for that pair of slippers. I don't believe we'd ever been married if the young unmarried man, sitting nearby, immediately took down his feet from a seat."

Netherlands Dairy Cows.

The average dairy cow in the Netherlands produces more than seventy-five hundred pounds of milk a year, while the average dairy cow in the United States produces less than four thousand pounds of milk a year.

First Alarm Clock.

The first alarm clock made its appearance in 1420, and its owner was a councillor of Milan. His clock sounded a bell at the hour desired, at the same time a little wax candle was lighted automatically.

HOW OPIUM IS SMUGGLED.

Some of the Methods Resorted To In India.

The latest Burma Excise Report shows that the ingenuity of smugglers in inventing novel methods of concealing opium is by no means exhausted. Coshabund was found during the year concealed in double-bottomed tube, tiffin-carriers, bamboo, pillows, chetroads, honey pots, specially constructed kerosene tins, false-bottomed hookahs, bales of tobacco, loaves of bread and pots of the Burmah fish paste known as ngapi.

Match boxes filled with opium were packed with genuine match boxes in complete packets. An earthen pot with a betelnut tree growing in it, a hollow stone image of Ganesana, and similar figures of elephants were used as receptacles. Perhaps the newest and cleverest device discovered was that of a Chinese passenger on board of a Burman mail steamer whose baggage was being searched by a Burman inspector, and who had two large baskets of walnuts covered with two large sheets of what appeared to be tarpaulin.

On examination the sheets were found to be coverings of thin book canvas smeared with desiccated opium weighing 220 tolas (5½ lbs.). The device was extremely ingenious and would have deded detection had the smuggler not lost his nerve and offered a bribe to the searching officer. The sheets were odorless and pliable. Only by taste could the opium be detected. On numerising a portion of the opium readily separated from the canvas.

Weatherwise 350 Years Old.

Wide interest attaches to the 350th birthday of the old copper dragon of the Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, London, not only because of the age and historic interest of this old relic which is still in active service, but because its present birthday marks a renaissance of the copper weathervane. The increasing use of the weathercock on large buildings is ascribed for the most part to the growing use of the tower in modern times.

The copper dragon of St. Mary's was placed in use in 1572, during the reign of "Good Queen Bess." From its lofty perch 221 feet above the sidewalk, it has looked down upon, and indeed participated in, many strange episodes in London life. Besides rendering faithful service through the changing winds of centuries, it has survived a mobbed of the city of London itself, for, 250 years ago, when it was put up, the crest of the city was represented by the cross of St. George emblazoned on the wing of a dragon. Just as it is represented there to-day.

This quaint copper dragon rose the rise and fall of Oliver Cromwell, the rooning and passing of the Revolution of the Great Interregnum, survived unscathed the great fire of London in 1666, so realistically described in the diary of Samuel Pepys.

The dragon is made of sheet copper and is only six inches long. Its tail has been taken down for rewilding on three different occasions, but the copper itself has withstood the elements unharmed.

Singing-Lamp to Warn Miners.

Fire-damp is probably more dreaded by miners than any other menace of their calling. It is responsible for explosions, breathing it is dangerous, and it is an established fact that the damage may be done before the miner detects it. Safety lamps have been in common use for many years to prevent fire damp explosions, the principle of which being that the flame is kept low. Now comes an improvement on the Davies lamp and also the invention of a Briton. This new lamp not only is a safety lamp from explosive side of mining, and a real illuminating lamp, but it is also a fire damp protector. Its peculiar frame resembles a bunch of tuning forks and they are made so sensitive that the presence of even so small an amount of fire damp in the air in two per cent. will cause the lamp to sing, or vibrate a musical note. As the fire damp increases in the air, the lamp sings more loudly and more shrilly, affording ample warning to the underground worker of the deadly menace.

Pitfholes Drilled In Steel.

Making an adding machine required the drilling of ten holes in a plate of thirty-seconds of an inch thick, each hole to be accurate to a thousandth of an inch, yet no bigger than a pin in diameter, says the Washington Star. The result was a most ingenious machine that stands about 12 inches high. The drill which was built carries ten spindles, each holding a drill of about six thirty-second gauge, which is about the size of the pin of ordinary use.

Each little sliver of steel that does the work is driven by a belt operating through a cone head and therefore works at the same speed as that of its neighbors. The actual drilling requires ten seconds.

Nearing the End.

"I am not going to talk long this evening," said the speaker. "I've been cured of that. The other night I was making a speech when a man entered the hall and took a seat right in the front row. I had not been talking an hour when I noticed he was sleeping flagrantly. Finally he arose and asked:

"Say, how long you been lecturin'?"

"About four years, my friend," I replied.

"Well," re remarked, as he sat down, 'I'll stick around; you must be near through'."

Savage Mother Owl.

As she was hanging out clothes a farmer's wife, near Muncie, Ind., was savagely attacked by a big brown owl. Flying from a neighboring tree, the bird struck the woman's head and eye and pulled out several strands of hair. The injury to the eye required the skill of a specialist. It was found afterward that the owl had a nest of young birds close by.

MANY SOILS NEED LIME

YIELD ON LIME AND PHOSPHATE PLOTS WAS 60% GREATER.

Results of Experiments Carried Out During Two Past Seasons In Several Different Counties.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Lime and phosphate experiments were planned by the Chemistry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College to determine the effect of lime and acid phosphate on wheat and the succeeding crop of clover. Each experiment consisted of four one-half acre plots. The experiment was started in the autumn of 1922 when three experiments in each of the following counties were undertaken: Halidimand, Norfolk, Wentworth, Brant, Lincoln, Haldimand, Elgin and Welland. The fertilizers and lime were applied immediately before seeding the ground with wheat. It was not expected that lime would influence the crop of wheat but it was applied to see its influence on the clover following the wheat. When the wheat was harvested in 1923 it was found that on the plots receiving lime and acid phosphate the yield was 54 per cent. greater than on the check plots.

In the autumn of 1923, three experiments were laid down in each of eight counties, extending west and east of the original eight. Lime and phosphate had been applied yielded 45 per cent. more than the check plots. The clover was harvested from the plots started in the autumn of 1922, and gave a yield of clover on the limed plots forty per cent. greater than the yield on the check plots. The clover yield on the lime and phosphate plots was sixty per cent. greater than it was on the check plots.

The soil of the plots in these sixteen counties all showed a need of lime when taken over by the Department.

During the autumn of 1924 the work was extended to three other farms in each of eight additional counties.

The results to date on the lime phosphate experiments are very interesting and show that without doubt lime may be applied with profit for clover and that acid phosphate may be used with profit on wheat.—Dept. of Extension, Ontario Agricultural College.

Salting Tests.

There is some difference of opinion as to whether salt is, or is not, a preservative. Tests were made at the O. A. C. Dairy Department comparing butters made from the cream of Jersey cows. Half the lot of which no salt was added, in other lots the salt content was .846, 1.69 and 2.5 per cent. The three lots were held in cold storage in 14-pound tubs for six months at temperature of 12° F. It was scored by the Provincial Butter Grader at the end of 3, and 6 months periods. The lots having no salt scored higher in flavor score when fresh and after storage than those with salt. At 3, 2 and 6 months, and a little with one exception than the salted butter throughout the storage period. In these tests salt apparently had a deleterious effect on the butter. High salting or heavy salting in the quality of butter when fresh and to an advance when it is kept in cold storage. Most Canadian markets require some salt in butter, but the demand is for less salt than formerly. At no time should butter contain over 2.5 per cent. of salt.

Dairy Notes.

Milk is such a perishable food that measures should be taken to preserve it In good condition for at least 36 to 48 hours after it is drawn from the cow. Pasteurization, which includes cooling and holding at a reasonably low temperature, preferably below 50° F. are the two things necessary and practicable at reasonable cost. Where milk is held at 60° to 70° F., which is ordinary house temperature, the Dealers' raw milk will not remain sweet for more than 24 hours, whereas if pasteurized it will safely be quite fit for table use up to 24 or 30 hours holding. Heating at 50° F. the pasteurized milk will remain in good condition for 48 hours or longer.—Prof. H. H. Dean, Dairy Dept., O. A. College.

Buttermilk.

The lactic acid organisms in buttermilk make it a very valuable food. Not so much is it valued for the energy value that it contains, but for its ability in digestion and destroying the bacteria of decomposition in the alimentary canal.

Poultry fatteners feed buttermilk with the purpose of getting quicker gains and more tender, juicy meat. They have also found that buttermilked chickens ship with less mortality and that the skimmed poultry retains its high quality for a longer period than being placed on the market, indicating that the bacteria of decomposition had been eliminated or at least held in check.

Weak Link.

The number of eggs set to get a mature pullet is possibly the most inefficient part of the poultry business. The hatching power of eggs is known to be an inherited character, yet the hatching power of eggs is very seriously affected by nutrition and general care and management. The Department of Poultry Husbandry, O. A. College, are now conducting some experiments along these lines, but results so far would not warrant any conclusions being drawn. The problem is complicated and will take some time to work out.—Prof. W. R. Graham, O. A. College.

SPRAYING FRUIT TREES

PRACTICAL INSTRUCTIONS ABOUT A VERY NECESSARY WORK.

Have a Good Outfit—Spray as the Calendar Tells You—Spray Right Through the Trees — Keep Tank, Pump and Nozzles Clean.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

1. Do not spray at all unless you are going to try to do it well. It will not pay.

2. You cannot make a success of apple growing without good spraying. You cannot spray well without a good outfit which will give you plenty of pressure. So overhaul the old spray machine at once, or if it is not satisfactory buy a new one with plenty of power.

4. Get a spray calendar from your Agricultural Representative, or from Mr. F. W. Hodgetts, Director Fruit Branch, Toronto, or Prof. L. Caesar, Director O. A. College, Guelph. Then it up in the spray shed where it will always be available.

5. Use only the spray materials recommended in the spray calendar.

6. Do not spray when it happens to be convenient, but spray at the times the spray calendar says. The time of spraying is of vast importance and the directions in the spray calendar are based on years of study.

7. Do not omit some of the first three regular sprays, some years the first is the most important, some the second and some of the third. Each spray helps to make the next more effective and each must be given to insure clean fruit.

8. McIntosh and Snow trees should always receive a fourth application. Read what the spray calendar recommends under "Extra sprays and remarks" and be guided by it.

9. You will not control San Jose scale on large trees, twenty-five years old or more, unless you first prune them heavily and scrape the loose bark off with a hoe. Then see that every particle of the bark is wet with the liquid; a mere mist or a light spray will not fill the insect. Use lime sulphur 1 to 7 of water, preferably just as the buds are bursting.

10. For scab and codling moth cover both sides of every fruit and also cover every leaf. Scab attacks the leaves too, and is often washed from them to the fruit. It will require from 7 to 12 gallons for each tree twenty-five years old or upwards, not just 2 or 2 gallons.

11. Get the spray reaches right through the trees. To insure this go in, if necessary, underneath the trees and spray the part beyond the trunk first, then step back to the outside and spray the remaining part. Do this from both sides. Remember that it is the centre or shaded part of the tree where scab and moth do the worst and poor sprayers nearly always miss this side though they often get the sunny or outer side all right.

12. A tower, even with a spray gun, is a great help, but even it will suffice to stand on the tank. A rallway car is better even than a tower.

13. Do not use large openings in the "Gun" nozzles. Nozzles for spray guns unless you have 725 pounds pressure or more. They are wasteful, and for 90 per cent. of sprayers, high pressure, and give too coarse a spray.

14. In many cases better work will be done with the "Gun" nozzles than disc nozzles than with a gun. In any case, use some system in spraying so that you will make sure everything is being covered in a methodical way.

15. Have a handy place to fill the tank. Ten minutes should be long enough for any tank.

16. Do not stop spraying because rain threatens. Go right on until the rain has well begun. It is rain and moisture which cause scab outbreaks.

17. Do not stop to eat your lunch hour day when spraying, but make every effort to get it done as soon as possible without sacrificing thoroughness. If the second spray is not finished before the blossoms open, omit the poison and go on until it is finished.

18. Wash out the tank and pump clean water through the machine and nozzles at the close of each day.

19. Remember that spraying a given healthy foliage and is a great factor in producing annual crops as well as giving clear fruit. Even trees that are not bearing should be sprayed to keep them healthy.

20. Get a new spray calendar each year.

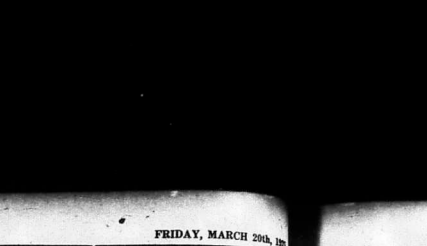
21. When in difficulty consult your Agricultural Representative or write to Prof. L. Caesar, O. A. College, Guelph, or Mr. F. W. Hodgetts, or L. Caesar, O. A. College, Guelph.

Farm Notes.

Improved breeding is urgently needed in dairy herds. Most dairymen feed and milk cows in such a manner that is worthy of much better care than they are keeping. Efficient cows, efficiently fed and housed, are the dairyman's economic salvation. The most successful dairymen are breeders and improvers of dairy cattle.

While silage is an excellent feed for dairy stock, it should be combined with some leguminous feed, such as clover, pea straw or alfalfa hay, or its insufficient productive quality. The leguminous material will tend to correct the deficiencies of the silage in dry matter, protein, and mineral constituents.

The dairyman's motto is: "Production first"; and every cow, pure-bred or grade, must produce and keep up, because we can't afford to keep her. The only reason why some purebred breeders are not eating omelettes. They are afraid of their warrant any more than their cows are not paying for their feed or at least some grade cow will step too fast for them.



"For economy's sake I buy a supply and let it age"

—says Mrs. Experience speaking of the economical use of soap.

"I always keep a good supply of Sunlight Soap on the shelf because I find that Sunlight actually improves with age. It becomes harder and so goes much further.

"With this added economy of lasting longer, I've learned that Sunlight is by far the most economical soap I can buy. The reason is that every particle of Sunlight is pure, cleansing soap—a little of it does a lot of work. Sunlight, you know, is guaranteed to contain no injurious chemicals or harsh filling materials to make the bar large and hard. These filling materials, of course, are just so much waste as far as cleaning goes.

"To any woman who wants to get real cleaning value out of a soap for her money, I decidedly say, 'Use Sunlight,' and keep a good supply on the shelf." Sunlight is made by Lever Brothers Limited, largest soap-makers in the world.

WEDDING BELLS.

McMullen—Powers.

At the Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, on Monday morning, February 23rd, at 9 o'clock, a pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father O'Reilly, when Mary Elizabeth, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMullen became the bride of James Vincent Powers. The bride looked charming in a suit of navy blue serge embroidered with grey silk, her blouse of sand crepe-de-chene and sand picture hat. The bride was assisted by Miss Theresa Kid, who wore a similar costume. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Joe Breault. After the nuptial mass, the guests, accompanied by Rev. Father O'Reilly, drove to the home of the bride's brother, where about twenty-six relatives sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast. The dining room was very tastefully decorated for the occasion with pink and white. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, to the bridesmaid a fancy prayer book, and to the groomsman a set of gold cuff links, and to the organist a bon bon dish. The young couple received many valuable gifts, including many cheques. In the evening there was a grand reception given in honor of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Powers will reside near Centreville, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

One Bottle of Carnol relieved his weakness

Three bottles of Carnol restored him to perfect health

Don't let yourself get run down. When you do, your system is weakened and you are likely to take anything that is going. If you feel tired, depressed, sick, nervous, watch yourself. These are the warnings to you that something serious may follow. It's at a time like this that you need a tonic,—something which will tone up your system, purify your blood, quiet your nerves, give you strength. This is the way Mr. Collins felt before he took Carnol. He says,—"I was in a run down condition. For six months, I was very weak and suffered from loss of appetite. I tried all kinds of drugs I thought might possibly bring relief, but without success. Then I met a friend. After stating to him my condition of health I referred to different drugs I had taken without benefit. Then he advised me to try Carnol immediately. He told me not to spend another cent for useless drugs that would not even bring temporary relief. Then I purchased one bottle of Carnol which relieved me of my weakness. After taking three bottles the blessings of health, which I formerly enjoyed, were again restored to me. As a builder and uplifter when weakening conditions exist, there is nothing equal to Carnol. I can boast of my health now. I cannot express or find words to praise Carnol for all the good it has done for me. I have proof of what it can do and advise all suffering under such conditions to give Carnol the first trial. A trial will convince you and if continued will bring permanent relief. It will bring back to you the lost health you once enjoyed."—Mr. R. G. Collins, 130 Richmond Street, Sydney, N.S. 2-2t

A Large Field to Draw From.

SHIPPEGAN

We're camping on old Shippegan,
A lake without a peer;
With tree-fringed banks and sandy shore,
And waters deep and clear.

With snowy tents along the shore,
And pretty cottages;
The minister's camp is just next door,
And right adjoining us.

While Father Farrell's little cot
Just through the grove appears;
The laughter sweet and happy song
From there one often hears.

From there one gets a lovely view
Of the island o'er the lake;
Where once a week the visitors,
With shouts the echoes wake.

For B. S. is a right good host,
All will agree to this;
His royal entertainment
Nobody cares to miss.

His motor boat is ready moored,
On the shore of his pretty lake;
And when the sound of that boat is heard,
Everyone wears a smile.

Sometimes the boats are moored in coves,
Along the sandy shore;
Again, they dot the silvery waves
As they float its surface o'er.

We splash about in the waters clear,
And shout and laugh and sing;
We row about upon the lake,
And make the echoes ring.

We paddle to the fishing ground
And sit and hold the line;
And when we've hooked a little fish,
We think we've found a mine.

Poor little fish if they could talk
What would they tell us then?
To see us bait those cruel hooks
Which we prepare for them.

But then they have a full revenge
For that and maybe misery;
In our blistered hands and faces
Which the sun has made so sore.

And on the rippling water
We rock and idly lean,
Upon the oars so faithful,
Which have carried us o'er the stream.

Of course, we have our washing-days,
When we wash and dry the clothes;
We clamber on the rocks,
Where the merry lake-breeze blows.

The nights are always musical,
With the calling of the coon;
For he divides the honors well
With the silly laughing loon.

He said sweet notes of the whippoor-will,
When evening's drawing near,
Carries us back to our childhood days,
And the home we loved so dear.

And in the early morning,
Just at the peep of day,
We hear the loon a-splashing
And diving in its play.

And then there are those rainy days
When we sit around the fire;
And visit in each other's tents,
Of which we never tire.

We tell some funny stories,
And pass the singing round;
It's a sometimes "Pretty Red Wing"
Or "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground."

The neighbors all are corteous
Who camp upon the ground;
We share our fish and berries
And pass the cheer around.

And in the evening fishing,
As we float the waters o'er;
There is nothing looks so home-like
As the lights along the shore.

It makes us think of that other shore,
Which all are nearing fast;
Oh, may our pilot land us safe
In that lovely port at last.

For some, perhaps, the last time
The old camp-ground is sought;
God grant the memories carried hence
With love and peace be fraught.

For time has rolled around so fast,
And soon we'll have to leave;
I hope that nothing has been done
For which we ever grieve.

And when vacation's over,
We all, the grave, the gay,
Will "fold our tents like the Arab"
And as silently steal away.

But we will all be sorry
To leave the camp, I know;
And bid good-bye to Shippegan;
We have enjoyed it so.

And I hope if God is willing,
Next year may see us back;
For of health and cheer and sunshine
The camp ground has no lack.

So it's 'Au revoir' old Shippegan,
'Farewell', we will not say;
For we hope to meet you once again
On some bright and happy day.

FIRST TO TEACH PHILOSOPHY

Honor Is Accorded Thales, Who Established a School Which Exerted Wide Influence.

The first school of philosophy was established in Miletus (Asia Minor) by Thales, one of the wise men, and was quite a remarkable institution, exerting an influence for more than a century.

Thales seems to have given himself more entirely to this school than to any of his other undertakings. There is a legend that he never married, and when his mother pressed him to do so he said: "It is not yet time." After his youth was passed she again urged him to marry and he said: "It is no longer time."

Many of the subjects taught in his school, such as astronomy, geometry and geography, show the influence of Egypt and Phoenicia; but the philosophy was probably an original product, for while some of the sciences were somewhat advanced, the philosophy was apparently a first attempt at an explanation of the origin of the world. It originated a movement which culminated more than a century later in the idealism of Plato. We may perhaps understand something of the attitude of the common people toward Thales' school of philosophy from the story of the old woman who laughed when the master fell backward into a ditch after gazing too long at the stars. The old woman not only laughed, but she is said to have called after him: "If you cannot see what is under your feet, how can you understand what is in heaven?"

The geography and astronomy taught in this school were very primitive: The earth was flat, the sun circled around it horizontally, being concealed at night by high hills. One writer of the time describes the world in the following poetical way: "God makes a mantle, large and fair and embroiders on it earth and ocean and ocean's dwellings."

DIFFERENT KINDS OF SPEED

Aviator and Motorist Didn't Have the Same Kind of Comparison as They Traveled.

The motorist was taking an aviator friend, recently returned from the army air service, out for a spin. Thinking of the 125-mile-an-hour speed to which the airman was accustomed, the motorist felt that it was incumbent upon him to "let 'er out." His friend, he felt, would feel badly ambling along at the land rate folks are used to traveling. So he cut loose and the car was zipping along at something like 50 miles an hour.

Then the motorist felt a hand laid upon his arm.

"Going pretty fast, aren't you?" remarked the aviator, a trifle uneasily.

After the motorist had slowed down he asked: "Why, I thought the best speed I could make would seem slow to you. How is it that it appeared so fast?"

"You see, in the air, even at our greatest speed, we seem more or less stationary unless we look below us and see objects flitting past," explained the aviator. "You know speed can only be reckoned visually—by things one is leaving behind. Now, the gait you were moving a few minutes ago looked mighty fast, uncomfortably fast I might say, to me. I kept noticing things we are leaving behind."

"Well, I'll be darned," said the motorist. "I never thought of it in that way before."

And the hand of the speed clock jiggled back to the 25-mile mark.—Kansas City Star.

If It Only Were!

The late Ella Wheeler Wilcox, though the most popular poet of modern times, steadfastly refused to enter New York society. The most exclusive Fifth avenue portals were open to her, but Mrs. Wilcox passed them indifferently-by.

A New York magazine editor once sought her out with an invitation to a Fifth avenue dinner party.

"I'm sorry," she said, "but I can't go."

"Oh," said the editor, "you must accept this invitation!"

"Why must I?" said the poet.

"Our host," the editor answered, "is rich—rich—a multimillionaire. You must accept."

"Well, I would," said Mrs. Wilcox, with a smile, "if it were enticing!"

He Was No Mollycoddle.

A neighbor's son was entertaining about twenty of his little boy and girl friends at his birthday party. The children were supposed to return to their respective homes at eight o'clock in the evening; however, they were having such a good time when the going home hour arrived, its passing still found them hard at it. The hostess of the little host suggested to him the advisability of intimating to his little friends the lateness of the hour. This is how he did it:

"Say, it's nine o'clock; I'm getting sleepy, and you kids have got to go home!"

"What's that? Go home this early?" said one of his indignant little guests. "I thought this was to be an all-night affair!"

Come Did.

"So you've been in the army, eh?" asked the old gentleman kindly. "And left your old pal down home shooting while you were over there?"

"I was for the first day intended in France," answered the gambler, proudly.—Home Sector.

"Uncle, how old are you?"
"I'm nearly a hundred now, sonny," said the oldest inhabitant.
"You've been using tobacco all your life, haven't you?"
"No, I can't exactly say that. I didn't begin to smoke till I was eleven."

ODESSA

Mrs. Elwell Emmons, Cecil Emmons and Mrs. Cecil Clark, Kingston, called on friends last Sunday.

Mrs. Lewis Snider spent a few days last week the guest of Mrs. Charley Summerville.

Mrs. Thomas Clyde and Mrs. Atkin Snider are visiting friends in Verona.

William Vrooman, Kingston, has been visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Taylor, who have been spending the past months the guests of Mrs. Taylor's aunt, Mrs. D. L. Snider, left last Tuesday for their home in Campbellford.

Stanley Snider's friends are delighted to see him recovering so nicely after his recent illness.

The cheese meeting was held last Wednesday afternoon, in the Town Hall, and the patrons were well represented. The terms with Mr. William Dougherty, the cheese maker, were decided the same as last year, which seemed agreeable to all concerned.

Charlie Hillier has purchased the W. R. Lake residence on Main St.

The L. A. S. met at the home of Mrs. H. J. Smith, on Ferguson Avenue, last Wednesday afternoon, with an unusually large attendance, thirty-four ladies being present.

The play staged, "The Dust of the Earth", in the Town Hall, last Thursday night, by the Collins Bay Dramatic Club, in behalf of the Public Library, was a wonderful success, and well worthy of praise. The large hall was well filled, and the proceeds at the door amounted to fifty-four dollars. The scenery in each of the four acts was very appropriate.

Mrs. John Morrison delightfully entertained a few of her little grandaughter's playmates, Miss Barbara Foster, in honor of her eighth birthday anniversary. Those present were the Misses Betty Haggerd, Marguerite Clark, Alice Hilmes, Dorothy Smith, Marian Emmons, Maud Cairns Mabel Burnett and Barbara Foster.

A small party of ladies and their friends, who have given so generously of their time to the re-estalouging of the Odessa Public Library, sat down Friday evening to a very enjoyable supper furnished by three ladies of the Library Board. The tables were arranged in the reading room and were laden with dainty and delicious eatables. A feeling of good fellowship and mirth prevaded as the party celebrated the end of a long and arduous task. The work, however, will be rewarded in the attractiveness and usefulness of the Library, and has brought to notice the fact that of the fourteen hundred volumes in the Departments on Literature, History and Science of unusual value to us in a small community, and which the Board hopes the public may take steps to enjoy.

CROYDON

The autos have once more made their appearance in this vicinity, and it tells us that Spring is here.—Miss Lewis spent the week end with Miss Helen Doupe. — Mrs. J. Hughes passed away on Sunday morning, at the home of her son, Mr. Albert Hughes. The funeral was held here on Tuesday.—Mr. Geo. Barrager is very busy moving on Mr. Laughlin Campbell's farm. Mr. Campbell and family have moved to Deseronto. — Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Close and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Black spent the last week in town. — Mrs. Laughlin Campbell spent Thursday last at Sam Doupe's.—Miss Mae Haggerty spent a recent evening at Mr. Pat. Nolan's.—Miss Jean Wright is home, taking care of her mother.—Sunday visitors were, Mr. Willis Galbraith at Newburgh; Mr. Alex. Wright at Pat Nolan's; Mr. Perry Armstrong at Sam Doupe's; Mr. Fred Galbraith at Enterprise; Mr. Johnny Finn at Jake Doupe's.

Wants Everybody to Know That Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Relieved Him of Kidney Complications

Joseph Hardy, After a Long Period of Sickness Says Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Done Him Good.

Mistassini, Que., Mar. 16, (Special) —Feeling quite well again after suffering for seven years, Joseph Hardy, a well known resident of this place, is recommending to his fellow countrymen Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them very satisfactory," Mr. Hardy states in an interview. "I suffered with my head and back. I could not sleep very well and I was always tired and nervous. I took half a dozen boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they have done me much good. I make no error in recommending them to my fellow countrymen as a remedy for sick kidneys."

If you have any symptom mentioned by Mr. Hardy you may be sure your kidneys need attention. Neglected kidneys are the cause of more than half the ills to which mankind is heir.

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys, making them pure and healthy. Sound kidneys mean pure blood. Pure blood means good health.

Gibbards Win Championship Of the Town League.
The last game of hockey for this season was staged at the arena on Monday night last, when the fast team representing "B" Co., Prontenac Regiment, crossed sticks with Gibbards for the championship of the Town League. Owing to the uncertain weather conditions, it was decided by the officials to make it a sudden death fixture and both teams were in excellent condition when the gong sounded for play. The ice was in fairly good condition considering the lateness of the season. The game was keenly contested and at full time the score stood 3 all. In the overtime period Gibbards came through with the deciding tally, making the score, Gibbards 4, "B" Co. 3. There was a fair attendance of fans present, and they witnessed a remarkably fast game.

There are paints that cost less per quart than B. & H. English, but a quart of B. & H. covers more surface, costs no more to apply, and wears so much longer that it is undoubtedly the most economical paint on the market. B. & H. for sale at Wallace's Drug Store.

ST. ANDREW'S ST. PATRICK'S SUPPER

Owing to a number of other attractions in the town on Tuesday evening, the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church, who annually have a supper and concert on that date, withdrew the concert. But that did not interfere with the attendance at the supper, for three hundred and fifty persons were served.

The basement of the church was artistically decorated in the traditional green and shamrock. The tables, the candles and the flowers in the same coloring, made an attractive appearance. Two long tables ran the whole length of the room, and on either side five smaller tables. The arrangements for serving were well planned and adequate. Promptly at six o'clock the first table, of one hundred and seventy-five, were seated, and by five minutes after seven the second table were seated.

During the meal time the St. Andrew's Orchestra, implemented by the presence of Miss Letha Scott and Mr. A. Kimmerly, played a varied and interesting selection of numbers. The Orchestra, which has been in existence only a year, showed marked talent and added much to the attractiveness of the evening.

In very few towns do all the churches patronize the public functions of each as they do in Napanee. This evidence of a fine spirit of co-operation and unity between them all is a worthy tribute to the broad-mindedness of the church-going community.

OBITUARY

The Late Alex. Cummings.
On Monday evening, at the home of his nephew, Mr. Baxter, in Prince Edward County, Mr. Alex. Cummings, well known resident of South Napanee, passed away. Mr. Cummings had been in ill health most of the winter, but was not seriously ill until a week ago, when he contracted pneumonia, from which he failed to recover.

Mr. Cummings was born in Sheffield Township in 1848 and lived there until about 1890, when he moved to South Napanee, and took up a farm there. Until six years ago he continued to work the farm. Lack of help forced him to retire, and for a few years he lived across the river. On the death of his sister he broke up the home and moved to Prince Edward to reside with his nephew.

The funeral was held at Picton by the Rev. J. L. Cowan; from thence the body was brought to Napanee by motor, on Wednesday, and service held at Riverside vault by Rev. A. J. Wilson, of St. Andrew's Church, of which Mr. Cummings had been a member for over thirty years.

There are left to survive him, four sisters, Mrs. Baxter, of Prince Edward; Mrs. Gilmour, of Tamworth; Mrs. York, of Hastings, and Mrs. Stinson, of Dresden, and a brother in Toronto, and several nephews, one, Mr. Fred Cummings, who resided with his uncle, is now in Deseronto, and is well known in Napanee.

Mrs. James Hughes.
Mrs. James Hughes, nee Nancy Lockridge, died at her son's residence in Croydon, on March 8th, after a brief illness.

The late Mrs. Hughes was born 84 years ago, in Camden Township. Her early days were spent in the vicinity of Camden V. Presbyterian Church. After marriage was West of Croydon. Some years after her husband's death she removed to Selby and for the past fifteen years has been identified with the Selby Methodist Church. A large circle of friends mourn the loss of one who in the days of health and strength was ever ready to lend a helping hand.

The Rev. W. H. Clarke conducted a very impressive funeral service in Croydon Methodist Church, on March 10th. The sermon was from the pastor selected by the deceased, I Cor. 15: 40-42. The Choir of Tamworth Union Church rendered valuable assistance in the musical part of the service. The remains were deposited in Centreville vault, preparatory to burial later in Camden V. cemetery.

Five sons and one daughter survive and mourn the loss of a devoted mother,—Samuel and Milton, of Redgar; Albert, of Croydon; William and Milney, of Saskatchewan, and Mrs. Joseph Doupe, of Centreville.

OBITUARY

Charles Hayward.

Sarnia, Ontario, lost a highly respected citizen in the person of Mr. Albert Hayward, who died on March 4th, 1925. He is survived by his widow, who was Sarah Jane Culley, eldest daughter of the late William Culley, formerly of Adolphustown also by four sons, two daughters and one granddaughter. His sons are Bert, foreman of the C.P.R. shops at Calgary; Byron, Die-sinker at Chicago; Arnold, machinist at Sarnia, and Franklin, student at the Sarnia Technical Collegiate Institute. His daughters are Fannie, school teacher at St. Thomas, and Adelaide, stenographer at the Bank of Toronto, Sarnia, Ont.; his granddaughter, Velma of Calgary. The late Mr. Hayward was a member of the Central Methodist Church, a Conservative in politics, and a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, under whose auspices the funeral was conducted. The large funeral and great number of floral offerings showed the high esteem in which Mr. Hayward was held.

Miss Florence Stinson

William Galbraith.

There died at Deerside, Manitoba, on Monday, March 16th, 1925, an old resident of Colebrook, in the person of William Galbraith, aged 84 years, 2 months and 16 days; who came at the age of 16 years to Adams Mills, Ont., accompanied by his parents, from the County of Armagh, Ireland, in a few years they moved to Bethel, where they bought land and in 1862 William married Jane Agnes Agar. The young married couple moved to the old Agar farm, on the shores of Varty Lake. There were thirteen children born to them, seven of whom are still alive. In the spring of 1882 they moved west to Manitoba with their young family and took up land at Balmoral. Later on they moved to Roseisle, Manitoba, where some eight years ago Mrs. Galbraith died. At present there are forty grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren.

Deceased was 60 years of age, and a member of the Orange Lodge.

IMMIGRANT BOYS WERE WELCOMED.

On the arrival of the International Limited on Tuesday afternoon, fifteen lads who stopped off were welcomed by Mayor Dr. E. Ming, the Councillors and Members of the Board of Commerce. The boys, who are all British born, arrived in Halifax on board the Antonia, and were brought to Canada by the British Immigration and Colonization Association of Canada.

This was the first occasion of a group of boys coming to the counties of Lennox and Addington and Frontenac, and it was decided that they should be given a special welcome.

The boys were taken in cars to the Town Hall, where the Mayor, Councillors, the Clergy, J. W. Robinson, President Board of Commence; Mr. Laughlanland, Representative of the Department of Agriculture of the Province of Ontario, and officials of the Department of Colonization and Development and Canadian National Railway Officials all joined in welcoming the newcomers.

In the speeches of welcome the boys were advised to stick to their jobs even though at times there were strong feelings of homesickness and discouragement. The farmer employers were urged to be patient and sympathetic and to remember that everything was new and strange to the boys.

The farmers who had made application for the boys were all on hand, and after a number of pictures had been taken, the lads were taken to Caton's Restaurant, where lunch was served. When this was over many legal formalities were complied with and the boys started for their new homes with their employers. Ten boys were placed in Lennox and Addington and five in Frontenac.

Mr. M. J. O'Brien, who was in charge of the boys, was accompanied by several Canadian National Railway officials, including the official photographer. Mr. Jos. Foster, of the Immigration and Colonization Department had charge of the placing of the boys in this district.

ARDEN

Spring has come at last, and all of the migrating birds have returned to this vicinity again.—The farmers have all tapped their sugar bushes and report a good run of sap. Syrup in this village is $1.50 a gallon. —A St. Patrick's dance was held in the Town Hall, under the auspices of St. Paul's Anglican Church. The proceeds amounted to $36.00. Everyone reported a good time, nice music and plenty to eat.—The L. O. B. A. are having a social on April 1st. Everyone is invited. Come and bring your friends.—Much sympathy is extended to Mrs. Edward Hayes and family in the loss of a husband and father. Mr. Edward Hayes, who passed away in the General Hospital, Kingston, on Sunday, March 22nd. The remains were brought here on Monday. The funeral service was held on Wednesday from his late residence, and interment made in the Methodist cemetery here. Rev. Harold Greenwood conducted the services. Mrs. R. M. Barr and daughter, Dorothy, have returned to their home in Toronto, after spending a couple of weeks the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Gresham. — Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hartwick have returned home from Smiths Falls.

YARKER

A large crowd was in attendance for the Bitter Live Stock Train. The exhibit was in charge of Mr. L. E. Caswell, Assistant Superintendent, Toronto. The Government is sending this exhibit through the province as an educational one, and those who attended were well repaid for their trouble. The train was made up of 9 a.m. until 12 noon, and consisted of thirteen cars, containing the best variety of seed, wool, poultry, dairy products, dairy cattle, horses, swine, sheep and beef cattle. The train left shortly after 12 o'clock for Sydenham.—The water in the river is very high at present since the last big rain.—M. Foster is dressing his large stock of cattle every week. We understand we are going to have a new road from Yarker to Odessa this summer, which is badly needed.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Martin spent Sunday at W. A. Martin's.—The Yarker-Kingston stage expects to start next week.

Fry and Edward Howell, Norwich, and E. A. Isard, of Hamilton.

New factories will be erected at distributing points, such as Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver, and also in Maritime Provinces.

"The trade will greatly benefit by this union through the substantial savings in freights by shipping direct from a nearby factory," it was stated to-day.

WILSON'S CROSSING.

One of our oldest residents, in the person of Mr. Thomas Wagar, passed away on March 15th, at the age of 81 years. Sympathy is extended to his friends and relatives.—Sugar making seems to be the order of the day, and a good run of sap is reported.—Mrs. Fred Fenwick and children and Mr. J. Fenwick spent a few days last week with Mrs. R. Potter, prior to their departure for their new home in Weston. We are very sorry to lose them from our neighborhood. Although they were only here a year, they made many friends. We hope they will enjoy their new home. — Mr. Herbert called on Mrs. R. Fenwick on Thursday last.—Mrs. W. Allen called at Mrs. Mr. Lowe's, on Saturday afternoon.—Mrs. J. Delph and children, Mrs. L. Harten and Mr. H. Harten called at Mrs. Lowe's, on Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Dowling, of Napanee, Enterprise.—Mrs. R. Potter and Mrs. L. Fenwick called on Mrs. M. Switzer, on Wednesday evening.—Mr. Robert Potter spent last week at Kemptville and Ottawa. —Mr. Willie Allpert and Miss Dorothy Lyons were quietly married at the Methodist Parsonage, on March 14th, by Rev. Mr. Merriam. They left for their home at Niagara Falls, on Monday. All wish them bon voyage.

HARLOWE

While working in Norman Jackson's lumber camp, Mr. Fred Wood met with quite a serious accident. As he was bringing a load of logs out of the woods and was walking beside the load the sleigh slewed and threw him against a tree, hurting his back and side. Dr. Carscallen called on Mrs. Lake, was called and attended the injuries, and the patient is doing nicely at time of writing.—Mrs. Jas. McGregor, of Myers Cave, passed through this place, enroute to Kingston to attend County Council.—Mrs. R. Gray, who has been spending a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Parks, has gone to her home in Ardoch to-day.—Mr. and Mrs. Dale Greene spent Wednesday and Thursday at Elm Tree, the guests of the former's parents, where they were entertained by a variety shower and dance. They were presented with many costly and useful presents.—Mrs. Estella Bott spent a few days at Mr. Fred Wood's. —Mr. Wm. D. Thompson has rented Mr. Walter Scott's farm for the year. —The wood bee at Mr. Fred Wood's, on Wednesday, was well attended.

Muresco, all colors, at Wallace's.

NEWBURGH

Mr. Corkill, I.P.S., paid an official visit to the Public School during the week.

Mr. George Walker received word on Monday of the death of his uncle, Mr. Daniel Woodruff, who dropped dead on the street in the village of Sydenham. He was 75 years of age and lived with his daughter, Mrs. Trousdale. Mr. Woodruff was a millwright by occupation, and was for many years employed in the grist mills at Sydenham, Odessa and Glenvale.

The W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting on Thursday of last week at the home of Mrs. Haines.

Mr. John Cameron is laid up at the present writing, having taken quite suddenly ill.

The County Orange celebration will be held in Newburgh on Friday, July 10th, under the auspices of Camden East and Newburgh lodges.

The burial of Mrs. William Switzer, whose sudden death cast a gloom over the community in which she had resided, highly respected and esteemed, for nigh upon thirty years, took place on Thursday of last week, the 19th inst. The service was held in St. John's Church, of which congregation she was a faithful, loyal and zealous member, the Burial Office "Creating comfort and hope," being read by the Rector. The floral tributes were very numerous and beautiful, and the sacred edifice was not large enough to hold all those who had gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased and show their sympathy with the husband and family in their sudden bereavement. At the close of the service the body was taken to Camden East for interment in the family plot in St. Luke's cemetery. "May she rest in peace and light perpetual shine upon her".

OBITUARY

Charles Hayward.

Sarnia, Ontario, lost a highly respected citizen in the person of Mr. Albert Hayward, who died on March 4th, 1925. He is survived by his widow, who was Sarah Jane Culley, eldest daughter of the late William Culley, formerly of Adolphustown; also by four sons, two daughters and one granddaughter. His sons are Bert, foreman of the C.P.R. shops at Calgary; Byron, tire-sinker at Chicoe; Arnold, machinist at Sarnia, and Franklin, student at Queen's Technical Collegiate Institute. His daughters are, Fannie, school teacher at St. Thomas, and Mrs. Marion Greengrapher at the Bank of Toronto, Sarnia, Ont.; his granddaughter, Velma, of Calgary. The late Mr. Hayward was a member of the Central Methodist Church, a Conservative in politics, and a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, under whose auspices the funeral was conducted. The large funeral and great number of floral offerings showed the high esteem in which Mr. Hayward was held.

William Galbraith.

There died at Roseisle, Manitoba, on Monday, March 16th, 1925, a well resident of Colebrook, in the person of William Galbraith, aged 85 years, 2 months and 16 days, at which time the age of 16 years to Clarks Mills, Ont., accompanied by his parents from the County of Armagh, Ireland. In a few years they moved to Bethel, where they bought land and in 1858 William married Jane Ager. The young married couple moved to the old Ager farm, on the shores of Varty Lake. There were thirteen children born to them, seven of whom are still alive. In the spring of 1888 they moved west to Manitoba with their young family and took up land at Balmoral. Later on they moved to Roseisle, Manitoba, where some eight years ago Mrs. Galbraith died. At present there are forty grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren.

Deceased was 60 years of age, and a member of the Orange Lodge.

IMMIGRANT BOYS WERE WELCOMED.

On the arrival of the International Limited on Tuesday afternoon, fifteen lads who stopped off were welcomed by Mayor Dr. E. Ming, the Councillors and Members of the Board of Commerce. The boys, who are all British born, arrived in Halifax on board the Antonia, and were brought to Canada by the British Immigration and Colonization Association.

This was the first occasion of a group of boys coming to the Counties of Prince Edward, Addington and Frontenac, and it was decided that they should be given a special welcome.

The boys were taken in cars to the Town Hall, where the Mayor, Councillors, the Clergy, J. W. Robinson, President Board of Commence, Mr. Laughland, Representative of the Department of Agriculture of the Province of Ontario, and officials of the Department of Colonization and Development and Canadian National Railway Officials joined in welcoming the newcomers.

In his speech of welcome the boys were advised to stick to their jobs even though at times there were strong feelings of homesickness and discouragement. The farmer employers were urged to be patient and sympathetic and to remember that everything was new and strange to the boys.

The farmers who had made application for the boys were all on hand, and after a number of pictures had been taken, the lads were taken to Caton's Restaurant, where lunch was served. When this was over many legal formalities were complied with and the boys started for their new homes with their employers. Ten boys were placed in Lennox and Addington and five in Frontenac.

Mr. Joe O'Brien, who was in charge of the boys, was accompanied by several Canadian National Railway officials, including their official photographer. Mr. Jos. Foster, of the Immigration and Colonization Department had charge of the handling of the boys in this district.

ARDEN
